While walking down one of our avenues, one day last week, we saw a lady fall upon the sidewalk in front of a grocery store. She had slipped on a beet leaf, that through carelessness of some one had been thrown on the walk. Grocers who deal in fruits and vegetables cannot exercise too much care in keeping the walk in front of their store free from any substance that would make pedestrians fall and injure themselves. A number of costly law suits have been entered against grocers by people who have been injured by falling, caused, as claimed, by carelessness on the part of grocers leaving pea pods, cabbage leaves or banana peelings, etc., on their sidewalks. We have often seen customers throw goods of this description on the walk, and while they are the parties who should be punished, the grocer has to take the blame and pay the damages when some one gets hurt thereby. Therefore it is to the grocer's interest to keep a sharp lookout, and see that his sidewalk is free from anything that might cause accident. Eternal vigilance is not only the price of liberty, but the price for freedom from law suits caused by dangerous condition of sidewalks. Look well to your sidewalks.

"Clerks are not what they used to be," is a very common expression of opinion among many grocers. They delight to tell the tale of "How they worked in the days of their clerkship. How they laboured eighteen hours a day without grumbling, and got about as much wages for a month's service as a day labourer gets in a week now. Yes, in those old-time days clerks were clerks. More work was accomplished by one of these old-timers in a day than the clerks of the present time will do in two." Is it surprising that even grocery clerks have caught the craze of shorter hours and less work? Would these same grocers be willing to do the same labour over again? We think not. The one reason why good clerks are scarce is because a bright intelligent young man can do better in other branches of business than he can as a clerk in a grocery store. There are a few trades where he is asked to work so many hours or so hard. Do you wonder then that good clerks are scarce? In days gone by, when competition was not so sharp, the old-time grocer was satisfied with small sales and large profits. That time has gone by and the reverse is the rule of the day. The volume of business for the average grocer has increased, consequently more is demanded of clerks, and competition in business has made grocers more exacting and particular.—[Observer in Retail Grocers' Advocate.

According to a continental paper, the total consumption of tobacco in Europe may be put down at an average of 2¼ pounds to each inhabitant. In the Netherlands the proportion is a little over 7 pounds to each inhabitant; in Austro-Hungary, 3·8 pounds; in Denmark, 3·7 pounds; in Switzerland, 3·3 pounds; in Belgium, 3·2 pounds; in Germany, 3 pounds; in Norway, 2·3 pounds; in France, 2·1 pounds; in Sweden, nearly 2 pounds; in Spain, 1·7 pounds; in Great Britain and Ireland, 1·34 pounds; in Italy, 1·25 pounds; and in Russia, 1·2 pounds. In the United States the proportion is greater than that of any other European country, except Holland; it amounts to 4½ pounds per inhabitant.

A watermelon farm at Adams Park, Ga., which consists of 800 acres, and produces 400 carloads of melons, is said to be the largest watermelon patch in the world.

A St. Thomas grocer offers $5 reward for the capture of a 14-year old rat which has been creating havoc in his establishment. The grocer estimates his loss so far at $20, including salad and sauces, for which the rat appeared to have a special liking, drawing the stoppers from the bottles and drinking the contents. The grocer who is a reliable man, says the rat is two feet long, including a 13-inch tail. Are fish stories on the decline?—[London Advertiser.

Eating watermelon is an art learned only by experience. As a dessert it is not a success. It falls too heavily on a dinner. Like a pretty girl, it is best by itself; it loses half its charm by being mixed in a crowd. The melon should be cold. It should be ripe. Its flesh should blush like a graduate. Its heart should glow like a sun-kissed cloud at close of day, and its temperature should be as chilly as the smile of a Boston belle. When you get such a treasure, do not bother with other food. Open it, gaze on it, bury your face in its sweetness, and let your appreciation run riot.—[Baltimore American.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

POTATOES—Seem to have been rather firmer; cars have sold at 55c. on track. Street receipts small until near the close, when they increased, selling at 60c. to 65c., the latter for single bags.

APPLES—Show little change; offerings comparatively small, and prices much as before, at $1.75 to $2.25 per barrel.

HAY—Pressed has been selling at from $10 to $11.50 for new. Market receipts have been large, but all taken, though at rather easier prices, closing at $9.50 to $11, with a few loads going at $12.

STRAW—All offered still wanted, and at steady prices; loose has sold at $6 to $7, and sheaf has usually ranged from $10 to $11.

EGGS—All offered and probably some more have been wanted at an advice. On street fresh range from 16c. to 18c.

DRIED APPLES—Unsettled nearly all over, as may fairly be expected at this season. At the close trade lots would have been taken at 5c., and dealers were selling at 5½c. to 6c. Evaporated were nominal in trade lots, but dealers were selling at from 6½c. for common to 7½c for fine samples.

WHITE BEANS—Seem to have been quiet, with few either offered or wanted, but held firmly at $1.75 to $1.85 for hand-picked in small lots.

HOPS—Have been quiet; no new arrivals, but samples offered as before at 20c. to 25c., at which prices buyers have held off from them. Last year's have been offered lower, at 14c. to 16c., but quiet. One lot changed hands late last week at 8c.

POULTRY—Readily taken, and at steady prices; fowl have ranged from 50c. to 60c. per pair, and ducks from 65c. to 75c., with turkeys worth about 12c½. per pound, but scarcely any of them offered.

CRANBERRIES.

Cranberries are now on the market at $3.50 per case, or $10 per bbl. They are this year remarkably well-grown.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The demand for butter is met by a supply sufficient in quantity, but a great proportion of it is still low in quality. Although the demand for good butter exceeds the supply of it, yet the prices remain from 16c. to 17c., the volume of inferior butter making up somewhat for the lack of first class butter. Lower grades of butter sell from 11c. to 13c. There is no roll butter now offering.

CHEESE—Is firm at 10 cents. There is plenty of it. The exhibition sales put a superior lot on the market.

PROVISIONS.

PORK—Has been in improved demand; small lots have been going off well at $13.50 to $14.

BACON—A steady demand has prevailed for long clear in tons and cases at 8½c. to 8¾c., but no movement in trade lots reported; Cumberland almost nominal. Smoked meats have been in less active demand with supplies small; prices much as before at 10c. to 10½c. for new, at 11c. to 12c. for backs and 12½c. to 13½c. for bellies, the top prices being for summer cured in small lots.

HAMS—Increasingly scarce and selling only in small lots at from 13½c. to 14c., the greater part going off being summer cured.

LARD—Dull and unchanged at 9½c. to 10c. for local make summer curing, and 9c. to 9½c. for imported in small lots.

HOGS—Offerings were very small until near the close, when a few came in, but all were readily taken at an advance to $6.75 to $7.25.

SALT.

There have been a few bags of Liverpool coarse sold at 70c. to 75c. with more offered, but nothing doing in trade lots. Canadian has been fairly active and steady, with sales of car lots at 63c. for coarse; at $1.20 for dairy in sacks; at $1.35 for five cars of barrelled, and of quarter-sacks of dairy in small lots at 45c.

FISH.

The supply of the larger lake fish is short, the demand is fair. Salmon trout and white fish remain at the same figure as in last week's quotation, selling still at 6c. Lake Huron herring is now plentiful and in mild demand, at from $2.25 to $2.50 per hundred, sold by number. British Columbia salmon still comes in equal to the demand, and sells from 16c. to 17c.

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
(OF LONDON), CAPITAL, £50,000.
Under the auspices of The Indian Tea Districts Association,

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 180,000,000 lbs. Of that quantity India and Ceylon furnished 120,000,000 lbs. during last crop year. This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States, and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application

"SUNLIGHT" SOAP.

Our Exhibition may now not inaptly be likened to "The Field of the Cloth of Gold." In gay trappings and fantastic arrangement group vies with group for popular admiration. Messrs. Lever Bros., the manufacturers of "Sunlight" Soap, succeeded in drawing the crowds to the floor of the Main Building. High in its upward dimension stands the Eiffel Tower exhibit, rising forty feet from its base. It is made of glittering boxes and bars of "Sunlight" Soap.

The manufacturers of this soap are known the world over for the enterprise and originality of their advertising methods. Nothing more than enterprise needed, however, to secure the proud position of first place in the world's market, now held by Messrs. Lever Bros.' soap. Hearing the many favorable remarks that are being made by the trade, as well as the public, we are satisfied the secret of the success of "Sunlight" is the very fine quality and intrinsic value. Scientific analysis by eminent chemists confirms the people's verdict. The value of the soap is further brought out by the fact that its successes have been achieved in the face of immense European competition and jealousy.

Although a laundry soap, "Sunlight" is a favorite with many people of taste for bathing and toilet purposes. The absence of anything injurious to fabrics or the most delicate skin has been proved by the reports of the leading scientists of Great Britain.

The British Isles, Canada, Australia, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Switzerland are among the nations that use their soap.

In this country, although introduced but a short time, "Sunlight" is growing amazingly in the people's favor. Its history repeats itself in every land; a history of rapid conquest. Its headquarters in Canada are at 77 St. James St, Montreal, under the management of Mr. Alfred Robinson. Mr. Walter Stark, their western district agent, supplies the greater part of Ontario from the Toronto depot, 62 Front Street East.

We may mention that "Sunlight" Soap was awarded a gold medal at the present Paris Exhibition, and at the Central Exhibition, held at Ottawa last week, "Sunlight" was recommended a gold medal by the judges for the extent of exhibit and for the excellence of its quality. Mr. Walters, druggist, analyzed the soap and reported to the judges. There is no getting beyond such indisputable evidence of the extraordinary merit of "Sunlight" Soap.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

RECENT ADVANCES.

The advance in the prices of woodenware articles, for which we prepared our readers a few weeks ago, is now a fact. We then ventured the opinion that the increased prices would simply restore the manufacture of household woodenware to the position of a paying industry—a position from which, in some departments at least, it had lately fallen. This opinion is borne out by the present rates, which are not greatly higher than the former ones. No grounds are afforded for mistrusting that the makers have combined for the purpose of exacting an excessive rate of profit. The prices as they now stand contradict any such probability. Distinctness of interest among the three manufacturers is not great enough to lead us to expect anything more than the regulation of competition out of any convention among them. They are all well aware that one manufactory could furnish the woodenware needed in this province as fully as three.

On a different footing, however, stands the reason for the late advance in the price of matches. A single firm has now control of all the match making in the country, and that circumstance should make the price of matches lower instead of higher, since, we believe, they were sold at a paying price before. The undivided profit of a whole industry in this country should be great enough on a narrow margin. The following are the present prices: Telegraph, $3.80; Telephone, $3.35; Parlor, $1.75; Star Match, $2.75; Dominion, $2.75. On a purchase of five cases or more there is a reduction on these prices of 10c. a case.

EARLY CLOSING.

At the last meeting of the Grocers' Protective Association of Guelph, it was resolved that the clergymen of the city be requested to ask their congregations to unite with the grocers in abolishing the late hours on Saturday nights. Rev. Father Doherty, at the early and late masses, requested the congregation to help the grocers of the city in carrying out this much needed reform. The reverend gentleman urged it as a duty upon his hearers to remove any obstacle which would prevent the due observance of the Lord's Day.

OUR PRESENT SYSTEM OF DOING BUSINESS AS A FACTOR IN BANKRUPT STOCKS.

Among the excellent papers read at the Business Men's Convention in Hamilton was one on the above subject by Mr. D. Weismiller, of Kippen. Want of space prevented our republishing it in full at the time. We have since received the manuscript, and give it herewith. Mr. Weismiller said:

The question of bankrupt stocks, their ill-effects and their disposal having been made one of the leading questions by this convention, it is absolutely necessary that we should examine closely and carefully into all the details connected with this universally admitted evil, and equally true is it, that unless due caution and watchfulness are exercised in arriving at conclusions, our deliberations, having in view the disposal of these bankrupt stocks, must be more or less barren of results. Like the physician who, when called in to treat a case of sickness, takes careful notice of all the symptoms as they develop, and, having noted all these, he proceeds next to discover the cause for he well knows that, while he may follow such a treatment as will alleviate the patient's suffering temporarily, yet in order that a permanent cure might be effected, he must of necessity seek to remove the cause, otherwise his treatment would be pronounced useless. He takes the disease to be the effect with some corresponding cause, or perhaps a multiplicity of causes, and it is in this way I think that our method of treating bankrupt stocks should proceed, viz., treating them as the effect of some cause or causes to be traced, and, if possible, removed.

Having compared bankruptcy with disease, I shall make use of the figure a little further and compare it more specifically with—say an internal cancer. To seek for a cure among a list of medicines intended for internal application only, would seem a somewhat useless task, and to my mind, Mr. Chairman, the analogy holds good. Just as this internal malady is incurable, except by such a treatment as will remove from the system the substance on which it feeds, exactly so our cancer, viz., bankrupt stocks, with their attendant evils, cannot, in my humble opinion, be effectually dealt with except by removing all the causes or sources of sustenance from our system of doing business.

In looking for the causes which are manifold, and some of which, such as incompetency, overtrading, want of capital, extravagance, speculation and the like, are plainly visible, we might, and very profitably too, I think, subject our system of doing business to a little closer scrutiny, and see if it does not act as a factor in some of the many bankrupt stocks with which the retail trade of this Province has of late been afflicted.

In thus subjecting to a closer examination our system of business, it is very probable that I may give expression to some views which may not command universal assent, and for which, perhaps, the Equal Rights members present, Mr. Chairman, may appeal to you for disallowance, but if, as I understand it, this convention is called for the purpose of expressing our views for our mutual benefit, then I have no apology to offer, as these are simply my own opinions, and should they provoke criticism, whether friendly or hostile, or suggest to any one other ideas relating to this question, I shall consider my humble efforts to have accomplished their object.

As stated before, some of the causes of bankruptcy are readily noticeable, while others, the outcome of some part of our system, which, although perfectly legitimate in itself, theoretically, has in practice yielded results which are far from desirable or productive of good. It is to a few of these that I beg to direct your attention briefly. The first of these is the system of commercial travellers.

In speaking of the system of commercial travellers I do not wish to be understood as denouncing it as wrong in itself, but merely some of the pernicious effects thereof, effects which must not of necessity be injurious, but in practice have become so, much the same as is the case with our National Policy, which was never intended to foster combines, trusts, and the like, yet we all know that not only has it become possible for such to exist, but they have practically become a part of the tariff itself. In applying for a situation as commercial traveller the cardinal point upon which his engagement depends is the estimated amount of goods he can annually dispose of. This estimate is generally placed so high that in these days of keen competition he has to put forth his every effort in order to reach the required amount. Actuated by the desire to implement his estimate he does not at all times exercise sufficient care as to the financial strength and business ability of some of the men to whom he sells, and in some instances, although fully aware of the standing of the man, he might be heard soliloquizing thus: "Well, he will likely be good for one bill, and afterwards (i.e., when the estimate is reached) I can cease calling on him." This, of course, would be very consoling but for the fact of a number of other travellers who just happen to think the same way, and the consequence is that between all the different travellers the incompetent, or undeserving, or price-cutting retailer is placed in possession of goods far beyond his means of paying for them. In this way, too, the wholesaler has not the same control over the granting of credit as if customers were calling at his warehouse. It is safe to assume that in the majority of such cases failure is the result, and another bankrupt stock is added to the list. But before this actually takes place these goods in the hands of men who have little or nothing to lose very often cripple legitimate men who, before the locality sees the last of the bankrupt stock, may be obliged to seek the indulgence of their creditors.

Secondly: Through this system wholesalers and retailers do not get acquainted, although business may have been done together for five or possibly ten years, yet, as long as everything works harmoniously, fault need not be found. But there is another phase to this: It is true the wholesaler knows considerable about his customer from reports of the traveller, mercantile agencies, from his correspondence, and so on, but after all these, as criterions whereby to judge a man's business capacity and the likelihood of his success or failure must, at the best, be very indifferent and unreliable. There is nothing like a personal contact.

With the advantages of a thorough business training, a good education, and an extensive knowledge of human nature, gained by a long and varied experience, the wholesaler should, at the close of half an hour's conversation, have an approximately correct opinion of his man, whether he is deserving of credit or whether his failure is only a matter of time. Sooner or later an acquaintance, probably introduced by an offer of 30c. in the dollar, may have to be made.

This leads us up to the credit system which, like the system of commercial travellers, when properly used, is found to be a great convenience in trade and commerce; but, like the other, its improper use has given rise to abuses which, if our system of business is to be elevated instead of degraded, must be remedied. In the first place, credit is too cheap. We have on record cases where men entirely ignorant of business or its first underlying principles, with means barely sufficient to pay for their first purchase, were entrusted with goods out of all proportion to their capital invested, and then started out with newfangled notions of business, such as a five per cent. advance on cost basis, and suchlike, which generally come to grief and the sheriff's services are called into requisition. Such cases are only too common and their effects wide spread. Another fruitful source of trouble, and one which is directly traceable to an abuse of the commercial system, is overbuying. Its effects generally appear during times of stagnation in trade, and could, I think in a great measure, be presented by a curtailment of credit in the shape of dating ahead. The curse of our country is the abuse of the credit system, and instead of trying to remove its evil effects by striving to remove gradually the system itself, it would seem that we are working in a directly opposite direction.

It may be urged that the keenness of competition necessitates resort to such means, but any system which tends to remove instead of bringing us closer to our ideal, the cash system, should not be fostered. The longer the term of credit to the retailer the longer will be his terms to his customer, and vice versa. The welfare of the retail trade being so closely connected with the judicious dispensing of credit by wholesalers it is almost needless for me to urge upon them the necessity of exercising the greatest care in granting credits.

The complaint of too many men in business is getting so formidable that it behooves all who have the giving of credit in their power to stop and inquire if the cheapness of credit is not in a large measure responsible for the evil. In the learned professions where the supply is also greater than the demand, the evil is, in a measure, checked by raising the standard of proficiency, but since nothing can be done to prevent incompetent men of means from entering into business, I presume the evil has to be borne. However, in the case of those with adequate capital and frequently less experience, I think the wholesaler's duty is clear.

There are other abuses such as unjust compromises, supply accounts by wholesalers, selling goods to consumers by manufacturers and wholesalers, and the like, but as these will be discussed by abler men than myself I shall not further enlarge. Having now occupied your valuable time sufficiently long, I shall conclude by briefly summarizing as follows:—

1. Wholesalers to urge upon travellers the importance of greater care being exercised as to whom they sell.

2. Travellers not to unduly urge weak and incompetent men to overbuying.

3. Wholesalers to seek personal acquaintance with their customers.

4. If compromises be made, an understanding among creditors be formed that goods are not to be sacrificed.

5. Men ignorant of business should be very cautiously dealt with when asking for credit, and before granting such credit the probable effects upon the trade of the locality in which the business is to be opened be carefully considered.

6. Retailers guilty of habitually selling goods below prices affording a living profit should be refused credit.

D. WEISMILLER.

BEANS.

The bean crop of this year shows a falling off of 25 per cent. at least from what it was last year. The promise of a better crop than has been podded for many years was thwarted by the frost, whose blighting effects overtook the crop just before it was ready to be taken off. Very few new beans have yet been offered, but of those that have the sample is excellent. The dry, bright, weather was favorable to color, which is not more easily preserved in the bean than in the barley berry. The little that has yet been on the market has been held at the price old beans have been selling at, viz., $1.75. Buyers are therefore waiting till the market fairly opens, which it is expected to do at $1.50 to $1.60.

Bean culture seems to be making considerable headway in the county of Ontario, notably about Port Perry. For many years the sole district of the province that was given to bean growing was in the county of Kent, a district of which Chatham is the centre. More acres were under cultivation this year than ever before.

Boston, New York and Chicago are our markets. In the latter city it is that we sell our chief surplus. There it is largely sold for consumption in the Michigan lumber regions. What the prospects in these markets are it is impossible to say until the advices of the French, Spanish and Italian crops are in. These are the competitors of Canadian bean in United States markets.

ILLEGAL SALE OF TOBACCO.

Last April charges were made against three Toronto tobacco dealers that they sold goods from packages without the Inland Revenue stamp. The tobacco thus illegally appearing for sale was seized, and the offenders were fined the lowest amount, $50 each. The Department of Justice, however, substituted for this a mitigated penalty of $10 each, and the payment of 20c. a pound as duty on the seized tobacco, which should then be returned. The non-payment of this latter mitigated penalty was to be followed by prosecution for payment of the amount of the whole fine. Of this the offenders were notified on the 1st of May. Repeated notices have since been sent to them, but the mitigated penalty was not paid. Last week they were summoned to the Police Court. The case of two of them was further adjourned, and that of the third, Mr. Hays Kennedy, of King St., was concluded. He was fined $50 and costs, or 30 days in gaol. He had pleaded guilty. It is difficult for us to understand why this most unfair clause has not been repealed, or why the Collectors of Inland Revenue have not been instructed to stop prosecution. The department knows well enough that the law is unfair. United action on the part of the trade is the only way of bringing about the desired change.

EGGS.

At the present moment eggs are selling at 18c. to 19c., and are scarce at that figure. The supply has been falling off very greatly during the last month. A comparison of this year with last year shows that of the two autumns last year's had the greater egg production, while of the two springs this year's was greater than last year's. This comparison, however, neglects any variation in this year's peddling trade from what it was in '88. It is known that peddlers have, for some time, paid more than wholesale buyers were offering. As the season advances the latter show less faith in the stability of the New York market, to which both classes of buyers look for the sale of their eggs. Pickled eggs are not yet on the market to any extent. To make any forecast of the state of the market for them is as difficult as to predict the sort of autumn or early winter we are going to have; for it is chiefly on the state of the weather that the price of pickled eggs is dependent. If the weather should continue open for a long time, the supply of fresh eggs would still be apt fairly to meet all the wants of consumers as it does to-day. This would be against the chances of a high price for pickled eggs on the market.

What makes the prices of pickled eggs for the present further problematical is the quantity held in cold storage in the Western States. Mild, open weather would still find these on the New York market, competitors of our pickled eggs, before the production of fresh eggs had ceased. A great volume of these cold-storage eggs is sometimes damaged on the market by an unfavorable spell of weather. This spoils the egg market by contracting the consumption of eggs.

However, the signs of the present are favorable. The New York market continues to stiffen for fresh eggs, which is a fair omen for the prospects of limed eggs, so far as unsettled conditions allow us to speak.

THE OYSTER SUPPLY.

The season for oyster consumption had just begun when the tempestuous weather which was the precursor of the recent great tidal wave started upon its two weeks of destruction. The oyster beds off the coast of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia were seriously damaged by the steady violence of the weather, and almost entirely destroyed by its final hurricane. Some fishing fleets tried to reach the oyster beds, but were so disabled by the storm that time was lost and expense was entailed, even after the return of calm weather.

Even before the storm the oyster supply did not promise this year to be large. Prices would likely have been higher in any event. But the great scarcity, which is the effect of the effect of the late violent gale on the Atlantic, must, of course, make prices still higher to the limited expanse of consumption that this year's supply will go over. Another fact that will make oysters dearer is the expense and delay in the re-equipping of the damaged fleets. This has to be made up, as far as it can be, by the prices of the oysters on the market. A loss of $2,000,000 has to be mitigated, if not liquidated, by the sale of oysters this year.

It is expected, however, that the market may be stocked by the crop of natural oysters. These are sought farther out in the sea than the oyster beds are placed. In deeper water they would escape the fury of the storm, which would brush the planted bivalves off the rock at five or six feet below the surface.

It was an ill wind which blew against the Atlantic coast two weeks ago, but we might naturally expect it would do somebody good. If, to supply the market, natural oysters are largely to be depended upon, why should not the advantage of the ill wind accrue to Canada? Why should not our Maritime oysters be our substitute for the oysters of cultivation? They are too far away to be got here without risk of loss, or to be got here even so cheap as the price the American oyster can still be sold at. Further, when they are here, they do not please. Their flavour is inferior to that of the Delaware Bay oysters. They would tend rather to diminish than to extend the consumption of oysters. The cultivation of the bivalves of the oyster plantations, and the mode of preparing them for shipping, have produced a product that has made our taste fastidious.

In whatever way the supply may be made up, if made up it be, oysters are now hard to be got. Orders are filled slowly, and but partially.

A MOST UNFAIR SALE.

THE GROCER learned this afternoon that the Department of Inland Revenue had sold the tobacco recently seized for being exposed for sale in other but original package to Alive Bollard, a Yonge St. tobacconist and a noted price cutter, for 30c. per lb. This tobacco is worth at wholesale 50c. per lb. It is said that no attempt was made to get tenders for the goods. At any rate they were not publicly asked for. The attention of the Department should be called to this action on the part of the collector at Toronto, as it will be a serious injury to our trade.

Messrs. W. E. Miller & Co., grocers, Fredericton, have assigned; liabilities, $6,000.

Mr. J. A. Marentette, of Windsor, finds his change in location a great improvement in trade, and he is pleased accordingly.

TO THE TRADE.

Our removal is about completed and we are now in our new stores, ready for business Our customers and the trade are cordially invited.

CURRANTS.

From a pamphlet containg much interesting information respecting the currant trade of Greece, issued by an exhibitor of the Paris Exposition, we learn that "in the six first years of the Greek Revolution the only currants exported from the Morea were smuggled up the Gulf, at a great risk, to Trieste and Malta, and the produce never exceeded 2,000 tons annually. In 1825, certainly not half that quantity was received." In 1831 the Peloponnesus produced 2,300 tons of currants; in 1845, M. Leconte gives it as 6,500; and in 1851 the figures rose to 27,000; so that in twenty years the production increased twelvefold. The vine disease reduced it the following year to 7,500 tons, and to 4,000 only in 1854; but the use of sulphur arrested the malady, and finally conquered it in 1860, when the yield rose to 52,000 tons (including 13,000 tons grown in the Ionian Islands), to 81,800 tons in 1871, to 101,000 tons in 1878, and to 160,000 tons in 1888. Deducting the 21,000 tons produced in the Ionian Islands, the other parts of Greece yielded, in 1888, 139,000 tons, or over sixty times as much as in 1831. At the present time Greece wants more customers, as she produces more currants than she can sell. If the consumption would keep pace with the production she could raise the crop to 200,000 tons in five or six years. The consumption, however, seems to have reached its limit, and, without fresh outlets, it is to be feared that the production will, of necessity, be curtailed, the prices obtained for the crop of 1888 barely covering the cost, and leaving no margin as a return on the capital invested.

The fine growths are almost exclusively consumed in England. The United States of America have lately commenced taking a few Patras and Vostizza. It is believed that if better qualities were offered to the American consumers, the consumption in the States would increase by leaps and bounds, and reach a total of over 50,000 tons, instead of less than a third of that figure. The island fruit is taken principally by the Netherlands, though the finest of it is sent to England and the commonest to France. England takes the fruit in cases, half-cases, and quarter-cases, the last two packages being the most favored. The Australian colonies take it mostly in cases. The north of Europe (Germany, Holland, and Belgium) in barrels, and occasionally in bags. The barrel is likewise in favor with America and Canada, while France takes almost all her supplies in bags. The barrel contains about 250 pounds, the bags about 200 pounds, the case 120 pounds, the half-case 60 pounds, and the quarter-case 30 to 35 pounds.

A large quantity of currants are made into wine by the French housewife, the process being of the simplest. One pound of good currants, which may be bought at every grocer's in England for 3d., and in the States for 5 cents, infused into three pints of water at a temperature of 65 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit, will give four pints of excellent wine of about the same strength as the claret or vin ordinaire sold in England. It may be drank in its natural state, which resembles somewhat that of the Sauterne and Chablis, or it may be blended with 10 per cent. Tarragona, to give it the color of claret. It costs less than 1d. per pint, and it is superior to the vile concoctions sold as claret, because absolutely pure. It is the juice of the grape; the water added is the water dried away by the action of the sun. All the other properties of the grape are inclosed in that pretty little stoneless blackberry and faithfully preserved in it. There is no adulterating and doctoring the wine contained in this tiny cask.—[American Grocer.

CREAMERY BUTTER.

Mr. Alex. Taylor, of Dromore, a thriving village situated in the heart of Egremont township, Grey county, sends the following letter to the Grey Review in reply to the article in that paper which was published in THE CANADIAN GROCER of September 13. It is interesting reading and a valuable contribution to the discussion on this subject. Mr. Taylor writes :—

Mr. Editor,—I wish to trespass a little on your space in reference to the above matter which seems to be interesting the whole of the mercantile men in the country towns. I have read with interest your article of 28th August, and which I see is quoted by THE CANADIAN GROCER.

I am fully of the opinion that creameries and cheese factories are the right and proper systems of manufacturing butter and cheese until such time as all farmers wives can make a uniform first class article at home.

First I wish to show the loss there is to the county by the old system. The store butter of the season will not realize more on the average than 13c., while the creamery will average 20c., there is a loss of 7c. Now the milk that the 13c. butter was made of would have produced the 20c. butter if properly handled. But some will say that the patrons do not realize the 20c. Well if they do not, some one gets the benefit and this 30 per cent. extra capital is left in the county. I wish to boom the creamery business for all it is worth, and wish to keep strictly to facts. I suppose all want all the information they can get, and I wish to show what can be done so that your subscribers may judge for themselves.

In your statements you only took the Durham Creamery. I wish to put in as evidence other creameries. We have three creameries in South Grey to my knowledge—Durham, Holstein and Dromore, all run and established on different principles. Durham, a joint stock, whose stockholders are the principal merchants. They purchase cream at what they consider it is worth at the time, and sell butter when it suits themselves.

Holstein, joint stock, farmers, stockholders. They employ a manufacturer, and get all that the butter will bring, less the cost of manufacture. Dromore is still different. The manufacturing plant is the property of the manufacturer, Mr. Philp, who solicits the patronage of the farmers, and collects cream, makes butter, finds tubs, effects sales with another salesman appointed by the patrons, and ships butter f.o.b. for three cents per pound; in which case the farmers get all the benefits. The cost of drawing cream about one cent, cost of tubs, cloth, wear and tear of machinery, another cent, leaving one cent to the manufacturer.

The Holstein and Dromore creameries are getting on well, and act in a friendly spirit in selling together. A buyer comes up, and when he can get half a car from the one factory he has to pay higher railway rates, but when he can get a car between the two he can get better rates, so he can pay a higher price.

The first sale made by the two factories this season was on June 12. One car to Mr. Hannah, of Seaforth, at 19½c. f.o.b., destined for British Columbia. The next sale was on July 12, to Wm. Davies & Co., Toronto, at 19c., f.o.b., netting the patrons 16½c. and 16c. respectively. Then for the balance of the season, August, September and October, they closed a contract with A. Chisholm, Montreal, for the whole makes of these three months at 21c., f.o.b., netting the patron 18c. Said butter destined for Glasgow, Scotland.

Now you see that averages over 20c. or some 7c. more than butter sold at the stores, and cash every month to be spent to the best advantage wherever they like, and a great deal of hard work saved in churning.

Now I thought your article did not fully express the benefits, as, by your showing, Durham's average for the season will not be more than 14¾c., while Dromore shows 17c., which is quite a difference in favor of the patrons.

But some one says, Why should you storekeepers be in favour of creameries? When you get the butter you sell the goods and make the profit thereon, whereas when the farmers get the money some of it goes to the grange and co-operative men in Toronto, some of it goes to adjacent towns where they think they get better bargains.

Now, Mr. Editor, the country merchants may be a pretty hard set and get a pretty hard name, but they are not so selfish as not to see what is good for the country is for their good.

Hoping that I have not taken up too much space, and as one who has been in the butter business for 30 years in Egremont township, I thought what I might say would not be taken amiss by my brother merchants and farmers' wives of South Grey.

MESSRS. CHRISTIE, BROWN, & CO'Y.

The splendid exhibit of Messrs. Christie, Brown, & Co.'s celebrated crackers at Toronto was shipped to the Hamilton Fair, on Saturday, September 21. Owing, however, to some railway blunder, it did not reach Hamilton till the following Wednesday. Nothing daunted by this mischance, the firm, with their usual push, cleared a space in the main building, and soon the representatives of the firm—Mr. Orrett and Mr. Thomas—by working all night, had up one of the best exhibits of its sort ever seen in Hamilton. This was ready for Farmers' Day, and although the time was short, it was long enough to satisfy the thousands present that day that there could be no improvement made in this line of goods.

Mr. Thomas Beattie, of the weights and measures department, was in Guelph on special duty. He took a stroll through the market and destroyed five measures belonging to huxters which were not up to the requirements of the law. A scale, also belonging to an outside dealer, was found to be wrong. The party was allowed to retain his property on the condition that he would have it fixed at once.

Collingwood is rapidly becoming the fruit market of the Northern District. This year fully 12,000 baskets of plums have been shipped to various points, and the industry is only in its infancy. This locality, especially the mountain, is well adapted for plums, pears, peaches and apples. In fact, it is a question whether any other part of the Dominion can produce plums, apples and pears of better quality than are grown on the sides of the Blue Mountain.

Very few people know how many different ways there are of changing a quarter of a dollar. According to a Philadelphia man who had more leisure than business on his hands, there are 315 ways of changing that piece of money. The pieces used are the 20-cent piece, 10-cent piece, 5-cent piece, 3-cent piece, 2-cent piece and a 1-cent piece. To make all the changes without using the same coin twice would require 1,233 1-cent pieces, 614 twos, 378 threes, 184 fives, 59 tens and 9 twenties, making 2,585 pieces, worth $53.75.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

THE AMERICAN GROCER.

The best anniversary number that has ever reached our desk is that of the American Grocer which has been issued to celebrate its twentieth birthday. Accompanying it is a fac simile of the first issue. The anniversary issue is nicely printed and profusely illustrated on good paper, and contains a large amount of interesting reading matter. Among the many articles is a sketch of the career of Erastus Wiman, accompanied by an engraving. Editor Barrett is to be heartily congratulated on his excellent production.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO, OCTOBER 3, 1889.

GROCERIES.

Trade has been quite good all week. Both mail and travellers' orders show an increase in volume. Payments, however, are disappointing. Farmers have not sold their grain and money is consequently scarce in the country. Deliveries this week, however, are larger and improved payments are looked for with increasing sales of produce. Money is firm at 6½ to 7½ per cent. on commercial paper according to the account.

COFFEES.

Demand is dull, but prices are firm, with Rios at 21c. to 21½c., and Javas at 25c. to 28c. Information regarding the new crop Rios is indefinite, but latest telegrams indicate good flowering, but there will not be more than an average crop, and prices will probably be higher. At present all desirable grades are held at extreme prices.

CANNED GOODS.

There is not much doing but there is a gradual hardening in prices of nearly all kinds of fruits and vegetables. Tomatoes are held at $1.10 by the packers and jobbers are asking that for old stock, though a sale of 100 cases was reported this week at 95c., brand not named. Old corn is firm, holders are asking $1.10 to $1.30 but no sales are reported ; special brands are held as high as $1.75. Old peas are dull at $1.10. There is a fair inquiry for canned fish, and lobsters are firm at $1.75 to $1.85. Domestic sardines are now offering on this market. They are put up by the St. Andrew's Bay Canning Co. in ¼s and ⅛s. The ⅛s are in mustard and are selling at 6½c. to 7c., and the ¼s in oil at 12½c. Mr. W. T. Costigan, Montreal, is handling them in round lots. There is a good demand for the Drysdale Brand of canned salmon, the stock having turned out well.

DRIED FRUIT.

Few Vostizza currants are arriving, but the market is quiet ; they are selling at 8½c. to 8¾c. for finest, and 9¼c. to 9½c. for choicest. Provincials are not in store yet, but are offered to arrive at 5½c. to 6½c. Old are selling in barrels at 4¼c. to 4¾c. Dates are dull at 5½c. for old. Cable advices on new are very firm. Prunes are firm, but quiet. Valencia raisins are declining on increasing supplies. Off stock are offering on spot at 7¼c. to 7½c. ; the first direct steamer will arrive in a few days. For layers 9½c. to 10c. is asked, and for selected 8½c. to 8¾c. New Sultanas are here, but no transactions are reported yet ; they are nominal at 10c. for good quality ; the stock of old on spot is about exhausted ; sales have been made on the street at 7¼c. to 7½c., and in small lots at 8c. for good quality. Figs are arriving. Natural are offered in bags at 6½c. to 7c. Elemes are also here in American boxes, but are not quoted.

GREEN FRUIT.

The price of oranges is stiffening. Jamaicas, which have all the market to themselves, are selling at from $8.50 to $9 per bbl. Lemons, on the other hand, are lowering more in price, as the season approaches, for the autumn cut. Messinas sell from $5 to $7. The new stock of Malagas, now on the market, sell at the same price. Palermos, however, are $9. No red lemons are now to be had. Yellows are $1 to $1.50. Sweet potatoes (Jerseys) from $4 to $4.50.

HONEY.

Honey is firm at 12½c. for small quantities, and 11c. to 12c. in larger quantities. In the comb it is worth from 17c. to 20c. The demand is growing stronger, and promises to keep the market good.

NUTS.

There is no business of importance but inquiries are increasing. The market is generally firmer and in some varieties prices are higher.

SEEDS.

The trade for the fall sowing is over, in timothy and clover seeds. Nominal quotation for timothy is $1.60 to $1.75. Clovers are not quotable, as there is no business. In alsike there are inquiries as to value, but these are not yet established, awaiting reports from abroad. Flaxseed is worth $1.40 to $1.50 per bushel. Trade in seeds is practically over, pending threshing and marketing of clover seed, and the opening in January of the spring trade.

SUGARS.

Dull at the decline of ¼c. Granulated is now offering at 8⅜c. to 8½c., and yellows from 6¼c. up. In the case of the latter 6⅜c. to 6½c. is the ruling price for a low grade, 6¼c. being for a no brand. The demand has fallen off very materially since the last decline, and the feeling is now weak and unsatisfactory. Buyers are waiting for a further drop. European advices are all easier.

SYRUP AND MOLASSES.

There is a fair enquiry for syrups, but they are hard to get. Redpaths cannot keep up with their orders. Prices are firmer.

Molasses is lower. New stocks are coming to hand and prices will be a good deal lower. Barbadoes are offering to arrive at 38c. in puncheons, 41c. in barrels, and 43c. in ½ barrels. Porto Rico are to be had in barrels at 36c., and in halves at 38c.

TEAS.

The past week has been a busy one on the local tea market, with more activity in all kinds. Trade from the country on travellers' orders has been increased, dealers have been sorting up generally in consequence, and prices have naturally shown a hardening tendency. The chief demand has been for low to medium Japans, but the enquiry for China teas has also been good. The last advices from London report a strong market, with increased activity, and firm prices for greens. Trade on the New York market has been moderately good, but without any new feature to report. The last cable advice from Japan say that prices out there are improving, and it is difficult to obtain supplies at recent figures.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Good grades are growing scarcer and firmer, and lower grades more plentiful and easier. Rolls are beginning to arrive in baskets, but receipts are still light. The demand is good, and all are taken at 16c. to 18c., but mostly at the top figure. For the few good to choice tubs that are offered the same figures are paid. For other grades trade is slow. Bakers are taking a few good mediums at 15c. Lots of low grades are selling at from 11c. to 13c. Buyers have been scouring the country for good table butter, but have found very little of it. They say there is a great deal of medium quality—stuff that was originally good but is now off-flavour. Nearly every town and village is carrying one or more cars. Where it is to be marketed is a question unless holders reduce prices. Lower ports might take it at about 11c., and it is said that a Montreal buyer would pay this for it. It must be remembered that the lower ports are looking for a better grade of butter each year. The scarcity of good dairies has turned the demand on creameries, but there are not many moving. Holders are firm at 20c. to 23c

CHEESE—Continues to advance steadily. The latest cable from Liverpool reports a jump of 3s. to 5is. On spot there is not much doing, but prices are higher. For July makes dealers ask 10c. to 11c. in small lots. At the factories large sales of August makes have been made at 10⅛c. to 10¼c.

COAL OIL.

Demand improving. Prices unchanged at 15c. for refined, 17c. for carbon safety, 19½c. to 20c. for Canadian water white, 25c. for American water white and 27c. for photogene.

DRESSED HOGS

The price of dressed hogs, as was to be expected at this season of the year, is high. The time of "hog-killing" is not yet near enough to affect present rates or to delay sales at those rates. The market is good. Nevertheless, it is expected that prices will descend from $7.25 to $6 before the season for general slaughter is inaugurated. If Canadian sellers should hold firmly at a high figure, a few days would suffice to bring on the market a quantity of Chicago pork that would at once slake the demand at a low one. A duty of one cent a pound, and the cost of freight, are not going to be obstacles this year. The late slight stiffening of prices for Chicago cured pork, and the increased appearance of pork of our own killing on the market, has reduced for a while the importations from the American packing houses.

The immense crop of corn cut this year in the Western States must keep American pork low for a long time. And cured pork can be bought now in Chicago for January delivery, when the bulk of our own killing will be on the market, at a price that makes the remoter prospects of Canadian producers look exceedingly dull. The cheering feature of the situation is that our own finer breeding and better feeding produce a superior class of pork, for which there will always be a pretty large local demand. Quality has an influence on the market, as well as has quantity, although in a lesser degree.

According to the report of the Department of Agriculture the supply of hogs in the United States is about five per cent. larger than one year ago. As the corn crop is now virtually out of danger from frost, there will be plenty of food for the young hogs, and the supply for winter packing will be larger than usual. Chicago manufacturers are calculating upon an increase of 500,000 to 750,000 hogs in the packing of the West—possibly more—during the winter season. Farmers, however, are selling their good hogs now very closely, as they deem prices very satisfactory. Under the circumstances, the winter's supply may drag somewhat, and farmers feed their hogs until the latter part of the season. Packers there are pursuing a very conservative course, and outside of selling heavy sides to some extent for mid-winter delivery, are not disposed to make sufficient contracts to place themselves in an uncomfortable position should their anticipations in regard to the hog supply not be realized.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is in fair supply and good demand at 8¼c. to 9c., as to quantity.

SMOKED MEATS—Hams of Canadian curing are scarcely to be had at 14c. Chicago hams are on the market at 13c. and 14c. Demand is falling off for all kinds of smoked stuff, and prices are tending easier.

MESS PORK—Remains at $13.50 to $14. Demand dull.

LARD—American is worth 9c. to 9¼c. for 60-lb. packages, and 9¼c. to 9½c. for 20-lb. packages. Canadian is easier at 9½c. to 10c.

DRESSED HOGS—Receipts are increasing, and prices are easier, at $6 to $7 per cwt.

FISH.

Large salmon are ceasing to come in, which removes the top figure from last week's quotation. The supply and demand of the medium sizes keeps the price the same for these as last week, viz., 16c. Lake fish stand at 6c., and continue to be caught and consumed in about the same quantities as for the last month. Blueback herring are still $2.25 to $2.50 by the hundred count.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

APPLES—Are surpassing the slender promise of two weeks ago. They are coming in quantities smaller than usual for this time of year, but larger than the expectations of dealers looked for. They are easily sold from $2 to $2.50.

DRIED APPLES—Are quitting the market. Scarcely any have been bought since last reports. The incoming crop of fresh fruit usually pushes the dried apples off the market if consumption has not absorbed them all. For what are to be had dealers pay 5c. to 5½c., and ask 6c. to 6½c.

EGGS—Continue to be scarce at 18c. and prices have advanced. The demand is quickening in the face of a falling off in the supply.

HAY—No. 1 is worth $10.50 to $11.50. The hay this year is unusually mixed with clover and foreign grasses, a consequence of the rank growth that distinguishes this year. This detracts from the value of hay and makes No. 1 scarce.

HIDES—No. 1, $4.75 ; No. 2, $3.75.

HOPS—Last year's crop brings 15c. to 18c. The new crop is coming on the market from 20c. to 25c., and the sample is excellent.

ONIONS—Are now selling at $1.50 to $2 per barrel. It is unlikely that the export demand will sustain this price.

POTATOES—Are coming in freely. The demand, however, from wholesale buyers is listless so far ; still supplies for winter find a very good market. The samples offered bespeak an excellent crop. Cars are worth 55c. on track, and broken lots are going at 65c. to 70c.

POULTRY—For geese, ducks and chickens there is a lively demand and a good supply. Turkeys are not offering freely. Turkeys bring 10c. to 12c. per pound ; geese, 7c. to 8c. per pound ; chickens, 55c. to 65c. per pair ; and ducks, 60c. to 85c. per pair.

QUINCES—The Niagara crop is now on the market at $4.50 to $5 per bbl.

STRAW—From $6 and $8 represent the two extremes in the scale of prices. A great range in quality is a characteristic of this fall's straw. The cause lies in the unequal effects of rust. This makes many varieties of straw, but $7.50 is a very common price. Not much is yet offering this week.

SKINS—Calfskins, No. 1, 6c. per pound ; No. 2, 5c. per pound. Sheepskins, 75c. for fresh.

TALLOW—Sells for 1¾c. and 2c. for rough. Rendered tallow is worth 5c. to 5½c.

WHITE BEANS—Are worth $1.75 to $1.80. The new beans have not made their appearance on the market. The home demand, at all events, is quiet.

GROCERIES.

The past week has witnessed a good, steady trade in groceries, which has covered all staple goods, and the general report represents a good business with satisfactory payments. The feature has been the further decline in sugar which has materially weakened, and although refiners have been blamed for shutting down, the cargoes now on the way show a heavy loss on cost prices. More activity is expected in fruits next week as the first direct steamer is close at hand.

SUGAR, SYRUP AND MOLASSES.

The market for refined sugar has ruled weak and lower. Prices of granulated have declined half a cent in two weeks, and to-day there were sales at 8c. with demand quiet. Yellows ranged from 6¼c. to 7⅛c. as to quality. The resumption of work by the refiners should increase stock, but no great anxiety to sell has been developed. There has been a good demand for syrup; western buyers have been in the market freely and have bought several large lots at 4c. per lb. Molasses have latterly manifested a firm and upward tendency. There have been considerable sales of Barbados at 43c. on spot, with up to 45c. quoted for jobbing lots.

TEA AND COFFEE.

The tea market has retained a firm and healthy tone with prices well maintained. The auction sale last Thursday resulted in most lots being cleared out, and although not altogether satisfactory to the seller the prices realized were fairly good, but in some cases excellent value to the buyer was shown. On the whole auction prices were below private sale, and auctions may not be repeated. The range made was from 14c. to 23½c. The market since has been steady and moderately active. Common teas are very scarce and wanted, in fact the market is bare of such, and to import common would cost 13½c. laid down here. In coffee there has been a moderate trade at firm prices but chiefly in a jobbing way. Rio, 18c. to 19c.; Maracaibo, 21c. to 22c.; Java, 22c. to 25c., and Mocha, 26c. to 27c.

RICE.

Trade has been fair at steady prices. Ordinary, $3.70 by the car load; Patna, 4½c. to 4¾c., and Japan, 4c. to 4¼c.

FRUIT.

Pending the arrival of the first direct Mediterranean steamer, which is due here at the end of the week, there has been little activity in the fruit market. The Elfrida is due then and will be followed by the Escalona and Barcelona, the latter of which is due at Denia on October 7. Private cables report the Denia market firm. On spot Valencia raisins are scarce and firm at 6½c. to 7c., but to arrive by first steamer 6¼c. is the figure. Small lots only are on spot. In currants there has been no business on spot to speak of and prices are nominal. A portion of the cargo of the first direct steamer, consisting of raisins, currants and Spanish onions, will be sold by auction on the wharf, and the sale will probably be held on Monday. Spanish onions to-day sold at 85c. per crate.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a fair business in canned goods. Lobsters have shown a stronger tendency. Last sales were at $6.30 ex wharf, and to-day $6.40 was asked with more quoted for choice brands. Mackerel changed hands at $5.75 per case. Salmon were steady at $1.70 per dozen, and tomatoes were unchanged at 90c. Other lines of goods were quiet.

FISH.

The fish trade has commenced to manifest more activity, and with larger receipts there has been a heavier business, but the season is early yet. Labrador herrings are at $5 per barrel for No. 1. Dry cod are steady at $4.60 to $4.75. Cod have been active, but have ruled easier, and prices have been shaded to $4.25 ex wharf and $4.50 ex store for round lots, with jobbing lots higher.

PROVISIONS.

In provisions pork has ruled much weaker, and the break in the west to-day resulted in a further decline. Western short cut has been selling below mess, and to-day short cut sold at $13.25, with more offered at that in round lots. Smaller lots could command more. Mess changed hands at $13.75c. to $14. Clear fat back, that is boneless short cut, sold at $15.25.

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
(OF LONDON), CAPITAL, £50,000.
Under the auspices of The Indian Tea Districts Association,

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 180,000,000 lbs. Of that quantity India and Ceylon furnished 120,000,000 lbs. during last crop year. This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States, and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application

CHINESE TEAS NOT DRIVEN OUT.

The demand for Chinese teas this season has been unusually good in the face of the numerous reports that they were being driven out by the Indian products. The United States Minister to China in his last report says: "The curiosities of the tea trade are sufficiently interesting to warrant my calling attention to them. Prophecies innumerable have been made that the Indian teas would drive the Chinese teas out of the market, but we find from the summary of the first week's tea business in Han Kow that never, not even when Indian and Ceylon teas were unknown, has competition been so keen and have prices been so high. The reason assigned for these remarkable prices is the competition between Russian and English tea buyers. While in London last season's teas are being sold at a sacrifice reaching 50 per cent., the new season's teas in China are eagerly competed for at prices 20 and 30 per cent. higher than last year. The one thing for China to do to permanently regain her market is to take off the export duty."

OVERCHARGES IN FREIGHT.

For a long time serious inconvenience was suffered by all men whose business involved much railway traffic. The freight charges, paid at either end of the consignment's passage, were generally excessive. The overcharge could be recovered, but only after a delay that sometimes extended over all the months of the year. Seven or eight months very commonly elapsed before the excess of a charge was refunded. This left time for the overcharges collected from a single large business to accumulate, until sometimes they amounted to several thousand dollars. Thus, both in the length of the delay and in the amount unjustly collected, the effects of this evil fell most heavily on the best patrons of the railway. The obvious interests of the railways themselves would justify the expectation of an early and full reform of this state of things.

A reform has been made, but it is neither early nor full. The unbusinesslike system of levying more than the railways professed to impose, and then filing down with the tardiest of red tape despatch, was inflicted upon commercial men a long time before it was modified. The mild form of the evil that remains entails a delay of not usually more than two months before the overcharge is paid. Freight-payers suffer now a shorter time, and the amount withheld from their business is proportionately less.

But why are overcharges made? The railway agent at a station where freight is paid is deemed competent to fulfil all the other duties of his office, and is always sagacious enough to assess the freight charges on the side of error that is most favorable to his employers. Why should he not be able to calculate accurately the amount of freight it is to be ultimately decided a man shall pay? It seems not to be pretended that local agents are qualified to do this. Only at the head offices of each of the railways does it seem possible for a man to have his freight charges properly computed. If the railways would pay liberal salaries they would soon secure the services of a body of local agents, who would then consider it worth their while to become thoroughly versed in the duties of their position. It is the local agents that the public have to deal immediately with. These should be trained before they are trusted with the care of a station, so that when they do come to represent their company in its business with the mercantile public their charges may not have to be always taxed. The head office of the company should only be an occasional court of appeal.

THE ADVANCE THAT NEVER CAME.

In a recent issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER it was stated that a wholesale grocery house in Montreal had issued a circular advising retailers to buy sugars and hold them for an advance which was sure to come. We found fault with the firm for issuing such a circular. It was urging retailers to speculate when many of them were not in a position to do so. Instead of sugars going up, they commenced to drop immediately, and have been declining steadily since. We pointed out that retailers acting on the advice bought sugar, and that some of them have not been able to meet their payments in consequence. Messrs. Lightbound, Ralston & Co., who issued this circular, make a personal attack in their monthly catalogue called "The Dominion Grocer," on the editor of this paper, and in plain, unvarnished English call him a "liar." They deny that anyone was influenced in buying sugar by their circular, and that they were financially embarrassed in consequence. We will leave the question to the Executive Committee of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association to decide upon. We have in our possession copies of the circular. We are prepared to prove our statements that retailers bought large quantities of sugar on the strength of that circular, and that letters were received from some of them by wholesale dry goods merchants in this city saying that they could not meet their payments as they had invested in sugar.

THE TOBACCO SEIZURES.

"It is scandalous."

Such was the expression made by the majority of the trade when they learned from THE GROCER that the Collector of Inland Revenue here had sold seized tobacco for 30c. per lb., without putting it up and selling to the highest bidder. It was especia ly irritating to know the tobacco went to Mr. Bollard, who glories in being one of the worst price-cutters in the city. It was generally believed that the tobacco could have been sold at 50c. per lb. if put up at auction. The trade feels highly indignant at the action of the local Inland Revenue officials. It is said that the only explanation they can give of their doings all through lies in the statement made recently, that they had to do something to show the Department at Ottawa that they were not asleep. Their action is very like the big cowardly bully at school who is always tormenting the little boys, but who eats humble pie when one of their own size even looks cross at them. They have been hunting down the retail trade which they knew was not financially strong enough to fight them in the courts, but they never went near the wholesale houses. Some time ago several of the wholesale houses dared them to seize broken packages of tobacco in their warehouse, but they were afraid to do so. Now that the trade has been thoroughly roused it is to be hoped that some definite action will be taken. The Wholesale Grocers' Guild should take hold of the matter in the interest of the retailer.

A representative of THE GROCER called upon Mr. Bollard, tobacconist, and began the conversation by remarking: "I learned, Mr. Bollard, that you were the purchaser of some tobacco recently sold by the Inland Revenue Department, and dropped in to have a talk with you about it." To which remark Mr. Bollard too lightly answered "Yes." THE GROCER man then told Mr. Bollard that it was the intention of this paper to look into the history of the late tobacco seizures, with an eye to the interests of that trade of which Mr. Bollard was a member. Mr. Bollard was then asked what he had to pay for the confiscated tobacco. The answer to this was, that it was Mr. Bollard's habit to reserve a margin of his business for his own private contemplation, and that the fact asked for was in that margin. To this position Mr. Bollard stuck close, and wound up by finally declaring that he would not say how much he gave for the tobacco, nor would he say that he had bought it at all. He was reminded that he was too late to derive any benefit from he latter part of his precaution, as he had at the outset admitted buying the tobacco. This Mr. Bollard now vehemently denied, and allowed that the remark he had answered "Yes" to, was of a much more harmless nature than the one quoted near the beginning of this account.

THE GROCER next called upon Mr. Stratton, Inland Revenue Collector. Mr. Stratton said he had sold the tobacco quite as well as if it had been his own property. He had not advertised it, but had sent word to several dealers, got several offers, and accepted the highest. He could, if he pleased, sell it at as low a figure as 20c., but he had got a good deal more than that. He had sold it well. As to how much he got for it, or as to who bought the tobacco, Mr. Stratton declined to say, but added that the carrying out of the regulations was exceedingly disagreeable to him, and he would recommend THE GROCER to advise the trade to scrupulously observe the laws regulating the sale of tobacco. He said that the law had for some time been in abeyance, but it was kept so only to prepare the trade for its introduction. He did not care whether the regulations were enforced in all parts of Canada or not.

Mr. Andrew Wilson, 62 King Street E., was next visited. Mr. Wilson keeps a large stock of tobacco and cigars on hand, and does an extensive jobbing trade, as well as a retail business. Mr. Wilson gave a droll account of the attempt to bring him under the penalties of the Regulations, and its issue. On the 7th of last May a circular had been sent to the jobbing trade, advising dealers that the law required them to sell only in whole packages to the retail trade. Some time after this, Mr. Wilson had opened a butt of tobacco, and to get his customer a fresh lot of plugs, had cast the surplus plugs into a crock behind the counter. An Inland Revenue officer came in and found them there. The contents of the crock, about five pounds, were confiscated. This seizure was based on the same interpretation of the regulation as was the circular of the 7th of May. But this circular was afterwards withdrawn, the Department retiring from the position that jobbers could not sell broken portions of a package. Consequently, Mr. Wilson lately got a card from the Inland Revenue office here, notifying him that he could have his five pounds of tobacco if he would call for it. But Mr. Wilson felt that out of a stock of $10,000 he could afford to to let five pounds of tobacco remain unclaimed, until the persons who took it away should return it. They were not supported by the law in the seizure of it, as was implicitly admitted by the Department in the recalling of the circulars.

But while the Department abandoned the claim that jobbers could not sell in quantities less than a full stamped package, Mr. Wilson explained, it is still held by the Inland Revenue collector, that those portions of a package can be followed, and, wherever they are found, the owner of them can be prosecuted under the regulations. Although it is not unlawful for a jobber to sell in packages of five pounds, fifteen pounds, twenty-five pounds, etc., sent from his store in other than stamped packages, yet it is unlawful for the small retailer to buy such lots of tobacco. If he buys it, it can be seized wherever it is exposed for sale. This is manifestly illogical, but Mr. Wilson comes in contact with classes of traders in whose business the real hardship of this law is felt. Many a poor woman, striving to do a little grocery trade, finds it impossible to buy tobacco in large quantities, or in even the smallest quantities that it is put up and stamped in. These, Mr. Wilson says, he has had to dissuade from buying in small supplies, to preserve them from the consequences of the law, by which of course he is not withheld from selling in any quantities he pleases. Mr. Wilson feels that the enforcement of the regulations as the Department now interprets them imposes no serious disability upon himself, but in the interests of the small retail dealers he speaks decidedly against trade being harassed by restrictions so illogical, so arbitrary, and so alien in their nature to the principles of British law.

Mr. Bayley, the Toronto representative of the Macdonald Tobacco Manufactory, of Montreal, was also consulted by THE GROCER. Mr. Bayley condemned the attempt to give to orders in council the authority of parliamentary enactments, particularly when those orders in council are so utterly at variance with the common law. A bureaucratic principle so rigidly maintained would scarcely be tolerated in Russia. The apparent indulgence of the Department in issuing stamps for 5-lb. packages did not diminish the evil, nor did it throw the responsibility for a continuance of it upon the manufacturers. The manufacturer may be thoughtlessly blamed for not packing in 5-lb. packages, but such censure, like the apparent concession of the Department, rests upon ignorance of the necessities of tobacco preservation. Tobacco, before it is put in a case, must be pressed so as to expel every atom of air. The pressure required for this purpose is enormous. After it has been brought to bear, the tobacco must be packed in boxes perfectly air tight. Tobacco exposed for sale in such boxes is apt to become dry very rapidly. The process of pressing cannot be profitably brought to bear on small quantities so as at the same time to yield as good an article of merchandise or consumption as upon large masses. Tobacco sold from large cases continues to be in great demand, a fact which confirms the experience and practice of the great tobacco makers. In small cases the pressed tobacco is liable to swell or break the frailer cases that must be made to keep prices down to competition with tobacco pressed in larger cases. This exposes it to the outer air, which quickly absorbs the moisture in it. Mr. Bayley added that the seizure of a box of tobacco merely because it lacked the marks of Inland Revenue stamping or cancelling was not fair to the retailer, inasmuch as other marks on the box could direct the revenue officers to the very warehouse in which the oversight or other cause had its origin. But it is apparently not the object of Inland Revenue officers to visit the consequences of mistake or fraud upon men who are able to make a stand against the law. It is held that wholesale men break the law by exhibiting samples, but no steps have been taken to make them observe it, or to punish them for breaking it. In the same way, the pretensions of the Department have been relinquished in their relation to jobbers.

It is further well-known, and is proved by many tobacco boxes in any large stock, that the mode of cancelling stamps is not that directed by the regulations. Mr. Bailey cited the case of Chidley, Shaw & Co., in this city, in whose stock a box was found which lacked a stamp, which bore none of the marks of cancellation, marks which, if properly made, would survive the stamp itself. The other references on the box showed what wholesale house it had been bought at, but justice was satisfied with the punishment of the dealers who had unwittingly had illegal (?) possession of it. The box and its contents were confiscated. Mr. Bayley further stated that he was informed by a Montreal manufacturer that tobacco is peddled in the streets of that city, and sold in violation of the Revenue regulations. It is not pretended that smuggling is the evil Inland Revenue officials seek to suppress; they claim that they are endeavoring to have the regulations carried out.

Mr. Thackray, the Secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association, denounced the enforcement of the regulations as vexatious and unnecessary. In his opinion the strict surveillance to which the manufacture of tobacco was subjected, and the precautions to ensure the wholesale distribution from bonded warehouses, where packages are stamped before they get into the stock of the wholesalers, ought to be sufficient. In England this is the case. There the retailers are not made a check upon the accuracy of officials who supervise the manufacture and wholesale distribution of it. Here the retail dealers are made the trustees of the revenue from tobacco. What adds injustice to the irritation was that jobbers and retailers were not equal in the sight of the law. A retailer may not be able to buy 60 or 70 lbs. of tobacco, and he is not permitted to buy of the kind his customers want unless he does buy in such quantities. Or a man's tobacco sales may be few, and to keep a very large supply on hand until it is sold is to wait until it has suffered in quality. In opening a caddy, he finds the end the best surface to open, but unless the stamp is there he cannot so open it. He has then to open from a side that exposes more tobacco. Also, if it is so stamped, that opening at the end destroys the stamp, he finds that to get farther down in the box he must saw off transverse sections. This continued for some time is apt to lead to the sawing off the stamp. The disappearance of the stamp is liable to be followed by the seizure of the tobacco.

Mr. Mills, late president of the Retail Grocers' Association, considered the regulations unreasonable, and very vexatious to the dealer. He could not understand why, after a dealer had bought a barrel of whiskey, for example, his liberty to sell that should be greater than if the commodity were tobacco. After he gets the whiskey he may put it up in bottles of any form he pleases, upon which no stamp is placed, and which are never inspected to see if they have paid the duty that on every other article on which excise is collected is supposed to have been paid before the article is in the retailer's possession. Why should it not be the same for tobacco? It was annoying that a man should have to exercise such unsleeping vigilance to keep himself in the path of legal rectitude. If he should take out two plugs of tobacco more than was needed for a particular order, and inadvertently fail to return them to the box they belonged to, he was now in peril of the law. Mr. Mills hoped that the grievance would soon be removed.

PROGRESS OF INVENTIONS SINCE 1845.

In the year 1845 the present owners of the Scientific American newspaper commenced its publication, and soon after established a bureau for the procuring of patents for inventions at home and in foreign countries. During the year 1845 there were only 502 patents issued from the U. S. Patent office, and the total issue from the establishment of the Patent Office, up to the end of that year, numbered only 4,347.

Up to the first of July this year there have been granted 406,413. Showing that since the commencement of the publication of the Scientific American there have been issued from the U. S. Patent Office 402,166 patents, and about one-third more applications have been made than have been granted, showing the ingenuity of our people to be phenomenal, and much greater than ever the enormous number of patents issued indicates. Probably a good many of our readers have had business transacted through the offices of the Scientific American, in New York or Washington, and are familiar with Munn & Co.'s mode of doing business, but those who have not will be interested in knowing something about this, the oldest patent soliciting firm in this country, probably in the world.

Persons visiting the offices of the Scientific American, 361 Broadway, N.Y., for the first time will be surprised, on entering the main office, to find such an extensive and elegantly equipped establishment, with its walnut counters, desks, and chairs to correspond, and its enormous safes, and such a large number of draughtsmen, specification writers, and clerks, all busy as bees, reminding one of a large banking or insurance office, with its hundred employees.

In conversation with one of the firm, who had commenced the business of soliciting patents in connection with the publication of the Scientific American more than forty years ago, I learned that this firm had made application for patents for upwards of one hundred thousand inventors in the United States, and several thousands in different foreign countries, and had filed as many cases in in the Patent Office in a single month as there were patents issued during the entire first year of their business career. This gentleman had seen the Patent Office grow from a sapling to a sturdy oak, and he modestly hinted that many thought the Scientific American, with its large circulation, had performed no mean share in stimulating inventions and advancing the interests of the Patent Office. But it is not alone the patent soliciting that occupies the attention of the one hundred persons employed by Munn & Co., but a large number are engaged on the four publications issued weekly and monthly from their office, 361 Broadway N.Y., viz.:—The Scientific American, the Scientific American Supplement, the Export Edition of the Scientific American, and the Architects' and Builders' Edition of the Scientific American. The first two publications are issued every week, and the latter two the first of every month.

Curious to see the "process" of manufacturing condensed mince meat, our representative called at the manufacturing establishment of Mr. J. H. Wethey, St. Catharines, and, through the courtesy of that gentleman, he was shown through the premises, and although prepared to see and hear the buzz and hum of machinery and many voices, he was not a little surprised to see the "noiseless" choppers of meat and apples in full operation, with hardly a sound. A description of these choppers would be interesting, but space will not permit at this time. From this room we passed to the preparation room, where the same stillness reigned. Not a sound but the "click" of the scale scoop, as it was taken off and put on the "scales" in the process of weighing the mince meat for each package, after which it is passed to a row of clean, tidy-looking girls that wrap, box, and pack each in turn in the twinkling of an eye. the tables and mixing vats are as clean and bright as marble. Mr. and Mrs. Withey superintended this department, and the orders for cleanliness are very strict. The next apartment is for branding the cases and storing ready for shipment. The volume of business of this article is steadily increasing here and will soon reach in proportion to that of the United States, where the sales are simply enormous.

DISASTROUS COMPETITION.

It would certainly pay two-thirds of the traders of the land to board and lodge the remaining one-third if they would simply get out of business and cease to annoy and impoverish by expensive competition. If one-third of the railways, one-third of the manufacturers and one-third of the stores and offices were to cease to do business to-morrow, the other two-thirds could better afford to keep the parties concerned at the best hotels in the land, and let them go to the theatre every night, than to stand the terrible expense which undue and injudicious competition now creates. In the end the public pay for all these extraordinary expenses incident to competition. One way or another the obligations must be met. Failure, loss and disaster may come and do come to individuals in the meantime ; but in the great balancing up of a series of years the accounts are all squared in the clearing-house of the public. It must be so, or business would come to a standstill ; but meantime it is not a problem that calls for reform, this unlicensed, expensive and disastrous saturnalia of competition? [Erastus Wiman.

The flames soon communicated to Mr. Montgomery's dwelling, a stone building at the rear end of the store, and from that to the Rockland House stables, which were badly damaged before the fire was got under control. Mr. Thompson's stock was all consumed. Insured in the Queen's for $400.

Last Friday, about four o'clock in the morning, the building in Durham, now used by Mr. Thomas Moffatt for packing eggs, was burned to the ground. A fierce wind and a heavy rainstorm prevented what might have been a very disastrous fire. The building was owned by Mr. Zoller, an egg dealer in New York. Mr. Moffatt lost about forty barrels of eggs, which are covered by insurance. Loss on building $400, on contents $500.

William Williams, an alleged boy burglar of considerable skill, was discovered at work in a grocery store at Chatham on Sunday morning. While the excited crowd were watching the front of the building, and before the arrival of the police, the boy slipped out of the back door and got away. A companion and accomplice told where he could be found, and P. C. Skirving arrested him out in the direction of the farm. Williams then peached on the informer, Wharton, and both boys pleading guilty before the P. M., were sent to the reformatory for three years.

The great sugar-king, Claus Spreckles, it is said, considers that blocks of sugar may be utilized successfully as a building material, and it has already been used, we believe, in Great Britain, when mixed in mortar for laying walls and foundations. A correspondent of the "Scientific American" recommends sugar as a preventive of boiler incrustation, and states that he has employed this substance for the purpose named for three years past with remarkable success. Truly, there seems no limit to the inventive capacity of the age.

The Westminster Columbia says: "Although a number of the cannery-men have decided not to pack the cohoe salmon run this year, for fear of over-production and a consequent fall in the market price of canned salmon, yet there are not a few of the packers who will take advantage of the run and increase their present pack as largely as possible. An effort was made by a few of the leading packers to come to an agreement not to can any more fish this season, but the movement failed, owing to a diversity of opinion regarding the possibility of over-production. On Monday, Sept. 16, the season opened again, and once more the fishermen's boats and floats will give the river a lively appearance.

Already more than half the world's sugar is derived from European beet root. Science, chemistry and mechanical skill have combined to transfer the habitat of a prime necessity of life from the tropics, where only it was supposed it could be produced, into the northern latitudes. Science has shown the way to prepare the soil for it, has overcome all the mechanical problems necessary for the extraction of the sugar, made its cultivation profitable, and given employment to tens of thousands of wage earners, and all this within the last twenty years. The future of this great industry seems almost boundless in its possibilities.

An innocent looking individual walked into the Weights and Measures inspector's office to-day and asked to have an old dilapidated weigh machine inspected. The inspector eyed the machine cautiously for a few minutes and finally sprang a bomb on the unsuspecting farmer by telling him that he would be forced to confiscate the article. The farmer was dumb-founded, and did not know what to make of the situation. He looked round to make sure he had not fallen among thieves, and then asked the officer what right he had to confiscate his property. He was informed that the machine was out of date and was of a cheap manufacture which was condemned by law.—[Belleville Ontario.

The latest review of the situation in mackerel does not seem to offer encouragement for an average catch. Many buyers who have held off are now in the market taking everything suitable. Nothing short of a miracle can bring the catch even to what it was last year; and the season's catch promises to be not only small, but the smallest catch within memory. The fishermen are discouraged. The receipts of mackerel during August at the port of Gloucester were only 3,053 sea-packed barrels, against 5,593 barrels for the same period last year, and 7,990 in August, 1887. This makes the total Gloucester receipts to Sept 1 only 4,796 barrels, against 11,099 to the same date last year, and 19,718 to Sept. 1, 1887. 1887 and 1888 were both years of extreme scarcity in mackerel. This decrease, some say, is caused by the ravages of the Menhaden fishermen, who take everything that comes to their nets, while others say that the taking of spawn fish in the large catches of 1884, 1885 and 1886 drove the fish to other spawning grounds where they are not disturbed. It is also claimed that the large catch of "tinker" mackerel made in the three years above mentioned took out the growing fish.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO, OCT. 10, 1889.

Complaints are still made that payments are unusually slow for this season of the year. Larger deliveries of grain are looked for next week, and this should put more money into circulation. Rates for money at the banks are firmer and tending up. On commercial paper rates are 6 to 7 per cent. as to account. Banks have been paying increased rates on deposits. In sugars there has been a decline of ¼c. since last report. New foreign dried fruits have been arriving and have found a good sale. Some cutting has reduced the prices of canned salmon. Canned goods and vegetables are firm and likely to go higher. So also are butter, eggs and cheese.

GROCERIES.

CANNED GOODS.

Wholesale grocers are showing more interest in the new pack of fruit and vegetables. Prices are firm and advancing and in most lines the market is in seller's favor. The pack this season, it is now assured, will be considerably below last year. Some large sales of old pack have taken place during the week, including several lots of 1887 pack of tomatoes. Yesterday 400 cases corn were sold to a wholesale house at $1. Some of the packers have some difficulty in filling orders for want of labels, but they have sold more freely for future delivery. Wholesalers are selling 1888 pack tomatoes at 95c. to $1, but as a rule $1 to $1.05 is asked. Corn is firm at $1 to $1.20. Peaches are going to be scarce and some packers say they cannot fill orders. Dealers are cutting salmon and sales have been made as low as $1.60. Lobsters are very scarce and firm. The same may be said of sardines. French advices report a great demand for London account and large sales have taken place at $1 over summer prices. Canadian pack have sold well.

At a meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association, held here, yesterday, it was decided to advance prices of nearly every variety of fruits and vegetables. It was reported that the pack of corn, peas, tomatoes, apples and peaches was especially light and very much higher prices than usual will likely rule this season.

COFFEES.

Are dull and unchanged. Rios are moving at 19c. to 20c. for fair to 20½c. to 21c. for choice.

DRIED FRUIT.

The supply of new fruit is increasing every day, and prices are easing off. New Filiatra currants are now on the market, and are offering at 5½c. to 5¾c. in barrels, 5⅝c. to 5¾c. in halves, and cases at 5⅞c. to 6c. Patras are moving in barrels at 6⅞c., to 7c. in halves, and 7¼c. to 7½c. in cases. Vostizzas are held at 8¼c. to 9¼c., with extra at 9¼c. to 9½c. Dates steady at 5¾c. in boxes. Figs are quiet. New are now on the market and are quoted elsewhere. Prunes are in fair request; casks are selling at 4½ to 4⅝c., with barrels at 4¾c. to 5c., and cases 7c. to 8c. Valencia raisins are declining, and are now selling freely at 6¾c. to 7c. for off-stalk. For next week's delivery 6¾c. is asked. Sultanas are firm and tending upwards. New fine are worth 9¼c. to 10c., and 10½c. to 11c. is asked for choice. Nuts are firm, but quiet and unchanged.

GREEN FRUIT.

The trade in green fruits is now at its ebb. Malaga lemons are selling at $4 to $7. Messinas at the same prices. The Jamaicas have the orange-market to themselves, and are worth $7 a bbl. The only bananas to be had are the Aspinwalls, for $2 to $2.50. They are nearly out. Sweet pototoes are from $4 to $5 per bbl.

HONEY.

and 17c. to 20c. in the comb, are unchanged. This week's trade has confirmed the honey-market, and now little change in prices may be looked for. The trade, during the last week, was remarkably large.

PEELS.

Orange and lemon are worth 16½c. to 17c., and for citron 27c. is asked.

SAL SODA.

Prices are higher at 1c. per lb. in casks.

SUGAR.

Wholesale prices in granulated and all whites declined ⅛c. on Saturday last and the market continued weak until Tuesday, when the refiners reduced their prices another ⅛c. Wholesale prices will follow in sympathy to-morrow. Demand still continues dull and buyers have not much confidence in the market. Granulated has been selling this week at 8¼c. to 8⅜c. Yellows have also shared in the decline. Low grades have been offering at 6c. and no brands could probably be bought at less. There is very little doing in raws. Trinidads are offering in bags at 6⅛c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Wholesalers find great difficulty in getting their orders for syrups filled by the refiners and shipments of American have been coming in. Imported corn syrups are held at 4¼c., and medium canes at 3⅞c. in barrels and 4c. in half barrels. Molasses steady and in demand at quotations.

TEA.

The tea market has continued active in the past week, and a large business has been accomplished. Transactions have been principally in Japans and Congous. An especially brisk trade has been done in the former and some large blocks have changed hands. Prices have ranged from 13c. to 17c., and a few sales have been made at from 20c. to 23c. China greens have been quiet, not so much because of there being no demand, but rather owing to the small and undesirable supplies offered for sale. Travellers orders have continued to show a good business being done in the country. The New York market continues steady and unchanged, without any new feature of consequence to report. Last advices from London give the following report from that market.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—New long clear is worth 8½c. to 8¾c. in small lots, and 8¼c. in large quantities. Breakfast bacon 12½c. to 13c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS—Are $6.75 to $7.50. Those of our own slaughter are coming in rather more freely than last week. The demand is good, and all stocks are low.

SMOKED MEATS—Very scarce at 13c. to 14c. per lb., but demand is light.

LARD—Is slack, 9½c. to 10c. per lb. for Canadian. The influx of American lard keeps prices down. American lard is 9¼c. to 9½c. per lb. in pails, and 8¾c. to 9c. in tubs.

MESS PORK—Is firm at $13.50 to $14. The supply is light.

A Chicago report says :—The corn crop in the West has been generally secured in good condition, and the supply of hogs is larger than usual, with good prospects that the increase in the packing of the West reported during the summer will be proportionately maintained during the winter season. The export trade in Provisions is quite good—considerably larger than reported at this time last year—and there is no complaint regarding the consumption at home.

COAL OIL.

Demand improving. Prices unchanged at 15c. for refined, 17c. for carbon safety, 19½c. to 20c. for Canadian water white, 25c. for American water white and 27c. for photogene.

☞ The Grocer does not utter predictions, but aims simply to give accurate reports of the markets as they are.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Store lots are worth from 15c. to 17c. Dairy tubs, from 18c. to 20c. Creamery tubs from 20c. to 24c. Large rolls, 16c. to 18c. Pound rolls, 20c. to 22c. Creamery rolls, 25c. to 27c. Good butter is getting scarcer and scarcer, and poor butter increases beyond prospect of sale. Montreal formerly offered a good market, but the demand from there is sluggish. The slovenly putting down of farm-packed butter is bringing Canadian butter into disrepute in England, where it has the disadvantage of contrast with the tempting product of Danish and Irish buttermakers. Of the low grades of butter there is any quantity to be had for 11½c., and prices still lower. A large volume of June pack of butter that was well made, in many cases, is now on the market, and suffers in competition with the fresh butter. It is going generally for 12c., the result of long holding for high prices. A Montreal dealer has made offers throughout the country that will keep the price of creamery butter not lower than from 22c. to 23c. Lower Port shippers show no disposition to buy. The Montreal jobbing trade has been brisk, but many of the creamery butter transactions are supposed to have been speculative. A good demand has been felt from the Montreal grocers.

CHEESE—Of September make, now appearing, is worth 10½c. to 11c. The make of July and August sells for 10c. The September make appears slowly on the market, as factories seem averse to sell. Cheese is very firm in the old country.

DRESSED HOGS

The Cincinnati Price Current says :—The movement of hogs has again increased, the packing in the West for the week showing a total of 175,000, compared with 160,000 the preceding week, and 120,000 for corresponding period last year. The season's packing since March 1, is 5,785,000, against 4,580,000 a year ago, making an increase of 1,205,000 hogs. For the four weeks last year to the end of October the average weekly packing was about 180,000 hogs, the greater activity being in the latter half of the period. Mess pork for October delivery at Chicago has been quite variable, under the manipulation of speculators, but in this the general trade has little concern other than what may be ultimately the effect upon values of product from the excessive manufacture of this speculative article during this month. If this should be followed by large production of mess pork during the winter months the stocks of this article will be a menace to provision interests for a considerable time. The reported stocks of provisions at Chicago indicate a much greater reduction in meats (including barrelled pork) for the month than consistent with the data in regard to supply a month ago, and the manufacture and movement since, which possibly may be accounted for by manufacture of mess pork cuts, held for putting into barrels on and after October 1, and not represented in the stocks. The disparity is equal to quite a large quantity of pork, even after making a liberal reckoning for disposition of fresh pork, locally and by shipments. The supply of sides as reported is now at a comparatively low point, and of lard is quite moderate. The current demand for hog product continues good, and the export movement for the week was large, being 85 per cent. in excess of corresponding period last year, the larger gain being in bacon.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

APPLES—Continue to come in pretty freely. The demand has not quite kept pace with the supply, and a fall in price from last week's quotations is noticeable. They now bring $1.50 to $2.25 per bbl.

BEANS—Old and new are bringing about the same price, from $1.75 to $1.90. The new beans are not yet well forward on the market.

DRIED APPLES—There are few old ones now to be bought, and the new ones are not yet offering. Old stock shows an upward movement, as prices half a cent better than last week's report have been paid. The prices are now from 5c. to 6c., with small lots at 6c. to 6½c.

EGGS—Fresh eggs are exceedingly scarce, and sell readily from 20c. to 22c. This scarcity has given a stimulus to the sale of limed eggs, which are now selling earlier than usual, and very freely, at 16c. to 18c. Round lots not offering.

GAME—Is now making its appearance on the market in considerable quantities, and finds free sale. Ducks are, for black and mallard, 70c. to 85c. per brace ; for pintails, 50c. to 60c. per brace. Partridges are from 60c. to 75c. per brace ; pigeons, 20c. to 25c. per brace. The teal and butterball ducks, not yet offering freely, are worth from 25c. to 30c. per brace.

HAY—No. 1, pressed, is selling at $10.50 to $11. For. No. 2 there is no demand yet. That will probably not be on the market for some time. It is worth $9. At these prices hay is firm. It is selling for a trifle more on the streets.

HIDES—No. 1, $4.75 ; No. 2, $3.75 for green. Cured are selling at 5⅜c. to 5½c. in car-lots.

HOPS—The new crop is worth from 14c. to 16c. and old from 8c. to 10c. Very little doing, as buyers and sellers are apart.

ONIONS—The upper price in last week's quotation has fallen to $1.75. The crop is commencing to be marketed more generally than was the case last week. $1.50 is the lowest figure offered.

POTATOES—Are selling on the track in carloads at 55c. to 60c. a bag. In smaller quantities they are worth from 65c. to 75c. a bag. The market has not yet reached its autumn activity, but there is a pretty strong demand.

POULTRY—Turkey buying has scarcely begun ; but few are offered and few are wanted. They bring from 11c. to 12c. per lb. In the other classes, poultry is plentiful. Geese are selling at 6c. to 8c. per lb. Ducks at 60c. to 75c. per pair. Chickens at 50c. to 60c. per pair.

QUINCES—Are worth 50c. to 75c. per basket, or $3 to $5 per bbl.

STRAW—Is now more freely called for, but it is the time of year when the best is used.

WOOL—Is still at 20c. per lb. for ordinary fleece.

FISH.

The market is becoming very quiet. The demand has flagged steadily during the last six weeks. Salmon are 15c. per lb.; salmon trout and whitefish are worth 5c. to 6c.; blueback herring is $2 to $2.50 per hundred (count). Portland haddock, now offering, is 5c. to 5½c. per lb.

MONTREAL, OCTOBER 10, 1889.

GROCERIES.

There has been nothing of a special character in the general grocery trade, but the week has witnessed a good, steady trade, which has embraced all staple goods. There has been no important variation in prices, which, as a rule, have remained steady and without essential change. Payments have been well met, and few complaints as to laxity of meeting obligations have been heard of.

SUGARS, SYRUPS, AND MOLASSES.

The sugar market has remained substantially unchanged, but refiners have grown more confident, and claim that an advance in the near future is probable, but, of course, much depends on the course of markets abroad. Granulated has been changing hands at 8c. at the factory, while jobbers command a shade more. Yellows range from 6¼c. to 7⅛c. as to quality, but some special brights have made more. Syrup has continued in good demand on the basis of 4c. per lb., but offerings have been light. Molasses has ruled firm and fairly active. To arrive sales have been made at about equal to 43c. here ex wharf for Barbadoes, but jobbing lots can command more, in fact, 45c. has been paid for such.

FRUIT.

Pending the auction sale of raisins, currants, lemons, and Spanish onions, ex Elfrida from the Mediterranean, which takes place to-morrow (Wednesday), there has been little or no activity in the fruit market, as buyers desire to see how prices will go. Valencia raisins have sold at 6¼c. on spot, but could be bought at 6¼c. now, although cables firm. Large lots of currants have been sold to arrive, but terms were kept private. Spanish onions are expected to sell down to 70c. in view of the large quantity to arrive.

TEA AND COFFEE.

Tea has been fairly active and steady, with a rather firm tone, according to holders, who have shown no disposition to unload, especially as no great quantity of stock is being carried. Common grades are notably scarce and some lots that have been carried for some time have realized big profits. Teas that sold at 13c. to 14c. have made 15c. to 16c., and anything below 15c. is difficult to obtain. The higher grades have not improved proportionately, but on the whole the market has a firm and healthy tone.

Coffee has been rather more active, but in a jobbing way, and prices have retained a firm tone, with prospects of improvement. Mocha has sold at 26c. to 27c., Java at 22c to 27c., Maracaibo 21c. to 22c. and Rio 18c to 19c.

RICE.

There has been no change in the condition of the rice market, which has remained steady, under a fair demand, which has absorbed the average quantity of stock at steady prices. Ordinary is at $3.70 for carloads, Patna at 4½c. to 4¾c. and Japan at 4c. to 4¼c.

CANNED GOODS.

In canned goods there has been a good steady business, but the market has contained nothing of interest as trade and prices have proceeded without any important event or any disturbing influence. Lobsters have continued firm at the advance quoted last week, but so far nothing above $6.40 has been quoted, while some have sold for less. Salmon have ruled steady at $1.70 per dozen and mackerel at $5.75 per case. There has been a good business in tomatoes on the basis of 90c. per dozen.

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
(OF LONDON), CAPITAL, £50,000.

Under the auspices of The Indian Tea Districts Association,

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 180,000,000 lbs. Of that quantity India and Ceylon furnished 120,000,000 lbs. during last crop year. This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States, and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application

DRIED WINE GRAPES.

A new table sauce on this market is dried wine grapes. They are prepared in California. Samples were shown here this week by Mr. W. T. Tassil, the representative of a San Francisco house. Dried wine grapes, if properly prepared, make a very palatable, economical table sauce. The fruit as taken from the sack should be carefully looked over and the foreign matter, if any, culled out; the fruit thoroughly washed and rinsed in clear water and then put to soak from four to six hours or until the berries swell and plump out to almost their natural size. Then, place on the stove to cook in the water in which they have soaked, for it contains a large quantity of the flavor and nutrition of the grape, and allow them to cook slowly for an hour or so, or until tender. They can then be served as sauce, either hot or cold. You will probably find the average dried grape sweet enough, but they can be seasoned to suit the taste. If spices or flavoring are desirable, they can be added. You will find that they make a very palatable, wholesome sauce, which, if properly prepared, can be used as an article of food in almost any quantity without fear of unpleasant results. Dried grapes contain large quantities of nutritious blood and muscle producing qualities, a sufficient amount of grape sugar to produce flesh and a moderate quantity of alcohol, which will act on the system as a stimulant or tonic. Dried grapes are cheap and should find their way to the tables of all classes.

The Fisheries Commission, composed of Mr. Wm. Gunn, of Walkerton, Ont., and Capt. McLeod, of Cape Breton, who were sent to Europe by the Government some months ago to investigate the herring fisheries, have concluded their labours. They visited Scotland, England and Holland. They sail for home on the 3rd by the Allan liner Sardinian, and will make up their report in Ottawa.

In the International Series Counter Check Books, manufactured by Morton & Co., 3 and 5 Adelaide Street East, Toronto, merchants are guaranteed in their use by letters patent. Samples are furnished free of the best check book yet introduced. Thousands now in use.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

THE TOBACCO QUESTION.

We publish this week the opinions of some wholesale dealers upon the Inland Revenue restrictions that are put upon the sale of tobacco.

The Hon. Frank Smith, of Messrs. Frank Smith & Co., is confident that anything grievous in the action of the Regulations will be rectified at the next session of parliament. He will do all he can to forward reform where it is needed. The Regulations have been in existence seventeen or eighteen years, and we should have the patience to wait a few months longer, when, if there is anything wrong in them, it can be abundantly ventilated in parliamentary discussion.

The views of Mr. Davidson, Vice-President of the Board of Trade, of the firm of Messrs. Davidson & Hay, are thoroughly in accord with those expressed by Mr. Bayley in our last issue. He considers the Regulations very arbitrary, and internally inconsistent. There is nothing in them that is exasperating to the wholesale trade, but from a fellow-feeling for the trials of many who finally distribute the wholesalers' goods, Mr. Davidson has been led to exert himself to have those Regulations made less oppressive. As a consequence of his co-operation with Mr. Wilson, the regulation relating to the jobbing trade has been dropped.

Mr. Boomer, of Messrs. Warren Bros. & Boomer, believed the Regulations were exceedingly vexatious. As a wholesale man, the retail dealers had his sympathy in their efforts to have the sale of tobacco released from its present restraints.

Mr. Sloan, of the firm of Messrs. Sloan & Crowther, denounced many of the Inland Revenue methods of procedure as intolerably oppressive to retail trade. He cited a case in which a butt of tobacco, sold from his firm's warehouse, had been found by Inland Revenue officers in the possession of a firm of retail dealers, but without the Inland Revenue stamp, or any trace of such stamp having been there and cancelled. The tobacco, lacking a few pounds of a full butt, was seized. Messrs. Sloan & Crowther came forward and offered sworn testimony that the duty on that particular butt had been paid. Under the Regulations, it seems, direct testimonial evidence is considered less convincing than the prima facie evidence of the absence or presence of Inland Revenue marks. In this case Messrs. Sloan & Crowther could prove that the fault lay, not with the retailers, but with the Inland Revenue officers, who had neglected to stamp and cancel the box. But the blame had to be borne, and the penalty had to be paid by the hapless retail proprietors.

Mr. Doherty, of the firm of Nerlich & Co., wholesale importers of tobacco and cigars, hoped that the retail trade would soon free itself from the fetters by which it was now tied down. The Revenue should be protected, but the measures taken to protect it were unreasonable and needless. In Ontario, particularly in Toronto, the trade in tobacco was one carried on honestly in the sight of the government. Dealers were scarcely ever shown to be guilty of evading the duties. The regulations, he believed, were intended for Quebec, Essex and neighboring counties in Ontario, where tobacco was undertaken to be cultivated.

THE CHANCES ON BUTTER.

When should the country merchant sell his butter? is a question that the present situation in the butter market makes a pertinent and important one. The answer which is backed by the opinion of the wholesale buyers, and supported by the bulk of the retail experience, is, "At once." This, of course, is a general answer to a general question, but the circumstances should be very clearly foreseen which absolve a dealer from following it as a general rule. A storekeeper may be in a region where the best of butter is made, and he may have exceptional means of keeping it wholesome for a long time, but good butter is always scarce enough to command a good price, and a dealer is wise to be satisfied with what he can realize in the immediate market. This is particularly the case with butter of the summer pack. The best of it is impaired by long holding, as is attested by the immense volume of inferior butter of that season now on the market. Of butter that enters into consumption as soon as it is made, the proportion that is really bad is a very small part of what would be bad at the end of two months' storage in country cellars.

There is nothing more sensitive than butter. The least volatile, the most negative of substances in the same chamber, will put butter off flavor. The atmosphere of the grocery cellar is about the least wholesome environment that it can be kept in. The butter of the various makers that the country merchant buys from has in the end all to come to the level of the poorest in the package, as it has to be mixed in the putting down for the wholesale buyer. This deterioration is enough without adding to the chances against profit by long keeping.

It is usually held that in a season of luxuriant herbage butter is less proof against the contagion of other things than in seasons when the grazing is but fair. This may be a consequence not of the grazing, but of the state of weather which produces rich grazing. Whatever is the cause, this year butter is, at any rate, harder to keep untainted than in years of poorer pasture.

As the market is now congested with low grades of butter, it is timely to look into the country trader's responsibility for this in other respects than the prolonged holding of his summer buying. There would be less poor butter made if the dealer had the firmness to have a scale of prices, instead of one price.

He should give the highest price only for the best, and for lower degrees of quality he should have lower degrees of value. He would thus protect himself against loss, and elevate the standard of butter-making. All would strive to get the highest figure. A few suggestions on his part might add to the lesson taught by graded prices. That butter should never be wrought with the hands is not simply a maxim of cleanliness, but is a caution against mixing foreign, oily matter with the pure dairy product. That finest salt only should be used is good advice to preserve against a fishy taste that is liable to be imparted. Some Canadian salts have been shown to be pure, but analysis has shown others not to be. Creamery butter does not keep so well as dairy, and butter saturated with buttermilk does not keep at all.

For first-rate or second-rate butter now in the hands of country merchants, there is every prospect of an excellent market that can be waited for. The weather is cool, and by the new year the prices of these classes of butter will, it is believed, be high.

THE APPLE SUPPLY.

The Canadian apple crop is far below the average of other years. Only at the point of the western peninsula of Ontario is there a fair yield. In former years we had a heavy surplus crop for the British markets. We have now no more than is usually consumed in our own country. The case is the same with most of the apple-growing States on this continent. New York generally raises about half of the whole North American apple crop. This year the yield of its orchards is comparatively insignificant. In the Eastern States there is a great deficit; in Maine, where the crop is the best, it is but 65 per cent. of what is considered a good one. Only in the States of which St. Louis is the outlet is there a full crop. In Michigan there is a falling-off of 25 per cent.

Nevertheless, Michigan has plenty of apples to sell, and it is from Michigan and the Northern Mississipi States that they must be bought, if Canadians are to do any export trade this fall. American producers must always take a lower price for their apples in the London and Liverpool markets than the Canadian apples bring. Ours are the best in the world. It is, therefore, more profitable for us, and it is equally profitable for the Michigan and more southern apple-growers, to sell our own and buy theirs. We give them as much for their apples as they can hope ultimately to realize in competition with ours in the British markets. So that, while we have no more apples than would answer the local demand, it will yet be but a small proportion of native apples that will be consumed here.

In England there is a greater demand than ever. The market is exceedingly firm, because the European crop is low. The Belgian supply will this year count for little.

The apples shipped from our ports will not all be Canadian. But the very fact that they come from Canadian ports will enhance their value, no matter where they were grown. Canadian packers are busy in the orchards of Ontario, Michigan and other apple States in the West, and are shipping at once to Portland, where the apples will be stored until the market beyond the sea gets at its best. Packers are forwarding thus early to Portland for storage there to avoid the risk of loss, which so many suffered last year; the apples were then sent over rail at a much later season, carloads were often left standing on side-tracks and large quantities were destroyed by frost.

Apples, however, are not indispensable. When they are scarce or dear the people find a substitute in dried and canned fruit. The appearance of rhubarb on the market as early as February also shortens the term of heavy apple consumption. Too much heed, therefore, to the present signs of the times might mislead producers into reserving beyond a favorable limit. A simultaneous unloading would be apt to follow, the market be sated and price brought low. For eating-apples there will, of course, be fancy prices as long as they are to be had.

On account of the utter failure of the crop within a radius of twenty miles of Toronto, the local supply must come from distant points, and prices will be high in the local market. Other years the local market overflowed at this time with fall apples. The supply of dried and evaporated apples will probably be below what it usually is, for the culls used for this purpose are now graded as very fair apples for shipping.

BUSINESS MORALITY.

In these days of enterprise and spirited trading, business men are very apt to confuse clever pushing ways with trickery. The word "smart," used as it is to represent both honest and dishonest men of good business capacity is itself an indirect proof of this confusion. Although the object of both classes is the same, namely, the building up of a profitable business, their modes are entirely at variance with one another, and the results are almost invariably quite the opposite of one another. Sooner or later the man who tries to make a profit by dishonest means, or takes some underhand way of "getting ahead" of his opposition, will be found out by his customers who will distrust him ever after even in his most honest dealings, and if they patronize him at all will compel him to make concessions to them in order to hold their trade. The upright, square-dealing man, on the contrary, will see his custom constantly increasing, and when he makes a new connection, he will have no difficulty in keeping it. His goods will be regarded as above suspicion. Nor will his prices be questioned. Public confidence will open up new, legitimate channels of profit which will not be trusted to his "tricky" opponent for fear of being imposed upon. Fair prices are better than cuts. The genuine article will always tell against the imitation. Advertising is good until it is found to be untruthful. Sell cheap goods as such, and not on the merits of expensive ones. Let your manufactured articles always be equal to the sample shown. With firmness and politeness decline unprofitable business. Endeavour always to have in stock the right goods at fair prices. With constant work, intelligence, politeness, firmness, and honesty, no legitimate business for which there is a demand can help but succeed.

BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Although only a very brief period of time has elapsed since the first convention of retail merchants of this province was held, divers opinions as to its usefulness or uselessness are already beginning to be expressed in different parts and by different parties.

That an association such as the Business Men's Association of Ontario could be formed without provoking criticism, either friendly or otherwise, it is at once unreasonable to suppose; but the haste with which some men condemn and brand as a failure any scheme having for its object united effort, leads one to think that there really are few retailers left in this province who are not sufficiently enlightened to forget self, so far as to enable them to join hands with their neighbors in working for a common good.

Happily, however, this class constitutes a hopeless minority, and an encouraging sign of the times is the readiness with which was received, and the warm reception given to, the idea of organization by the great majority of retailers, and we can well afford to ignore the predictions of a few croakers and chronic fault-finders as if non-existent. It is not croaking nor fault-finding that is required, but a voluntary and systematic effort having for its object the removal of all trade evils; and as united effort can readily accomplish what individual attempts would fail to secure, the co-operation of each and every retailer should be readily and cheerfully granted.

What we then want is organization. Not in the sense of a combine to regulate prices of commodities, but organization with a view to concentrating and employing our united strength in purging our commercial system of a number of evils which, if allowed to go unchecked, will destroy the whole fabric; and it now remains for all retailers of this province to stand shoulder to shoulder, and make a pull, a strong pull and a steady pull, and our efforts will doubtless be crowned with success.

But just here a word of caution might not be out of place. Some have already become impatient, looking for the good results which were to follow the convention at Hamilton, forgetting that the questions there discussed were those pertaining to abuses which are not of a month's or a year's growth, but which have for years been gradually and almost imperceptibly creeping into our system of d ing business, and may, and very likely will, require years before they are entirely overcome.

We should, therefore, not be oversanguine, and if all abuses are not corrected or removed in six months or a year, organization, as proposed, should not be denounced as a failure. Do not condemn before the trial, but rather give it the benefit of the doubt.

A TEA CASE.

A case of considerable importance to tea importers and grocers came up in the Exchequer Court, Tuesday. This was a reference by the Minister of Customs of a claim made by Carter, Macey & Co., tea merchants, of New York City, for a refund of $1,300 paid as duty, which the firm contend was improperly imposed upon them. Under the tariff tea comes in duty free unless it is imported from the United States, when a duty of ten per cent. ad. val. is levied. The appellants contend that the tea in question was not an importation from the U. S., but a direct importation into Canada. The facts are as follows: In the summer of 1888 the appellants ordered the tea in Japan, to be sent by two separate vessels to New York city, it being the intention, however, that the tea should be sold in Canada. The consignment reached New York in October, but Carter & Co. made no claim for the goods, and the customs authorities at New York placed the tea in a warehouse for unclaimed goods. The tea remained in the customs warehouse until March of this year. The firm, in the meantime, having succeeded in obtaining purchasers in Canada, Carter & Co. claimed the goods from the customs authorities, and entered them for transportation to Canada as goods in transit, and thereby claimed that they should enter Canada duty free as a direct importation from Japan. Judgment was reserved.

OATMEAL.

A number of physicians at present are discussing the question whether oatmeal really is as good an article as has been claimed. Instances are given where oatmeal caused immediate and acute heartburn, and led to indigestions of long variety, bringing on all kinds of ills. Then, again, other instances are given in which oatmeal restored the stomach to its pristine strength, and brought back vigor and vitality to wasted systems. Perhaps the matter can be explained by the fact that what is one man's food is another man's poison; or by still another assumption that there is oatmeal and oatmeal. The oats that grow in the south are very different from the oats that grow in the north, and the treatment given them by millers varies in different parts of the country. Then oatmeal that is not thoroughly cooked is one of the worst things a man can take into his mouth. The raw grain irritates the stomach and gives rise to many digestive evils. Practical cooks say it is a good plan to soak the oatmeal for four or five hours, and then boil it slowly for at least two or three hours. The housewife who takes this precaution is almost sure to find that the porridge will agree with her most delicate child's stomach, and will be grateful to the most reduced system.

CANADIAN PACKERS' ASSOCIATION.

A special meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association was held last week, when Messrs. Boulter (President), Picton; W. A. Ferguson, Delhi; H. I. Matthews, Lakeport; J. Teskey, Welland; S. Fenton, St. Catharines; W. P. Innes, Simcoe; and B. R. Nelles, Grimsby, were present. The meeting was called to consider an advance in prices. The president explained that owing to a much shorter pack than usual prices would have to rule higher. Letters were read from several members explaining their absence. Samples of labels were shown which were believed to be contrary to law, and it was decided to ask THE CANADIAN GROCER to publish the Canned Goods Act. The remainder of the time of the meeting was spent in discussing prices, and a general advance was decided upon. The opinion was expressed that prices would go much higher before the end of the year.

We regret to state that salts of tin has once more made its appearance in molasses. The authorities have discovered it in several samples analyzed. We hope its use will be discontinued. The retail trade do not desire to buy or sell molasses containing this substance; neither does the trade desire to have another molasses sensation, for its effects upon business cannot fail to be injurious. Let the guilty parties forsake their practices. —[N. E. Grocer.

General storekeepers who sell tobacco and cigars should make it a rule never to allow either smoking or chewing in their stores. An establishment where these practices are indulged in is not only an unfit place for the exposure of provisions for sale, but is a very disagreeable place for lady customers. The merchant who permits either smoking or chewing in his store injures his trade much more than he realizes from the sale of tobacco and cigars.

ALD. FRANKLAND NOT TO BLAME.

THE GROCER asked Ald. Frankland, chairman of the Markets and Health Committee, why the letter from Mr. J. F. Thackray, secretary of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, had not been acknowledged. He replied that he had received it and had handed it to the committee. The secretary of the committee should have written Mr. Thackray. The matter had been before the committee and he hoped that Mr. Awde would soon take early action. He regretted very much the neglect of the secretary, and promised to give the by-law regulating pedlars his own personal attention. This is what the grocers have been wanting for some time, for when Ald. Frankland takes hold of anything he does it thoroughly.

A PLEASURE AND BENEFIT.

LONDON, Sept. 17, 1889.

Dear GROCER,—By the way, we feel it a duty to remark the interest we take in THE GROCER, and the pleasure and benefit each of our firm, and even our employees, derive from an attentive perusal of it. We can assure you that it is constantly in demand at available leisure time. Yours, etc.,

TUFTS & SON.

THE CANNED GOODS LAW.

Her Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate and House of Commons of Canada, enacts as follows;—

In this Act the expression "package" means every can, tin or package in which articles or goods are put up for sale, and which are closed by being hermetically sealed. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 1.

Except in the case of goods packed previously to July 20, 1885, every package of canned goods sold or offered for sale in Canada, for consumption therein, shall have attached thereto or imprinted thereon a label or stamp, setting forth in legible characters the name and address of the person, firm or company by whom the same was packed, or of the dealer who sells the same or offers it for sale.

Every such package containing goods prepared from products which have been dried previously to being so prepared, shall, in addition, be labelled or stamped with the word "soaked," which word shall be plainly printed diagonally across the face of the label in large, legible type at least half an inch in height and three-eighths of an inch in width.

Every person who sells or offers for sale any such goods in violation of any provision of this section shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, for a first offence incur a penalty of two dollars for each such package, and for a subsequent offence a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars and not less than four dollars for each such package in respect of which any such provision has been violated. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 2.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the quantity or weight of the contents of such package, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which the quantity or weight is so falsely represented: provided always, that a variation under the rate of three per cent. shall not be deemed a violation of the provisions of this section. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 3.

Every person who places on any package any label, brand or mark which falsely represents the date when the article or goods contained therein were packed, shall, on summary conviction before a justice of the peace, incur a penalty of two dollars for each package on which such date is falsely represented. 48-49 V., c. 63, s. 4.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

The regular monthly meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held in Shaftesbury Hall on Wednesday evening. Among those present were Mr. John Berwick, president, in the chair; Messrs. J. F. Thackeray, R. Mills, Westren, Partridge, Gibson, Binnie, Lindsay, McCulloch, Hargraves, Mara, Clarke, Tolchard, Booth, Saunders, Calhoun, Williamson and Frank Britton.

WORTH ACKNOWLEDGED.

Mr. Thackeray reported for the Executive Committee, recommending the payment of $100 as the salary of the secretary for the year. Mr. Gibson asked that a letter sent to the committee by the secretary be read, but the secretary had not it with him, and the president said that the letter explained that the late secretary left the books in a very muddled state, but the affairs of the association had now been straightened out and were in a very satisfactory condition.

Mr. Hargraves thought the secretary should get more than $100. He deserved it, for he performed the work well. Mr. Mara was strongly in favour of giving him a much larger sum, if the finances permitted. They were not paying him what he was worth, but what they could afford. Mr. Berwick explained that they had only agreed to pay $5 per month, but they were so well pleased with the work done that they had increased it to $100, which was as much as they could afford at present. Mr. Gibson was in favour of giving the secretary $25 from the picnic fund. He and all the members were more than pleased with the way he had done the work. He had done better than any one anticipated. Mr. Hargraves thought the Picnic Committee should give him $50. The report was unanimously adopted.

THE TOBACCO SEIZURES.

Considerable discussion took place on the seizures of tobacco.

Mr. Mills was in favour of requiring all wholesale houses to give a guarantee that the duty had been paid. This was the only way the retail trade could protect themselves. Mr. Clark agreed that the wholesale merchants should be made responsible.

The president thought that the present system was monstrous.

The secretary suggested that each package should be marked and numbered in the invoice, so that they could be traced. Mr. Mills agreed with this, and moved that "The association would recommend the wholesale men to see that the number of each package be placed on the invoice," and that a copy of this notice be sent to the Wholesale Grocers' Guild. The motion was adopted.

THE MARKETS BYLAW.

The secretary reported that although Inspector Awde had been instructed to prepare a bylaw by the city council, and to consult with the members of the trade, he had not done so. He (the secretary) had written to the Chairman of the Markets and Health Committee, but had no reply. Further discussion took place, in which Mr. Awde was properly roasted for neglecting his duty. Messrs. Hargraves and Mills were appointed a committee to look after the matter. Mr. Booth said it was necessary to have this matter attended to at once. It was a grievous wrong to the retail merchants, who had to give ninety pounds in a bag of potatoes, for instance, while the peddlers and farmers gave only sixty pounds. Mr. Berwick gave an example. He said a customer had asked him to loan a few bags to a farmer to fill with potatoes. He gave him ordinary oatmeal bags, but the farmer quite indignantly threw them back, saying that they would not do. "What's the matter?" asked Mr. Berwick in amazement. "Too big," was the answer, as the hayseed left the shop with the air of a much-wronged man.

THE MEETING-HOUSE.

Mr. Gibson reported on the locking out of the association from Philharmonic Hall. Mr. Bousted blamed it on Mr. Mills. The latter gentleman explained that he had given Mr. Bousted no ground for such an action. Several members were in favour of claiming damages. It was decided to ask Mr. Boustead to give a quit claim for rent due in consideration of no further action being taken by the association, and that the old committee arrange a place of meeting and report at next month.

SODA-WATER MEN.

Mr. W. Robertson, one of the soda-water manufacturers, wrote that he was willing to abide by the decision of the association, and sell to the trade only.

THE PICNIC COMMITTEE.

Mr. Gibson, the financier of the picnic committee, reported that he was ready to hand over the proceeds and he wanted his books audited at once. He wanted the money taken off his hands. Messrs. Tolchard and Smith were requested to audit the accounts. He asked all persons having claims against the picnic committee to send them in at once, otherwise they would not be attended to, as the committee wanted to wind up their work.

COMBINATIONS.

Mr. Mills took the floor at the request of the President to give his views on the question of Trade Combinations. He did not anticipate being called on, and had, therefore, made no preparation. He referred to the two forms of combination that existed in the wholesale grocery and manufacturing trades, and pointed out how they effected the trade injuriously. He pointed out that they never take into consideration the standing of a retail merchant. They sell at the same price to good and bad paying merchants, or to large or small buyers. This made retailers mechanical workers and not business men. Carried on in this way any one could drop into business. All goods were sold at a uniform price, and any novice could buy as well as the most experienced men and could do as well as old business men. This was leading a larger number into business. They were ruining the retail trade, and eventually they would ruin the wholesale trade. A combination in cottons, or such lines, was not so injurious as in the grocery trade. Consumers did not know the difference in quality of cottons and similar goods, but in the grocery trade goods were put up in packages and every school child knew their prices. There were cases in which some retailers were able to buy at less than the combination figures. Tobacco was one of these. He pointed out that retail dealers were able to sell tobacco at less than combination prices and yet make a profit. There were also other grievances. Wholesale dealers were in the habit of going into supply stores. The Grocers' Association was in favour of the sugar combine at one, but the results now were not satisfactory. The combine was bolstering up a good many firms that did not deserve support.

Mr. Partridge argued from a combination stand point, which was that it was as fair for one as for the other. He was surprised to know that so many articles were under combine prices, but he asked whether matters would be any better under no combination? However, he would like to get a blow at the combines. Mr. Mara pointed out the tendency of the combine to produce supply stores. He did not think that a reduction in price could be effected by the breaking up of the combine. He believed the reason why so many new stores were starting by men with little or no capital or experience was due to the ease with which the members of the combine gave credit, for they could afford to lose some money owing to the large profits they made. If they had no combines, these places would go down.

Mr. Gibson pointed out that brains did not count in the grocery trade now-a-days.

Mr. Partridge was in favor of asking the wholesale trade to give an explanation of the profits they were making on their goods. It might be that they were not making retail profits as the retail trade imagined.

Mr. Tolchard said combines might be working to the disadvantage of the wholesale trade, for men would go into that branch of trade, for a man could start easily and make a sure profit.

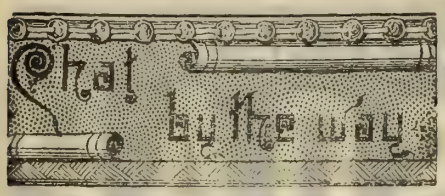
Mr. Gibson said, that before getting into a guild a firm would have to plank up $1,500.

Mr. Partridge suggested a joint stock company of retailers. The combine were making fortunes; but, as he said before, he would like to know what were the profits they really made?

Mr. Mara wanted to know what became of Mr. Wallace's Combines Bill? He worked against it, but he was changing his mind.

It was reported that Mr. Lumbers was selling at less than combination prices, and Mr. Mills pointed out that there must be some underhand work in the guild when he could do so.

In consideration of the importance of the question, it was decided to adjourn the discussion until next meeting.



TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION

592 PARLIAMENT STREET,
Toronto, Ontario.

Thos. Greenhow, general store, Okanagan, B.C., is dead.

J. B. Johnson & Co., grocers, etc., Victoria, B.C., have dissolved.

C. G. Meek, general store, Vancouver, B.C., has taken a partner.

R. Miller's tea store, of Amherst, N.B., was burglarized a week ago.

J. G. Turiff, general storekeeper, Carlyle, Assa., has sold out to J. W. Wilcox.

Mr. T. O. Leonard, of the Oswego Starch Co., spent a few days here last week.

John Caulfield, dealer in groceries and liquors, Virden, Man., is closing out his business.

J. A. Moore, recently in the wholesale crockery trade at Winnipeg, left last week for Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. J. Walter Allison, of Mott & Co., Halifax, paid his usual half-yearly visit to THE GROCER this week. He is on his western trip and reports a very good trade.

We are pleased to note that Mr. A. S. Hallman, Berlin, looks upon trade matters as improving generally, and says his trade and collections are up to a full average.

Messrs. Kuhl Bros., Berlin, are located near the station in a growing district, and are building up a large trade in the grocery business. They are pushing young men.

Michner & Co., Berlin, have moved into their new premises. They have a good corner for business, and with their pleasant and inviting store they should do a good trade.

Mr. T. J. Dougall, Windsor, says THE GROCER is a good paper, and he is pleased that he made "room" for it. Mr. Dougall has a large store stocked with the best class of goods to be had.

W. J. Robins, who has been managing clerk for Walmsley & Spafford, grocers, Belleville, for over six years, left the other day for San Francisco, where he has secured a good position in the retail grocery business.

Mr. W. R. Campbell, Windsor, is renovating his store and fitting up a meat market, the two connecting by an arch. Mr. Campbell is one of the "live" young men of Windsor, and his location near the C. P. R. ferry will be advantageous for a growing trade.

The week before last no less than sixteen cars of cheese were shipped from Listowel station for the European markets. The purchasers, Messrs. Ballantyne, Maclaren and Caswell, paid fully $40,000 to the factorymen for the cheese.

Burgess, the Mimico canned goods packer, has been sent back to the Erie Co. jail for another six months. He is held there by the Ontario Canning Co., Hamilton, on a capias, as they want him to disgorge some $8,000 or $9,000.

The turn in the market for canned goods will give a handsome profit to Eby, Blain & Co., who were the heaviest holders. They bought the Rising Sun stock, and also about half of Burgess' speculative holdings, at very low prices.

J. & J. W. McCalla, St. Catharines, do a large jobbing trade in groceries besides a retail trade in groceries and hardware. Their trade on Saturdays would compare quite favorably with the largest houses in our large cities on that day.

Messrs. Dunke & Co., Berlin, are putting in car loads of apples, in anticipation of a high market for fruit this winter, and certainly it looks as if they were showing good judgment in securing a moderate supply if they have proper storage quarters for them.

The Leamington Post says: "Nine women in Reynolds & Co.'s factory, pulled, cored and trimmed one hundred bushels of apples in six and a half hours on Wednesday last. Mr. Reynolds says this is exceptionally fast work, beating anything in his experience of several years in the business."

Mr. R. A. Jones, merchant, of London West, has just returned from an extensive tour through England, and looks as if the roast beef of that island agreed satisfactorily with his constitution. He reports brisk times commercially, agriculturally and in general business in manufacturing districts.

The Brantford Vinegar, Broom and Brush Co. are closing out their stock of brooms and brushes, and will continue the vinegar business only, Messrs. Whitney & Co. being the style of the present firm. Mr. W. M. Ismond is on the road as usual. This concentrating of the business will give that impetus to the vinegar branch which the article they furnish deserves.

Mr. E. M. Carroll, formerly with Mr. J. McElderry, has opened out this week with a grocery business on Parliament Street, Toronto. The many friends of the young man where he was born and brought up will wish him every success. Mr. Ed. Carroll, his father, traveller for Frank Smith & Co., and family, have also removed to the Queen City. Their departure will be much regretted.—[Guelph Mercury.

While Mr. J. Killam, of Dresden, was engaged in talking to a friend the other day, a colored boy entered his store and tapped the till. After securing the money he called Mr. Killam to wait upon him, and virtually "paid Mr. Killam in his own change." When Mr. Killam missed the same he followed the boy and demanded the money, but he stoutly denied having taken it. When Mr. Killam mentioned the Chief the boy produced the money in a twinkling.

The Ontario Basket Works have large orders for boxes for axle-grease manufacturers. They turn out a carload each week. They have facilitated operations in their business very greatly by their recent removal to Walkerville, on the Essex and Lake Erie R. R. (otherwise locally known as Hiram Walker & Co.'s Railroad). This line runs close on the rear of their premises. They are thus put in direct communication with the Grand Trunk and Michigan Central railways, whereby they can ship to any part of the continent.

Messrs. L. Chaput, Fils & Co., Montreal, the largest French grocery house in the Dominion, have removed to their new premises, De Bressoles Street, which have been handsomely fitted up and adapted to all the requirements of their extensive trade. Large plate glass partitions separate the office from the order and other rooms, so that an entire flat, while divided into its various departments, is all the time under the eye of the superintendent. One clerk is supplied with four telephones, by the aid of which from morning to night he is occupied in receiving orders, while Mr. Chaput, jr., in his own handsomely fitted quarters has full telephone means of connection. The appointments of the establishment constitute somewhat of a new departure, and while making everything comfortable and convenient for all concerned, they tend to greater expedition in and facility for the transaction of business.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO, OCTOBER 17, 1889.

GROCERIES.

The first two weeks of the month were very busy ones, but the present week has been less active in most lines. Quite a good retail demand for canned goods has sprung up, but n sugars and other staples trade has been slow. Payments are still unsatisfactory, but are looking up a little. Grain is coming out slowly and prices are weakening, excepting on oats, which are firm. Money is firm at 6 to 7 per cent. on commercial paper.

CANNED GOODS.

This has been the most excited feature of the market. The general advance made by the packers at the meeting on Wednesday last week had the effect to making buyers more anxious to buy and quite a large number of round lots of corn, tomatoes and apples have changed hands. Prices in all cases show a decided advance. In the case of tomatoes a lot of 2,500 cases that went a begging for buyers a few months ago at 50c. was sold last week for 85c. and afterwards the greater portion of the lot was resold for 95c., 1,000 cases going to Hamilton. The lot consisted of various packs, a large proportion being Snyder's 1887 pack. There has not been much movement in new goods, but packers are firmer, asking $1.12½. Wholesale dealers are not large holders, one firm that was understood to be carrying a good many tomatoes is almost completely out. Several big sales of 1888 corn have been made at $1.02½ to the wholesale trade. Apples have also been moving freely. During this last few days retailers h ve been making more inquiries, many of them having come to the conclusion that present prices were low and that future are likely to be much higher. Brokers report a very limited demand for new goods, but still the total sales to date have been fairly satisfactory considering the determination of the trade to keep clear of the market in the early part of the season. In canned fish there is only a fair demand. Supplies are light and all kinds are firmly held excepting salmon, which is unsettled, selling at $1.60 to $1.75.

COFFEE.

The local coffee market is dull and without change, while outside markets generally reflect an easier tendency.

DRIED FRUIT.

The market for currants is firm, and the belief is that present prices in foreign markets will be maintained for the remainder of the season, though on the spot values may reach a lower range; at the moment old stock is selling in barrels at 4¼c. to 4¾c., and new provincial and Filiatra in barrels at 5½c. and halves at 5¾c.; Patras, barrels 6⅞c. to 7c. and halves 7c. to 7¼c. Vostizzas in cases are unchanged. Dates steady at 5¾c. for old. No new have arrived yet. Figs—The new arrivals have met with a good demand and some shipments have been sold out. Prices are as yet maintained at 11½c. to 12c. in 14 oz. boxes; 6¼c. to 6¾c. for natural in bags, while good to choice Elemes go at 12½c. to 20c. in boxes. Prunes are steady, with a fair demand from lumbering camps, for low grade Bosnias at 4½c. to 4¾c. The supply this year now promises to be a full average one. Valencias are lower, selling at 6½c. to 7c. for off-stalk; 8c. for selected and 8½c. to 9½c. for layers. The new sultanas arriving on the market are turning out very poorly, ordinary samples showing a large percentage of black raisins. This is accounted for by the fact that the crop being such a short one this season anything in the shape of a raisin has a market value. Hence the lower grades are very poor. Finer qualities are 10s. higher than last year. On the spot prime fruit is selling at 9½c. to 10c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Jamaica oranges have still no rivals on the market. They have advanced since last quotation to $8 per bbl. There is more life in the demand than there was a week ago. Malaga lemons, from $6 to $6.30 per box; Messinas, from $7 to $8; fancy Maori, a few yet on market, $7.50. Bananas still linger on all the way from $1 to $1.75. Sweet potatoes, $3.50 to $4. Malaga grapes are now on the market, and are a fine product of this year's growth. They are worth from $5.30 to $6 per keg.

HONEY.

Clear honey is selling freely at 11c. to 12c. for large quantities, and 12½c. in smaller purchases. In the comb the prices are still 17c. to 20c. The demand is still strong, and prices firm. Supplies still come in freely.

SUGARS.

The sugar market is dull and declining. The drop referred to in last issue of ⅛c. in all white sugars took place on Saturday, and on Monday refiners reduced values another ⅛c., so that wholesale prices will be at least reduced another ⅛c. to-morrow. In fact a ¼c. reduction would not be a surprise, as outside markets have been declining all week and latest cables indicate a weak market. There does not appear to be anything in the situation at the moment that would indicate any improvement in values. On the spot yellows are selling at 5⅞c. to 6¾c. and granulated at 8⅛c. to 8¼c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Molasses remain easy at quotations. Syrups scarce and firm. No dark obtainable.

CRANBERRIES.

The Cape Cod fruit is selling at $3 to $3.25 per box (bushel), and from $9 to $10 per barrel.

TEA.

The activity of the local market has continued in the past week, with a brisk demand for all kinds, especially so for low to medium Japans. Nagasaki Japans are in request, but are becoming scarce. A few further invoices of new greens having come to hand, have met with a ready sale, though prices this season are ruling from two to three cents higher than last year. Quality, however, is ahead of previous season, prices ranging from 11½c. for fourths, 12½c. for thirds, 14½c. to 15½c. for seconds, 25c. to 32c. for firsts, 36c. to 40c. for extra firsts, and 42c. to 45c. for sifteds. Blacks have been quiet. The New York market shows no new feature, with only a moderate business to report. The London market continues steady and strong, with high prices quoted for the few greens that are offering.

DRY GOODS.

The season of bright, cold weather cannot inaugurate itself too soon for the dry goods merchant. A mild winter would be as disastrous to trade as a scarcity of money. The late cold spell has done something to increase orders, but the selling of grain throughout the country has not yet been general enough to start the autumn circulation of money. In every line of dry goods, prices have advanced. In bright woollen goods especially is this the case. The short crop of British wool, and the great development of trade with South Africa, affording a new market to British manufacturers, are the causes of this rise in prices of woollens. Bright wool goods, Italian cloths, tweeds, worsteds, cashmere goods as gloves, hosiery, etc., the prices have moved upwards, in some cases as much as 10 per cent. The level of prices in cotton goods has been raised by much the same causes as those operating in the case of the woollen goods advance. Cotton has been a short crop and the extension of markets adds to the tendency of this circumstance to make prices higher. In Canadian staples, prices are firm at an advance. The prospect is that the prices are fixed, for rumors of cutting under have so far amounted to nothing. In grays, present prices appear to be particularly stationary. In Canadian wools, the movement is upwards. Canadian cottons are tending towards greater firmness. A good year's business is expected in dry goods as soon as brisk markets open in grain.

DANDELION COFFEE.

A Delicious and Nourishing Beverage.

For purifying the blood and invigorating the system. In the herbs of the field and forest are found properties that antidote nearly all the diseases to which humanity is liable. It has been ascertained that German Dandelion Root, when taken in proper quantities, acts directly upon the liver, producing healthy action, and through it making the whole system strong and vigorous. We have taken advantage of this property in the Dandelion, and have prepared a Breakfast Beverage of great excellence, incorporating in it a very high grade of fine Coffee and a proportion of this valuable herb.

The price is low enough to be within the means of all to take advantage of its rare qualities.

We offer it to the public confidently believing that it will be found satisfactory to all who give it a fair trial. Prepared only by

COUNTRY PRODUCE

APPLES—Fall apples are all that have so far been selling. In large quantities they are worth $1.50 to $2 25. On the street $2 to $2.50. The finest apples, in condition for shipping, packed in cars, bring $2.50 to $2.75.

BEANS—From $1.85 to $1.90. The old beans are still nearly all that are offering. They are coming in more plentifully at the last moment. A round lot sold at $1.80.

DRIED APPLES—There are still not many to be had. The old ones are yet the only stock for present marketing. Small lots bring 6c. to 6½c. For dealers' l ts 5c. to 5½c. is paid. The demand is slow. Evaporated are dull at 6½c. in lots and 7c. to 8c. i small quantities.

EGGS—The supply has been no more plentiful in fresh eggs, but the high price of these has reduced and to some extent thrown consumption upon limed eggs. This tends to make prices easier in fresh, and higher in pickled eggs, for the time being. Fresh are worth 20c. to 21c., limed 17c. to 18c.

GAME—The scarcity of game, the limited area of its consumption, and the shortness of the season, all tend to keep prices high. There is no change from last week's quotations. Black and mallard ducks, 70c. to 85c. per brace: teal and butterball ducks, 25c. to 30c. per brace; pintails, 30c. to 60c. per brace. Partridges, 60c. to 75c. per brace. Pigeons, 20c. to 25c. per brace. Prairie chicken comes from Manitoba at $1.50 per brace, and quail from Chicago at $1.50 per dozen.

HAY—No. 1, pressed, is $10.50 to $11.50 in car-lots, $10 to $15 on the street. No. 2, not much called for, $9. The demand is good, and the supply liberal.

HIDES—Unchanged; No. 1, $4.75; No. 2, $3.75, for green. Cured are easier, selling at 5¼c. to 5⅜c. in car-lots.

HOPS—The new hops are worth 15c. to 18c., the old 13c. to 15c., but buyers are holding off.

ONIONS—New onions are making their way into the market more plentifully than last week. They are worth $1.75 per bbl. Small lots bring $2 and large $1.50.

POTATOES—The market is better supplied, but all are wanted that are offering, but prices are easier. In car-lots, they bring 50c. to 55c. per bag. In smaller quantities they are worth 60c. to 70c.

POULTRY—Turkeys more plentiful than in any former week of the autumn, and are in good demand at 10c. to 12c. per lb. Geese steady, worth 6½c. to 7c. per lb. Ducks from 60c. to 75c. per pair. Chickens, 40c. to 65c. per pair.

QUINCES—Are now nearly off the market. They are worth $4 to $5 per bbl.

STRAW—Tight-pressed oat is $7 in car-lots; $8 to $8.50 on street. In sheaves, t is worth $10 to $11 on street. No wheatstraw has yet been called for. A nomina! quotation is $6.

SKINS—No change. For No. 1, calfskins are 6c. per lb., for No. 2, they are 5c. per lb. Sheep and lambskins are 75c. to 80c.

TALLOW—Rough is worth 2c. to 2¼c. Rendered, from 5¼c. to 5¾c.

WOOL—Dull at 20c. per lb. for fleece.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

This week has been marked by more numerous arrivals of good butter, including several shipments of Brockville dairies, which have sold readily at 21c. The quantity of the inferior is still ahead of the demand for it. Good creamery butter is 23c. to 25s. for fall make. Good dairy, 17c. to 20c. per lb. The best of store-pack is worth 12c. to 14c. Lower grades, 10c., which are not wanted. Large rolls, 17c. to 18c. to 20c. for selections, and pound rolls, 20c. to 22c.. It is expected that from this forth a better quality of butter will be more generally offered, as it is hoped the poor stock kept from June and earlier is now unloaded. More favourable weather and numerous enquiries from farmers strengthen the chances that the make will improve.

CHEESE—Is firm at 11c. to 11¼c. for good August make to 9½c. for strong early makes. The supply of September makes is rather limited. British markets have further advanced. At Ingersoll buyers and sellers were apart on Tuesday.

FISH.

The market is dull. It is near its quietest season. Salmon have nearly disappeared from the scene. They are worth 14c. to 16c. Whitefish and salmon trout are now bought for freezing for winter consumption. Salmon 5c. to 6c. Whitefish is becoming scarce at 6c. Herring has got down to $1.50 to $2 per hundred, by count. Sea fish are beginning to come in. Cod and haddock are worth $5 to $6. Steak cod is $7 to $8. The supply of sea fish will be limited for five or six weeks.

Labrador herring, dull at $3.25 on half-barrels. Other quotations are: Shore splits, $2.75 to $3 in halves, and $4.50 in barrels; kippered herring, $2; Loch Fyne herring in 14lb. kitts, $1; do., 28lb., $2.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is worth 8¼c. to 8¾c. according to quantity. Breakfast bacon, 14c. boneless; 13c. with bone. Roll bacon, 10c.

DRESSED HOGS—Are worth $6.30 to $6.75, and a great many offering at moment of quotation. The irregularity of the supply keeps market unsteady. Farmers come in all on same day and lower prices. A few days after prices go up.

HAMS—Continue scarce and firm, from 13½c. to 14c.

LARD—Canadian lard is 9½c. in tubs and 10c. in pails. The American lard is ½c. lower in each package, with some brands obtainable at 8¾c. in tubs.

MESS PORK—$14 to $15, and fairly firm at that figure. The demand has not yet begun in earnest, but several orders have gone forward to Chicago for car-loads. Canadian short cut is held at $16 to $16.50.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

Demand improving. Prices unchanged at 15c. for refined, 17c. for carbon safety, 19½c. to 20c. for Canadian water white, 25c. for American water white and 27c. for photogene.

HARDWARE.

In all the metal goods of hardware stock, prices are firm. Bar iron has advanced. Hamilton iron-men have added $3 a ton to the price of it. A general stiffening of prices in the old country can scarcely be without its effects on prices here. Wrought butts have stiffened in the United States. The advance in the prices of our shelf-hardware may come slowly, but it will come.

THE POTATO CROP.

The maturity of the potato crop in this Province has been disappointing. Estimates based upon the appearance of the fields a month ago encouraged the expectation of an uncommonly fine crop. But it is now taken up, and is little more than half of what was taken from the earth a year ago. Nor are the potatoes so large as those from which they were raised. Also, a disease in the form of a dry-rot is further reducing the marketable supply in some parts of the Province. In some localities the crop has been good: Muskoka has had a fine yield.

In Quebec, there is also a scarcity, as compared with last year. It is usual for Ontario to supplement her own crop, when it is low, with Quebec potatoes. But already orders come from the French Province for potatoes for local consumption, and a pretty good demand from that quarter has been incessant since potato-raising began. The rot, too, is making much greater ravages among Quebec potatoes than among our own. Lower Canadian prices are at present high.

The Maritime Provinces have had better success in potato growing this year, but they are behind the quantity raised last year. But the Eastern States, and those on Delaware Bay, afford a convenient and steady market for a great part, if not all, the surplus of the Maritime potatoes, inasmuch as those States have had a poor crop themselves. In Baltimore they are worth 60 cents per bushel.

In the Central Northern States and in Michigan the crop is large. Potatoes were selling some time ago in St. Louis at 17 cents a bushel.

In Britain the crop is not by any means a good one, so we may expect little importation from British markets to this country of Scotch potatoes. These usually make their appearance in years of short crops here.

From this review of the Potato crops in different parts of the world, that are likely to affect our market, we are led to expect high prices.

The man who invented smokeless powder is at work on a cigar to be operated on the same principle.—[Philadelphia Record.

The California grape crop this season will be dried and made up into brandy chiefly, the supply of wine being greater than the demand.

The potato business is likely to be brisk this autumn, says a Prince Edward Island exchange. Already United States dealers have arrived, and early shipments will no doubt be made to the Boston market.

Mr. Lindsay, late of Lindsay & Gilday, and later of Percival and Craig's, Smith's Fall's, has taken to the grip in the interest of Lockerby Bros., wholesale grocers, of Montreal. Mr. Lindsay will make a pushing drummer, as he has a good knowledge of the business in which he is engaged, and would not consent to work for any other than a good house. He has already made several good sales in this town, simply on the reputation of his own judgment.

☞ "A Newspaper Advertisement may seldom be read, still it makes the name and business of the man familiar, and its presence in the columns of a paper inspires confidence in the stability of the enterprise.'

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
(OF LONDON), CAPITAL, £50,000.
Under the auspices of The Indian Tea Districts Association,

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 180,000,000 lbs. Of that quantity India and Ceylon furnished 120,000,000 lbs. during last crop year. This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States, and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ANOTHER LESSON TO CREDITORS.

The deliberations of the Hamilton Convention have been the means of sowing broadcast some valuable principles of trade. No matter how grandly the need for the adoption of these may have been felt, the mere deliberation or propagation of them by theory may fail to establish them in business conduct. What is needed to root them firmly in the very constitution of practical trade is an occasional sweep of the consequences of commercial immorality. These will bend, but will hardly break principles that were planted in so much earnestness.

One of these disturbers of the calm business atmosphere has recently come to remind the watchers over mercantile interests of their late good resolutions, and, we hope, to strengthen them in them. The failure of Thomas Boggess, of Hamilton, may serve this purpose. This dealer carried on a large business in house-furnishings. His stock included furniture, carpets, stoves, crockery, etc. Until about six months ago he seems to have studied to do honorably by all whom he bought from. His record for years before that time was one of prompt, full payments. But the circumstances of the failure which overtook him the other day, make it impossible to think charitably of his intentions during the last half year. His liabilities are not far short of $50,000, his assets are less than $25,000. When the latter are sold at a rate on the dollar, his creditors will receive but a small proportion of the debts he contracted to pay them.

The basis of this large business was the good name of the man, and his property in real estate, etc., which amounted to about $20,000. Creditors of his hold several communications from other mercantile establishments, from banks, leading barristers, and others, representing Thomas Boggess as a good man to be trusted for large amounts. It seems strange though that a man whose property amounted to but $20,000 at the best statement, who was rated at from $5,000 to $10,000 in Bradstreet's, should obtain a credit of $50,000. The explanation lies in the fact that he spread his operations over a large area. He has about eighty creditors, and the singular part of the matter is that scarcely one of them is a Hamilton man. His largest liabilities to any one establishment are about $7,000 to a Toronto house.

That the man was a swindler seems plain from his methods. He bought goods for sale in Hamilton, where he had three stores, and then shipped them back to Toronto to be sold at auction rooms. He moved his family from the country, and after waiting till the last moment of safety, disappeared himself.

It is said that there was some talk of a proposal that he should himself buy the bankrupt stock he had let loose. This proposal, or the suggestion of it, was not, we understand, for a moment entertained. Nor should it be. Such freebooters should be ostracized from all intercourse with the honorable commercial community.

UNIFORM PRODUCE MEASURES.

The grocers of this city have long suffered from consequences of an irritating vagueness as to how much is meant by certain units of produce measure. The term "bag," for example, as a measure of potatoes, although used consistently by the grocers themselves to denote ninety pounds, is not so used by all the frequenters of the market; nor do those marketers who mean something other than ninety pounds always agree in what they do mean. With some it means sixty pounds, with others seventy-five pounds, with others again eighty-five pounds; but they are all careful never to speak of its equivalent in pounds unless that equivalent is ninety pounds. This looseness demoralizes the conditions of competition. A grocer holding his potatoes at 75c. a bag is told that they can be bought for 65c. or less per bag. In the case of the lower quotation, the price is often actually higher, on account of the smallness of the bag. The unfixed sense in which this standard of measure has been so long in suspense has afforded a good living to many hucksters and peddlers, not to speak of a large direct trade between the farmers and the consumers, which would be otherwise not profitable enough for the farmers' trouble. In these circumstances the grocers' trade is confined to that limited number of consumers who know the difference between a bag, so called, and a bag as it has been defined by statute, though no by-law of this city has so far insisted on the sole legal sense of the term for market trade. The variety of compass in which bags are manufactured may have had something to do with the indifference of the City Council towards this state of things, as it may have begotten a disposition in that body to be indulgent to farmers and others whose bags are of many degrees of size.

The long-suffering grocers at last sought legislation of the City Council which should fix the local meaning of the present loose standard. A communication on the matter was sent from the Retail Grocers' Association to the chairman of the Markets and Health Committee. The secretary of that committee neglected to answer the communication, but a personal interview between THE GROCER and the chairman, reported in our last issue, shows that the Committee referred the question to Mr. Awde, Market Inspector, that he might prepare a by-law for the consideration of the Committee. We saw Mr. Awde on Saturday, who stated that the true cause of the delay lay, not in his neglect, but in the adjournments of the Committee. The Committee, no doubt, would have reported in favor of the by-law on Friday, had its meeting not been adjourned for the funeral of Mr. Lobb, a civil official. In the end, he says, the measure will become law as soon as if greater expedition had marked the action of the Committee, for the appearance of the new market regulation must wait upon the issue of the city by-laws, which are now in course of consolidation, and near the end of it. There is no question, however, but the Council will pass the report of the Committee on this important subject.

THE MEETING OF THE GROCERS' GUILD.

It is expected that the Wholesale Grocers' Guild, now in session at Montreal, will, before their adjournment, launch into the sphere of actual business practice some of the abstract principles that have lately received so much approval in trading circles.

One result of the session will no doubt be a further shortening of the season of credit. The wholesale grocers, themselves the commercial pioneers of trade reform upon this line, have been so far satisfied with the reduction of credit to its present time-limits, that a majority of them, we believe, are convinced that better results would flow from further contraction. Just how long they will now agree to allow a customer to remain in their debt, we cannot yet go the length of saying, but we believe it will be a considerably shorter time than current usage countenances.

It is a well-known fact, not peculiar to the experience of wholesale grocers, that the shorter the time in which a debt is engaged to be paid, the greater is the likelihood that it will be paid when it is due. Long engagements are to be deprecated. Short ones are always near enough to be felt as a stimulus to the better management of the affairs from which the means of keeping them are to be derived. Also the shorter the term of credit, the less its attraction as a convenience to induce a man to avail himself of it. On the other hand, the liberal discounts which cash payments secure, add their influence to the tendency of short engagements to make a purchaser eschew the credit system entirely. The discounts upon a retailer's purchases in a year would amount to a good many dollars. If from this source he can make $1,000 in a year, there is less temptation to him to risk the chance of making as much by fraud; particularly since the reduced credit-term requires great agility to defraud of heavy amounts in so short a time. The gradual curtailing of the time of credit is in our opinion the most enlightened method of proceeding towards the abolition of the credit system. It has an educative effect, which must shortly enlist the co-operation of the retailers themselves.

One more good service we will take space to notice, which may be looked for among the issues of this meeting; and that is the adoption of a rule, that the official number on every package of tobacco sold from a wholesale house shall be entered on the invoice of the sale. This will put the retailer in a position to offer the evidence he often sorely needs in these days, to prove that he has not come by the tobacco irregularly. It will lessen the number of Inland Revenue pitfalls which now yawn for the undoing of the retail trader in tobacco; and it is due from the wholesale grocers to him who undertakes the perilous business of bringing their tobacco to the verge of consumption.

MODERN TRAVELLING SALESMEN.

The promotion and extension of trade have for so long a time and so largely been carried on through the instrumentality of travelling salesmen, that the very nature of the body commercial has become ingrained with conditions that have sprung out of this custom. The traveller becomes more and more indispensable as an intelligent medium between the wholesale and retail trades. He is of as much service to the one as to the other.

It might almost be said that a revolution has been wrought in the mission of the traveller. At the outset, when railway, telegraph, and postal facilities either did not exist or were but remotely available, country retailers found it difficult to get to the city to buy early at the warehouses. They scarcely knew what to buy. To them the salesman of the road, with his samples, was an arrival always greeted with welcome. He had the newest things and they could sort their stock without quitting their stores. Of course, they had to go for their goods to the nearest port or station, and sometimes to the city itself, but then they knew what they were going for.

In these days, however, of rapid travel and communication, country dealers can generally reach the wholesale houses with their orders very easily. But they still look for the traveller. What they want him for now is the information he brings with him. In return for that he can often bring an order away with him. There is no other means of communicating knowledge that is so good as the conversational one. A dealer may read market reports to no end, and yet be placed in a position only to ask questions. These the traveller should be a ready man to answer. It is usually the case that he is, and, what is better, that he will volunteer useful trade information. A thoroughly-versed man in the conditions of the current market at home and abroad, is not so often met with that he will not be received cordially. He is looked upon less as the solicitor of an order, than an agreeable, well-informed visitor.

Not merely by his complete knowledge of trade-matters does the traveller make himself an engaging person for the retailer to meet occasionally. The traveller has not many men, is constantly amid the busiest centres of activity, and thus acquires a large stock of knowledge of the world. These and other resources, the length of time between his visits, and the liberal share of his time he can give to a visit, enable the travelling salesman to make himself a favorite.

But, we have heard it remarked by retail business men who live in cities, that the calls they receive from travellers for the local trade are hasty, almost wordless visits, the only conversation being brief enquiries for orders. It is also stated that most of these local travellers are very young men, men schooled neither in the ways of the world, nor in the details of their business. These lack the better part of a travelling man's mental outfit for the work he has to do. We heard an old dealer some time ago lamenting the fact, that though he was called upon many times during the week, yet he seldom found a traveller on a city staff who seemed able to tell him anything about the movements of the market. This he declared was not the case with travellers who sold through a wide circuit of country. It is held, too, that city travellers usually confine their visits to those who are customers of their firms. Thus, they do not acquire the arts which please the old customers, because they do not practise them for the purpose of inducing those outside of their list to buy from the houses they represent. Another objection to the methods of city travellers for the local trade is the extreme familiarity which is liable to be begotten of so much intercourse with the patrons of their houses. This leads them to regard as needless any serious attention to the acquirement of a fuller knowledge of the business they are connected with. To be an acceptable travelling salesman, a man should have a mind well stored with special knowledge of his business and with general information; he should have tact and address. There is no danger of such a man ever becoming an order-taking machine. The tendency of city experience seems, however, to be towards creating such a type.

THE LATE SENATOR TURNER.

Hon. James Turner, of James Turner & Co., Hamilton, died in that city on Saturday evening.

Hon. James Turner was born in Glasgow, Scotland, on March 31, 1826. He was a son of the late John Turner, of McLellan & Turner, power loom manufacturers, Glasgow. His mother was Catharine Mitchell. He received his education at private schools and later on at the Glasgow High School. When in his twenty-second year he emigrated from Glasgow to this country, going to Hamilton, where he took up his abode and where he continued to reside up to the time of his death. He married in June, 1850, Caroline Huldah Greene, of Kingston. In religious matters Senator Turner gave his allegiance to Presbyterianism. His success was most conspicuous, and he stood in the foremost rank of Canadian business men. He was head of the firm of James Turner & Co., importers and wholesale grocers of Hamilton, and was likewise senior partner of Turner, Rose & Co., wholesale grocers and tea merchants, Montreal, and of Turner, Mackeand & Co., wholesale grocers, Winnipeg. As early as 1867 he began to do business at Fort Garry. With reference to this firm we may be permitted to quote from a reliable quarter: "Any work professing to give an outline of Hamilton industries would not be complete unless it gave prominence to this old firm. When the late John Turner and his brother, the now senior partner, established the house 37 years ago Hamilton's population did not exceed 8,000, and there were but few industries of any magnitude in the city. From the commencement, the firm's career, like Hamilton's, has been one of continued growth and success. The present partners are Hon. James Turner and Alexander Turner. The senior partner, one of the chosen few who, by push and honorable enterprise, have really created Hamilton the great trade centre that it now is, has always been among the first to contribute his name, influence and means to any effort or enterprise that aimed to build up the city. Senator Turner is vice-president of the Bank of Hamilton and North-western Railway Company, a member of the Executive Committee of the Northern and North-western, a director of the Northern and Pacific Junction railway. He also takes an active part in the affairs of the city, is a member of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trade to the great satisfaction of his fellow-citizens, and has the honor of representing Hamilton in the Dominion Senate. The head partner is also the senior in the firm of Turner, Rose & Co., Montreal, and Turner, Mackeand & Co., Winnipeg. James Turner & Co. commenced business in Manitoba in 1867, having built the first brick store in that growing metropolis of the North-west in 1872."

Senator Turner was president of the Hamilton Board of Trade in 1869, was a director of the Wellington, Grey and Bruce railway during its construction, and was president of the Hamilton and Lake Erie railway from its inception until amalgamated with the Hamilton and North-western railway. He visited the North-west Territories with the Hon. Joseph Howe in 1869, and since then had travelled through the west almost annually, having been as far as the Columbia river and Edmonton. In 1882 he sailed down the Saskatchewan from Edmonton to Winnipeg. His whole career was a most remarkable one in a business sense. He displayed industry, commercial insight and commercial judgment far above the common order, and in his place in the Senate his counsel and decisions were held in the highest possible regard. He was as worthy an ornament in the Senate as in the business world. It may be added that Senator Turner leaves a wife, four sons and three daughters. He was a member of the McNab Street Presbyterian church.

TRADE NOTES.

Large quantities of adulterated molasses have been found in the Eastern States market. The State Assayer of Massachusetts has analyzed samples sold for pure Porto Rico goods, and found that they contained about three-fourths of their weight in glucose.

Mr. Wm. Sutherland, of Belleville, has entered into partnership with Mr. J. Lewis, a Woodstock grocer. He is well-known to the trade as an experienced and careful buyer, and his many good business qualities will ensure for the new firm a fair share of the public patronage.

Messrs. Barker & Goulding, two well-known business men of Stratford, are in the city this week attending the Sabbath-school convention, and favored us with a visit. Mr. Barker is an occasional contributor to our columns, and Mr. Goulding has promised to follow his example.

Banana and other fruit growers on the north coast of Honduras are said to have formed a large stock company for the purpose of handling and shipping their own fruit. The course which certain buyers have pursued for years has been the cause for this step. Often two, and even three, bunches have been taken, counted and paid for as one bunch.

The London grocers made money when sugar was advancing by raising the price according to the market; but now sugar is coming down, they have been trying to keep up to the decline or even below it. Seventeen pounds for $1 has been the price for a week or so for a good yellow, which means a loss at every sale, for we think there is a loss of ¼c. in shrinkage and down weight on all sugars except granulated, which will, perhaps, be a little less. What fools some grocers are.

An Uxbridge paper says: "A large crowd assembled at Taylor's hotel, corner of Euclid Avenue and Arthur Street, the other night, to participate in the raffling for a Shetland pony, and now the boys are going about the city telling what fun they had. Many tickets were disposed of at twenty-five cents each, and William Henderson, master of ceremonies, was promptly on hand at eight o'clock to decide as to who was the lucky winner. Grocer McMahon, of Arthur Street, threw the highest number, and upon being declared the owner of the animal, went out into the yard to secure his prize. He is now in hot pursuit of the master of ceremonies, having discovered that the Shetland pony stood seventeen hands high, had but one eye, was bowed in both forelegs, was a roarer, had a beautifully developed spavin, and besides had been dead for several hours. It cost the grocer $2.50 to treat the crowd before he went to take possession of the pony, and it cost him $4.00 more next morning to have it carted away from the premises."

Mr. Henry Graham, merchant, Kinmount, has removed to Toronto, where he intends carrying on business in the western part of the city. Mr. Graham has been a resident of Kinmount for many years, and has by his integrity and high character commanded the respect and esteem of all. He has taken an active part in municipal and public affairs, and his departure will be in every way a great loss to the community. Mr. Graham's removal will be felt by the Reform party, of which he was an active member, by the Baptist church and Sunday school, and in fact by every good cause to which a public-spirited and earnest-minded citizen could give his support. We wish Mr. Graham all success in his new and wider field.—[Lindsay Post.

About five years ago J. E. Brown, general merchant, of Delta, attended the Provincial Fair at Kingston. He started at night for the G.T.R. station, and when near it some men seized him and threw h m into a vacant field. They then dragged him about 300 yards, and gave him brutal treatment. After the men had robbed him of $130 in bills, a $5 gold piece, $4 in silver, his watch, chain, ring and other valuables, they left him in a dazed condition. Keleher and Ahearn were arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced to fourteen and eighteen months respectively in the Central Prison. Now for the sequel. On Monday a stranger called at the Dominion Express Office, Kingston, and handed in a package for J. E. Brown, Delta. On Thursday Mr. Brown received the package, and found it contained the articles and money stolen from him, and a note asking Mr. Brown to insert a receipt in the papers.

Mr. Wm. Gardon, late of the firm of Gardon & McPherson, Glasgow, Scotland, wholesale tea merchants, passed through Vancouver three months ago after an extended trip through the United States, and was so much taken by the enterprise and push in Vancouver, combined with its splendid possibilities, that he stayed there on his way east and finally made up his mind to remain for good, selling his business and property in Glasgow, Scotland, and investing his money in Vancouver. Mr. Gardon has built a fine two-storey building on Hastings street, where he intends establishing himself in his former business in the wholesale tea trade, in which he has had 20 years of experience. Mr. Gardon has also built a very pretty temporary residence to take the place for the present of a larger and more imposing one he intends building near the East Park. Besides these, he has built a two-storey building on Westminster Avenue, the lower storey to be occupied as a meat market, the upper as comfortable rooms for housekeeping.

THE CANNED GOODS SITUATION.

The past week or two has developed quite a change in the canned goods situation. During the past few years the Canadian packers have had very hard lines. A great many went into the canned goods packing business, and the result was a continued very large over production. In the last two or three years one-third of the firms have suspended and gone out of business. Even yet there is a larger capacity than would supply double the trade of Canada. At the beginning of the season the packers met and decided that their only hope lay in a very large reduction in the pack of goods. In this they have been successful, being favored by short crop, for reports now in the hands of the Association show that the pack is very much below that of last year. Tomatoes, usually the heaviest pack, will be about one-third of last year, and not half an average pack. Early frosts, grubs, cold and unfavorable weather reduced the quantity grown. The same remarks apply to corn. Peas have turned out rather better than corn and tomatoes, but the reduction in the entire pack made by the Association brings the total now packed far below that of last year; in fact, five firms packed double the total quantity put up this year. No beans of any consequence have been put up this season, for the tremendous supplies of last year prevented packing this season. Strawberries have been a light crop all over, excepting in Prince Edward county, where they have been a remarkably fine crop; one packer there put up more than any single factory in America. Prices, however, are likely to be maintained, as only the two packers in Picton have any surplus now on hand. Pumpkins will be a full pack. Peaches are a light pack, and are likely to rule high, owing to the cost of both peaches and sugar being much above last year's prices. There is a fair crop of Flemish Beauty pears, but the severe winter of 1884-5 killed the Bartletts, and they are still very scarce; as high as $10 per barrel was paid by packers this season. Owing to the scarcity of apples, packers anticipate a good demand for their stock this season.

ANOTHER MARKET REFORM.

Inspector Awde informs us that he intends to recommend the Legislative Committee of the City Council to report in favor of petitioning Parliament to amend the Municipal Act, so as to empower the Council to restrict farmers to a wholesale market in this city. Such an extension of the city's control over its own trade would be exceedingly salutary. At present the only thing that the farmer is obliged to sell in wholesale quantities is meat; that he cannot cut into portions less than quarters. For the sale of apples, potatoes, poultry, etc., the tax-paying local dealer has no more privileges than the invading farmer. The latter may drive from house to house and dispense his produce in whatever parcels buyers desire. He may, if he pleases, first canvass the city for orders to be delivered on a certain day, and thus not only supply the immediate wants of consumers, but also forestall their winter ones. In this respect how much better is the farmer than the hated itinerant vendor of tea? Each preys upon a community of which he is not a supporter. The farmer may claim that it is his class more than any other which makes a produce market possible; he may hold that, for the money which finds its way from agricultural regions into the city, complete license to sell in the city is but poor compensation. But does the farmer want the earth? If he can get a good market for all he raises, is that not enough? Is it necessary to shear the grocers and produce dealers also for his benefit?

Many small farmers, we are informed, add to the proceeds of their own cultivation by buying all their neighbors' small crops, and then retailing them in Toronto. Individual producers, also, in great numbers sell their stock from house to house. As they approach the market they sometimes find it crowded; at once they start on a tour throughout the city, and thus supply the circle of a grocer's custom, while he is probably at the market laying in the next twenty-four hours' stock. This interference with the trade of local distributors finds direct encouragement in the lack of provision in the Municipal Act for suppressing it.

Selling against such guerilla competition, the grocer is at a serious disadvantage. His stock sometimes has to be held over the time in which he would replenish it with fresh additions. He suffers loss, and has to look for an equivalent in some lines of his stock wherein the farmer is not his competitor. In this way, in heavier prices in such lines, are consumers themselves rightly made to "pay the piper." When a man keeps apples, potatoes, etc., for the benefit of his patrons, his patrons should make up the loss, not only of profit, but also of capital, which their irregular trading puts upon him. And the only way he can tax them with that loss is to put higher prices on the goods they do buy from him.

But Inspector Awde, we are glad to see, properly appreciates the injustice that is done to Toronto local dealers, and is going to submit the suggestions of his observations and experience to have reform commenced.

THE POSITION OF THE TEA TRADE.

The Home and Colonial Mail says: The position of the tea trade at present is unique, or nearly so. China teas have for several years been deteriorating in quality, most of the really choice tea produced being immediately bought at the opening of the Hankow season for Russia, at prices which are prohibitive to English buyers. The Chinese, in allowing this deterioration of their crops, permitting their tea to be represented in our markets by thin and indifferent qualities, have till now loftily ignored the weighty competition which has arisen on the part of India and Ceylon. The visible stock of China tea, including that announced by telegraph to be afloat, is about 17,000,000 lbs. short of the estimate. From India we have received about 2,000,000 lbs. less than last year, instead of about 5,000,000 lbs. more, as was estimated, and of Ceylon tea the deliveries were, last month, absolutely double the imports, while very small further shipments are coming forward. Last year it was calculated that 7,000,000 lbs. less tea of all kinds was imported into this country than was actually consumed, and if no alteration takes place—and it seems hardly likely there will be any—in the output from China, it is probable that this year the imports of tea will be some 25,000,000 lbs. short of the quantity actually required for consumption. In spite of this shortness of supplies, common China Congou is almost as low in price as it has ever been known, and, had it not been for the terminal market values, would probably have fallen further. This deficiency in the supply of common tea, at all events for some months to come, has lately attracted attention, and prices are steadily tending upwards.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

We, the undersigned grocers of the town of Sarnia, have decided from this year on, until further notice, to discontinue the practice of the giving of Christmas presents to our customers, and instead thereof will give a proportionate sum to the charitable institutions of the town. Signed, R. Wanless, W. H. Hill & Co., W. Johnston, Peter Clark, R Kenny, D. McCart, Geo. Wenino, W. J. Cherney, W. A. Fraser, Chas. A. Wenino, Buckley & Simpson, Lamson & Stepler. Sarnia, Sept 30th, 1889

To the Editor of the CANADIAN GROCER, Toronto: Dear Sir,—The grocers of our town have agreed to discontinue the practice of giving Christmas presents to our customers, notice of which we have given in our papers.

This practice annually made quite an inroad on our profits for the year, and very often instead of pleasing the customer, offended them, they (the customers) thinking that the present should have been of more value, hence defeating the very object for which it was intended. Thinking our action might induce the grocers of other towns, where this pernicious practice prevails, to follow suit, I have taken the liberty to forward to your office a copy of our resolution, and if you think fit publish it. Respectfully yours,

GEORGE WENINO.

The action of the Sarnia grocers is one which should be followed by every town in Canada where the trade has been in the habit of giving Christmas presents. Meetings should be held at once and action taken. In addition to publishing an advertisement the local papers should be asked to insert short articles condemning anyone who was mean enough to ask a grocer for a Christmas present. Cards should be hung up in each store with the words: "The merchants of this town have agreed not to give Christmas presents."

These suggestions are from the experience of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, where they have worked admirably. Any person who now asks for a Christmas present has to sink his manhood, while any merchant who gives one loses the respect of his customers and his fellow business men.

R. Herald, general storekeeper, London, has sold out.

E. A. Baker, general storekeeper, Douglas, Man., contemplates admitting a partner.

The steamer Pheasant brought 230 bbls. of mackerel into the port of Halifax last week. This is the largest arrival of the season. The mackerel is worth $23 a barrel.

The general stock of Wm. McIntosh, of Aylmer, valued at $9,000, was sold by W. M. Moore, Thursday afternoon to James Leslie, of the same place, at 66½ cents on the dollar.

Last week the stock of Mr. G. A. Beatty, general merchant, Beamsville, was seriously damaged by fire which caught in a neighboring building. Mr. Beatty's stock was not insured.

H. L. Montgomery & Co., general storekeepers, Deloraine, Man., have bought the site until the fire occupied by the Royal hotel, and will shortly move their store upon it. A stone cellar will be put in.

The death is reported at Delaware of Robt. Bodkin, merchant of that place and clerk of the township of Delaware. Mr. Bodkin was an old resident of the township and well and popularly known in the district.

C. C. Herrault, cashier for D. Ritchie & Co., tobacco manufacturers, Montreal, drew one-twentieth of the second capital prize of $100,000 in the Louisiana State lottery last week. Mr. Herrault is a young man of good business ability, and says he will not get "off his head" with his good fortune, but will be found at his desk every day as usual.

Auctioneer W. Y. Brunton sold the bankrupt stock of F. Martin, St. Thomas, to Mr. F. Martin, of the same place, Friday afternoon, for sixty-three cents on the dollar. The stock was a general one, and was invoiced at $5,132.21.

Mr. J. F. Chalmers, Dolphustown, is one of those enterprising young men that do not have to go to the States to find scope for their ambition. He bought the old hotel property in Dolphustown, and has built a fine store, and is now settled in his new premises. He does a large grocery trade and handles farm produce and fruits.

A meeting of the creditors of Mr. W. J. Watson, merchant, Cadmus, who assigned, was held in Toronto on Wednesday last. Mr. Watson had the entire confidence of his creditors, and they were perfectly content to allow an extension of three, six, nine, and twelve months. The assets were $4,821, with liabilities only $2,005. The assignment was in consequence of the pressure of creditors made against him.

The agreement among forty-nine oyster packing houses of Baltimore to raise the price of standard oysters to $1 per gallon, an increase of twenty per cent. over last year's prices, was ratified at a meeting Tuesday of the packers of the Delaware peninsula, and the new scale of prices goes into effect at once. The supply of oysters is stated to be decreasing relatively to the growing demand. —[N. E. Grocer.

A quiet wedding took place last week at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Wm. Riddle, the contracting parties being Miss Kate Riddle and Mr. Drouillard, grocer, of Windsor. The St. Thomas Journal says: "The bride was held in very much esteem by a large circle of acquaintances in this city, where she conducted a millinery and fancy goods establishment for some time." The happy couple left for the west last evening.

On Monday, Rev. Dr. Kilroy performed the marriage ceremony at St. Joseph's Church, Stratford, uniting Mr. C. McIlhargey, grocer and crockery merchant, of that city, to Miss Maggie Carroll, daughter of Mr. P. Carroll, of Dublin. Mr. B. McIlhargey, of Toronto, the groom's brother, acted as best man, the bride being assisted by her cousin, Miss Mary O'Loane, daughter of Police Magistrate O'Loane. The bride for a number of years filled a position in the Stratford postoffice, and was a favorite with the public.

The story is told by the Sarnia Observer of a merchant of that place learning that Mr. Barnes, grocer, Petrolea, was crossing the St. Clair River with a race-horse and a lot of merchandise, took counsel with himself (as a creditor) as to how he should proceed. He reflected that Barnes, if he were "skipping the country," would have to come back to Sarnia to get papers from the U. S. Consul in order to get his goods through the Customs on the other side. So he put the police on the alert, and nabbed his man Monday morning as he was going into the Consul's office. Barnes, when he found he was in a box, settled his account, did his business with the Consul, and has since been residing across the creek.

It is said that saccharine is beginning to be felt by the beet sugar manufacturers as a very dangerous enemy. It is stated that in Germany already so much saccharine has been made as to render 5,000 tons of beet sugar superfluous. It is principally employed in the preparation of fruits and the production of sweet liquors. The sugar manufacturers are of the opinion that saccharine should only be sold by chemists. France, Italy, and Portugal are already contemplating imposing a tax upon it.

At a session of the County Judges' Criminal Court at St. Thomas, Thursday, Frank Gardner, who pleaded guilty to robbing the stores of O. C. Lumley, of Iona; Crosby & Risk, of Highgate, and J. C. Macdonald, of Duart, was brought up for sentence. Gardner said he had been led into the commission of the crimes by others, and asked for a chance, in order that he might do better in future. He had worked hard until a few years ago, when he was taken ill, and, being unable to work, had taken to stealing for a livelihood. The judge stated that his antecedents did not bear out his story, as he was known as a confirmed thief in several cities. He sentenced Gardner to 23 months in Central Prison on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

SHUT THE DOOR.

The season colder grows apace,
The winds begin to roar ;
So, when you come into this place,
Please, mister, shut the door.

It's most too warm for fires as yet,
They'd open every pore ;
So frost has come, mankind to fret,
So, mister, shut the door.

Don't leave it swinging while we sneeze,
And christen you a bore ;
Unless you want to see us freeze,
Why, hang it, shut the door ;

Don't make us shiver 'till we're blue,
And hanker for your gore ;

Look here, we've said all we're going to on this subject, and the next thing you know we'll be over there wiping up the floor with you

Unless you shut that door.

One of the wonders of Manitoba is the remarkable growth of mushrooms, which spring up all over the prairie in the fall of the year. The rich prairie soil of the country seems to form a natural mushroom bed in which the tasty fungi delight to grow. The dry years of late have not been as favorable to the growth of mushrooms as the wet seasons of a few years ago, but still the supply has been plentiful. A few years ago it was no uncommon sight to see half-breeds coming into the city with their carts loaded with mushrooms. At times they have sold as low as ten cents per peck, retail at the stores. The Manitoba mushrooms sometimes grow to an enormous size, samples as large as a saucer having been seen. As an article of commerce, the mushrooms have not been handled beyond the quantity required for local consumption, the extremely perishable nature of the article rendering it impossible to ship them to outside markets.—Commercial.

GROCERIES.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a continued good inquiry on wholesale account for canned goods, especially tomatoes, pears, and corn. Packers have been selling more freely. Wholesale dealers have sold round lots of corn at $1.10; peas at $1.10 to $1.25 ; tomatoes at $1 to $1.15. Packers have sold round lots of new peas at $1.20 ; corn at $1.12½ ; 3 lb. peaches at $3 ; and 2 lb. apples at $1. A round lot of 1888 corn sold at $1.02½. There has been a fair inquiry from retailers for small lots for immediate use, but there seems to be very little speculative buying. Canned fish steady excepting salmon which is unsettled at $1.60. Lobsters are firm at $1.85 to $2.25 and mackerel at $1.50 to $1.65.

COFFEE.

The market is unchanged both here and abroad. Rio cables estimate the two crops at five and a half million bags.

CRANBERRIES.

Cape Cod cranberries are worth $3.25 to $3.50 per crate and $9 to $10 per bbl. The turkey-killing season has stimulated consumption, but liberal arrivals have kept prices unchanged.

DRIED FRUITS.

Stocks of currants on spot are getting low but will be replenished at an early day. Prices are generally steady, with some holders firmer, being encouraged by the advancing cables from Patras. Old stock is almost cleared out ; a few barrels of provincials are offering at 4¼c. to 4½c. New Provincials and Filiatras are selling in barrels and halves at 5½c. to 5¾c. and cases 6c.; Patras are worth 6½c. to 7¼c. in cases, and Vostizzas 8½c. to 9c. for ordinary and 9¼c. to 9½c. for extra choice in cases and half cases. Dates are selling at 5¾c. for old.

The new figs are straggling forward in a most unsatisfactory manner. Many of the trade have only received part of their shipments. Demands are good and prices are easing off a little. Boxes and bags of natural are scarce and some of the trade are sold out already and are anxiously looking for second shipments. Fourteen oz. boxes are selling at 10c. to 12c., 5 lb. to 10 lb. boxes at 12c. to 12½c. Old naturals are offered in boxes at 3½c.

Prunes are unchanged. Stocks of ordinary are light.

Valencia raisins are going at 6⅜c. to 6¾c. for good to fine, off-stock with an easy feeling in the market. In New York, the market is depressed owing to heavy offerings and slow demand. Sultanas are firm and wanted at 9½c. to 10½c. Malaga raisins are a shade easier, but they have sold well. Stocks are very light. Black baskets are very scarce.

GREEN FRUIT.

Jamaica oranges are slightly in advance of quotations made last week. They are now worth $8 to $8.50 per barrel. No fall in prices is likely to take place until the arrival of oranges of the Florida crop. In about ten days these are expected here. The lemons now on the market are mostly new, and are yet hard fleshed. Malagas are worth $4 to $5 per box ; Messinas, $6.50 ; a few Maoris, $8. The Palermos are expected to be in by next week's issue. Yellow bananas are yet to be had at $2 to $2.50 per bunch. Jersey sweet potatoes, $4.25 to $4.50; others are $3.50 to $4. Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $6 per keg. The green fruit market will be fully opened upon the arrival of the Florida oranges.

SUGARS.

Since last review of the market there has been a decline of ⅜c. in the wholesale prices of white sugars and they are now selling on a basis of 7¾c. to 7⅞c. for granulated. In New York there has been a further decline in values and the trade look for a corresponding drop in this market at the close of the week. The decline in white sugar has not been accompanied by a corresponding drop in yellows, but the latter are lower and weak, selling in a wholesale way from 5½c. to 6½c. The demand is only fair. Reports from all outside markets are weak, notwithstanding that the position of the article seems to indicate strength.

SYRUP AND MOLASSES.

No change to note in this market. Supplies of syrup are light, but values are not so firm. Molasses are in ample supply and prices are easy.

TEA.

The last week has been rather quiet, the demand for all kinds being very light, with very little business to chronicle. A few parcels of medium grade blacks have changed hands, and there has been a little business done in greens and Japans, but nothing of much account. The London market has remained unchanged with no new feature to report. Last advices from New York report large offerings at the auctions, with a disposition on the part of the holders to sell regardless of cost, but notwithstanding, the volume of business consummated has been small.

FISH.

The market is still dull. Salmon trout shows a slight advance, now quoting at 5½c. to 6c. Whitefish still pursues its upward course, now being 7c., as it is growing scarcer as the demand for winter freezing increases. Blueback herring are $1.75 to $2 per hundred count. Sea-fish is scarcely in the market yet, as the season for its consumption, as well as for its fullest supply, is a few weeks in the future.

DRY GOODS.

The trade in staples since last report has been unusually good. Prices have been well maintained, and in some departments have advanced. Particularly is this the case of cotton goods and goods manufactured out of imported wools. The position of grey cottons, in which the tendency—noted in our last issue—was to break prices, is now assured, and the upward movement prevails.

HARDWARE.

Trade has been steady, the reserve of farmers in selling their grain, making the busy season a little later than usual. The most important feature of the week's changes is the advance in the price of glass. The present prices are: for first break, $1.50; second break, $1.60; third break, $3.35; fourth break, $3.70; fifth break, $3.95. Iron is also firming up.

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
(OF LONDON), CAPITAL, £50,000.
Under the auspices of The Indian Tea Districts Association,

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 180,000,000 lbs. Of that quantity India and Ceylon furnished 120,000,000 lbs. during last crop year. This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States, and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The quantity of good dairy butter that is now offering has diverted consumption somewhat from the product of creamery packing. As a consequence, the latter shows signs of declining from the summit of its market price, and more of it is now selling at 23c. than at 24c. Good dairy butter sells easily at 18c. to 20c., store-packed from 12c. to 15c., lower grades of packed butter sell from 10c. to 12c. The lower grades, however, are neglected and accumulating. Large rolls are wanted at 16c. to 18c. Pound rolls are worth 20c. to 22c.

CHEESE—Is firm at 11c. for fine. Poor cheese can be sold as low as 9½c. The September make is yet withheld from the market, the distance between buyers and makers being preserved by the firmness of the latter, although it is believed that there is enough of earlier makes on the market to keep prices for a long time at their present level.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—Fall apples, loose on the market, bring $1.50 to $2 ; stored, they are worth $2 to $2.50. Winter apples, culled and packed, bring $2.75 to $3.25. A great many fall apples are offering on the streets, and winter fruit is coming in pretty freely.

BEANS—Are worth $1.25 to $2 per bushel in small lots. Receipts are fair. The demands of commerce have not yet become active, and the local market is easily overruled. Prices are likely to be better.

DRIED APPLES—The old ones come on the market fitfully and in small quantities. They are worth 5c. to 5½c. per lb. The new ones, yet as scarce as the old ones, are selling from 6c. to 7c. per lb. The unlooked-for low prices of low grades of green fruit, put off the demand for the dried.

EGGS—A noticeable increase in the receipts of eggs classified as fresh may be attributable to the large quantity of limed eggs that have been taken up by consumption. Still, buyers are shy of considerable bulks of eggs that are offered as fresh, and pay 20c. only for the most choice. Some have sold for 21c. Limed eggs go pretty freely at 17c. to 18c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are moving into the market, though there is little call for present consumption, at 8c. per lb.

GAME—In this class of produce, the supply determines the demand, which is the reverse of the usual rule. The more it is to be had, the more the people take to it through the game season. Partridges are coming in very plentifully, and there is still call for more. They sell for 50c. to 65c. per brace. Ducks are also offering freely ; mallards, 70c. to 75c. per brace ; blacks, 60c. to 65c.; pintails, 50c. to 60c.; wood-duck, 50c. to 60c. ; butter-balls, 30c. ; teal, 25c. Pigeons are 20c. to 25c. Rabbits are also arriving at 30c. per pair.

HAY—No. 1 pressed, on track, $10.50 to $11.50; No. 2, on track, $9 to $9.50. On the street, loose No. 1 brings $14 ; loose No. 2, $10. The receipts have been liberal since last report.

HIDES—Have been very steady for the last three weeks. Green, No. 1, $4.75; No. 2, $3.75. In car lots, cured hides are worth 5¼c. to 5⅜c. per lb.

HONEY—The market continues firm. In large quantities, clear honey is worth 10c. to 12½c. ; good honey in the comb brings 20c.; poorer, 15c. In smaller quantities, clear honey sells from 12c. to 13c. ; in the comb, all the way from 16c. to 22c., according to quality.

HOPS—Old hops are nominal at 8c. to 12c. New ones are worth 12c. to 16c. The crop is good, but not large. Also the English crop is good, which tends to depress prices. Buyers are holding off till market settles. Even brewers buy sparingly.

SEEDS.—There is no market yet established.

OATS—Show an advance. They sell readily for 31c. on track.

ONIONS—Are now in pretty fair supply at $1.75 to $2 per bbl. The local demand for consumption is still sluggish, but buyers are asking for more.

PEARS—Are beginning to come upon the market. Good Duchess pears bring from $5 to $6 per bbl.

POTATOES—Are easier this week, on account of more liberal offerings. In car lots they bring from 47c. to 50c. per bag ; in smaller quantities, 60c. per bag. Until winter supplies begin to be laid, the local market may not rise prices above these figures materially.

POULTRY—Turkeys continue to increase in the number marketed. They are still at 10c. to 12c. per lb. Geese, however, have advanced to 7c. and 8c. per lb. ; ducks, from 55c. to 65c. per pair ; chickens, 50c. to 65c. per pair.

QUINCES—A very few are now handling, and those only in baskets, at 75c. The market is closing earlier on account of the closing of navigation.

STRAW—In car loads baled oat-straw sells at $7 per ton, wheat-straw at $6 per ton. On the street oat-straw in sheaves is worth $11. Straw is arriving very freely.

SKINS—No 1 calfskins are still at 6c. per lb., and No. 2, 5c. per lb. Sheepskins are firm at 80c.

TALLOW—Continues to be scarce, but there is no change in prices. Rough brings 2c. to 2¼c.; rendered, 5¼c. to 5¾c.

WOOL—Sells in the fleece at 20c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Longclear is 8½c. to 9c., according to quantity. Roll bacon, 10c.

DRESSED HOGS—Prices still shift, according as day is one of swarming arrivals or otherwise. Taking the sum of the sales made by farmers during the week, the supply may be reported good, for the season. $6.25 to $6.75 is the state of prices for dressed hogs.

HAMS—Remain pretty scarce, on the eve of the renewal of the stock. They are worth 13c. to 14c.

LARD—The American, in 60-lb. packages, sells at 8¾c. to 9c.; in pails, at 9½c. The Canadian lard remains at 9½c. to 10c.

MESS PORK—Is still firm at $14 to $15. Car loads continue to come in from Chicago.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

Markets—Continued.

MONTREAL, OCTOBER 10, 1889.

GROCERIES.

The condition of the grocery trade has not undergone any essential variation. In volume it has continued fair, but somewhat smaller than last week, yet it is believed that the next five weeks will witness a satisfactory distribution throughout. Country orders have been fair and payments generally have been well met. In staple goods the feature has been the continued depression in sugar, while molasses, on the other hand, has manifested a firmer spirit. In dried fruit the feeling is better, owing to higher cables.

SUGAR.

The market for refined sugar has continued to decline. To-day the price of granulated at the factory is 7⅜c., which is a marked decline of nearly 3c. since the height of the boom, and even the lower range has failed to induce business. Yellows have receded to 5⅜c. for lowest, with bright quoted up to 6⅞c. The speculators who went in heavily some time ago, and who have since been underselling the refiners, have been about cleaned out of stock. At one time good profits were made (had they been accepted), but the net result has been a heavy loss to holders. Refiners, also, cannot well be making money, as the raw material now arriving is costing much above the actual market. Jobbers complain that refiners are too anxious to rush up the price on the smallest pretext, and when the demand is filled, cut the price on their customers for equally small reasons. The market has a fairly steady tone at the close.

MOLASSES.

A firmer spirit has prevailed in molasses. About all the receipts for the season are in, and of late there has been more disposition to take hold on the part of buyers, who have grown more anxious, and, seeing which, sellers have stiffened proportionately; in fact, it is claimed that the latter have the advantage. Barbadoes is now held firm at 46c., with Trinidad at 40c. to 43c., and Antigua at 41c. to 43c.

TEA.

The market has continued firm, with a strong undertone, especially on low grades, which are becoming positively scarce. Prices of such in Japan are 30 per cent. higher than last year, and here teas which went begging at 11c. a year ago are now quickly taken at 14c.; in fact, anything from that to 16c. has a rapid sale whenever offered. Tea at about 20c. has a fair sale. Tea dust sold at 7c. to 10c. Holders have a firm attitude and there seems little doubt that the improvement will be sustained.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a steady average trade in this line, but no feature of moment can be noted. The combination prices are expected to be advanced on November 1, probably 2½c. on corn, etc., and 10c. on apples. There has been a fair trade in fish goods at steady prices. Salmon, $6.70; mackerel, $5.80, and lobsters, $6.50, all per case. Corn is at $1.12½. Yellow peaches, $2 for two's and $3 for three's; white peaches, $1.85 for two's and $2.75 for three's. Gallon apples, $2.25. Bartlett pears, $1.85 for two's and $2.75 for three's. Strawberries, $2.50, all per dozen.

FRUIT.

Dried fruit has manifested a stronger tone in sympathy with cables, which quote higher prices and indicate that it would cost more to lay down stock than the prices now current. A Denia cable to-day quotes 21s. 3d. cost and freight, which is an advance of 1s. 6d., and reports the supply small. Off grade brands have been selling here at 6c., with prime up to 6½c. In currants cables report the Patras market as rapidly advancing owing to considerable French buying. This market has improved, and some holders would not now accept 5c. for choice. We quote 5c. to 5¾c..

Almeria grapes have had a fair sale at $4.50 to $5. Figs rule at 11c. to 12½c. Lemons quiet at $3.50 to $5, and Jamaica oranges at $8 to $8.50 for brls., and $4.50 to $5 for boxes.

Grenoble walnuts steady at 12½c. to 13c. for old, no new being in yet. Filberts, 9c. for Sicily, and 8½c. for French. Spanish onions are plentiful at 75c. per crate, with native at $2.50 per brl. Cape Cod cranberries $8.50 to $10 per brl.

RICE.

There has been the ordinary movement at steady prices. Ordinary, $5.70 in car loads; Patna, 4½c. to 4¾c., and Japan, 4c. to 4¼c.

FISH.

Trade has been fairly active, with prices generally firm. Considerable has been done in Labrador herrings, which are firm at $4.50 to $4.75 for No. 1, with halves at $2.70 to $2.75. Newfoundland shore herring are at $4.25 to $4.40; Cape Breton, $5.50 for July and $5 for August and September. Labrador salmon are at $22 for No. 1 per tierce, with British Columbia at $12 per bbl. No. 1 green cod are steady at $5, and No. 2 at $4.75. Dry cod, $4.75. Malpecque oysters, $4 for hand-picked and $3 for unpicked. Caraquest and Bayden Vin, $2.50.

POTATOES.

There is a glut in the potato market, and prices have a weak tendency. Prince Edward Island now unloading are selling at $4.50 per barrel. Ex-wharf bags are quoted at 50c. to 70c.

PROVISIONS.

There has been a fair trade in provisions at steady prices. Lard has been in good request at 8¼c. for carloads and 8½c. for small lots. Mess pork, $14.25; boneless mess, $15.25; short cut western, $13.50 to $13.75; extra prime, $12; plate beef, $9.70, and extra plate, $10.70.

☞ The articles contained in this Review are written by experienced representatives of the GROCER, are wholly unbiassed, and are an accurate reflex of the market.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Bear Point—Jos. Stoddart, general store, assigned.

Messrs. Johnston & Co., auctioneers, Vancouver, have sold the stock of groceries of the Vancouver Tea & Coffee Company, on Carrall Street. The prices obtained were much higher than it was anticipated they would be, and those who attended the sale expecting to get goods for almost nothing were considerably surprised.

It seems extraordinary that warning should have to be given to dealers in a Canadian city to desist from trading on Sunday. In a former issue of this paper we noted that the police of Vancouver city were instructed to carry out the regulations relating to the closing of stores on Sunday. In a later number of the Vancouver News-Advertiser, is a letter from a citizen protesting against the stringent enforcement of the Sunday-closing law. Evidently some of the people of that city are slow to depart from the primitive ways of the early miners of their province, or they are greatly affected by the contagious example of their southern neighbors along the same coast.

PEDDLING FARMERS.

The "Evening News" appears to have a brief for the case of the farmers in their claim, long practically asserted, to almost unrestricted privileges of trade in this city.

The defence of the "News," as it appears in Saturday's issue, is based on policy and on law. The farmer should have no hindrances put in the way of his selling his produce in this city, because he leaves a great amount of money here. This is held by the "News," and was admitted with only fair reservations, in our article. What the farmer wants is a convenient means of reaching the consumption of our citizens, and this is afforded him by a regulated market, which is nothing but a convention between his class and the local distributors. So soon as the farmer does anything to impair the usefulness of the market-place as a point of diffusion, so soon does he put difficulties in the way of his easily getting buyers. If he resorts to occasional peddling, he will find the tecognized centre of the produce trade more and more deserted by those customers, part of whose business it has been to place his wares within the reach of consumers. If the tendency he has started should work to its ultimate issue, there would soon be no one to meet upon the market-place, and the farmers would find themselves let loose in competition against each other on our streets. The effect of this disorderly and precarious method of getting their produce sold would in no long time be an agreement among the farmers themselves to resort only to the market-place for buyers. Our plea for the protection of the grocer was also one for the farmer: a regulated market is a mutual advantage. The farmer wishes to get rid of his produce easily and at a good price. The question is, if there were no established meeting place between buyers and sellers, could he do this better? If so, let him do what he can to extinguish all demand for local consumption at St. Lawrence Market. He is doing that now by peddling.

The farmer at present is a jobber. He sells in wholesale lots, and he sells to consumers. Any other class of jobbers have two prices: one for consumers, one for retailers. The farmer has not. He will sell potatoes to a grocer for 90c. a bag, and will then supply that grocer's customers at the same price or less. This is a poor return to make for the large trade he has got from the retailer—to do all he can to ruin that retailer's trade. He is to be permitted to obstruct, and wear out the streets of the city to do this good turn to men who have a share in the keeping up of this city.

Part of the plea that the farmer's calling-trade is a rightful one, is based by the "News" upon the fact that the farmer pays a market-fee. He pays a market-fee when he comes upon the market, but not otherwise. The "News" also states that the farmer is licensed to do his peddling trade, and that if he peddles without license he can be punished. This is nonsense. No grower requires a license to sell his produce by peddling. It is in this respect that Mr. Awde considers the Municipal Act should be amended; growers should be required to take out license to peddle.

An evil that springs from the existence of a body of unlicensed pedlars, is the difficulty of discriminating between who are growers and who are not. There are plenty of men in the country who till the soil on a small scale and supplement the proceeds of their farming by produce-buying. They go from farm to farm until they are loaded, and then appear on the streets of Toronto, not as pedlars, but as producers. In this way does the revenue of this city suffer loss. It gets neither market-fees nor license-fees from such men.

We are not sanguine that the amendment to the Municipal Act, suggested by Inspector Awde, will be made. Parliament is made up chiefly of representatives from agricultural constituencies, who are at present unlikely to approve of reform in this direction. However, the grievance will arrive at a stage when farmers will be the most urgent promoters of its abolition. The grocer has other lines of trade upon which he can depend, but as soon as the conditions of the house-to-house trade become confusing, the farmer will be foremost in asking that such trade be licensed.

SMALL DRY GOODS ORDERS.

This week, or next, travellers will be on the road with their spring samples of cotton and woollen goods. A caution to the trade may not be inopportune. When the traveller is after an order for spring stock at this season, it often happens that the country merchant has immediate need of goods for his autumn or winter trade. These he would have to buy now, and pay for on the first of the following month. But since he is now solicited for his spring order, he is willing to give that order if the traveller will see that the small order wanted for current sale is charged in the invoice of spring goods, and delivered at once. The spring goods although canvassed for now, are delivered in January or February, and paid for in April. Thus the retailer expects five months' credit for goods on which it is the rule of the wholesale house to give but one month's credit. The country dealer may argue that he asks this favor for but a small order, but when he considers that many more like himself throughout this big country ask the same favor of the same house, he must be convinced that there is a huge bill of interest to be paid on those goods. It falls not by any means lightly on the wholesale men, who must again distribute it over their retail customers. Wholesalers, however, have made up their mind not to indulge this costly habit in their patrons—a habit which is the outcome of early solicitation for the spring trade.

DOMINION WHOLESALE GROCERS' GUILD MEETING.

The Annual Meeting of the Wholesale Grocers' Guild was held in Montreal on Oct. 22 and 23.

LONDON : S, Screaton.

BRANTFORD : Geo. Watts, Sr.

HAMILTON : H. N. Kittson, Geo. E. Bristol, J. J. Stuart.

TORONTO : Wm. Ince, Hugh Blain, J. W. Lang, Wm. Keighley, J. Sloan, H. P. Eckardt, T. Kinnear ; Edgar A. Wees, Secretary.

MONTREAL : Geo. Childs, C. P. Hebert, Chas. Chaput, H. H. F. Hughes, Wm. Kinlop, W. W. Lockerby, H. Laporte, E. Quintal, D. E. Brosseau, D. T. Tees, S. J. Carter, Wm. Donohue.

QUEBEC : Rich. Turner, C. A. Langlois.

Meeting called to order at 11 a.m., Mr Ince, President, in the Chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

Amongst the various matters had under discussion was the question of molasses as to the weight to be allowed to each gallon. It was finally resolved that when sold in other than in original packages, the weight should be 13½ lbs., and that in invoicing, the price of package should be included in the price of molasses :—also that the present mode of levying duty upon molasses was very unsatisfactory, and it was resolved that the Government be urged to change the duty from ad valorem to specific, and that at the ensuing session of Parliament, a deputation should wait upon the Government.

A Committee was also appointed to wait upon the Railway and Steamboat Companies with a view of having the Regulations re strapping Tobacco and Raisins amended, and of having the rates on those articles made 3rd class for small lots, and 5th class for car lots, and also as to the question of responsibility for leakage of Syrups and Molasses.

The Railway and Inland Navigation Companies are also to be urged to take better precautions for the prevention of the pilfering of goods while in transit.

The meeting was very unanimous in an expression of opinion that the terms of credit should be reduced, but no decision was taken in the matter at this meeting ; although it is probable that it will be dealt with at an early date.

A resolution of condolence for presentation to the family of the late Senator James Turner was ordered to be prepared and suitably engrossed.

A motion was made to be dealt with at the next meeting of the Guild that all graded sugars be sold at open current prices, and that the ruling price shall be charged on the date when the order is received by the house. This is a system that has been for a considerable time used in the States and has been found to work well.

The desirability of uniform prices in the sale of woodenware has been under discussion for some time past, and it is very probable that at an early date an arrangement will be come to with the manufacturers.

A very cordial invitation was extended by the delegates of the Quebec Guild, Messrs. Turner and Langlois, to hold the next meeting of the Dominion Guild in that ancient city, The invitation was unanimously accepted.

The delegates were very handsomely entertained by the Montreal Guild at dinner at the Windsor which was served in Mr. Swett's best style.

Mr. Wm. Ince, as President and Mr. Geo. Childs, as Vice-President, were unanimously re-elected.

AN INDEPENDENT OPINION.

GIVING ADVICE.

In a recent issue of the CANADIAN GROCER it was stated that a wholesale grocery house in Montreal had issued a circular advising retailers to buy sugars and hold them for an advance which was sure to come. We found fault with the firm for issuing such a circular. It was urging retailers to speculate when many of them were not in a position to do so. Instead of sugars going up, they commenced to drop immediately, and have been declining steadily since. We pointed out that retailers, acting on the advice, bought sugar, and that some of them have not been able to meet their payments in consequence. Messrs. Lightbound, Ralston & Co., who issued this circular, make a personal attack in their monthly catalogue called "The Dominion Grocer," on the editor of this paper, and in plain unvarnished English called him a "liar." They deny that anyone was influenced in buying sugar by their circular, and that they were financially embarrassed in consequence. We will leave the question to the Executive Committee of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association to decide upon. We have in our possession copies of the circular. We are prepared to prove our statements that retailers bought large quantities of sugar on the strength of that circular, and that letters were received from some of them by wholesale dry-goods merchants in this city saying that they could not meet their payments as they had invested in sugar.—CANADIAN GROCER.

The man or firm who attempts to advise customers when to and when not to buy is apt to have the same experience as the Irishman who "never opened his mouth without putting his foot in it." It is no part of the business of the honest market reporter to give advice as to the course a merchant ought to pursue. His duties lie in first a certaining and reporting FACTS in regard to the commodity of which he is writing, and this can be supplemented by honest trade opinions which must, however, be carefully distinguished as such, and had much better be left alone, unless the writer is of sufficiently wide acquaintance with both the business and the people engaged in it to be certain that he is voicing the general opinion. Giving advice as to how to buy and when to sell should be left severely to the Board of Trade, and Stock Exchange circulars which are issued by houses whose business is speculation and who send out these circulars for the good of their business. Even in these circulars a careful analysis of their statements will show that this advice is always of a nature which is certain to leave the house giving it with but little blame in any event, being given as merely a personal opinion, or else with a certain amount of ambiguity, which leaves a loop-hole for the giver of the advice to crawl out should his seeming prophecy prove false. A favorite piece of advice with Board of Trade houses is to "buy on breaks and sell on sharp advances for a quick turn." This simply means that after a sudden movement of the market in either direction, there is almost certain to follow a reaction, and those who happen to get into the market at the extreme point are sure to reap the benefit of this movement, if they do not hold on too long.

No jobber has any excuse for sending out any such statement as that mentioned at the head of this article. It can never be to his advantage to have his customers speculate. One lucky deal may be made, and then the retailer gives up a careful, conservative method of doing business, invests heavily in the hope of "striking it rich," loses capital and credit and finally fails, owing, let us trust, no one but the firm who first advised speculation. This will be the case in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred.

There are some men who are born speculators, who cannot restrain their desire for a large gain and who estimate their present prosperity at so low a value that to them it always appears that they have everything to gain and nothing to lose. These people are morally crooked; their sense of justice, of the relations in which they stand to their fellows, is blunted. No man can fail and injure himself alone. Down with himself he drags family, relations, friends; a constantly widening circle, which if he be of sufficient eminence and his fall sudden and unforeseen, may involve the business interests of the entire nation. The greatest men are those who leave the least to chance. Napoleon planned his campaigns for months before he began them. Every move was contemplated, every obstacle considered, every order ready framed before the first move was made. What appeared the lightning conceptions of a moment were really the results of hours of deepest thought. It was only when he ceased to be able to form these grand combinations; when elements began to affect his plans which he had not been able to estimate at their true value, that he failed. So in the business world it is not the rash speculator who succeeds. It is not the dashing gambler, the so-called "Napoleon of finance" who wins, but the careful methodical man who seldom if ever moves until success is assured. In a large business or in small affairs look well before you leap and think often of the teaching of the old fable of the tortoise and the hare.—Chicago Com. Bulletin.

EXTENDING OUR SPHERE OF USEFULNESS.

EDITOR CANADIAN GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—I have been a subscriber for the CANADIAN GROCER for about a year and am well pleased with it, but while meeting all the wants of the Grocer, general merchants have to depend on other and less reliable sources of information for quotations etc., on several lines, chiefly Hardware, Drugs, and Chemicals, Dyes, Oils, Paints and Dry Goods. Liking the style of the CANADIAN GROCER I sounded several general merchants on the question and the verdict was, "If the CANADIAN GROCER had fall quotations on these lines, with general remarks as to coming styles, leading shades and rise or fall in prices of wool or cotton goods, it would be worth more to general merchants than any or all of the many so called trade journals." Your evident desire to make the CANADIAN GROCER serve the interests of the retailer as well as wholesalemen cannot fail to keep you at the head of the procession.

I mentioned the matter to Mr. Blain, of Eby, Blain & Co., and he said he would write you.

I enclose a slip with most of the articles on it. I have crossed the unimportant ones. I never skip an article in reading the CANADIAN GROCER as I consider it a good text book for all young merchants like myself.

I am yours for another year,

G. W. MAHON.

The above is one of a number of letters we have recently received from general merchants residing in various parts of the country. We have hitherto been unable to comply fully with the suggestions of our many readers, but Mr. Mahon's letter puts the matter so strongly that we have decided to extend our reports to include the markets suggested by Mr. Mahon. Our aim is to provide a paper that will be indispensible to the retail merchant. We have many improvements in view, which will be introduced from time to time. We shall be glad to receive any further suggestions from our readers.

AN IDEAL HARDWARE CLERK.

In a recent issue of "Wide Awake" appeared an interesting story of a clerk who worked his way up from the position of apprentice in a hardware store to a partnership in the concern. The story is a good one, and we present it herewith for the perusal of ambitious clerks who are members of the fraternity:

"It was the best boy's story I ever heard," was what a lawyer said of the one I am about to relate to you.

"We have had a good many boys with us from time to time," said Mr. Alden, the senior member of a large hardware establishment on Market Street, Philadelphia, "as apprentices to learn the business. What may surprise you is that we never take country boys unless they live in the city with some relative who takes care of them and keeps them at home at night; for when a boy comes to the city to live, everything is new to him, and he is attracted to every show-window and unusual sight. The city boy who is accustomed to these things cares little for them, and if he has a good mother he is at home in bed in due season. And we are very particular about our boys, and before accepting one as an apprentice we must know that he comes of honest and industrious parents.

"But the best boy we ever had is now with us and a member of the firm. He is the one man in the establishment that we couldn't do without. He was 13 years old when apprenticed to us and he was with us for 11 years, acting for several years as salesman. When he first came we told him that for a long time his wages would be very small, but if he proved to be a good boy his salary would be increased at a certain rate every year, and as it turned out when, according to agreement, we should have been paying him $500 a year we paid him $900, and he never said a word himself about an increase of salary. From the outset he showed that he had an interest in the business. He was prompt in the morning, and if kept a little over time at night it never seemed to make any difference with him. He gradually came to know where everything was to be found, and if any information was wanted it was to this boy, Frank Jones, that everyone applied. The entire establishment seemed to be mapped out in his head and everything in it catalogued and numbered. His memory of faces was equally remarkable. He knew the name of every man who came to the store to buy goods, what he bought and where he came from. I often used to say to him: 'Jones, your memory is worth more than a gold mine! How do you manage to remember?'

"'I make it my business to remember,' he would say. 'I know that if I can remember a man and call him by name when he comes into the store, and ask him how things are going on where he lives, I will be very likely to keep him as a customer.'

"And that was the exact case. He made friends of buyers. He took the same interest in these purchases as he took in the store, and would go to no end of trouble to suit them and to fulfil to the letter everything he promised. Well, Affairs went on in this way until he had been with us for 11 years, when we concluded to take him into the firm as a partner. We knew that he had no extravagant habits, that he used neither tobacco nor beer nor went to the theatre. He continued, as in the beginning, to board at home, and even when his salary was the very lowest he paid his mother $2 a week for his board. He was always neatly dressed, and we thought it was very probable that he had laid up $1000 or $2000, as his salary for the last two years had been $1200. So when we made him the offer to become a partner in the business, and suggested that it would be more satisfactory if he could put some money into the firm, he replied:

"'If $10,000 would be any object I can put in that much. I have saved out of my salary $9400, and my sister will let me have $600.'

"I can tell you that I was never more astonished in my life than when that fellow said he could put in $10,000, and the most of it his own money. He had never spent a dollar or 25 cents or 5 cents for an unnecessary thing, and had kept his money in bank, where it gathered a small interest. I am a great believer in the Bible, you know, and I always kept two placards in big letters in the store. On one was this text: "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in that which is much," and on the other: "He that is diligent in business shall stand before kings and not before mean men." And Frank Jones' success was a literal fulfillment of these texts. He had been faithful in the smaller things as in the greater ones and diligent in business. That kind of a boy always succeeds," concluded Mr. Alden.

Mr. R. W. Hart has purchased the store belonging to Mr. D. Reekie, Wilfrid, and intends opening out a fine stock of goods.

OUR BUTTER CORRESPONDENTS.

In response to an invitation for opinions on the butter question, from subscribers, we received several communications, some of

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by

The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.

OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.

Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year. This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

W. MACGREGOR, 119 Front St. New York.

which we publish in this issue. These letters confirm us in the views we expressed in our last number. They also start some important questions.

One of these is the desirability of making the local butter trade a separate one, or one carried on only in connection with similar articles of country produce. This would be an immense relief to the country merchant, as it would set him free from the ever present perplexities of a most difficult and delicate question. The country merchant would undoubtedly make more money if he did not handle butter at all. What with the loss in weight, loss by deterioration, fall of markets, and the loss of trade which springs even from his present faint attempt at discriminating, he comes out much the worse rather than the better of obliging his patrons by handling their butter.

A local dealer whose trade is limited to buying butter, can afford to pay just what the different qualities are worth; as he has nothing to sell, he does not injure himself by piquing the mistaken pride of poor makers. Also, he pays cash, which finds its way into the hands of the country merchant.

GREENWAY, OCT. 21, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—Butter should be sold as soon after it is made as possible, unless a man has a first class very cool cellar, where no other produce is kept.

Yours respectfully,
W. J. WILSON.

EXETER, OCT. 21, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—I have been sick for about three weeks and not able to be out of bed. Therefore am not able to comply with your request, but would say, merchants should not hold butter in summer months. When I get well you will hear from me again. Meantime I am,

Yours truly,
J. PARKINSON.

GUELPH, OCT. 23, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to yours of 18th I beg to state that our GROCER was taken away before I had a chance to read it, but it would not be of any consequence as we never pack butter. We retail all we take in.

Yours truly,
HUGH WALKER & SON.

CULTUS, OCT. 23, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—In trying to answer when is the best time to sell butter, I would say where I live in the country, twelve miles from a railroad, as soon as possible, even at a small loss, as holding means nearly 50 per cent. loss. There are so many poor butter makers around these parts who, instead of thoroughly washing the buttermilk of the butter, remove it from the churn, chuck some large pieces of salt into the butter, stir it a little and bring it to the store and expect the very highest prices. So you see in nearly every case I would advise selling at once, where practicable. In packing down you have to work it so much that the grain and flavor of the butter is spoilt—which leaves so poor a grade of grease, hence the low price. I therefore, I say, sell at once.

H. P. OSTROSSER.

DELHI, OCT. 21, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to yours re butter question, my opinion is to sell when fresh, if possible, to hold your own. Store packed butter always depreciates by holding. I have almost invariably sold as fast as I have taken in and never lost any money yet. I have seen others at same time holding for big prospects who had afterwards to sell at heavy loss. My advice is sell as soon as possible. So long as I can hold my own I have practised this for 14 years and never lost any money.

Yours truly,
E. MORGAN.

ESSEX CENTRE, OCT. 21, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—Beg to say that I think the time for selling will vary somewhat, as in some sections the cheese factories will run for a month yet. For our section I think about Nov. 10th will be the highest point as we have had no rain to speak of since June. But generally speaking, I think delay will be dangerous for parties with much butter to market.

Yours etc.,
G. G. STEELE.

AYTON, OCT. 22, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—Your article in the main agreed with my experience. Any store-packed and dairy butter that I consigned past season while it was still fresh let me out with but little loss, that which I held for better prices netted a larger loss. Would say in most cases it is best to sell at once. I differ with you, however, on statement that creamery butter does not keep as well as dairy, my experience is it keeps much better when it is properly made from the cow to the packing of it into tubs. Of course even in the best creameries there are some churnings that are not A1. the cream being injured before coming to creamery. This refers to cream gathering system. But even with creamery I say sell when fresh, and let the speculator take the chances.

I do not see any reason for expecting very high prices this winter. In consequence of fine weather cheese factories and creameries have been operated longer this fall than usual, and on that account there is at present not so much farmers' butter in market as often is the case at this time of year. They must close ere long, then farmers will make more butter, which naturally will soon be marketed. Feed this year is plentiful and cows will be better fed than last year. Butter should not be handled through stores at all. Each village should have a dealer who handles nothing but butter and such other lines as would make a business by itself, and he should buy for cash. The flour miller buys wheat by his tester, the oatmeal miller buys oats the same way. The farmer then prepares his grain as best he can for the higher price. If the butter buyer bought for cash he would then be in a position to pay according to quality and quality would be improved. Very few of us merchants who want to sell goods have the backbone to condemn a customer's butter.

Yours truly,
ISAAC WENGER.

The general bankrupt stock of William McIntosh of Aylmer, valued at $7,742.06, has been sold to James Leslie of that place at 66½cts. on the dollar.

W. H. Medley is opening a first-class store in Barriefield. He will keep fresh fruit, vegetables and meat, as well as groceries.

10,000 barrels of potatoes have lately been shipped from Halifax to the West Indies, where it is said latest quotations show the price to be about $9 a barrel.

Chief constable Hind has been raiding Trenton bakeries and groceries selling short weight bread. One dealer had bread short one pound in eight, and others varied more or less.

Mr. Andrew F. Hunter, who has bought out the "Barrie Examiner," is a son of Mr. Hunter, the Barrie grocery man. He is a University graduate and promises to become a brilliant one.

Fire gutted the store of Messrs. Smith Bros., grocers, at No. 18 Arthur street, Toronto, on the night of the 23d inst. The damage amounted to about $1,000, of which $700 is covered in the British American Company. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The recent dissolution of partnership between Washburn & Cullen, grocers, and glassware merchants, Smith's Falls, left Mr. Cullen in the business. Mr. Cullen has since sold out to Mr. J. Washburn & Co. who will continue the business.

A. Watts & Co.. of Brantford have shipped two car loads of soap—one to Yokohoma, Japan, and the other to Shanghai, China. The shipments go on the C. P. R. route via Vancouver. This is the first Canadian shipment of soap to these points.

Messrs. J. W. Grece and Son's sorghum factory of Dresden, is now in full blast. About 100 gallons of syrup per day is manufactured and the sample is excellent, being clear and pure. His machinery is perfect for turning ont the golden liquid.

John Ross, who drives the grocery waggon of Nicholas Bros., Toronto, was thrown out of the vehicle last Thursday morning while turning off the street car track. His left side was severely injured, and it was found necessary to call in medical assistance.

It is currently reported that Mr. Geo. Lawrence, merchant, of Ayton, is about renting the store now occupied by Mr. J. R. Stone, Hamburg, and that he will open up a general store therein as soon as Mr. Stone's term expires.

Mr. John S. Shearer has been asked to be a candidate for the presidency of the Dominion Commerical Travellers' association at the approaching annual meeting. Mr. Shearer is well known in the mercantile circles of Montreal, with whom he is very popular.

Mr. D. N. Purvis, the well known merchant, of Lyn, advertises his general mercantile business in that village for sale and also a good farm of about 45 acres with good buildings half a mile above the village. The farm is well watered and in good state of cultivation.

W. H. Vianen, fish dealer, Westminster, is preparing three carloads of salt salmon for shipment to Montreal. This, says the "Columbian", will be the largest export of barrelled salmon ever made to the east from British Columbia, and is another proof that the market for every branch of our fishing industry is constantly developing.

An arrangement has been entered into by all the retail tabacconists of Victoria, B. C., whereby the price of imported cigarettes and tobacco is to be increased until further notice. Only a very few grades are not affected, the prices generally being increased about 30 per cent. The dealers claim that there was little or no profit in the old figures.

Speaking of the assignment of Wm. McIntosh, general merchant, the Aylmer Sun says:—The exact amount of assets and liabilities is not known at present writing, but it is expected that the liabilities will not reach over $14,000, with assets of nearly that amount. Why Mr. McIntosh should leave town is a query which remains unanswered. He was doing a good business and could eaasily, it seems, have tided over his present difficulties.

A small coal-oil stove was the cause of a little conflagration in the workshop of the Brantford Vinegar, Broom & Brush Co., a few days ago. The stove is used to melt pitch, large quantities of which are used in the manufacture of brushes. By some unaccountable means the pitch was ignited just after the hands had gone to dinner. The firemen were soon on the spot, but the inflammable material burned like wildfire and there was a good deal of damage done before the fire was extinguished. The loss, about $500, is fully covered by insurance in the Etna.

We call the attention of the trade to the advertisement in another column of James & Furness, produce and commission merchants, Colborne St. The business was established by Mr. J. B. Bousted thirty-seven years ago. Mr. James who was then a partner of Mr. Boustead, became sole proprietor, when Mr. Bousted retired twenty years ago, since which time Mr. James has worked up a first class business.

The trade will learn with very great surprise of the failure of Brown, Balfour & Co., wholesale grocers, Hamilton. It was known for some time that the firm was in difficulties but it was thought that they were going to pull through safely. They were large creditors of the firm of of Marks, Dobie & Co., Thessalon who assigned some months ago with very heavy liabilities. It is said that Brown, Balfour & Co., lost over $10,000 by that failure. It is also understood that they have had other losses but so far the information obtainable is of a very meagre nature. No donbt the close competition in the wholesale grocery trade has much to do with the failure. Mr. Brown has had many years experience in the Grocery trade and his partner is also well acquainted with it. The firm is one of the most honorable in the trade and there is general feeling of regret and it is hoped that they will soon be in a position to resume business.

In St. Catherines, a few days ago, Flynn's delivery horse was coming down the hill near the sharp turn at lock no. 2, with a heavy load of groceries for Capt. Murray's dredge. As the horse was turning the first curve the whipple tree fell on his heels, causing him to plunge wildly forward. It was impossible to turn to a place of safety, and Frank Flynn and Charles McBride, the occupants of the wagon, saw the only chance from almost certain death was to jump for it. The horse continued until he collided with the end of the bridge where he fell in a heap with the wagon on top of him. The young men were taken home and cared for. At latest accounts Mr. Flynn, who is very stiff and sore, is able to sit up, but Mr. McBride is confined to his bed, very ill.

PETER COOPER'S BUSINESS SENSE.

Mr. Cooper was always a careful and prudent business man. He was strongly opposed to the methods of many merchants who launched out into extravagant enterprises on borrowed money, for which they paid exorbitant rates of interest. Once, while talking about a project with an acquaintance, the latter said he would h ve to borrow the money for six months, paying interest at the rate of three per cent. per month.

"Why do you borrow for a short time?" Mr. Cooper asked.

"Because the brokers will not negotiate bills for longer."

"Well, if you wish," said Mr. Cooper, "I will discount your note at that rate for three years."

"Are you in earnest?" asked the would-be-borrower.

"Certainly I am. I will discount your note for $10,000 for three years at that rate. Will you do it?"

"Of course I will," said the merchant.

"Very well,' said Mr. Cooper, "just sign this note for $10,000, payable in three years, and give me your check for $800 and the transaction will be complete."

"But where is the money for me?" asked the astonished merchant.

"You don't get any money," was the reply. "Your interest for thirty-six months, at 3 per cent. per month, amount to 108 per cent. or $10.800; therefore your check for $800 just makes us even."

The force of this practical illustration of the folly of paying such an exorbitant price for the use of money was such that the merchant determined never to borrow at such ruinous rates, and he frequently used to say that nothing could have so fully convinced him as this rather humorous proposal by Mr. Cooper.—Exchange.

The Canada Iron Furnace Co., Montreal, has been incorporated with a capital stock of $200,000. The purposes of the company are the manufacture of iron and steel, and dealing in them; to operate coal and iron mines, timber limits, furnaces, foundries, rolling mills and steel converters; the manufacture of charcoal and its products; the dealing in wood and the products thereof, as well as all matters arising out of the aforesaid industries.

In the condensed report we have to hand, we are not informed of the extent of the loss suffered by Morse and Nephew in the fire which visited Comber, last Friday. We fear, however, that the whole of their general stock was burnt, and it appears there was insurance on only some of the property destroyed. We hope Morse & Nephew were among the losers thus partially protected.

GROCERIES.

CANNED GOODS.

The market continues quite active and prices are stiffening. Packers have made a good many sales and there has also been an active demand from the retail trade for staple lines. Members of the Packers Association have made sales of new tomatoes at $1 12½c. and about 1200 cases were sold by a firm outside the association about equal to $1.05. This last sale is said to have cleared out all the cheap tomatoes of this year's pack and a firmer market is looked for from now on. There was a general advance in the packers prices of corn, peas and tomatoes of 2½c. to-day and they refuse to make any concessions. In a retail way, wholesale dealers are asking $1.08 to $1.10 for old and $1.20 for 1889 tomatoes, $1.05 for old and $1.20 to $1.35 for new peas, and $1.05 to $1.10 for old corn, new 3 lb. corn is offering at $1.45 to $1.50. Peaches are firm and in demand at $2.20 for 2s and $3.25 for 3s. Salmon is steadier at $1.65 for ordinary hands to $1.80 for Maple Leaf White is offering to arrive at $1.50. Mackeral is steady at $1.65, and herring at 85c. Lobsters scarce and firm at $1.85. Canned meats are firmer and in the state packers are asking an advance.

COFFEES.

Coffees are dull and without change here though for future shipments higher prices are asked abroad. Rios are going out here in a small way at 19 to 21c.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is a pretty good general demand but prices are unsettled. Currants are firmer, 5⅝c. is asked for ordinary varieties in barrels, but this price is shaded ⅛ to ¼c.; prices at Patras are 1s. to 1s. 6d. higher that the opening but latest cables are easier. Dates are unchanged. Figs are in active demand; supply light and prices firmly maintained; 14 oz. are going at 12 to 13c. and Elemes in larger boxes 12½ to 20c. as to quality; a feature of this year's trade is a smaller box: formerly there were 1 lb. boxes, then they came down to 14 oz., and now we have this season 10, 12 and 13 oz. Prunes are cabled easier, on spot, casks are going out at 4½c., cases are steady at 7½ to 8½c. Valencias are easy but the demand is good and offstalk are selling at 6¼ to 7c., selected 8 to 8½c. and layers at 9c. Sultanas are firm; good grades are scarce and wanted at 10c. London layers are selling at $3.35, and Black baskets at $4.25, other Malaga fruit is normal.

NUTS.

The market still remains dull and prices are unchanged Grenobles are worth 15c.; they are likely to be scarce and the quality poor. Tarragona almonds are worth 14½ to 15c. Brazils are dull at 12c.; Fine Sicily filberts are selling at 10½c.

SUGARS.

The demand is fair but there is no confidence in the market and buyers will not take more than they actually require to supply the demand for a few days. A decline of ¼c. in New York makes buyers look for a similar drop here. Yellows are also weaker and are nominally selling at 5½ to 6½c. These figures are being shaded. Sharp competition in the States market on the opening of Spreckles' new refinery is likely to cause a further decline there. Total stock in all the principal countries by latest cable dates is 427868 tons against 411205 tons at same date last year.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups are scarce and firm. Dark is worth 54c; medium 57c; silver drops 59c. and honey syrup 59 in barrels with half-barrels 2c. extra. Molasses is moving at 40 to 45c. in barrels.

DRY GOODS.

Comparing the business now being done with what is usually done at the same season in other years, the state of trade may be pronounced fairly good. Comparing it, however, with the prospects of it, which a month ago were based upon the fine crops, trade must be considered rather dull. Country traders are reported to be buying in small orders, pending the movement of grain and the consequent freer circulation of money. In the staple and fancy goods lines, trade is quite up to the average of its usual fall condition. A rather disquieting article appeared in last week's Montreal "Trade Bulletin," in which it is stated that the mills engaged in turning out white and grey cottons are over-stocked, and that one or two have been obliged to shut down. This report was almost literally repeated in last Saturday's "Globe." We have the authority of a most responsible house, as well as most trustworthy information from other sources, upon which to state that instead of over production, there is now difficulty in filling orders.

HARDWARE.

The week's trade has been marked by no notable features. The stiffening in prices, recorded in our last report, continues in all heavy lines, and begins to show its operation now in the lighter goods.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The selections grow more and more scarce, and although there is a great quantity of what would have been pronounced good three weeks ago, yet the very best is not yet plentiful. The quality continues to improve, however. In all classes the market is slightly easier, and receipts of butter that reaches the range of good prices are increasing. This throws poor butter almost off the market, and immense quantities are accumulating in the country for later bids. Creamery-packed is not much in demand on account of good dairy butter being now available at easier prices. Creamery-packed brings 20 to 23c. The price, two weeks, ago promised to remain firm at 23 to 24, but the liberal supply of good dairy was not reckoned upon. Good dairy-packed sells easily at 16 to 19, according to quality. Store-packed, at 10 to 13, sells with difficulty. Large rolls, 16 to 17c. Pound rolls 20 to 23c. The low grades are not wanted at all.

CHEESE—The finest is worth 11c. The October is not yet selling on the market, as it is held as high by factories as dealers are retailing it at. The supply at present outside of the factories is still large enough to hold the price where it has been for some time.

FISH.

The only lake fish now taken in large quantiiies are salmon trout and blue-back herring. Whitefish are not at this season to be had for the market. Salmon trout is worth 5½ to 5¾c. Blue-back herring $1.75 to $2 per hundred, by number. The demand is slack, and freezing has begun for winter-trade.

DRIED FRUIT.

The cutting that is now going on in the price of currants and raisins has no feature to be commented upon except the want of a serious reason for it. The nearest approach to a reason is that the frequent arrivals of these fruits at this season, leave room for the bare possibility that every later one may be cheaper, and so the cutting had better begin in time. This possibility itself has only the

GREEN FRUIT.

Jamaica oranges are $8.50 to $9 per barrel. The Florida oranges have just reached the market, and sell at $5 per box. They are of very fine quality. Malaga lemons are selling at $3.50 to $4, and Palernus at $8. The Palernus are in since last report. Bananas are not yet all gone, a few are to be obtained at $2 to $2.50 per bunch of yellow ones. Sweet potatoes $3.50 to $4. Malaga grapes, $4.50 to $7 per keg, according to quality.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—The quantity offering has fallen off from the receipts of last week; the opening of the market was energetic. Still, this week, the supply has not been poor. Choice winter apples, packed for shipping, have sold for $2.50 to $2.75. Fall apples, from $1.50 to $2.25.

BEANS—$1.60 to $1.75 per bushel. The stock that is offering is not the finest, although there appears to be an abundance of second-rate quality. The opening of winter consuumption may bring better stock upon the market. The arrivals are so far nearly all small lots.

DRIED APPLES—Are very scarce, although not more so than they usually are in this month. They are nearly all old that have appeared in the market. They sell at 5 to 5½c. in dealers lots and 6 to 6½c. in smaller lots. The demand is quiet.

EGGS—The high price at which fresh eggs have remained for a long time has had the effect to reduce the consumption of them until now there is not so great a scarcity. Limed eggs have also been long enough in the market to lessen the quantity of fresh eggs consumed. Also, the character of many alleged to be fresh is still enough suspected to have some share in helping to make fresh eggs for the moment rather plentiful. Limed eggs are slightly easier at 16 to 18c. Fresh eggs grade from 21 pretty far downward. The market is weaker.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Are going upward in the scale of prices. The rather unfixed state of the market makes it impossible to say if present prices are firm or not. New are 9 and 10c. per lb. Old are offering at 7 to 8c.

GAME—Comes in freely. The prices of last week have not been maintained in all classes. Partridge are plentiful at 45c. to 55c. per brace. Black and Mallard ducks, at 70c. to 75c. per brace. Wood-duck, pintails, and butter-balls at 40c. to 45c. per brace. Teal, 20c. per brace. Rabbits, 25c. to 30c. per pair. Pigeons, 20c. to 25c. per brace. Venison, now moving in in fair supplies, sells at 9c. per lb. in the carcass; at 12c. for saddle and haunches.

HAY—No. 1, pressed, on track, $10.50 to $11; on the street, loose, $10 to $13. No. 2, $8 to $9 on track; on street, scarcely any is offering. Receipts are liberal, in keeping with a fair demand.

HIDES—Green, No. 1, $.4.75; No. 2, $3.75. Cured Hides in car lots, sell at 5⅛c. The market is kept fairly stocked.

HONEY—Records no change. Last week's prices continue firm, but no important advance is looked for on this side of Christmas. In large quantities, clear honey is 10c. to 12½c; in smaller quantities, 12c. to 13c. In the comb, the best in large quantities, sells at 20c; poorer, from 22c. down to 16c.

HOPS—14 to 16c. The market is steady. The old hops quote slightly below the lowest of these figures. They have little influence on the market price of the new crop.

OATS—Still sell at 31c. to 32c. on track.

ONIONS—are steady. In car-lots of yellow Danvers $1.60 on track with $1.50 bid. Small lots at $1.75, with an occasional choice lot at $2.

PEARS—Good Duchess are worth $5 to $7 per bbl. The common fruit $3.50 to $4 per bbl. The season is closing for the pear market.

POTATOES—The market is stiffer. In car lots, good ones are worth 50c. to 60c. per bag. In loads they bring 60c. to 65c; in single bags, 70c. The week's receipts have been lighter, and outside demand has grown more pressing. Buying, however, has been more determined by present table needs, than by the prospects of the winter-prices.

POULTRY—Comes in in increasing quantities, and improved qualities. Turkeys are 10c. to 11c. per lb. Geese, 7c. to 8c. per lb. Ducks, 50 to 60c. per pair. Chickens, 50c. to 60c. per pair. The prices are very well upheld by the call for poultry.

STRAW—Oat is $6 to $7 per ton on track; loose, $7 to $8 per ton on street. Sheaf straw is worth $10 to $12 on street. No wheat straw has appeared in important quantities.

SKINS—Calfskins are worth 5c. to 6c. per lb., for No. 1 the latter price. for No. 2 the former. Sheepskins fresh are still at 80c.

TALLOW—Rough, 1⅜ to 2c. Rendered, 5 to 5½c. The scarcity is still notable.

WOOL—In the fleece, shows no change from 20c. per lb.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—is worth 8¼ to 8¾. Stocks are bare. Breakfast bacon, 13c. to 15c. Roll bacon, 10c. to 10½c.

DRESSED HOGS—are in good supply at $6.50 to $7. Prices have improved since cutting-up began by the increased number of buyers.

HAMS—are exceedingly scarce at 12c. to 13c.

LARD—Shows no change, from 9 to 10c. Canadian and American are selling about alike.

MESS PORK—is $13.50 to $14.50 per bbl. The market is slack.

MONTREAL, OCTOBER 31, 1889.

GROCERIES.

There has been no special feature in the grocery trade during the past week. In volume there has been a fair, steady business, which, although not conducted with any excitement or rush, has been generally satisfactory. Country orders have been fair and payments well met as a rule, in fact trade has a healthy tone throughout. In no line of goods has there been any special change.

SUGAR.

There has been no variation in the condition of the market for refined. The movement has been fairly active at the decline quoted a week ago, since where there has been no alteration. Cables to-day were better and quoted raw higher. Prices to-day at the factory are 7⅜c. for granulated and 5⅜c. to 6⅞c. for yellows as to quality

MOLASSES.

The molasses market has been less firm, not that any actual change has taken place in its condition, but that sellers have been more inclined to get rid of stock, but without stimulating demand to any extent. Nearest values to-day may be quoted as follows :— Barbadoes, 45c., Antigua, 41c., Trinidad 40c.

TEA.

There has been no positively new feature in the tea market, but as before it has continued very firm, with a strong undertone throughout, especially on low grades, which are very scarce, in fact cannot be had below 15c., which may now be marked as the inside. Trade has been firm on the whole, but in many cases country dealers are not disposed to pay up, although it is reasonably certain that the advance has come to stay, especially as the quality of the leaf this season averages lower than for some time ; in fact early leaf is already becoming scarce. A round lot of dustsold at 10c., which was offered at 6c. six months ago. Anything below 16c. is very hard to secure, and from that up to 20c. and 22c. good value is shown. Best Japans have an ordinary sale, but the extreme may be put at 40c. Blacks have had an average call. The whole market has a firm tone, with owners of stock confident in the value of their property.

CANNED GOODS.

In canned goods there has been a fair distribution but no great activity has been developed, although dealers expected a heavier business. The price of salmon has been reduced to $6.60 per case and of mackerel to $5.50 per case, while lobsters have remained steady at $6.50. In fruit goods there has been a quiet trade at former prices, but an advance will take place on Friday in the combination articles. Corn is at $1.12½. Yellow peaches, $2 for two's and $3 for three's ; white peaches, $1.85 for two's and $2.75 for three's. Gallon apples, $2.25. Bartlett pears, $1.85 for two's and $2.75 for three's. Strawberries, $2 50, all per dozen. Blueberries $2.60 per case of 4 dozen, 1 lb., and $1.60 per case of 2 dozen 1½'s.

FRUIT, ETC.

The market for dried fruit has continued to manifest a firm tone and values have been well and fully maintained on fair trading and strong foreign news. Valencia raisins which were formerly selling at 6⅜c. are now held at 6¼c. despite the arrival of another fruit steamer, which vessel's cargo however, was practically all sold to arrive. Prime grades are held up at 6½c. Currants also have a firm tone, with the movement fair at 5c., 5¼c.

Lemons have been quiet lately in anticipation of Friday's auction sale, which will embrace 2000 boxes. Prices are at $3.50 to $5 per box. Jamaica oranges quiet at $8 to $8.50 for brls., and $4.50 to $5 for boxes. Figs have been in fair demand at 11c. to 12½c. Cape Cod cranberries $8.50 to $9.50 per brl. Grenoble walnuts (old) 12½c. to 13c. Filberts, 9c. for Sicily, and 8½c. for French. Almeria grapes in fair demand at $4.50 to $5 per keg.

RICE.

Rice has been in fair request and steady. Ordinary, $3.70 in car loads ; Patna, 4½c. to 4¾c., and Japan, 4c. to 4¼c.

FISH AND OILS.

The fish market has been fairly active and a good volume of business has been accomplished. Herring have ruled rather easier. Labrador have sold at $4.50 per brl. with halves at $2.70, with Cape Breton at $5.25 In codfish there has been a fair trade at easier prices, No. 1 large green $5, No. 1 green $4.75 and No. 2 green $3.50, No. 1 green haddoch $4. Dry cod unchanged at $4.75. Salmon has ruled steady and unchanged. No. 1 Labrador $22 per tierce, $16 per brl. and $8 per ½ brl. with British Columbia at $12 per brl. and red sea trout at $9 per brl. Oysters have declined to $2.75 for Malpecque hand picked and $2 for unpicked, with Caraquet and Bay du Vin, at $1.75.

A CUP OF TEA.

An expert English authority gives the following facts in regard to the drawing of tea, as well as the handling of teas in a retail trade where they may be exposed to odors from other articles or dampness. It is surprising how few of those who use this beverage know how to extract from it only its refreshing, healthful and fragrant qualities. Follow these directions and you will have a revelation at tea time :

"It seems a simple thing enough ; yet of the millions who use this refreshing and agreeable beverage a very small proportion understand how to prepare it. But if not properly made tea is deprived of a great deal of its value, and sometimes rendered absolutely injurious. The water to use should boil, and it should be poured on the tea immediately it boils ; if allowed to overboil, the peculiar property of boiling water which acts upon tea evaporates and eventually disappears. Tea should not be a decotion, but an infusion. If al'owed to stew it becomes little better than a decoction of tannic acid. Tea that is overdrawn is hurtful to the nerves and to the digestion. As to the precise number of minutes which should be devoted to the process of drawing, some people will say five minutes, some seven, some will perhaps go as far as ten, but our experience is in favor of six ; this suffices to bring out the flavor, quality and strength. Just as much tea as is wanted should be made—no more. Make fresh tea as often as it is required. The replenishing of the teapot with fresh hot water is very objectionable. As the thorough heating of the receptacle is of the first importance, the teapot should be made thoroughly hot before the tea is put in it. The earthenware teapot is preferred to all others by many connoisseurs, and it is superfluous to say that whatever utensil is used for this purpose should be immaculately clean.

Tea is an extremely delicate article. Its susceptibility to the odors of commodities near it is a source of danger and deterioration, as it readily takes up the smell of coffee, cocoa, spices, cheese, bacon, or other articles of pronounced odor. The complaints sometimes made about tea would probably not arise if always kept in places free from such contagion. Tea should be stored in a warm dry place place ; unnecessary exposure to the air should be avoided. Even when securely packed in the leading chests in which it arrives in England, the change from the glowing heat of Eastern skies to the damp and humid atmosphere of this climate deprives tea of much of its beautiful fragrance. Tea of much better quality than is generally dispensed at our railway stations and refreshment rooms can be bought at 2s. per pound. A pound of tea would make 128 cups. This is considerably less than a farthing per cup. You may well ask why is it that we should be still charged 4d. and 6d. 'for a little hot milk and water slightly flavored with indesirable tannin.' "—Pennsylvania Grocer.

THE LATE SENATOR TURNER.

The council of the Hamilton board of trade Wednesday afternoon passed the following resolution of condolence in connection with the death of Senator Turner:

He was a recognized authority on all questions of a mercantile character; and amongst those who did active and laborious services in the interests of this city by providing and securing financial aid for the building of railways, he was one of the foremost. As the president of he Hamilton and Lake Erie railway his name and work will be long remembered by those who mourn his loss to-day. Appointed by the Cabinet of the Dominion to a seat in the Senate, he gave evidence of the wisdom of its selection by bringing to its councils the ripe judgement that distinguished him as a merchant, and a patriotism that will be felt when other men will occupy the places of the colleagues in whose estimation he held such an honored place. To the members of his family we extend our deepest sympathy for their great bereavement.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

THE CANADIAN GROCER & GENERAL STOREKEEPER

THE GROCER PUBLISHING CO. (LTD.)

Vol. III. TORONTO, NOVEMBER 8, 1889. No. 45

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ADULTERATIONS IN GROCERIES.

The question whether a dealer invites more custom to his shop by pure goods or by low prices, is generally, in practice, answered in favor of the latter. Low prices are usually a more taking inducement with the public than is the pu ity of the goods, if a sudden effect is all that is sought, but as a lasting attraction to custom, a man had better rely on the honesty of his wares. For many years tea peddlars have been making money that the grocers and general merchants of the country should have been making. Whose fault is it? The fault, in many instances, lies at the door of the grocers and general merchants themselves. They allowed their tea department to become the mere arena in which competitors met to cut prices, and the quality of the tea they sold was degraded accordingly. There were more judges of good tea among consumers than the retailers reckoned on, and the pedlars had enough insight to provide good tea until their own competition has made it no longer so profitable. Plainly, if tea pedlars could make money, with no other resource in stock upon which to balance loss, why should not the grocer, with a large stock of other goods on hand? The history of the tea trade shews that, in the long run, pure goods are safer advertisements than are low prices.

Already tea pedlars are adding to their stock in other lines, in which low prices have been more studied than wholesome qualities. Spices, baking-powders, etc., are among these additions to the tea pedlar's load, and there is a spirit of dissatisfaction in the country which will get him some trial customers at least. A housewife finds, for example, that the olive oil she gets from her grocer is the constituent that ruins her salad; or that the extract of lemon he sold her is useless; her trade in such goods is withdrawn, and where she transfers it she also buys the rest of her goods. Pure goods are going to be bought, wherever they are to be had.

Grocers take too little account of the influence of adulteration as a means of reducing prices. Too little attention is paid to what they buy. The manufacturer's name and the price of the article are helps to arrive at an estimate of its purity. The cheapest syrup or molasses is clearly not the best. The Canadian government, solicitous for the welfare of Canadian fishermen, who used it, put a heavy duty on the old black-strap molasses, because it was positively injurious. But although we have no more black-strap, we have still cheap molasses and syrups. An important constituent of a class of cheap molasses is glucose, a product of starch. Worse than this, because really dangerous, is the presence of chloride of tin, a corrosive sublimate, which is very destructive of tissue. In cheap candies terra alba is usually present in alarming proportions. Cheap soap is adulterated in many ways, all of which make it a destructive washing compound.

GLASS GOODS.

It is only during the last two years that Canadian fruit packers and preservers have given any attention to the home demand for fruit ready for the table. That there was such a demand, and that it was a very strong one, was abundantly proved by the large market that this country long afforded to the jams, jellies, etc., of American and European packers. No doubt our own producers were kept from taking earlier notice of the proportions of this American supply, because they over-estimated the domestic practice in so many households of putting down all the preserved fruit they want for their own use. Otherwise, the quality, variety, and usual abundance of Canadian fruit, would have surely tempted packers into the glass goods field long before they entered it.

The American product is not superior to ours in keeping or eating qualities, nor does it afford more room for choice, at all events in the goods which appear in this market. Peaches at first sight seem to be an exception to this statement, but when we remember that the raw fruit is allowed in free of duty, it becomes plain that we can import American raw peaches when we want them, and put them up for consumption ourselves. Our want of them, or our advantage in buying them from the Americans, becomes less and less as the success of peach culture in the Niagara district becomes yearly more assured.

Highly beneficial results have followed the introduction of fruit preserving among Canadian industries. American jams and jellies have been to a very large extent displaced from the market, and prices are brought 30 per cent. closer to the consumer. Our own factories find it nearly impossible to keep stock on hand, on account of the year-round demand in villages, towns and cities.

The greater cheapness of canned fruits scarcely makes them a rival of the glass goods. Each kind of goods finds its own class of consumers, and is never liable to be so much more than enough within its own range of consumption as to materially affect the price of the other.

UNPACK CAREFULLY.

Wholesalers are making a great many complaints about the number of claims for shortages sent in by the retail trade. There are no doubt occasions when the receiver of the goods has good reason to make a claim, but we are inclined to think that there are very many claims sent in which are entirely due to carelessness on the part of the person opening up, unpacking and checking off the goods. In the first place these three operations should be performed at one time, without leaving off in the middle, and all the straw or other packing material should be kept by itself until the goods are found to tally with the invoice. No packages should be opened until they are checked off, and such a thing as selling goods from a case until it has been thoroughly inspected is unbusiness-like in the extreme. All wholesale and manufacturing houses have two and three and even four distinct checks upon the filling and packing of their orders, and, though they frequently make an allowance for a claim, it is seldom they believe that they are to blame, and not infrequently it is felt that they are being imposed upon by their customers. There are of course dishonest men in all spheres of life, but we think there are but few retailers who would deliberately lie and steal in this manner. We know of one house who enter every claim they do not consider perfectly honorable in their book devoted to the financial credit of their customers, considering this one of the most important tests of a man's honesty in general business. Before making a claim satisfy yourself thoroughly that you are justified in doing so and then do it without an hour's delay; and once made—unless you afterwards find yourself in the wrong—stand firmly by it. But never make an unjust claim.

FAILURES IN CANADA AND THE STATES.

The following figures showing a comparison between the number and amount of failures in Canada and the United States, for the first nine months of 1889 and during the same period of 1888, are particularly interesting.

CANADA.

	No. of Failures.	Assets	Liabilities.	Pro. of Assets to Liabilities.
1888.	1,274	$5,618,552	$12,441,839	47%
1889.	1,175	4,376,155	9,279,963	47%
Dec.	99	$1,242,397	$ 3,161,876

UNITED STATES.

	No. of Failures.	Assets.	Liabilities.	Pro. of Assets to Liabilities.
1888.	7,330	$44,649,552	$83,941,991	54%
1889.	8,334	50,757.994	101,755,518	50%
Inc.	1,004	$6,108,442	$17,813,527

While we in Canada can show a decrease of 8 per cent. in number and 25 per cent. in value of losses by failures, our neighbors have to acknowledge an increase of 14 per cent. in number. with an addition of 12 per cent. assets and 21 per cent. liabilities. We do not propose to deal with the causes of these great differences and will be content, so far as comparisons with previous years are concerned, to congratulate ourselves and rejoice that we are not as other countries. It does indeed look as though Canada were passing out from under the commercial cloud with which she has been surrounded during the last six or seven years. But there are some other points which are worthy of special notice. It will be seen that in 1888 the proportion of the American assets to her liabilities was 54 per cent., while ours was only 47 per cent., and even this year when we are making such a progressive stride our proportion is still 47 per cent., while in the States it is 50 per cent. From this it is evident that our failures are of a worse type than those across the border, and it is a lasting shame to our commercial community that this should be the case. To bring the average down to so low a figure as 47 per cent. how many must there be that yield almost nothing? That these figures display an incredible amount of dishonesty goes without saying, and until the creditors make up their minds to inflict the severest castigation in their power on all whom they deem as dishonest debtors, we can scarcely hope for a material change for the better. But there is even a worse phrase to consider in the fact, that though our population is only one-tenth of the American population, our failures number one-sixth of theirs. To every one the cause must be evident. The system of giving long credits so needlessly in vogue in Canada is keeping back our country more than any other cause, political or commercial. In engenders ignorant and useless competition and prevents thereby the worthy dealers—who should be the backbone of the country—from making the steady headway that they should but reasonably expect. We invite correspondence on this very important question.

STAMPED TINWARE.

We note this week in our current quotations a reduction in the discount on stamped tinware. This reduction means a considerable advance in prices. The reason for this is that the raw material has been going up for some time, so that tin plate costs $1 per box more than it did. The upward progress of steel has been strong and steady for several weeks, and there is no sign that it is likely to rest at its present point, or that its stay in the regions of high figures will be a short one. On account of the present process of rolling steel bars into plate being less costly than the former one, steel is now more used to be tin-coated than is iron.

Tin-plate makers are far behindhand with their orders, because they find it impossible to get early delivery bars from the mills. The steel-makers have orders ahead for as long a time in some cases as eight months. This is not unlikely to still further lower the discount, until it stands barely 70 off. At present the raw material for the preparation of stamped tinware costs 25 per cent. more than it did. Tin-plate is supposed to be making its way to the dizzy point it reached a few years ago.

Whatever share speculative operations may have in maintaining the present prices of iron and steel, there are undoubtedly economical causes working to the same end. The wages of workmen have gone up from the pittance of $2.40 a week in some iron centres to a fair living rate of pay, a result of good times in other departments of British production; an immense amount of metal has been used in the construction of steele vessels, and the Americans, after waiting for lower prices, have recently been heavy buyers on the English and Scotch markets.

THE DUTY ON SAMPLES.

The importers of the Dominion will be glad to learn that the Customs Department has decided to admit samples free of duty, when of no commercial value. The system of taxing samples was found to be very obnoxious to the importers of the country, and many were the protests sent from Montreal and Toronto to Ottawa. The result has been eminently satisfactory, and the embargo has been raised. The Department has sent out this letter to the collectors of various posts:

CUSTOMS DEPARTMENT,
OTTAWA, Oct. 14, 1889.

I am instructed by the Hon. the Minister of Customs to inform you that samples, being small pieces of cloth, edgings, textile fabrics, cards containing buttons of various patterns, being representative of goods, and having no commercial value, and obviously intended for use solely as samples to sell by, may be admitted free of duty.

All samples imported complete in themselves, or which can be disposed of as merchandise, whether imported or single specimens or in pairs or quantities, are dutiable according to material.

J. JOHNSON, Commissioner.

Mr. Geo. G. Pope, has leased the store lately occupied by Wyatt & Turner, south side of the arcade, next the new market buildings, Peterborough, and intends opening out in a few days with a fresh stock of groceries, wines and liquors.

Last Thursday morning as M. Thos. Stevens, grocer, Carleton Place, and his son Frank were delivering goods, their horse ran away, throwing both out and breaking Frank's thigh. Very great regret is felt for him as he is a general favorite.

Mr. M. J. Tierney, Peterborough, has his fine new stand on Hunter Street, now ready for business, called the Oriental Grocery store. The large shop is filled with a complete and assorted stock of almost entirely new groceries, wines and liquors.

Mr. D. McLachlan, of Woodville, in conversation with a representative of THE GROCER on Monday, said: "I would rather be without my daily paper than THE GROCER, and you may publish this if you wish."

Miss Clara Huntington, the adopted daughter of Millionaire C. P. Huntington who was married in London last week to Prince Hatzfelt, is the daughter of a Sacramento, Cal., grocer who lost his life in the great flood of 1862.

DAIRY AND CREAMERY BUTTER.

DEAR SIR,—I have read with considerable interest the remarks made at the Merchants' Convention, touching this question, also the Grey Review article and Mr. Taylor's contribution to that paper reproduced in your issue of October 4th.

As an advocate of Inter-Imperial trade I am delighted with the rapid growth of this agitation, and hope the time is not far distant when Ontario farmers will realize that it is within their power to supply the teeming millions of the British Empire with a really choice mild butter. England imports annually upwards of ten million pounds sterling, or say over $50,000,000 (fifty million dollars) worth of butter and oleomargarine. Why is it that Canadian shipments are declining rather than increasing? Because the article exported does not fill the bill, and yet our people are apparently indifferent in the matter. Germany, Sweden, Denmark and France, have their official representatives located in England, who watch the butter business in the interest of their several countrie and by the assistance of science with shrewd common sense, have secured a preference in that market which should and can be ours.

Ontario cheese has won first place in the British market, realizing considerably higher prices than similar goods in competition from the United States. The same proud position can be attained for butter, bringing with it an immense increase of profit to the producers, and consequently to the country at large. In the near future we shall probably have the fastest steamship service on the Atlantic, making passage between Halifax and Plymouth, England, in four and a half to five days. With it established our butter could be shipped through from here to London and other points in England in about seven days. Given the right quality an immense business can then be done.

It is clear by recent articles in your journal that you recognize the importance of this question. I therefore make no apology for addressing you at such length.

The Dominion government has chosen representatives to visit the Australian colonies, with a view to arrange a preferential tariff, and our Imperial Federation League is doing its utmost to bring about a closer bond of union, not only with the sister colonies, but the mother country as well, by means of such a preference.

When accomplished what a boon for Canada? In the meantime the quality of our productions should have careful and constant attention, for John Bull prefers the best of everything and has the means to pay for it. In the first place we must learn to cater successfully for local consumption and then shall be in shape for the larger field.

How is it there is so much inferior butter in this country, and so little really choice? Probably our country merchants can better answer this question than you or I can. Perhaps you have hinted at some of the foremost reasons in your article headed, "The Chances on Butter," under date Oct. 18th.

All will admit that there is room for improvement both in the dairy and the storekeeper's modus operandi.

You say creamery butter does not keep as well as dairy; this depends upon how it is made, packed and kept. Let our dairymen make their butter, either collectively or separately, upon scientific lines, using a first-class modern separator, packing at once in an air-tight, clean, tasteless package, and the merchant place it upon the market in reasonable time, and I assert that the creamery system will prove itself by far the best, for all parties concerned.

In the Grey Review article and the letter of Mr. Taylor's before mentioned, the advantages of the creamery system are demonstrated, and Mr. Taylor refers to the country merchants' interest in this question. Why cannot they move in the matter? Mr. Isaac Wenger, of Ayton, has a creamery running very successfully, and I have no doubt there are many other enterprising country merchants in Ontario who are equal to the occasion, and will ere long follow his good example. Perhaps the Dromore plan of 3c. per lb., spoken of by Mr. Taylor, would be the most workable.

I am promoting a company that aims at handling Canadian produce both here and in Great Britain, upon improved and economical lines, and shall be glad to correspond with any merchant willing to co-operate as regards butter.

I know it is not practicable in many localities to start creameries, and am told by gentlemen qualified to speak on the subject, that the country merchant has almost insurmountable difficulties to overcome in trying to educate his patrons in the right direction. Sir, there are always serious and obstinate difficulties to overcome before any good reform can be secured. This question is the most important that can be taken up in the interest of both merchant and farmer, and I venture to assert, that even where there is no room for a creamery, or probability of such co-operation as would be necessary to make it a success, with the assistance of the merchants now handling dairy made butter, we can speedily bring about marked improvement.

It is necessary to induce the farmers to make a uniform article, both as to salt, color, and texture, to make upon scientific lines, and to so protect the butter after made that it cannot absorb any disagreeable flavor.

Touching the question of making, I hope to receive some practical suggestions from Prof. Robertson, of the Guelph Agricultural College, a gentleman who has done so much towards gaining for Ontario the proud position of first place in the cheese trade, and have before me an improved air tight package in various sizes, from two pound upwards, that if filled as soon as the butter is made, will help to overcome many of the admitted difficulties, and not only be useful for both dairy and creamery butter for this market, but go far towards capturing a share of the British trade. It is not the intention to ask country merchants to get all the butter that reaches them put into these packages. On the contrary, we wish to commence with the best three or four dairies in each district, gradually extending operations as we are able to show the advantages of the improved method of making and packing.

This will probably be looked upon as a difficulty. No doubt it will appear like giving a preference and will be the first blow at the present system of paying the same price to all farmers for good, middling, and bad butter. If so, the result will be more than satisfactory, for who will doubt the wisdom of abolishing such an unreasonable and ruinous system?

Once thoroughly understanding the course my company will invite the merchant to proceed upon it. He will see that they will be relieving him of a difficulty and offering him valuable assistance.

I shall be glad to explain more fully to any merchant who means business, and hope to satisfy him that he can not only do himself and customers, but his country, a service by going into this matter heartily.

I am yours, etc.,

WALTER STARK,
62 Front St. East, Toronto, Ont.

There is every appearance that the hog of the future will be the animal of light weight, and not the brute, seven-eighths of whose substance is composed of grease, such as in fact makes up the greater part of the contents of the barrels of that mysterious stuff which finds its way to the shanties and backwoods. The experience is that the large, fat, greasy porker, which used to delight the grower, and excite the active competition of buyers, is giving place to the smaller, more solid and sweeter meated pig. In the United States this is said to be the result of several factors, two of which are the substitution of cotton seed oil for lard and the rapidly growing taste for the sweeter, more healthful meat of the young and smaller pig. The Southern cotton field can produce lard cheaper than the Northern hog grower, on which account the latter has to turn his attention more to the production of pork and less to that of lard.

The report comes from the St, Clair Flats that duck are very plentiful this season. Reports are that partridge and quail are more plentiful than for some time past. The abundance of quail seems somewhat remarkable in view of the fact that the heavy rains of last spring, occurring during the nesting season, were supposed, by flooding the nests and drowning the young birds, to have wrought great havoc among the quail.

OUR BUTTER CORRESPONDENTS.

Another suggestion thrown out by a correspondent of ours, Mr. Taylor, whose letter appears below, is that in the special railway concessions to the weekly Merchants' Day that is now being agitated, there should be an ice car for the transportation of the week's butter receipts. This proposal goes farther than any other we have yet examined towards simplifying the butter question in its relation to country merchants, and furnishes one of the best arguments for a Merchants' Day. By adopting it the railway companies will offer their strongest inducements to travel on that day, and thus they will add to the chances of making the day profitable to themselves. To provide against the lowering of prices which would be apt to follow from a plethara of butter on the day of its arrival, Mr. Taylor would propose that the butter be put in pure and cold storage in the city, and there kept till the market recovers. We commend the idea to the consideration of traders. Mr. Weismiller in his letter puts the matter in a nutshell and his reasons should receive the careful consideration of butter holders. The consensus of opinion is that butter should be sold as soon as possible unless the quality is very fine, when it may be held provided there is a good place in which to keep it.

DROMORE, Oct. 21.

Your timely article on "When should the Country Merchant sell his butter?" is very well put. You say, at once. I should say so, too, as a general answer. But suppose we sell at once to some of the city speculators, who buy looking for a higher price. They get it down to the city, put it into a cellar containing quantities of bacon and other produce, how much better is it going to be cared for than with the country merchant? If it could go into consumption at once it would be all right, but there are times when so much would go down that the market would be depressed, that parties would not like to almost give it away, as was the case last June, when the price was only some 11 or 12 cents.

But I see the Mail is advocating a Merchants' Day, that is, to have a day each week for bona fide merchants to visit the city at special railway rates, say one fare, or better still, one cent per mile. Now, I think that what we want is a butter day once per week, when the railway will run an ice car, said car to pick up all the butter on its route that the merchants had taken in through the week. I am well assured a good number would be willing to pay for such a privilige, as it is impossible to ship butter in the very warm months. Then when it reached the city, if the market was depressed, the butter could be put into cold storage, where nothing but butter is kept, until the parties wished to put it on the market.

As to what you say about country merchants being careless of how they store it after buying, there are exceptions. There are some who have special cellars for storing it in without anything else in them.

As to salt, I approve of Ashton's and Higging's English salt. The great trouble we have is that there is too much salt put into the butter. I consider one ounce per pound quite sufficient for keeping any butter.

The question of making a scale of prices instead of one price, is quite right in principle but very difficult in application. I say let all butter be bought on its merits, but merchants are so much afraid of offending customers that they give all alike.

I think that in country towns if it were possible to get parties to make a specialty of buying butter for cash, and not have the merchants handle it at all, it would be better. Then the farmers would get the cash value of their butter, and could take their money to the stores and trade to the best advantage.

Excuse me for taking up your space with my views. Yours,

ALEX. TAYLOR.

STRATFORD, Oct. 18, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—I sell what butter I have to spare every week all summer, and run no risk of having it spoil or go off flavor, which it is apt to do. I then have the use of the money. You may judge I have a good cellar, as I haven't used one pound of ice in three seasons for my butter.

I am yours truly,

H. F. BARKER.

CAMPBELLCROFT, Oct. 19, 1889.

SIR,—As for my experience in the butter trade, I sell every time as soon as I can find a market to suit the grade of butter on hand, if I can make my own out of it. However, I would recommend country merchants to sell early unless they have a first-class lot of butter and a first-class place to store it away.

Yours truly,

A. SMITH.

PARIS, Oct. 20.

The country merchant should sell his butter at once unless he has cold storage for his stock during the hot weather. I consider 90 per cent of first-class butter becomes tainted in a very short time by being kept in cellars unsuited for that purpose. We keep our butter on ice 12 months in the year.

GEO. T. SIMPSON.

KIPPEN, Oct. 21, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—In reply to your question I would say that my method is to sell butter while it is fresh, and, taken as a whole, I find it fairly satisfactory. My reasons for so doing are briefly:—(1) I desire to turn it into cash as quickly as possible. (2) The merchant establishes for himself a reputation for keeping good goods in that line which enables him to sell to better advantage. (3) No matter how sweet butter may be when taken in, if not properly salted—and very often it is not—a large percentage becomes off flavor and makes a loss instead of a gain. (4) Frequently the money invested in goods of a less perishable nature yields more than any possible advance on butter amounts to.

D. WEISMILLER.

CORNWALL, Oct. 23, 1889.

When should the country merchant sell butter? As soon as he can make sale for it. I would advise him not to keep it any length of time if he has not a proper place to store it, although well made butter will sell at any time of the season.

Yours truly,

W. H. DUNKIN.

WORTH TEN TIMES THE COST.

GELERT, Oct. 29, 1889.

EDITOR CANADIAN GROCER:

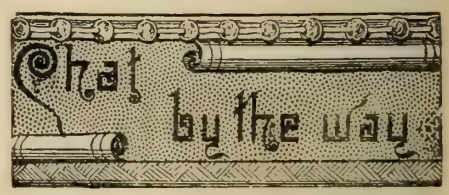
SIR,—In renewing my subscription for your paper, allow me to say that it is worth ten times its cost to me.

Yours truly,

J. W. WATSON.

We are glad to know that Mr. Watson appreciates our efforts to make THE GROCER indispensible to the retail merchant. We notice from Mr. Watson's advertisement in the Minden Echo that he is one of the enterprizing men of Haliburton Co. His advertisement is the brightest in that paper. Attention is attracted to it by a big crowing rooster, and "J. W. Watson's" is the next most prominent feature. We quote from it: The rooster's coop full of Goods,

Bargains always being Hatched,
Is crowing to sell his cheap Goods,
Is crowing to buy butter and eggs;
His crowing is continuous and loud,
His crowing is persistent,
He always has something new,
His stock of dry goods is immense,
His stock of boots always assorted,
His stock of groceries always fresh,
He has a larger and cheaper stock than ever,
No moulting time here.



McKillop's tallow factory, Hamilton, was burnt, with all its contents, on the evening of the 29th ult.

R. L. Harvey & Son, grocers, at Sherbrooke, Que., have sold their business to Armstrong & Co.

Messrs. Sanderson & Hobbs, of Mt. Elgin, have bought out the general store business of N. P. Finch at that place.

Three car loads of potatoes have been shipped to Lucan from Muskoka and other points, and retailed out at 75 cents a bag.

Mr. Fred McLeod, of Parkhill, last week shipped a carload of apples to Calgary, N. W. T. The freight cost more than the apples and apples are not cheap this year either.

Mr. Charles P. Clark, grocer, St. Thomas has assigned for the benefit of his creditors to W. Williams. Liabilities $1,000; assets, $600.

The bankrupt stock of R. W. Nickle, general dealer, of Clavering, Grey County, invoiced at $1,870.42, was sold to James Gordon for 60½ cents.

A. S. Stilwell, has sold out his mercantile business at Eden, and will remove to London to take part in a new wholesale fur store, the style and name of the firm to be Dewey, Stilwell & Black.

The canning firm of Hoegg & Co., Fredericton, who have about closed operations, put up this season 1,200 bushels of green peas, 210,000 cans of corn, 600 bushels of baked beans, 15 tons of salmon and 200 tons of lobsters.

At the last meeting of the Toronto Board of Trade, a committee was appointed to take in hand the proposed Merchants' Day and to confer with the railways for reduced rates. A committee was appointed also to co-operate with the Citizens' Committee to raise a monument to the late Mr. Laidlaw.

A Board of Trade has been organized at Blenheim. The following officers were elected :—President, George Thompson ; Vice-President, F. E. Arkell ; Secretary-Treasurer, R. C. Macpherson ; Committee on By-laws, the officers and Messrs. Ferguson, Dainty, Taylor and R. A. Macdonald.

The new pork packing establishment at Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, has commenced operation. Sausage will also be manufactured, and goods will be sold only to the trade. James Reid, an English packer, is the practical man of the concern, and Mr. Johnson, of the Portage oatmeal mill, is also interested in the business.

Mr. H. Illing, bookkeeper of the wholesale grocery firm of Randall & Roos, Berlin, and Miss Jennie Cummings, also of Berlin, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony last Wednesday at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. George Cummings, West Toronto Junction. The happy couple left for Detroit and other points west on their wedding trip.

In the criminal court at St. Thomas, the other day Frank Gardner pleaded guilty of robbing the stores of O. C. Lumley, of Iona, Crosby & Risk, of Highgate, and J. C. Macdonald, of Duart. Gardner said he had been led into the commission of the crimes by others, and asked for a chance that he might do better in the future. He was sentenced to twenty-three months in the Central Prison.

The Pork Packers' Association of Canada held their annual meeting on Friday at the Rossin House, F. W. Fearman, President, in the chair. The business transacted at the meeting related to the discussion and prospects of the trade and the outlook for the hog supply, and the acceptance of the President's annual report. The following members were re-elected officers for the ensuing year : F. W. Fearman, President ; Andrew Park, Secretary-Treasurer.

A pork-packing factory has been started in Aylmer by Enos Scott, which, it is expected, will slaughter an average of one hundred hogs per day the year round, if the farmers will supply the hogs. If this expectation is fulfilled Aylmer will soon become the leading pork market in this part of the country, and the enterprise will prove of great value to the farming community in supplying a permanent and reliable market for the disposal of hogs.

Detective William Mason went through the London market Saturday morning and seized a lot of poultry and hucksters' stuff from tenants in arrears for rent to the city. From Mrs. Fred. Price, who occupies a space just north of the market house, he seized three turkeys, one goose, some chickens, celery, onions, cabbage, etc. Ducks, etc., were seized from Mrs. Whittaker, Mrs. Cartledge and Mrs. Ross, but the last three settled and their stuff was released. The rent due runs from $6 to $4.

A few minutes before twelve o'clock on Sunday morning smoke and flame were noticed issuing from the buildings of William Harris & Co., sausage and bologna casing manufacturers, 392 Pape avenue. At once an alarm was sounded, and in a short time the local brigade was on hand with its appliances. The flames, however, were not quenched until something over $500 worth of damage had been done. This is partly covered by a policy of $400 in the Royal. The fire originated in a pile of corn which was lying near the boiler, which had evidently became over-heated.

Don't drive the flavoring extract trade from your store. It pays you to handle them as they carry a good profit. Many grocers are surely driving away the extract trade into the druggist's hands by selling trashy extracts. Ladies will not be imposed on more than once. There is nothing more annoying than to have a custard or cake spoiled by a trashy extract after spending time and trouble in making it. They very soon fasten the blame where it belongs. Now this is to be avoided by selling Dalley's Fine Gold Extracts, as the 10c. bottles are the same quality as the 25c., the bottle being smaller. Every bottle is guaranteed to give satisfaction.

It is rather surprising to find retailers deliberately breaking the Tobacco Regulations after the repeated warnings they have had, not only in THE GROCER but by a letter from Mr. Thackray, the Secretary of the Toronto Retail Grocer's Association. The other day Mr. Thackray was coming down town when he noticed a part of a box of tobacco in the window of a retail store. He at once went in and told the proprietor of the law requiring him to keep his tobacco in he original package. To his amazement he was informed by the retailer that he did not think they could fine him for that, but tha they simply could seize the tobacco, and he thought he could stand the loss of the tobacco owing to the advertisement it would give him. Mr. Thackray explained the law to him and the tobacco was very quickly removed from the window. That the Secretary of the Association is worth a great deal to the grocers of Toronto is shown by this incident. Those who are not in the Association now should come in and give us their hearty support.

Mr. D. R. Ross, oatmeal miller, of Embro, visited the city last week and met with our Mr. McLean at the Board of Trade. Mr. Ross reports a steady demand for all the rolled oats and oatmeal his mill will turn out, and should his trade continue to increase it will be necessary either to enlarge his mill or get control of a mill in some other place. Mr. Ross is satisfied that a part of his increased trade is due to his advertisement in THE GROCER, which several new customers have mentioned in writing for prices the first time. The section of country in which Embro is situated is very well adapted for raising oats, and at the mill strict attention is paid to selecting only the choice kinds of white oats for making rolled oats ; other kinds are used for Standard and Granulated and also for export meal. For some time past Mr. Ross has been urging the farmers in that vicinity to pay more attention to their seed oats and new varieties have been introduced which has given much satisfaction to both farmer and miller ; frequent changes of seed has also been urged strongly.

UNIFORM PRODUCE MEASURES.

The mills of the gods grind slowly. The autumn trade is drawing to a close, and not yet have we a by-law defining the weight of produce that shall be held in the usual measures of capacity that it is brought to the market in. The barrel is still an undetermined unit, the bag is still a variable measure. The grocers of this city remember that they had promises once before, and that the Markets and Health Committee had their petition before it near the beginning of the year, and nothing came of it though encouragement was given that it would be at once remedied. The matter should be urged now. The hour is at hand when this council will seek re-election, and the present is a better time to persevere than at the beginning of the new term. After accepting as genuine reasons for delay, the neglect of the Inspector to report upon the matter, the fault of the Secretary of the Markets and Health Committee in not answering the Retail Grocers' Association, the frequent adjournments of the Committee before business was overtaken, the waiting upon the consolidation of the City By-laws, we have made up our minds that this masterly inactivity is the delay of strategy. The latest stop-gap is that the City Solicitor has not yet pronounced on the formal legality of the measure. He had not been able to examine it in its final issue from the press, and would not express his opinion upon a by-law that was submitted in the form of a printer's proof. We may be mistaken, but we think it is the almost universal usage for legal opinion to be based upon documents in the manuscript form. Why, if despatch were aimed at, could the City Solicitor not have examined the proposed by-law in that form? Inspector Awde, we believe, has pushed the matter as fast as he could, and we may remark that he believes the by-law will be passed by the Council on Monday night next. We hope so, and, if it is not, we feel that the grocers need be no longer in the dark as to the true reason.

COMBINATION.

A good many of the numbers of this paper will be found to contain words of warning against the abuses of competition, and of reprobation against the issues of those abuses. In the state of things which has been brought about by abnormal competition will be found the reasons, we believe, on which combination as a trade-systematiser is justified. If competition is to be regulated at all, it must be first brought out of chaos among wholesale dealers. They can only make it orderly by organization, and combination for such a purpose is allowable, even highly praiseworthy. If the wholesale men agree to shorten the time of credit, or to abolish it altogether, to fix prices, to insist on a customer being rated so much, they have determined the character of the trade that is to be done by their retail customers.

But it seems to us that it requires quite as high a degree of commercial virtue to keep combination a pure system as it does to keep competition healthy. To be efficacious a combination must embrace all the wholesale dealers, and must be held together by the most righteous good faith among its members, and the most scrupulous adherence of all to its articles. The combination should, if possible, comprehend not only all wholesale dealers, but also, where possible, all commodities. In the cases where it does not include all commodities, free play is allowed for price-cutting, and this tends to loosen the influence of combination where it is supposed to bind. Where all wholesale traders are not included, the capricious methods of those outside of it are a constant temptation to those within to resort to the same tactics, even if they are forbidden. The question of combination will be discussed at the next meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association on Monday evening, when Mr. Adam Ballantyne, of Hamilton, will deliver an address upon the subject.

It is reported that an attempt is to be made to revive the Canadian beet sugar industry by re-opening the Berthier sugar factory which has been so long closed.

The question is now being discussed in Germany, whether it is yet prudent on sanitary grounds to remove the restriction on United States pork.

GROCERIES.

The grocery trade continues fairly active for this season of the year. There is a good many small orders coming in by mail and through travellers ; the wholesale houses are, however, busy on shipments to the North-West and North Lake Ports which are being hurried forward before the close of navigation. Payments continue slow.

CANNED GOODS.

The market generally continues very firm. Packers are making a few sales of new goods and at full prices, but wholesale dealers are buying old goods cheaper on the street, and, consequently, are able to keep up with their orders in this way. The retail demand continues very good for this season of the year. In vegetables tomatoes are selling in a retail way at $1.05 to $1.15 for old, and $1.20 to $1.25, for new. Corn at $1.05 to $1.10 for old, and $1.20 is asked for new. Peas $1.10 to $1.35, and a few small orders are coming in for fruits which rule at unchanged prices

COFFEES.

There is no special feature in the coffee market. There is a fairly good demand for Javas and Rios and sales of lots were made to-day at 19½c. to 21½c. as to quality.

DRIED FRUIT.

The Escalona, the second direct steamer from the Mediterranean, is now on unloading at Montreal and supplies from it are coming forward. The market is generally active with lower prices quoted on several lines. Currants are steady. Old are selling at 4⅜c. to 4½c., while new rule from 5½c. to 6¾c. in barrels, top prices being for Patras. Old dates are enquired for to some extent and the best are selling at 5¾c. Figs are selling freely but increased supplies are selling at lower prices. Fourteen ounce boxes are going at 10c. to 11½c. and 5c. to 10c. per lb. Elemes at 12c. to 12½c. Prunes steady, supplies high and demand fair. Valencia raisins are selling as before at 6¼c. to 6¾c., for off stock lairs at 9¼c. to 9¾c. Some stocks have been made in New York of Valencias for a Canadian market but latest advices from there are steadier. Sultanas are scarce and firm at 8½c. to 10c. as to quality. In Malaga fruit there is very little of anything on the market, excepting London lairs, which are quoted from $3.35 to $3.50.

PEELS.

New Citron has now arrived and is selling at 32c. to 33c. Old is offered at 28c. to 29c. Leghorn and Scotch orange and lemon peel are offered at 16c. and 17c.

SPICES AND RICE.

Spices unchanged. Foreign markets have advanced but no change has been made in prices here. The advance in freights which will shortly take place will advance the price of rice.

SUGARS.

Demand for sugars has been more active this week. On Saturday wholesale prices of white sugar were reduced ⅛c. and granulated is now selling at 7⅝c. for 15 bbls. and 7¾c. for 1 to 15 bbls. There has been a further decline of ⅛c. in New York prices this week, but Canadian refiners are talking firmer and in some cases asking a little more.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is a good demand for syrups and prices are not as firm as they were. D are held at 3¾, B at 4c. and Double Extra at 4⅜c. in bbls. Molasses are moving at 40c. in bbls.

GREEN FRUIT.

Jamaica oranges are $8 to $8.50 per barrel. Florida oranges, coming in pretty plentifully, are $5 to $5.50 per box. Malaga lemons are $3.25 to $4 per box. Palermos, $5 to $7. Fancy Messinas (300 to the box), $6. There are no bananas. Sweet potatoes, on account of cold weather putting an end to shipping, have gone up. They are $4.50 to $5. Malaga grapes are $5.50 and $6.50 per keg, and in the case of heavy-weighted packages. are $7 to $7.50.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES.—For fall use we are nearly out. They have come in in light quantities since the last report, and are worth $1.50 to $2.50 in farmers' wagons. Properly packed fall apples are worth $2.50 to $3.00. Winter apples are not offering either in very numerous receipts or in very large quantities. They bring $2.75 to $3.25, packed ready for shipping.

BEANS.—Trade in this market is never active. This season very few lots have been offered. Both buyers and sellers are dissatisfied with present prices, the former considering them too high, the latter too low. Both are therefore waiting for a change to their respective advantage. All transactions are consequently of the hand to mouth sort. Beans are now $1.60 to $1.85.

DRIED APPLES.—Enquiries from all parts but few sales. Prices from 5½ to 6½c. There appear to be lots of old ones, held by speculators for better prices, which the short apple crop leads holders to look for.

EGGS.—Limed, 16 to 17c.; fresh, 19 to 21c.; new-laid, in small lots, 22c. There is no doubt that the high prices eggs have reached have caused a much more confined demand than that which is actlve at moderate prices. This confined demand is now very well supplied, but not so well as to lower prices and increase the area of consumption.

EVAPORATED APPLES.—There is a variety of prices, according to the whim of the holder. Some packers offer at 7c. to 8c., other at 8c. to 9c., others at 9c. to 10c. Both old and new stocks are artificially kept at stiff prices. The market is now good, but packers hold, as they did two years ago. They appear to look, not for an extra paying profit, but for all they can get, and their aim appears to be to get the whole breadth of margin that is supposed to be divided between them and their wholesale customers. Their aims are exorbitant. They are virtually cornering the evaporated apples of the country, and if they are not careful they will throw consumers upen sun-dried apples, canned fruit, etc. They will thus carry over to next year large stocks, when a good apple crop may be expected. The reason for this expectation is the fact that the trees have this year rested, and that the frost, which cut short their fruit, killed the apple worm in the pupa stage, so that the offspring of last year's parasite will not be on hand to do mischief next year.

GAME—Prices do not differ from last week's quotations. The supply is still liberal, and finds ready consumption. Partridges, 45c. to 60c. per brace. Black and mallard duck, 70c. to 75c. per brace. Wood-ducks, pintails, and butter-balls, 40c. to 45c. per brace. Teal, 20c. per brace. Pigeons, 20c. to 25c. per brace. Venison, 6c. per lb. in the carcass, and 11c. for saddle and haunches.

HAY—No. 1, pressed, is worth $11 to $11.50 on track. No. 2, is $9 to $9.50 on track. Loose on the street, No. 1 brings $13 to $14. No. 2 on street, $10 to $11.50. Deliveries are pretty large and frequent.

HIDES—The hide and leather market is dull, duller than it has been known to be for years. Green hides have fallen from $4.75 to $4.50 for No. 1. Cured are hard to get, but a car is just sold at 5⅛c.

HONEY—The briskness of the demand and the liberality of the supply pretty well balance each other, and keep prices stationary. Last week's quotations still hold. Clear honey in large quantities is 10c. to 12½c. according to quality ; in smaller quantities, 12c. to 13c. In the comb, the best sells at 20c. In small quantities, it ranges from 22c. down to 16c., according to quality.

HOPS—8c. to 12c. for old ; 12½c. to 18c. for new. Brewers appear to be buying with less reserve.

OATS—Are worth 30c. to 32on the track, 33c. in small lots. There is a free supply at these figures.

ONIONS—$1.75 to $2. The market is neither brisk nor dull. Car lots bring $1.60.

POTATOES—Car lots go from 50 to 55c. per bag. Small quantities are sold at 60c. a bag. So far, there does not appear to be any shortness in the supply, while all that come find a ready market.

POULTRY—The approach of Thanksgiving day imparts a lively activity to the poultry-trade, and an extra impulse to prices. Geese are 6½ to 7c. per lb. Turkeys, 11 to 13c. per lb. Ducks and chickens, 60 to 80c. per pair. The farmers are stocking the market very liberally.

STRAW—For wheat straw no demand has yet made a market. It may be quoted at $6. Oat straw on the track is $7 per ton ; loose, $8 ; in the sheaf, $10 to $11.

SKINS—No. 1 calf, 5c. ; No. 2, 6c. Fresh sheepskins are firm at 90c. and in some cases bring 95c.

TALLOW—Is not yet plentiful. The rough is worth 1¾ to 2c. per lb. The rendered, 5 to 5½c.

WOOL—In the fleece, is worth 20c. per lb. Pulled, it brings for lowest, 23c. super 24c. extra-super, 28c.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear, 8¼c. to 8¾c. Breakfast, 10c. to 13c. Roll, 9½c. to 10c. The long clear is still scarce.

DRESSED HOGS—Are easier on account of the steady supply and the open weather. On Tuesday the receipts were numerous, although the day before was quiet. Prices are $6 to $6.25 for rail lots, and $6.50 on the street.

HAMS—Green are still scarce. They are worth 12c. per lb.; and smoked, 12½ to 13c.

LARD—Canadian is worth 9c. to 9½c. American, 8¾c. to 9¼c.

MESS PORK—American is $14. Canadian cuts are $15.50.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—All transactions are now limited to butter that can be pronounced "good," in some of the degrees of that term. All butter below this assortment is neglected. This is one of the signs that enough of the good is now made to fill the demand for butter. So much is the quantity of good butter increasing that buyers are shy of store-pack, unless it is No. 1 in its class. The abundance of good dairy-packed, and of large dairy rolls, continues to relieve the strain upon creamery-packed. Prices are pretty much what they were last week, with the exception that the lowest point in this week's quotation for creamery-pack is a little farther down the scale. Creamery-packed is 19 to 24. Good dairy-packed 16 to 18. Store-packed, 10 to 13. Large rolls, 16 to 17. Pound rolls, 20 to 23. The low grades do not sell at all.

CHEESE.—10½ to 11c., the latter price for the very finest. In the country, makers ask 1c. more. Even if the October make were now in the hands of the wholesale buyers, it would not be put on the market, as it is usually kept by them, along with the September make, for spring selling. It is then supposed to have acquired its finest flavor and eating qualities.

TEA.

There is no new feature to report this week. The market remains steady, and though the demand is light there has been a hardening tendency for the lower grades of Japan and Young Hysons and the latter are becoming exceedingly scarce. Transactions have been small. Trade from the country on travellers' orders continues very fair. The New York market remains unchanged with the exception of a slight easing off of prices at last auction sale. Last advices from Japan report active markets and prices fiully maintained. Stocks in natives' hands are much reduced and holders are very firm.

DRY GOODS.

The stacks of imported goods now in Canada are selling much cheaper than the same lines can now be bought for in Britain. The British markets show extraordinary firmness, as might be looked for from the wayward movement of iron, which, more than any other commodity, may be taken as the barometer of general trade. British houses are afraid to guarantee delivery, as the present tension is not expected to relax for a twelvemonth. Textile fabrics of all kinds, but particularly woollens, are in the same firm condition. Bradford goods are virtually on the jump. Years ago, Bradford was the centre of the lustre and mohair manufactory. French goods took the place of those alpaca goods, and the industries of Bradford wasted away. Now, however, a return to alpaca goods, so widespread and sudden, has brought up the prices of the Bradford fabrics in bounds. Woollen and alpaca goods are from 10 to 20 per cent. dearer now than they were a week ago.

There is nothing in the condition of the cotton manufacture to favor the expectation that the present firmness in prices will abate.

Trade is fairly good. Monday last was the trying 4th of November, and money is reported to have flowed in much more freely than it did at the same date last year.

HARDWARE.

The uncompromising attitude of iron has maintained the stiffness in hardware stock that we noted in our two last reports. Everything is going up, in no class of metals is there any exception. Buyers complain that March deliveries are refused, even at the present vigorous prices. There is no sign of easier pr ces in the raw material, nor of a pause in its upward course.

FISH.

The few salmon that can now be bought fresh are worth 16c. Whitefish have ceased to run. Salmon trout is scarce at 6c. Blue back herring is $2 per hundred, by number. The scarcity of other fish always increases the price of the fresh water herring, inasmuch as it throws consumption more largely upon them. Pike and pickerel are becoming slightly more plentiful at 6c. per lb. Labrador herring are worth $5.50 to $6 per barrel; per half-barrel, $3 to $3.25. Shore herring $5 per barrel, and $2.50 to $3 per half-barrel. No. 1 codfish, green, 7c.; No. 2, 5c. Haddock, No. 1, green, 6c.; No. 2, 5c. Boneless cod, 6½c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; and in 1-lb. rolls, 8c. per lb. Other boneless fish are 4½c. to 5c. per lb.

CRANBERRIES.

Cape Cod fruit is $9 in barrels, and $3 in boxes.

MONTREAL, NOV. 7TH, 1889.

GROCERIES.

There has been a good steady distribution throughout the grocery trade, and although there has been no excitement in any division, there has been a healthy movement which has been of a satisfactory character throughout. Payments have been well provided for, and as a rule few complaints on that score are heard of.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has been rather more active, but in the main has ruled practically unchanged, although demand has improved somewhat, and refiners are now talking more firmly. The factory price for granulated is 7¼c., which it is claimed would not be shaded now. The guild price is 7½c., with powdered at 7⅝c., and Paris lumps at 8c. Yellows range from 5¼c. to 6⅝c., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The market for molasses has averaged easier, but of la e a somewhat steadier tone has developed. A round lot of 1,200 tierces, Barbadoes, sold at 43c. during the week, but now holders ask 44c., with jobbing parcels quoted higher. Antigua and Trinidad are quoted at 43c. for small parcels, there being little stock of such here.

CANNED GOODS.

The feature in the fish canned goods market has been the advance in lobsters, which have ruled strong and higher, being now held at $6.60 to $6.75. Salmon are steady at $6.60 per case, and mackerel at $5.80. In vegetables corn has sold as low as $1 per dozen in order to close out stocks, but of course some holders cl im that that figure is below the market, and quote up to $1.12½. The combination prices seem to have little effect so far on this market.

TEA.

The tea market has continued firm. Trade has been fairly active with the market in good shape, especially on low grades which are very scarce; in fact there are none obtainable here, and 15c. is now marked as the inside for the commonest grades. Better class stock is comparatively plentiful, and consequently not so firm as low grade, in fact anything over 20c. is no more than steady. Private New York advices report that market strong for low grades with buyers paying 15c. to 15½c. freely.

FRUIT.

The trade sale of lemons yesterday resulted in fair prices, although lower than formerly, bringing from 75c. to $5.50 per box as to quality and condition. The open market has had an easier tone and may be quoted at $2.50 to $3.50 per box. Almeria grapes have advanced a trifle with demand good at $4.75 to $5 per brl. Jamaica oranges lower at $6.50 to $7.50 per brl. and $4.50 per box. Apples have been in good demand and firm. For shipment $3 per brl. has been paid, and best Famuese for local trade realize $5.50. Dates have sold at 5c., and the first of the new crop is expected in two weeks. Evaporated apples 10c., dried do. 6½c. Figs 11c. to 12½c. for large boxes and 10c. for small. Walnuts and filberts are unchanged. Spanish onions steady at 75c. per crate. Native onions $2.50 per brl. Cape Cod cranberries lower at $7.50 to $8.50 per brl.

FISH.

In fish the only event of moment during the week has been the strength in green cod, which has ruled higher under a good demand and light stocks, in fact the stock at this date is very limited and does not foot up more than one-tenth of the quantity at this date last year. No. 1 quoted at $5, and No. 2 at $4. In other fish there has been a fair trade at steady prices. Labrador herrings $4.30 to $4.50, Cape Breton $5.50. No. 1 Labrador salmon $22 per tierce and $16 per brl. British Columbia salmon $12 per brl. Red Sea trout $9.50 per brl. Dry cod $4.75. Malpecque oysters, hand picked, $4, unpicked $3, Caraquets $2.50. Lock Fyne herring $1.95 per ket of 28lbs.

POTATOES.

There has been a good steady trade in potatoes. Best varieties have been dealt in at 70c. per bag, at which figure the market closes.

The grocers of New York have subscribed $30,000 to the guarantee and the preliminary expense funds which are being raised to attract the World's Fair to that city in 1892.

CUSTOMS DECISIONS.

The following decisions were rendered by the Board of Customs during September and October:

Condensed milk, sweetened, a cent and a quarter per lb- and 35 per cent.
Condensed milk, unsweetened, 20 per cent.
Murray's fluid magnesia, 50 per cent.
Fusil oil, $1.90 per imperial gallon.
Ground turmeric, 20 per cent.
Sulphate of sodium, 20 per cent.
Jellyine, a preparation of corn starch, sugar, etc., a cent and a quarter per lb. and 35 per cent.
Rhubarb plants (roots), 20 per cent.

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by
The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.
Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year. This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

There were thirty-five failures in Canada reported to "Bradstreet's" during the past week, against twenty-six in the preceding week, and fifty, twenty-three and twenty in the corresponding weeks of 1888, 1887 and 1886, respectively. In the United States there were two hundred and fifty-one failures reported to "Bradstreet's" during the week, as compared with one hundred and ninety in the preceding week, and with two hundred and twenty, two hundred and seven and two hundred and thirteen, respectively, in the corresponding weeks of 1888, 1887 and 1886. The total number of failures in Canada reported to "Bradstreet's" from January 1st, 1889, to November 2nd, 1889, was one thousand three hundred and twenty-eight, against one thousand four hundred and sixty, one thousand and seventy-five and one thousand and eleven for corresponding periods in 1888, 1887 and 1886, respectively. In the United States there were reported for a similar period, nine thousand three hundred and eighty-three in 1889, eight thousand two hundred and ninety-four in 1888, seven thousand nine hundred and twenty-five in 1887, and eight thousand five hunnred and twenty-five in 1886.

PREPARED PRUNES.

Turkish prunes exported from Trieste, always competed keenly with the French plum (prunes d'eute), and, by reason of their so much lower price, with great success; while their great superiority over the French prune (prunes communes) has practically put the latter out of the market. The objection to Turkish prunes, in former years, was this:—As the fruit aged it lost its bright appearance, becoming thereby less attractive to the consumers. To overcome this objection, the well-known prune exporter, Solomon Kabiglio, Trieste, in the year 1888, commenced a series of experiments to discover a mode of preparation that would completely preserve the original freshness of the fruit.

The "Atlas prepared Sultana prunes" are the result of Mr. Kabiglio's persevering enterprise; and the immense sales throughout all America as well as the United Kingdom, are the best confirmation of his success. Of course there are already many imitations of the "Atlas" in the market, but the combined output of these does not equal that of the "Atlas" alone.

"Pluck wins! It always wins,
Though days be slow
And nights be dark 'twixt days that come and go.
Still pluck will win. Its average is sure.
He gains the prize who can the most endure.
Who faces issues, he who never shirks.
Who waits, and watches, and who always works."

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday s yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

THE TOBACCO REGULATIONS.

The latest rules governing the sale of tobacco are, we presume, to be found in the last edition of the Orders in Council, of the Inland Revenue Department. We have examined the "Tobacco Regulations" as they are presented in an edition of that volume bearing this year's date, which we suppose is the last.

In section 65, we find that the responsibility of stamping packages released from a bonding warehouse, remains with the owner of the warehouse; although the officer delivering the tobacco is expected to aid in the attaching and cancelling of stamps where this can be done at once. Section 66 implicitly makes the owner of the warehouse responsible for cancelling, inasmuch as it provides that he shall be supplied with a die for this purpose. These rules, attaching responsibility to wholesale ex-warehousers, are made by the Department, and its officials are always present at the right time and place to see, if they wish, that the packages are properly stamped and cancelled by the persons to whom Regulations 65 and 66 point. Let us see how this responsibility is brought home to those said to be the bearers of it.

A box of tobacco was found unstamped in the possession of Chidley, Shaw & Co., retail grocers, on upper Yonge Street. If the package had ever borne a stamp, a fragment of it should have been found in the wood at the end of the required perforation to cancel the stamp. There was no perforation. But the owners of the tobacco produced the invoice of its sale to them, and showed the reference in it to the official number on the package. This should facilitate the tracing of the responsibility to the ex-warehousing wholesalers upon whom it rested, according to Section 65 and Section 66. Further, that wholesale firm came forward, and made itself known, to offer sworn testimony that the duty had been paid. With all this satisfactory evidence of who was the ex-warehouser, no proceedings were taken against the wholesale firm. The majesty of the Regulations was vindicated by the seizure of the tobacco from the retail possessor of it.

Again, by Section 133, the retail sale of tobacco is directed to be from the stamped packages in which it has been sent from the factory. Violations of Section 133 were visited on the small traders; even to the extent of seizing sample plugs exhibited in the window, plugs which, in some cases, had been many years so exposed. But the wholesale men found no risk in removing plugs from the stamped packages and placing them in sample cases. Those detached plugs were never disturbed by Inland Revenue officers.

But this same section 133 had other limits. An attempt was made to go the length of making jobbers come under its operation; but the attempt was followed by the revoking of the section so far as jobbers were concerned. The retailer could be punished for having the detached tobacco, but not the jobber.

We have shown that the ex-warehousing wholesaleman is declared to be responsible for stamping; but when he comes forward and makes himself known, that he is not proceeded against, that the detaching of tobacco for show purposes is held to be illegal; but when the wholesale man does it he is not meddled with; that the selling of broken lots not in stamped cases is regarded as unlawful, but that the jobber may do it with impunity. In every one of these cases punishment is meted out, but it is upon the small retailer.

This is the discriminating way in which the Tobacco Regulations are enforced—with the utmost rigor towards the small dealer, and with the most tender lenity toward the large one. Leaving out of consideration the vexatious nature of the Regulations, the manner of their administration is scandalous: with timidity on the one hand, and oppression on the other. If the Department is afraid to come into collision with men who can make a stand against its Regulations, why does it not entirely drop the clauses which are untenable in the face of strong opposition. Its present course is provoking from all quarters ridicule on account of its weakness and resentment on account of its injustice.

CHANCES ON BUTTER.

In our artlcle of the 18th inst. under the above heading, we enumerated the different reasons why the country merchant should, with as little delay as possible, get the article onto the market. We have not changed our opinion in this respect; but since then we have devoted considerable attention by way of enquiries, etc., regarding what we then wrote, and have found the more we enquire and think about it, we sympathise more strongly with the country merchant, who through necessity is compelled to handle that article of produce from a very dependent standpoint or find the volume of his trade somewhat curtailed. We say a dependent standpoint, because if an individual who is otherwise a good cash customer, offers to sell him a pail of butter of a very medium quality, he may think a good deal about it, but in nine cases out of a dozen will refrain from expressing his opinion. The reason at a glance is perceptible. We leave the readers of the GROCER to think over the remedy. In small country towns, to a greater or less extent, a uniform price in goods is paid for butter, and in all probability the outside price that can be obtained in the market for it. A uniform price in goods simply means a large percentage of medium quality, or of such a class as our markets here and elsewhere are overstocked with, and for which no buyers can be found. Whereas, on the other hand, for good butter the demand is extremely active at fair remunerative prices. Our remarks on this point apply more particularly to western butter, because the quotations of western are always lower than either Townships or Morrisburg. From the fact that they are so appears as a valid reason on the face of it that they should be so, but at the same time there is no reason, why, in the near future, western should not rate as high as either of the two sections mentioned. We have ample evidence daily before us to prove that there is as good western butter to be found in the markets of this city as is to be found in the markets of any country; and while such is the case it is to be regretted that the percentage of it is not nearly as great as it might and ought to be. Then butter buyers, why not press more strongly upon your customers the necessity of making a first class article, which would be entitled to a first class price? We are credibly informed that round lots in the country are changing hands at thirteen cents, and while this is being done eighteen to nineteen cents is readily paid here for good butter, and as high as twenty-three cents for fancy. Several years ago the position of the Normandy butter was largely similar to that of western of to-day, the larger percentage being medium quality, for which they received prices in the English markets that were not satisfactory or remunerative when compared with the prices paid for Danish and Norwegian. They resolved on making a bold push to improve the quality, and they did improve the quality to such an extent that the Normandy butter now brings as high a price as either the Danish or Norwegian in the leading markets of the world, and even a much higher price than Canadian creamery. Country merchants as a rule pay particular attention to the cellars being kept clean and well aired, and if the bulk of the butter came into their hands first-class it would remain first-class until finally disposed of. But when they buy butter of a medium or inferior quality, there is the steady process of deterioration going on, that if held long by them will be almost unsaleable by the time it finds its way to market. Very many merchants, from their situation, cannot be expected to ship their butter daily, or even weekly, to market during the summer months; but at this season of the year there is no excuse for them. The weather being so fine and cool there can be no difficulty in shipping, and the sooner it is shipped the sooner it will be realized upon, and the proceeds turned to good advantage in other ways. In fact the policy of every merchant who handles butter should be, as soon as he can realize cost out of it, to keep pushing it off, and if there is to be speculation in it, let that be done by those who make the handling of butter their business. Judging from the quantity of medium and inferior butter in this market, we would recommend our patrons who purchase from the farmers at a uniform price, that it would be well for them to abolish that mode of doing business, and in the future to buy butter upon its merits, giving as good a price as the market will warrant for a good article, and pay a very medium price for a medium quality, showing at the same time how the make of the medium quality, by the aid of a little more care and attention to the general rules of dairying, could make their butter first-class, which would entitle them to get a first-class price for it. With regard to the other quality known by the name of inferior and off-flavour, give it a wide berth; your goods are better on your shelves than bartered off for any such stuff, as if you do buy it, it is next to a heartbreak to you to get clear of it, and there is no money in it whatever way you handle it.

ADULTERATED COFFEES, SPICES, ETC.

There are two motives to adulteration: one is to cheapen the price, the other is to improve the article. When the latter is the object, the price of the compound is often greater than that of the pure commodity. But the mixture is justified by the taste of consumers, who find the pure article sometimes too flat, sometimes too pungent, or otherwise less agreeable in flavor than the product of a particular mode of adultering. In such cases the established compound becomes the standard. This appears to be true of mustard. It is considered necessary to subdue the strength of good natural mustard to obtain a desirable mustard of commerce. For this purpose it is diluted with some neutral substance, such as flour. Another sort of adulteration aims to make old, debilitated mustard, or inferior, fresh mustard as good as the best. Cayenne pepper readily blends with the color of the half-bodied article, and the compound sells very well.

Coffee is an article that a great many people prefer to have adulterated, and chickory is freely mixed with it. Too much, of course, deteriorates it, even for those who like some chickory in their coffee. In the case of the coffee-bean being counterfeited by some similar cereal, which is mixed along with the true coffee-bean in the unground state, it is impossible to say what degree of worthlessness may be sold as coffee. In these days there is less chance than there was a few years ago to degrade coffee, as most of it is now sold in the whole state to the grocers, and in that state it is not so easily adulterated. But the trick of "blending," which the tea-pedlars profitably developed in their line, has not a little to do with the present depreciated character of coffee. A really good coffee is mixed with inferior coffee, and the mixture is too often sold as the really good. Of course, the grocer must examine the label as on that the Inland Revenue Act requires the words "pure" or "componnd" to be printed, according as the article is unmixed or adulterated.

Cocoa and chocolate, however, do not seem to be included in the collection of articles that the Inland Revenue Act applies to. Chocolate is in its nature a mixture, its components being cocoa and sugar. But there are good and bad classes of cocoa and chocolate, and the retailer must use judgment in buying them as well as in buying goods covered by the Inland Revenue Act.

Adulterated food-constituents are no doubt oftener to be denounced because they fall short of the purpose for which they were bought, than because they are injurious to health. It often happens, though, that both effects are the result of adulteration. Cream of tartar may injure nobody, but at the same time it will but little benefit anybody if it is freely reduced with flour or corn starch; or, if mostly made up of corn starch, its strength is brought up with tartaric acid. The gritty friction of pure cream of tartar between the fingers, however, is not to be mistaken for the feeling of the smooth, yielding mass of a compound that is mostly corn starch.

The vanilla bean is often rendered harmless and also useless. In no other country is this bean produced in such perfection as in Mexico. Consequently there are vanilla beans of many varieties below the Mexican. But machinery has been invented by means of which a press-screw extracts all the essence from the bean. Italian olive oil is then used to restore the crystal, and the sapped, veneered bean is sold as the article of commerce. Confectioners have been known to buy this "wooden nutmeg" product, and to be so careless as not to perceive that it was a pure nullity. Also the Tonka bean is used for the vanilla bean.

Chewing gum is approved as a promoter of digestion, in that it stimulates the amount of secretion in the salivary glands, and thus indirectly hastens the assimilation of our food. But chewing gum, unless good, is likely to do harm in other respects to balance this benefit. The various resins, paraffine wax, and sapolia, of which it is made, are not always wholesome.

In the term "pure white pepper," the epithet "white" is a misnomer. The pure pepper, called "white," is not white in color. It is grey. The pepper that is white in color is not pure, and the whiter it is the more adulterated it is. It is reduced with corn starch, and yet buyers are apt to take the degree of its whiteness as the test of its purity. Again we add, note the maker's name on the goods, and learn to discriminate between those makers who have given good value and those who have not. Also, observe if marked "pure" or "compound."

An enterprising firm has offered the British Government $125,000 a year for the privilege of placing a soap and pill advertisement on the postage stamps, the advertisement to be put on at the time the canceling is done and by the same machine.

MESSRS. H. A. NELSON & SONS.

The baby-carriage and express-waggon factory on 1012 Yonge Street, Toronto, run under the name of the Canada Manufacturing Co., has changed hands. The former proprietors, Messrs. H. A. Nelson & Sons, have sold it to the Rennie Manufacturing Co. It is this transaction, we presume, that has given rise to the report that Messrs. H. A. Nelson & Sons are going out of business. The rumor is entirely groundless. That firm is simply concentrating all its attention upon its well-established business in fancy goods, ornaments, etc., which it hopes long to continue at its old stand on Front Street.

YOU TICKLE ME, I'LL TICKLE YOU.

In a certain Western town where there were eight or ten dry goods merchants that did a more or less good business, a sharp trick of trade was carried out some time ago. Two of the merchants were firm friends, and often came to New York together. One of them had an opportunity to buy a job in cheap hose; the quantity was too large for him alone to purchase, so he spoke to his friend about it and they agreed to take the lot and divide it, each having one half.

After getting the goods home, even the half looked very large, and at the ordinary price they would stay on the shelves a long time. The two merchant friends got their heads together with the following result: One man sent out a number of circulars and advertised in the local paper—a big drive in hose—fifteen cents a pair, two pairs for a quarter. A number of people responded, and the goods began to move. Next day the supposed business rival advertised the same hose at twelve cents a pair, two for twenty cents. The first man responded with a lower cut, and so the fight went on until the hose was selling for five cents in one store, and four cents in the other. The women of the place fought to get to the counter where the goods were stored, and it did not take long for the big job to melt away. Both merchants made a good profit on the first sales, and got cost for the last lots, besides getting an amount of advertising the effect of which will long be felt.—Economist.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

The regular monthly meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association was held in Shaftesbury Hall on Monday evening. President Berwick was in the chair, and there were also present Secretary J. F. Thackray, Messrs. R. Mills, Gibson, Tolchard, Williamson, McCulloch, Johnson, Westren, McMillan, W. F. Britton, Butcher, Barron, Sykes, Clark, Lindsay, Saunders, Miller, Kressweller, Frank Britton, Parkhill, Wilson and Mara.

President welcomed Mr. Ballantyne, of Hamilton, to the meeting, and asked him to consider himself a member for the time being. Mr. Ballantyne acknowledged the honor.

Mr. J. A. Mullins was proposed as a member of the Association by Mr. D. W. Clark, and he was elected.

Communications were read from Mayor Clarke expressing a hope that the market by-law would be put through at an early date. From Mr. Boustead regarding the leasehold of Philharmonic Hall, saying that no further claim would be made on the Association for rent. From Walter Stark regretting that Mr. Lever, of the Sunlight Soap Co., who was here a few days ago, was unable to meet the members of the Association. They were rearranging their terms, making them more advantageous to the retail trade. He urged them not to cut prices.

From the Secretary of the Kingston Grocers' Association, saying that they had not been successful in their efforts to have a picnic or excursion. The Association had done a great deal of good since its establishment. The printed dead beat list had saved the members thousands of dollars. The cards pointing out that no presents would be given at Christmas, had also been a great saving.

Again, the appeal to the wholesale trade to desist selling to consumers, had done much towards increasing our cash account.

From a gentleman, who offered to get up a dead beat list for the use of the members of the Association for $5 per annum and a commission for collecting.

Mr. Gibson presented the report of the Picnic Committee, which showed a very satisfactory balance. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Gibson and his Committee, for the way in which he worked. He was instructed to deposit the amount with Treasurer Williamson.

Mr. Adam Ballantyne, of Hamilton, made a few remarks on combines. He said the Grocers' combine was very unfair to the retail trade. The sugar question was one of the worst things they had to contend with. The wholesale guild had acted very unfairly. They prevented retailers getting supplies from headquarters. The change in the discount was not just to the retail trade. The latter should be permitted to buy from manufacturers. The wholesale men should assist the retail men in getting their rights, but he found it very difficult to get them to do anything. He referred to the discussion in Hamilton in reference to the necessity for an improvement in the quality of sugars. The guild was cutting out the jobbing trade or the advancing retail men. The latter could not buy any large lots. The policy of the guild was to perpetuate the wholesale trade and keep the retailers from improving their position. He thought the matter should be thoroughly agitated. The question of supply stores was the most important one. They had cases in Hamilton. There would be no trouble under the present combination for a wholesale house to start these supply stores, and there were more of these in Toronto and Hamilton than many in the trade imagined. In concluding he expressed regret that he had not been able to do more for them in Hamilton at the Merchants' Association. He promised to attend the next picnic.

Mr. Mills expressed great pleasure in having listened to Mr. Ballantyne's remarks. The grocers all over the country were beginning to fear that the combine would crush all their hopes and aspirations in business. He would ask the Association to still further consider the matter to see if something could not be done to prevent the further encroachments of this wholesale combine.

Mr. Berwick expressed the thanks of the Association to Mr. Ballantyne.

Mr. Mills referred feelingly to the death of Hon. Mr. Turner, of Hamilton. He had always treated the members of the Toronto Association with the greatest kindness and courtesey. He moved, seconded by Mr. Gibson, the following resolution of condolence:—

"That the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association has learned with regret of the death of Hon. James Turner, of Hamilton, so long one of the leading and most enterprising wholesale grocers of the Dominion, and it desires to record its appreciation of the genial disposition, courtesey, and honorable character of the deceased, and sympathises with his family, friends, and fellow citizens of Hamilton in the great loss sustained in his removal by the hand of death."

Mr. Ballantyne expressed a desire to hear views of the Association on the combines.

Mr. Mills said that he had not seen the effects of the supply stores in the city. He referred to the case of tobacconists who sold at less than the regular trade could and yet made a profit. There were other lines on which they could and would do the same. The regular trade were paying the long price and had to sell at a loss.

Mr. Gibson advised them to put shoulder to the wheel and stick together. They should not buy from any house which has a supply store. With the big margin of profit the wholesale trade now had they could give a greater amount of credit. Ret ilers had no chance nowadays to become a wholesale merchants.

Mr. Barron agreed with everything Mr. Ballantyne said. Under the present system of fixed prices any clod-hopper could do as well as an experienced grocer. He spoke of several houses which had supply stores. He advocated a boycott of those houses which had supply stores

Mr. Butcher was g eatly in favor of the sugar agreement when it first came into force, but he now found that there was not a uniform price. Other houses could buy a single barrel of granulated at less than he paid for fifteen. He was in favor of importing from England. He did not know there were any supply stores in Toronto.

Mr. Gibson said that 75 per cent. of the goods sold over the grocer's counter was under a combination.

For President.—Messrs. Berwick, Barron, Gibson, Frank Britton and Mills.

For Vice-President. Messrs. J. G. Gibson, Frank Britton, Butcher, Saunders.

For Secretary.—J. F. Thackray (unanimously elected).

For Treasurer.—Messrs. Clarke, Williamson, Parkhill.

For Directors.—Messrs. Mills, Westren, Mara, Butcher.

On motion of Mr. Mara, it was decided to send out cards as usual, to be hung in the retail stores of the city, saying that they would not give Christmas presents.

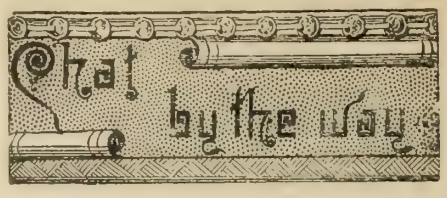
Mr. Saunders was in favor of doing away with the cards, and depending entirely upon newspaper advertisements and reading notices. Mr. Gibson agreed with this, but Frank Britton and Mr. Mara supported the card, as the Association found from experience that the card worked best. Mr. Mills reminded the meeting that newspapers and cards were both used last year.

Mr. Westren wanted to know if a beautiful calendar was not a species of a Christmas present; but other members pointed out that these could not in any way be regarded as a Christmas present, but simply as an advertisement.

A Committee, composed of Messrs. Westren and McMillan, was elected to audit the books of the Association.

Mr. Mara wanted to know when Mr. Butcher was going to invite the Association to the oyster supper, promised at the opening of his new building.

Monday evening, November 11th, Goodwood lost one of its most esteemed citizens Mr. John Shaver. He was a produce merchant and was the first to introduce the cultivation of strawberries and grafting of trees in the neighborhood of Markham, Stouffville, Uxbridge, and his own town.



W. H. Simpson, general store, Tupperville, has sold out.

William Adkins, general store, Smithville, has sold out.

Joshua Sisler, general storekeeper, Springfield, has moved to Aylmer.

Vermette & Masse, grocers, Montreal, have dissolved.

G. A. Smith, of Birnam, has opened a grocery store in Warwick Village.

D. McIntosh, general storekeeper, Cold Springs, has sold out.

J. W. Langman & Co., general storekeepers, Alliston, have sold out.

Bryant, Gibson & Co. report trade in their line brisk.

Messrs. Tighe & Stringer shipped fifteen carloads of apples from Blenheim, via the E. & H., last week, about 3,000 barrels in all.

Mr. A. E. Munson has opened a grocery business in connection with his drug store, at Shoal Lake, Man.

Mr. R. P. Scidmore & Son, general merchants, Springford, are enlarging their store, and putting in a brick basement.

Unionville merchants paid 20c. for butter and eggs last Monday. The supply is running short.

Mr. Wm. Hersee, a farmer resident of Norwich, has returned to that village and has opened up a new grocery store there.

Mr. J. F. Gibson, writing from Collingwood, says: "I find THE GROCER well circulated and everywhere it is well spoken of."

T. F. Ellis, grocery and dry goods, West Lorne, is closing up business and moving stock to Niagara.

Mrs. M. A. Rowed who has been keeping a grocery store in Blyth, for the past year, intends removing her goods to Auburn shortly.

Alex. Munroe, grocer, Brandon, is dead. He succumbed to a severe attack of typhoid fever. The deceased was a brother of Geo. H. Munroe, liquor merchant, Brandon.

The grocery store of Mr. Jas. Harrison, St. Mary's, was entered on Thursday night, of last week, and a quantity of candy and his stock of chewing tobacco carried off.

Jas. Powell, of Pike's seed store, left Woodstock on Monday afternoon, for England, per C.P.R. and Allan line. He will remain there about two months.

Mr. Henry Foote, who formerly conducted a large confectionery business on Princess street, Kingston, where he resided until burnt out in 1876, died in Albany, N.Y., on last Saturday.

The Hamilton Commercial Travellers' Association met at the Royal hotel on Saturday evening and decided upon having the annual ball on the night of Friday, December 27, in the armory. E. A. Dalley and W. G. Reid were elected first vice-presidents for 1890.

The St. John, N B., board of trade is discussing the question of buying local assessment on goods consigned to St. John for sales by auction. It is said that $30,000 worth of jewellery and plate and wares of that class were disposed of in one week's sale by auction.

Chatworthy & Co., manufacturers' agents, 34 Church Street, Toronto, have received another large shipment of 296 casks of Sutton & Co's pickles and sauces. These goods have had an immense run since put on the market, and Messrs. Chatworthy & Co. have all they can do to fill orders.

Mr. John Tyo is a well-to-do general merchant of Dundee, Que., and quite recently moved into a store which was well stocked with goods. The other morning it was found that the shop had been broken into, the safe blown open and money to the amount of $370, nine gold and silver watches and $150 worth of small jewellery carried off.

There have been magnificent catches of mackerel along the shore of Halifax County, N. S., for the past two days. Over two thousand barrels have been captured. They were the largest and finest mackerel ever seen in Halifax market and are "worth their weight in gold." One thousand barrels of these fish were shipped to Boston on the Carrol on Saturday. They were worth $15,000.

A warrant was sworn out on Monday by Patrick Doyle and placed in Detective Watson's hands for execution, charging Fred Matthew's, a local thief who has served a term at Kingston, with burglarizing Clark's grocery store, corner Princess and King streets, Toronto. Watson spent the greater part of the afternoon tracing his man up and at last arrested him in company with another tough.

Some years ago Thomas E. Grindon, a somewhat eccentric character, but a successful business man, was in the grocery and liquor trade in St. John, N. B. He closed up his business and went to England, taking with him, it is said, about $100,000, which fortune he is understood to have greatly increased since by speculation in stocks. He died recently in Bristol from a pistol shot fired by himself, but whether accidently or not is disputed.

Mr. John Gray, for the last 17 years manager of the Edwardsburg Starch Company works, at Cardinal, and Archibold Hutchinson, western representative for about the same time, and others are applying for a charter with power to manufacture starch, glucose, etc., with works located at Port Credit. The successful experience which the above named gentlemen carry with them ensures bright prospects for the future of this company.

Chief McCarthy, of Stratford, went to Sarnia on Tuesday, with a warrant for the apprehension of John Smith, Thomas Nolan and Joseph Richardson, charged with stealing clothes from Mr. Krahling's store. The parties were, however, tried by the Mayor of Sarnia on Wednesday morning, for the burglarizing of the general store of Ironsides & Macdonald, at Schaw, in Wellington county, and robbing the post office there. They were all committed for trial, and the chief had to return without them.

At the annual preparatory meeting of the Dominion Commercial Travellers' Association, held in Montreal on Saturday, the following gentlemen were put in nomination for the coming elections: For president, Col. O. P. Patton, W. Percival and G. Piche; for vice-president, Fred Hughes and C. Hutchison. Mr. R. B. Hutchison being nominated for treasurer, and there being no other candidates, he was consequently elected. The annual dinner of the Association will be held on the 23rd instant.

Butter, which is almost indispensable nowadays, was almost unknown to the ancients. Herodotus is the earliest writer to mention it. The Spartans used butter, but as an ointment, and Plutarch tells how the wife of Deiotorous once received a visit from a Spartan lady whose presence was intolerable because she was smeared with butter. The Greeks learned of butter from the Scythians and the Germans showed the Romans how it was made. The Romans, however, did not use it for food, but for annointing their bodies.—U. S. Grocer.

A meeting of the creditors of Brown, Balfour & Co., wholesale grocers, Hamilton, was held Friday. A full representation of the creditors was in attendance. The wholesale houses of Montreal and Toronto interested were represented by their agents. Among those present were Messrs. Kinloch, of Montreal; D. Newton, agent of the Canada Sugar Refining Company, and J. Morrison, local manager of the Bank of British North America. An offer of settlement at 33⅓ cents on the dollar, at three, six and nine months, was made by the firm and unanimously accepted by the meeting, provided it is secured.

Saccharine, which is three hundred times sweeter than sugar, is beginning to be felt by the beet sugar manufacturers as a very dangerous enemy. It is stated that in Germany, already, so much saccharine has been made as to render 5,000 tons of beet sugar superfluous. It is principally employed in the preparation of fruits and the production of sweet liquors. It is not a food stuff. Indeed, it has been condemned by eminent medical authorities as directly prejudicial to health. The sugar manufacturers are of the opinion that saccharine should only be sold by chemists. France, Italy, and Portugal are already contemplating imposing a tax upon it.

A question that the Hamilton Board of Trade will probably take up soon is the obtaining of a single fare on the railways on one day in the week for purchasers coming into Hamilton, the same as it is proposed in regard to Toronto. Secretary Smith said to a Herald reporter that the question ought to be taken up by the merchants and ventilated in the press. It would tend to bring new business to the city. People who have to make their purchases in the smaller towns and villages would come to Hamilton, where they can buy cheaper and get a better selection of articles. It is a question that will be highly popular with the merchants of the city, and if pressure is brought to bear on the Grand Trunk, that railway may see it is in their interests to reduce their fares to intending purchasers one day in the week.—Herald.

THE LAW OF GRAVITY IN THE MANUFACTURING BUSINESS.

It is now recognized in New England that there is really such a law, and that it has a tremendous force and never fails to be executed. Mechanics and capitalists are equally concerned to know what is the scope and meaning of this law, and then to study carefully its relation practically to their business as craftsmen or as employers or masters. In New England it is rapidly beginning to be felt that the manufacture of cotton goods must eventually be carried on near the place of production, and hence a general rule is being formulated that in the near future raw materials must be manufactured near the place of production, if any money is to be made in the operation. Already an edge tool manufacturing company in Maine has begun the erection of a branch factory in the metal region of the South, and this is by no manner of means an isolated instance.

Year by year the competition in business is becoming more and more serious, and common prudence seems to demand that a very thorough study of the situation should be made. If the cotton manufacture shall in the next twenty-five years center chiefly in the South, or the metal manufacture nearer the source of supply, and otherwise the factory approach the place where raw materials are produced or found, it by no means follows that the North may not have some equivalent to take the place of cotton, or New England some factories to work other productions than iron. The genius and skill of our inventors and artizans will rapidly find out the best industries and manufactures for any given locality, and so the real balance will be properly kept, while the prime cost of production will be lessened. The warning has been plainly heard all along the line, and capitalists will study the situation more carefully than ever, and discriminate with greater closeness before selecting the particular direction in which to spend time and money.—The World's Progress.

WHAT SELLS GOODS.

In the long run, nothing is more effective in gaining and retaining the patronage of customers than the selling of honest goods at reasonable prices. We know that customers continually call for cheap goods, and that the general storekeeper, so far as he is able, endeavors to cater to this demand. We think, however, it is short-sighted policy to conduct his business upon this basis. He may be able to supply the cheap goods, but they rarely give satisfaction to customers. It is better to educate his customers up to the appreciation of goods of a sterling character, and to sell goods of this kind to them at a reasonable profit, for no merchant can be expected to do business for the mere pleasure of being occupied. The most successful storekeepers in Chicago are those who not only ask, but receive high prices for the commodities in which they deal. The secret of their success lies in the fact that their goods rarely fail to give perfect satisfaction, and that if not found exactly as represented they willingly exchange, or the money which was paid for them is refunded. Communities soon learn this of a merchant; they are willing to pay a good price for an article if they feel confident that the value is in it; they have confidence in the dealer; they believe his assertions and they like to trade with him because they know his statements are reliable and that they are not going to be cheated, and when they go home they will find the goods of a sterling character and not be vexed and put in ill-humor by the discovery that what they supposed to be all wool and a yard wide is part cotton and short both ways. It may almost invariably be taken for granted that when goods are offered at prices below the market value something is wrong with them, or that they are offered as a bait to customers to invest heavily in some other commodity of an inferior character.

People cannot expect to buy first-class goods without paying a reasonable price for them, and both merchants and clerks in selling goods should not harp so continually upon the cheapness of the article they are selling, as they should insist upon its excellent quality. Try to bring a customer to the understanding that it is better to buy a good article at a reasonable price than a poor one at a cheap price. He will soon begin to understand it, his confidence will be gained, his patronage retained and he will not only become a firm friend who will induce others to trade where he does but will buy his goods all the year round of the man who deals fairly and squarely with him.

Fair and square dealing is the true principle of conducting business upon a successful basis. If a man expects to settle down in a community and do business all his life in one locality, his first resolution should be to be honest in all things. Often a storekeeper, by a petty swindle or a mean little fraud upon a customer, drives away dollars worth of patronage where he made a few pennies by a sharp transaction. Good goods at reasonable prices is the secret of mercantile success all the world over.—Criterion.

The Fergus News Record says :—Two years have just passed over since we had the pleasure of announcing to the public that a life long resident of Fergus and vicinity had opened out a general store in Ironside's old stand on St. Andrew street.—When he opened out we predicted a successful trade for him, but he informs us that his trade has by far exceeded his own or anyone else's expectations since opening out, having to draw the whole trade by hard work and energy (as the store had been closed for some time before), and now to-day he is doing one of the largest, if not the largest, general trade in Fergus. Being of a free and obliging nature, and doing his best to please the public, both in regard to giving high prices for produce and buying the best goods in the cheapest markets to sell at a small profit (for cash or produce), we think he will still keep on increasing his trade, having nearly doubled it within the past year, until Mr. Thos. S. Armstrong stands first among our enterprising merchants. To show the amount of trade done, he has handled and shipped over one hundred and eighty tubs of butter this season. His motto is: "Honesty is the best policy."

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

BEHIND THE COUNTERS.

How often do clerks behind our grocery counters have to scrape the accumulation of sugar, currants, rasins, etc., from the bottom of their boots, that from time to time has dropped on the floor, and become a solid layer of dirt. If any of our readers have had their turn at such an unpleasant duty, the following will be read with interest :

With a watering can full of water, saturate your floor where the dirt has accumulated and immediately cover with dry sawdust, let this remain over night, then scrape the floor with a spade or back of a rake, with which the dirt can easily be removed, after which a light coating of sawdust will dry and polish the floor, and your object has been accomplished. Try it boys; we are sure many floors need this at least twice a month.

Mr. John Butcher, Queen St. W., is extending his place, the stables being now taken into the store, and a new hoist is also being put in.

Mr. A. Martins, Kingston, has again opened out in his old stand, and no doubt will do his share of the trade. He is a good hearted and genial man, liked by everyone.

Mr. Midley, of Kingston, has launched in the grocery trade in Barrifield. His popularity as a young man of genial habits is unquestionable and he is deserving of success.

Mr. T. O. Leonard, of the Oswego Starch Co., visited Toronto last week to see the military parade and field day. He found a greater representation of the grocery among the soldiers than of any other trade.

TORONTO, NOVEMBER 14, 1889.

GROCERIES.

Trade during the present week has been only fair to middling, and payments remain very unsatisfactory ; from some localities travellers report a little more business doing, but, generally, trade has been quiet.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been less activity in the market in canned goods but prices continue to stiffen as the cheaper goods go out. For tomatoes $1.10 is now generally asked for old, and $1.15 to $1.20 for new. The same prices are quoted for corn. Canned fish of all kind is dull and unchanged.

COFFEES.

Late cables from Rio report good grades unchanged but better grades ¼c. higher. There is a good local demand for choice Rios at 20c. to 21c. especially for those worth 21c. low grades are selling at 19½c.

DRIED FRUIT.

The direct shipment of Malaga fruits have arrived this week but no business has been done yet, in fact, very few houses have made up the prices as there has been no need for them. Currents are firmer in outside markets but unchanged here. Old are selling at 4¼c. to 4½c. bbls. and new at 5¼c. to 5½c. Choice Vostizzas are offering to arrive at 7½c. ; fine stock on the spot is held at 9c. to 9¼c. Dates are dull at 5½c. to 5¾c. for old. The first shipments of new are now in Montreal. Figs are in good demand and easier, 14 oz. offering at 10c. to 11c. Malaga mats are just in and are offered at $1.20. Valencia raisins are held firmer in sympathy with an improvement in New York. Reports from there say the glut is over and that the market is now booming, with prices ½c. to ⅝c. higher ; on the spot, retail lots can be bought at 6¼ to 6½. For ordinary off stock Sultanas continue firm, 9c. to 10c. b ing asked for good to choice qualities ; a few London layers are going out at easier prices, $3.25 to $3.50.

There has been more inquiry for nuts and new stocks are arriving. Some very fine samples of new Valencia shelled almonds are being shown. Sicily filberts have been selling at 10½ and Tarragona almonds at 15c.

SUGARS.

A further decline of ⅛c. took place in granulated and all white sugars, on Saturday. Granulated is now running at 7½c. to 7⅝c. Demand has been fair and quite a number of small lots have gone out during the week. Refiners are a little stiffer, on good grade yellows. Jobbing prices are 5⅜ to 6¾ for dark to bright; outside markets are steadier.

Granulated and all white sugars now stand at:

Granulated, 1 to 15 bbls	7⅝c
" 15 bbls	7½c
Paris Lumps, boxes	8¼c
Extra ground, bbls	8¼c
" , boxes and less than bbls	8⅜c
Powdered H, bbls	7⅞c
" , less than bbls	8

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Demand is fair. Syrups are going from 54 to 69c. per gal. for dark to bright. Molasses steady at 40c. in bbls.

CREAM OF TARTAR.

The cream of tartar market has been booming in Europe and New York for prices have gone up within the last ten days from 2½c. to 3c. per lb. and on the spot higher prices are asked.

DRY GOODS.

Trade has been very quiet since last report. The fine weather has retarded business in heavy woollen stocks. Money is still scarce in the country, owing to the slow movement of grain. On account of the prudent buying of country dealers only in small quantities for current sales, wholesale merchants have been very cautious in making reports. A very conservative spirit is discernable throughout the dry goods trade. As a consequence, it is not probable that either wholesalers or retailers will carry over any large stocks. The prices of woollens are remarkable for unwonted firmness. Private advices from England state that goods are dearer, makers are firmer, and that the latter prefer to lose large orders to breaking their price.

There is no symptom of weakness in the position of cotton. The fact that the mills are now largely stocked is owing to the circumstance that they will not give spring datmg to wholesale merchants. The latter are, therefore, buying sparingly for present orders, and as they themselves have to give spring dating, they are refraining, as long as possible, from laying in their orders for the spring supply of their customers. That is the reason why cotton seems to be accumulating at the mills. The supply of spring needs is simply held in abeyance until as nearly as possible the arrival of spring. Of course, in the end, the cotton has to be bought by the wholesale merchant, and the mills relieved. Their present temporary congestion is the effect of their own rule.

The trade in fancy goods has been very good. The open fall does not affect that.

Messrs. Tait, Burch & Co. have dissolved. Mr. J. D. Tait will continue the business.

Mr. James Short McMaster, the senior member of the firm of Messrs. McMaster, Darling & Co., will leave England at the beginning of the year, and it is rumored that there will be a change in the firm.

HARDWARE.

We have to report a decided firmness in the glass market. On spades and shovels and harvest tools, for spring delivery, the retail trade are placing orders freely, contemplating an advance. The market on horse nails still continues very low, but we look for a considerable advance very soon. There will be no change in axes again this year, stocks at the factories being almost all made up.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The limbo for poor butter must now be nearly full. Only the best store packed will sell at all. Very much of this class is joining the lower grades of butter which have so long been neglected, and which are steadily increasing in cellars throughout the country. The severe grading of good classes of butter is shown by the elasticity of the quotations, as the range between the highest and the lowest price gets broader. This is a sign that there is a steady increase in the class of butter that is considered good, whether this is a consequence of better weather or better dairying or both. Creamery packed sells from 19c. to 25c. per lb., dairy packed from 15c. to 19c., and the market is quiet. Store packed is held at 10c. to 13c., but there is no demand. Large rolls are easier at 15c. to 18c. Upon these the brunt of the demand falls. Pound rolls are worth 19c. to 21c.

CHEESE.—Continues 10½c. to 11c. for very good.

FISH.

There is no change in the prices reported last week. The close season for white-fish might be expected to raise prices of other lake fish. This is true only of blue-back herring, but the apathy of the demand makes the falling off of the white-fish not otherwise felt. Salmon trout is yet scarce at 6c. Blue-back herring is $2.00 per hundred, count. Pike and pickerel are 6c. per lb. Labrador herring, $5.50 to $6 per barrel, and $3 to $3.25 per half-barrel. Shore herring is $5 per barrel, and $2.50 to $3 per half barrel. No. 1 green codfish, 7c; No. 2, 5c. No. 1 green haddock, 6c; No. 2, 5c. Boneless cod in 40-lb. boxes is 6½c. per lb.; in small quantities, 8c. per lb. Boneless fish, 4½c. to 5c. per lb.

GREEN FRUIT.

Jamaica oranges are from $7 to $8.50 per barrel. Florida oranges are $5 per box. Malaga lemons are $3 to $4 per box. Palermos (in 360's) are $4, (in 300's) $5.50. Messinas (fancy wax) are $7 per box. Jersey and Illinois sweet potatoes are $4.50 to $5 per barrel. Malaga grapes are $5.50 in kegs of ordinary weight; in heavy weight packages, from $6.50 to $7.

CRANBERRIES.

Cape Cod fruit is $9 per barrel, and $3 per box.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES.—Fall apples come in only in small quantities and fitful arrivals. The market for them is about over. They sell yet at $2 to $2.50 per barrel. Winter apples in car lots are worth $2.25 to $2.50; in small quantities, $3 to $3.25.

BEANS—Are selling at $1.60 to $1.75, and $2 for choice hand picked beans. The market is dull, and there is little promise that present prices will greatly vary for some time. There is every sign of a quiet market until the season of consumption is on, as buyers and sellers are still disagreeing.

DRIED APPLES.—Enquiries have dropped off, and little attention is paid to stocks that are offering. Buyers are paying 5c. to 5½c. and selling at 6c. to 6½c. in small lots, with 7c. asked in some cases for small lots. There is nothing to strengthen these prices except the situation in evaporated apples.

EVAPORATED APPLES.—Holders are still extravagant in their prices, and buyers are not near them. Those who hold stocks are offering at 9c. to 10½c., but are making no sales. Wholesale dealers expect these prices to shrink very considerably, as the same field of consumption is shared along with evaporated apples by sun-dried apples, canned and preserved fruit, winter apples, and rhubarb.

EGGS—Limed, 17c. to 18c. Fresh, 19c. to 20c. New laid, 21c. to 22c. Consumption is still checked by high prices, and the run on the lower priced limed eggs is raising their prices. The run is caused by the high prices of the fresh eggs, and the mistrust, which grows at this season, that all eggs said to be fresh are not fresh.

GAME.—Partridges are worth 50c. to 65c. per brace. Black and mallard ducks, 75c. to 80c. per brace. Wood-ducks, pintails, and butter-balls, 40c. to 45c. per brace. Teal, 20c. per brace. Pigeons, 20c. to 25c. per brace. Vension, 6c. per lb. in the carcass, and 11c. per saddles and haunches.

HAY.—No. 1, pressed, is worth $10 to $11 on the track ; loose on the street, it brings $12 to $14. No. 2, on track is worth $9 ; on the street, $7 to $10. The supply is good.

HIDES.—The dulness of the hide and leather market continues. Cured hides have fallen to 5c. Good green hides, No. 1, are worth $4.50 ; No. 2, $3.50. Although cured hides are low, yet they are not plentiful, on account of the habit of marketing green ones at once.

HONEY.—Although there are producers throughout the country who hold for higher figures, there is no prospect that the present steady prices will be changed. Consumption of delicacies falls off when prices reach a certain point. The quotations which have held for several weeks still represent current prices. In large quantities, clear honey is worth 10c. to 12½c. In smaller quantities, 12c. to 13c. Good honey, in the comb, is worth 18c. to 20c. In smaller quantities it brings 22c. for very good, and as low as 16c. for ordinary.

HOPS.—Holders are asking 10c. to 15c. for old hops, and 15c. to 18c. for new.

OATS. - Are worth 30c. to 31c. on track, and 33c. in small lots. The supply is ample.

ONIONS.—Are steady at $1.75 to $2 per barrel.

POTATOES.—Sell for 60c. per bag in small lots, and for 55c. to 57c. in cars. There will be no more shipping until stoves are placed in cars.

POULTRY.—Geese are plentiful at 6c. to 7c. per lb. Turkeys bring 10c. to 11c. per lb. Ducks are worth 50c. to 65c. per pair, and chickens are down to 45c. to 60c. per pair.

STRAW.—Wheat straw sells at $6 per ton, tight-pressed. Oat straw brings $7 to $7.50 on track ; loose on the street, $6 to $7 ; in sheaves, $10 to $12.

SKINS.—No. 1, calf, 6c. ; No. 2, 5c. Sheepskins bring 85c. to 90c. for fresh ones. They increase in value as the wool grows.

TALLOW.—Still scarce. Rough is 1¼c. to 2c. per lb. Rendered, 5c. to 5¼c.

WOOL.—Is worth 20c. to 21c. in fleece. Pulled wool is worth 23c. for lowest, 24c. for super, and 28c. for extra super.

PROVISIONS.

BACON.—Long, clear, is 8½c. to 8¾c. according to quantity. Breakfast is 12c. to 13c. Roll 9½c. to 10c.

DRESSED HOGS.—Continue to lower, as the supply is increasing, and winter consumption has not yet begun. Present prices are $5.75 to $6.25.

HAMS.—Green 11½c. They are slightly more plentiful than they were last week. Smoked are worth 12½ to 13c.

LARD.—American in tubs 9c., in pails 9½c. Canadian, tubs and pails are ½c. higher than the American prices.

MESS PORK.—Is worth $14 to $15. Canadian cuts are $15.50.

TO THE GROCERY TRADE.

The undersigned has been appointed Agent in the United States and the Dominion of Canada by
The Associated Tea Planters, Ltd.
OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.
Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80 000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools : they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

NINE AND ONE-HALF CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.

The estate of A. A. Vernon, Grocer, 240 King street east, Hamilton, is wound up with the above result. A few items may be of interest and we will give a brief summary. The actual assets, consisting of stock, horse, wagon, book accounts and so on, amounted to $804.95. Expenses, including bailiff, rent, water, etc., $198.66; fees and expenses of collectors, $220.96. Mr. Vernon was in business about four months; comment is unnecessary, except that every such exposure shows a very rotten system of doing busness.

THE TEN TRAVELLERS.

Ten weary, footsore travellers,
All in a woeful plight,
Sought shelter at a wayside inn
One dark and stormy night.

"Nine rooms, no more," the landlord said,
"Have I to offer you;
To each of eight a single bed,
But the ninth must serve for two."

A din arose. The troubled host
Could only scratch his head,
For of those tired men no two
Would occupy one bed.

The puzzled host was soon at ease—
He was a clever man.
And so to please his guests devised
A most ingenious plan:

A	B	C	D	E	F	G	H	I

In room marked A two men were placed,
The third was lodged in B,
The fourth to C was then assigned,
The fifth retired to D.

In E the sixth he tucked away.
In F the seventh man,
The eighth and ninth in G and H,
And then to A he ran.

Wherein the host, as I have said,
Had laid two travellers by;
Then taking one, the tenth and last,
He lodged him safe in I.

Nine single rooms, a room for each,
Were made to serve for ten;
And this it is that puzzles me
And many wiser men.

The explanation of the above puzzle, which we find credited to the Pittsburg Bulletin, is very simple, though it may not at first sight occur to the reader. If man No. 1 and man No. 2 were the only ones placed in room A, man No. 10 could not be taken from there to room I. Obviously, therefore, there must have been three men originally there or else one of the three was "left out in the cold."

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

The season of peace on earth and goodwill towards men is drawing near, and the largess of the grocer is expected to be bountiful and impartial. The loving hands of the grocer are no doubt now busy tying up delicious little Christmas boxes for the amiable people who have frequented his counter throughout the year. We like to see the grocer give Christmas presents; it is a sign of grace, an acknowledgment, fitting to the occasion of wrong done his customers during the year's trade. It is therefore seemly that he could make reparation. The more a man has over-reached his customers since last December, the more should he burden them at Christmas with peace-offerings. If he did it last Christmas he will not be apt to forget it this Christmas, for his gentle constituents will remind him; they will brazingly demand their customary yule-tide tribute.

We cannot understand how a grocer can afford to give Christmas presents, unless he has systematically built up a fund for that purpose, the proceeds of overcharges, short measures, adulteration, or misrepresentation. We know that the grocer's margin of profits is narrow, and that if he has a large enough circle of custom to maintain his trade throughout the year, he has therefore enough presents to make to eat up the year's profits—that is, if he makes presents in honesty.

What is the tacit opinion of the people who receive the presents? Their opinion, indeed, is not always a tacit one; it is sometimes uttered in these words: "You have made enough out of our trade to afford a present." The opinion sometimes expressed is mortifying to the giver. We talked with a dealer upon the matter, who told us that some customers instead of murmuring thanks would demand an explanation, and refuse the present, after insinuating their strong suspicions as to the honesty of the gift.

We are far from saying that, in all cases where presents have been given, the dealer has carried on a former unjust trade. Some have been led to do it whose weights, measures, prices, representations, and goods are above reproach. Such have perhaps followed the example of a rival, who has made ample provision for his liberal outlay; or they have proceeded upon a principal or benevolence, or generosity, rather than one of business But they have made a mistake. Whatever their motives may be, their honesty is certain to bring discredit upon their good name. Every recipient is matter-of-fact enough, after his first glow of gratitude, to regard his present as something he has well paid for.

Another aspect in the case is the displeasure the grocer causes by oversight or by his unequal distribution of gifts. If he concluded to give the same form of present to everybody, the present would have no individual character to make the receiver specially grateful. If he varied the presents, but equalized their value, he would offend people that dealt more largely with him than did others. If he made a difference in the value of the present, then there would be affections estranged that might not be recaptured till next Christmas.

The practice is one to be avoided. It is beset with danger in all directions, and does not extend trade. Let the grocer calmly tell his customers that he has not robbed them every other day of the year to treat them on Christmas, and that he is not going to place himself in any equivocal position by a token which implies either that he has plundered his customers,or that he is not intending to pay his creditors.

CHANCES ON BUTTER.

We incidentally met a gentleman on the train, who is engaged in the mercantile business in a small town in the northern part of the county of Bruce. He stated to us unreservedly his mode of buying butter from the farming community. The other merchants of the town are in the habit of buying at a uniform price, and wanted him to do likewise; but this he positively refused to do, as he had concluded to buy nothing but first-class butter, and for which he was prepared to pay first-class price, and discountenance and discourage as much as possible the exposing for sale anything that was not first-class. He had a little difficulty to contend with at first, and was looked upon by his neighbor merchants as a kind of a butter crank, and his plan of buying butter condemned as being all right in theory but could never be carried out in practice. However, he resolved to adhere to it, viewing it as the only fair way of doing business. He has now got over the little difficulties attending his early movements in the matter, and assured us that his mode of buying butter now works like a charm, simply from the fact that he pays from two to three cents per pound more than his neighbors pay. But there is one condition attached to it, namely, that it must be first-class. In connection with the buying of wheat by millers, no doubt if the oldest reader of THE GROCER could tax his memory on the subject, he would tell us that wheat was bought on the market and by the carload at a stipulated price, without regard as to the testing of what a bushel of wheat by measurement weighed. About two years ago the millers came to the conclusion that they must get out of the old rut and buy wheat upon a different basis than what had been handed down to them by their forefathers. They accepted the standard by test and sixty pounds to the bushel When the miller now quotes the price he is paying for wheat, his farmer friend understands at once that it is for a sixty pound test, and that whatever his wheat weighs in excess of the sixty pound test he will be entitled to one cent per bushel more for each pound in excess of the test. He is also well aware that if his wheat is an inferior quality, or indifferently cleaned, the price he will obtain for it will be considerably less, because for every pound under test weight he is sure to get one cent per bushel less for his load. The farmer takes kindly to this new system of doing business, for the reason that it metes out justice to both buyer and seller alike. In this case the painstaking and thrifty farmer reaps the benefit. He is satisfied that the new method of doing business is a great improvement on the old one. The buyer is satisfied because he has bought a good article at fair market value. When the millers can revolutionize the system of buying wheat in such a manner, why cannot the merchants get out of the old rut when buying from the farmer the products of his dairy? The farmers are not satisfied and are desirous of a change in this respect. Take, for instance, a farmer, whose wife makes first-class butter. She brings it to the merchant where she is in the habit of dealing. But, in consequence of his neighbor's wife making a medium or inferior quaility, she, from force of circumstances and custom, has no option but to accept the uniform price paid to other people. She is not satisfied ; she remonstrates with the merchant, and vigorously protests against the merchant's system of buying butter. Finally she gives a heavy sigh and submits to the inevitable, consoling herself that in all probability no further steps will be taken in this matter until the merchant, also through force of circumstances, is compelled to buy butter upon its merits. THE GROCER is of the opinion that that time has now arrived, and while being of this opinion yet we look for no immediate change. We have been sufficiently long in the world to know that trade changes of this kind are not going to be accomplished in a day, a week, or a month. A movement of this kind having such important trade bearings, must necessarily be accomplished as the result of time, combined with constant and persistent agitation. There are difficulties in the way of individual merchants making a move of the kind referred to. Yet it is not impossible, or even improbable, that individual or isolated cases could make a success of it. But there is one way that a success can be made of it, and one which appears to us quite feasible. At the Convention of Merchants held in Hamilton last summer, an important plank of their platform was the butter question, as the result of the future acts of the Association then formed. We expect to have yet to chronicle that a unanimous conclusion has been arrived at satisfactory to all concerned and acted upon at once throughout the province, which will no doubt have the effect of raising the standard of western butter to be equal at least to that of Townships or Morrisburg.

Are you selling for cash? or are you losing 50 per cent of your profit by trusting everybody and anybody?

CANADIAN PICKLES.

For some time the number of pickle manufacturers has been too large for the best interests of their industry. That number was considerably swelled two years ago, owing to a change in the tariff on imported pickles. A great number of inexperienced men, with limited capitals, at once went into the pickle making business, apparently believing the protection adequate to make up for the limits of the demand. There are not so many pickle makers now as there were last year, but there are still enough. The principle of natural selection has been steadily reducing the number. Those who have the means, knowledge, and business management, and who produce the article that is wanted, will survive.

Seven establishments have started during the last four years, and five of them have succumbed to the severe trials of competition. Numerous "wild cat" pickle makers have come and gone within the last two years. The seemingly high duty, the seeming abundance and cheapness of the vegetables, attracted and deceived them into building great hopes on the potency of a few hundred dollars. When they came into collision with well established makers, they might begin the cutting, but they could not maintain it. A good many of them are now snowed under. Still, competition is severe. The stress of it must be felt by many pickle makers. Some of them keep vinegar, and look for their chief profits to that, selling their pickles at a sacrifice. It needs a robust vinegar trade to stand this, particularly if a high class of pickle is produced.

Another fact that must make price cutters uneasy is that this year there is a very short crop, and some of the raw material had to be bought after it was grown. Then, of course, the producer had the advantage, knowing how far the crop fell short, and the pickler had to pay high prices. This year's low crops are not entirely a climatic result. They are to some extent due to the refusal of pickle makers to contract so largely with the grower last spring, owing to the stock carried over. Consequently growers put in fewer acres and cultivated less carefully, as they had not a sure market ahead of them. The reason that pickle makers refused to make pre-contracts lay in the abundance of the crop of last year. That crop they had largely pre-contracted for. A responsible pickler would bargain with a farmer for, say, ten acres of cucumbers. The farmer would put in twelve. The great wealth of the year's crop thus supplied the established pickle makers with all they wanted, and the surplus uncontracted acreage furnished stock to the small picklers, to whom the farmers sold for what they could get. This conduct of the farmers naturally irritated the reputable dealers, and they made few contracts in spring. The large crop of last year, and the low prices which would have prevailed in the absence of pre-contracts, tended to decide the action of the manufacturers in the same direction. The farmers who grew, however, reaped the advantage this autumn. Few crops were put in, and those yielded below half an average. Some picklers carried over stock from last year's large yield, but although this puts them in a good condition to carry on business, yet the total supply this year is apt to be short, and prices on bulk goods accordingly begin to rise. As a consequence, pickle making is apt to become finally settled in the hands of those who have studied it carefully. 'Wild-cat' makers have by this time found that climatic influences, perishable stock, alternation of good and bad years, the farmers' cupidity at either end of the season, and the quality and extent of the demand, are circumstances to be reckoned with, as well as an import duty.

For the production of pickles we are in as good a position at least as Britain or the United States. We grow all our raw material. Britain imports the most of hers from Holland or Germany. The United States imports all her cauliflowers. Canada, of the three, alone grows her cucumbers, onions, and cauliflowers. If her growers look to their plants, she can do that as well as any other country.

INTRODUCE YOURSELF.

An affable manner is exceedingly valuable to a man in any position that brings him in contact with others, but it is of exceptional value, and almost of prime necessity, to the man in business. A dealer need not "engross the graces," but the more he has of cordiality and sympathy of manner, the more will he make himself a favorite with his customers, and the more will his business flourish. A ready recognition of those who deal with him, and a kindly interest in their affairs, require not only a good heart and a good memory, but also a complete lack of reserve. A stiff man may be as honest as gold, but he will find the road to prosperity a steep one in business. The austere, or unbending person, may be well enough in his place, but his place is not in trade.

If the intervals between a customer's visits are long, or if he has been served mostly by an assistant, it is possible that the merchant may be a long time in trade before he and his customer get acquainted. Hence, when the latter calls he may be accorded the cold reception that would be given to a passing wayfarer, and may consequently feel hurt. But while we insist on affability, we think affability should have a chance: that customer should introduce himself. He would have received a warmer greeting, and any favors in prices that are given to the privileged circle of customers he would have stood a chance for. The customer, although to blame, is the more piqued, because he expected more attention on account of the longer interval between his visits.

While the retailer knows on whom to place the blame when an unrecognized customer fails to make himself known, he is not always so correct in locating the fault when he himself is not heartily received at the wholesale house. He visits the wholesaler with whom he trades, and expects to be pleasantly welcomed, because, perhaps last time he was used so well. If he is not, the reason is manifest, he is not known. A man should not be mortified to find himself forgotten. He should scarcely wait to find out that he is ; he should at once introduce himself, and name the place where he does business. We are well assured he will not then have to complain of scant civility.

If a dealer from the country drops into a wholesale warehouse and asks, without previous introduction of himself, what the price, for example, of sugar is, he may be given a quotation somewhat higher than he could buy for if he were known. He has a right to consider himself in the favored circle of that firm's customers, entitled to any advantage then at the firm's command, and if he comes as a stranger he should not be surprised to be treated as one.

The country trade must remember that the customers who patronize a wholesale house are very numerous, that they live far apart, that they do not come in often, and that the warehouse is visited by hundreds of people every day who are not merchants. All these circumstances make it difficult for the retailer to be remembered, and if he does not introduce himself, he is apt to be taken for one of the many who come in and go out constantly throughout the day. Introduce yourself.

ADVERTISING.

There is always a demand. There was a time when that demand was quite dependent, because of the fewness of the centres of supply. Now it has to be wooed. The place of business to which it gravitates has to outbid some other place. Every convenient point of distribution has usually more than one shop where we can buy what we want, or it is near some other point of distribution. How is the trader to capture a fair share of this wandering free demand and make it his own custom ? We have represented the practice of angling for trade by ruinously low prices. A trader must have a name, and to get that name established he cannot trust to the mere mouth-to-mouth report of his dealings. Let his rival spring an advertisement upon the public, fresh in its suggestiveness of newness, laden with catching names of mottoes, etc., and the customers of the non-advertising man will be no long time making up their mind that the latter is old-fashioned. They will slip away from him. The moral that he learns from this expensive object-lesson is, that he too must advertise.

Many a business stand has made its way against the drawbacks of its situation by the shere force of advertising. We find many a village, in an out of the way place with no natural inducements to settlement in their situation, which have grown prosperous and important. In such cases we usually lay the credit to the enterprise of some leading man or men. But in our time the energy of enterprise operates chiefly through advertisements.

The man who advertises with judgment and persistency does not merely extend his business; he also improves himself as a business man. The fact that he has to resort periodically to some fresh advertising device, constantly reminds him that he must keep his stock attractive and full to warrant the advertisement. The secret of really good advertising is solved by the man who has learnt to keep his stock. It should never be allowed to wane in any of its departments, it should be seasonable, it should be always goodly to look upon, and should be tastefully disposed. The man who follows up advertising will learn this, and will greatly profit by it. Systematic attention to one detail of business broadens a man's method until it takes in all the interests of his trade. By advertising habitually a man becomes a better advertiser, a better business man, and he greatly enlarges the scope of his trade.

Some wholesale houses, through their neglect of advertising, leave themselves at the mercy of their travellers. The travellers find it more difficult to work up a trade for them than do other travellers for houses that advertise extensively. This difficulty throws the former upon their own resources. To get orders they have to work harder and study more carefully to please. They thus improve themselves, and what trade they get they owe to their own personality. They became liked because they studied to that end, and they become influential among their firms' customers. But when any rupture takes place between a traveller and his firm, the trade is alienated from the firm and goes with the traveller who worked it up. Wherever he is employed his connection goes with him. This could not be the case to any important extent if the firm had established an individuality of its own by advertising freely among its customers.

BARGAINS IN DRIED FRUIT.

Messrs. Perkins, Ince & Co. are offering bargains in Malaga dried fruit. They are clearing out a line of last season's Black Baskets at $2.00 per box.

Patronize the manufacturer who, to your knowledge, sells unadulterated goods.

ADULTERATED EXTRACTS.

Not only are extracts greatly vitiated by mixtures, but spurious preparations without an atom of the essential in them, are sold as extracts. There is scarcely any other class of goods so much tampered with in the manufacture. And it is true that those who use extracts largely are commonly pretty sensitive observers of their effects, and are not long in discovering any falling off from the old qualities. That there is a widespread conviction among consumers that extracts have greatly degenerated from their former character, is patent to any one who notes the steady increase of the druggists' trade in these goods. To the drug store good cooks and bakers go, when they can not get pure extracts at the grocery. This proves to the grocer that, after all, it is not cheapness alone that sells goods. There is a demand for irreproachable essences,and this demand will be drawn to where the essences are to be had. The hybrid or counterfeit article is not going to supplant the genuine one in use, although it may drive it out of the grocery trade.

The small proportion of pure extracts that are made, would not pay at present prices if it were not for the immense volume of the adulterated substitute that goes into trade. It is on the adulterated goods that the profit is realized. A general return to purity would raise prices, but wonld preserve custom.

There are many modes of adulterating and substituting. An example or two will suffice. Let us take the oil of lemon. There is often very little lemon in it composition. The flavor of the lemon is washed out, and French oil of turpentine is then used to reclaim it. Olive oil is not uncommonly pure cotton seed oil, and is mostly a mixture in which cotton seed oil is predominant. Methylated spirits are forbidden by law in the manufacture of extracts, but straight alcohol is not always used.

We would advise the grocer to make a specialty awhile of pure extracts and await the result. We venture to say it would be grati ying.

NOVEL FORM OF PRICE LIST.

The Lunkenheimer Brass Manufacturing Company, of Cincinnati, is using a novel means of presenting its specialties to customers, by printing a price list of several pages in copying ink, the pages to be torn off and signed by a customer asking discounts, the added matter then all being made in copying ink by the company, and a copy taken. By this means an exact record is kept, involving but little labor, and one which cannot fail to be a great convenience in any following business transactions.

Crowley urged as a defence that he bought the bags in quantities and took it for granted that they were of the required weight. He was fined $3.

A merchant, named Wm. McIntosh, was arrested at Buffalo last week for fraud. He hails from Aylmer. He was taken into custody on complaint of Mr. Geo. S. Birrell, of London, Ont. He had been doing a grocery business in Aylmer for some time, and latterly purchased a stock of dry goods. Business, it appears, was not as brisk as he could have desired, and it is alleged he sold off a large quantity of the goods surreptitiously and pocketed the proceeds, subsequently absconding to Buffalo. He left a wife and family of eight children at Aylmer. At one time McIntosh, who formerly lived in Springfield, was considered well to do, and had hosts of friends.

A French merchant living in the East End of Montreal, a little while ago hired a housekeeper. She was very ladylike, and performed her duties most satisfactorily. The merchant congratulated himself, and from the economy practised by his housekeeper was able to lay aside a considerable sum of money. This he kept in a valise, which was always locked. Recently the housekeeper asked for leave to visit her friends in the country for a few days. This was readily granted, and she left. The alloted time expired, but the housekeeper did not return, nor did she write to explain the delay. The merchant became suspicious, and broke open his precious valise. The $400 it contained had disappeared. Detective Grose was called in and he soon traced the woman to a village near the boundary line. She was very penitent, returned with the money and went back to her friends. Thus the matter ended.

A meeting of the creditors of the firm of James Pickard & Co., general merchants and millers, Exeter, was held last week at the office of Messrs. Gibbons, McNab & Mulkern, of London, Ont. After some little discussion, Messrs. W. R. Hobbs, John Marshall, and Geo. C. Gibbons, of London ; Robert Greene, of Hamilton, and W. J. McMaster, of Toronto, were appointed inspectors. Mr. Pickard had no other offer to make for the stock, which will therefore be sold on the 26th inst., at Exeter. The estate is expected to realize about 45 cents on the dollar. The statement submitted shows assets of over $60,000 with liabilities of $80,000, exclusive of the real estate, which is very valuable, but is returned as encumbered to its full value. Under the head of assets is the general stock, $24,391.96 ; hardware, $9,123.25 ; stoves, etc., $1,436.28 ; book accounts, $16,902.27 ; bills receivable, $3,626.98 ; cash, $1,819.28 ; horses, etc., $2,364.75 ; mill stock, $646. Total, $60,310.77. Liabilities—General, $42,199 ; local, $32,809 ; bank, $3,000 ; preferred claims, $2,534. Total, $80,532. The real estate includes 300 acres of good farm land and fine properties in the village.

Mr. W. Williamson of this city, makes the following suggestion in a letter to the Empire : "Let the wholesale merchants in all lines form small associations, so that all branches of trade will be individually organized. Let each branch appoint a confidential accountant, who will have access to the books of every firm in that line, and then whenever any wholesale house gets a new customer, they will be able to ascertain readily how that customer's credit stands elsewhere. Let me illustrate my meaning. Suppose a wholesale dry goods house, which I will call A, has given large credit to a retail man in the country, and the customer s unable to meet his debts for so long a time that further credit is stopped until he pays up ; the travellers of A are instructed not to take any other orders from him or call on him. At the present day that customer might give an order to the traveller of the wholesale dry goods firm of B, and the goods would be supplied. He could continue dealing with B till credit was stopped there, then by paying A with B's money go back to the former, or he might go further and get credit from a third party.

No such thing could occur if B, by applying to the confidential accountant of the wholesale dry goods association, discovered at once how the customer's credit stood with A. This would be complete protection for the wholesale trade, and would also mean protection for the honest retail dealers of Ontario, who now struggle against unjust competition to pay 100 cents on the dollar.

DEAR GROCER,—We have subscribed for your paper since it was organized, and think it one of the cleanest and best printed papers that we read, and the information and the benefits we get are well worth the money. THE BUTTER QUESTION.

CLAREMONT, NOV. 11, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—Enclosed find two dollars to renew our subscription for GROCER. Didn't notice until recently our being in arrears.

Regarding butter, a safe plan is to sell when we can get cost, (if not before). Country merchants are out of their even cut when they try to "speculate" in butter. It is the most slippery commodity they handle, and the sooner they get rid of it the less their liability to lose money. The ice car idea is a good one and would enable butter to be consumed when newly made and at same time relieve country merchants of a lot of trouble.

Yours truly
J. & D. MACNAB,
General Merchants.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools : they know a cup of good tea.

DRY GOODS.

The continued open weather operates against trade in winter goods, and the late wet spell has been accompanied by dullness in all departments. Trade, however, has been comparatively dull throughout the whole season. This fact has one hopeful aspect at all events, if trade has not been brisk then it has been more cautious. What has long been a reproach to the dry goods trade has been the liberality and indiscriminations of its credit. This, the present autumn shows an improvement in. Sellers have been cautious, and so indeed have buyers. There has been no overstocking.

HARDWARE.

Payments are reported to be none too good. The wet weather makes trade dull. The open autumn, however, although unfavorable to the dry goods man, is beneficial to the trade of the hardware man. Building operations continue longer in an open fall, and they bring trade to the hardware store. The tendency to stiffer prices, which arises from the greater cost of the raw material, is increased by the autumn advance taking effect last Monday in railway freights. On such goods as nails the railway rates from Montreal are 5c. dearer than they were. Throughout the season of navigation those goods were brought from Montreal by water at less than one-third of the present cost. Our price list shows an advance in the value of annealed, oiled and bright iron wire.

GROCERIES.

The grocery trade has been dull all week and payments are still unsatisfactory. The advance on freights on Monday has stiffened prices on goods brought here from Montreal, especially sugars, which are held 1-16 to ⅛c. higher. Dried fruits have been moving freely at firm prices.

CANNED GOODS

Are the quietest feature on the list, but considering the season of the year they are more active than usual. Old tomatoes are going out at $1.10 and new at $1.20. New corn is selling at $1.20 and beans at 90c. Fruits are dull. So also are fish.

COFFEES.

The market has been somewhat excited and higher this week, owing to the revolution in Brazil. On the spot there has been a better inquiry, but prices have not materially advanced. Some fine Rios are offering at 21½c. to 22c. Javas are selling at 25c. to 29c.

DRIED FRUITS.

The market is active in all lines, especially Valencia raisins, which are held higher, though the advance on this market has not been general. In New York they are strong, having advanced ¼c. to ½c. Cables are higher and say that the supply at Venice is reduced to 240,000 boxes, a very small quantity for this season of the year. On the spot 6¼c. is the inside price for good off-stalk, and values go from that to 6¾c.; some seconds have been offered at less, Prunes have attracted more attention this week on account of cables advising an advance of 2s. at Trieste. This was very pleasing news to those in the trade who bought early in the season at the top of the market, since when prices have been steadily declining. No new prunes have arrived here yet, but there is a good demand for old in cases, and for French plums. Dates are nominal. Figs have been selli g freely at easier prices, 14 oz. Elemes being obtainable at 8½ to 10c. Sultana raisins are very firm and scarce at 8½ to 10c. The New Malaga raisins are now on the market and quotations will be found in the prices current. Last season's stock is offering at a considerable reduction. Currants are firmly held at 4¼c. for old and 5¼c. for new in barrels. Patras cables are firm with an active French demand.

GREEN FRUIT.

Florida oranges are worth, for russets $4 per box, for fancy brights $4.75 per box. Jamaicas are $6.50 to $7 per barrel. Malaga lemons are $3 to $3.50 per box. Palermos (in 360's), are $4; (in 300's), are $5 per box. Fancy wax Messinas are $6.50 to $7 per box. The only sweet potatoes now to be had are the Jerseys of Illinois growth. They are $5 to $8, according to weight.

PEELS.

Supplies are ample and demand good. Lemon are going at 16c., orange, 18c., and citron, 28c.

SUGAR.

Yellows are held 1-16 to ⅛c. higher this week, owing to the advance in freights to 18c. between here and Montreal, which is about 7c. per cwt. up, and is 3c. per cwt. higher than a year ago. Low grades are scarce at 5⅜ to 5⅝c. Granulated is unchanged, at 7½ to 7⅝c. Foreign markets show considerable strength, but there is an easier undertone.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups are in good demand at steady prices. Porto Rico molasses are very scarce here, and are firmly held. Some very fine quality are offered at 52½c. in half barrels. The bulk of the supply on spot is Trinidads, which are offering at 39 to 40c. in puncheons, and 41 to 42c. in barrels.

TEAS.

Demand keeps fair, but it is not so brisk as last week. The market is a fairly healthy one and prices are stiff. Low grades continue scarce and firm.

FISH.

The market for fresh water fish has little vitality in it. There is no trade to attend to, and freezing is filling up the time. Salmon trout 5 cents to 6 cents.

MARKETS—Continued

Blue-back herring $2 per hundred, count. Pike and pickerel 4c. per lb. The same dulness pervades the trade in sea fish. Labrador herring $5 to $6 per barrel, and $3 to $3.25 per half-barrel. Shore herring is $5 per barrel and $2.50 to $3 per half-barrel. Green codfish: No. 1 ls 7c., No. 2 is 5c. Green haddock is 5 to 6c. Boneless cod is 6½c. per lb., in 40-lb. boxes, and 8c. per lb. in small quantities. Boneless fish is 4½ to 5c. per lb.

CRANBERRIES.

The advance of the season is accompanied by an upwardness in the prices of Cape Cod fruit. It now sells at $3.50 per box, and $9.50 per barrel. The home fruit is $2.75 per box, and $8 per barrel.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The market is dull and weak, only very choice finding sale at steadily receding prices for the home-made product. Butter of the creamery pack is now scarcely to be has at all, and the little that does move goes at 24 to 26c. It is supposed to have been all cornered by a syndicate that has been operating for some time in creamery districts. Their control of it was facilitated by the increased volume and quality of dairy-packed butter. That article must now be good to bring 15 to 17c. For store-packed, no quotation based on recent transactions can be given, as buyers have left it severely alone. Nominal quotations are 10 to 12c. Large rolls are down to 15 and 16c., and pound rolls are oought in large quantities at 18 and 21c. Butter is plentiful in all forms except creamery-packed.

Cheese remains at 10½ to 11. Buyers and sellers are still in the same distant attitude towards each other. The former hold that interest and shrinkage added to the prices now asked by the factories, would make selling-prices by the spring extravagently large. The factories still hold everything since the August make. If they had not been obliged to market the summer goods at once, the wholesale buyers would now be at their mercy.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES.—No carloads of fall apples have come in since last report. An occasional lot sometimes arrives in the same car with winter apples. The former have sold at $1.75 to $2 per barrel. Winter apples appear on the market in fair supply at $2.50 and $2.75, packed ready for shipping. Present prices are reducing the local demand. Cables from Liverpool say that good prices are almost certain to be realized for choice stock, but that shippers of poor quality are losing money.

BEANS.—Holders are making $1.40 to $1.50 outside for carloads, and $1.75 is paid for small quantities. The opportunity of sellers is nearly over, as the shanties are now stocked. There is little doing in the Toronto market. On spot small lots are held at $1.75 to $1.85.

DRIED APPLES—Are still nominally 5 to 7c. Consignments are going at 5 to 5½c. and dealers are reselling at 6 to 7c. as to quality and quantity. There is nothing to make prices fluctuate. The holders would meet the market at these figures, but the demand is languid, almost defunct. The North Shore boats are now closing their season, the lumbermen's supplies have been shipped, and enquiries for dried apples are consequently few.

EVAPORATED APPLES.—The factory men still hold prices high; 9c. and 10c. are their figures, but their are no transactions heard of. There will be no concessions to these demands while the supply of the green fruits of the different kinds holds out. The evaporators hold, however, that the high prices paid for their raw stock justify them in their demands. Small lots are selling on spot at 8c. to 10c. as to quality.

EGGS.—Limed eggs are plentiful, and the demand for them is quiet. They sell for 16c. and 17c. per dozen. Strictly fresh eggs are very scarce and readily bring 20c. to 21c. New laid eggs sell fast for 22c. to 24c. on the street.

CAME.—The supply is growing in all stocks but partridges. They are higher, selling from 55c. to 70c. per brace. There is no change in other prices; black and mallard ducks, 75c. to 80c. per brace.; wood-ducks, pintails, and butter-balls, 40c. to 45c. per brace; teal, 20c. per brace; pigeons, 20c. to 25c. per brace; rabbits, 25c. to 30c. per pair: venison, 6c. per lb. in the carcass, and 11c. in saddles and haunches.

HAY.—No. 1 pressed, is $10 50. to $11 on the track, and sometimes $11 50. No. 2 is unsaleable, but may be quoted nominally at $7 to $9 on track. No. 1 loose is worth $12 to $14 on the street, and No. 2 spring $8 to $10, loose on the street. There is plenty of good hay offering.

HIDES.—The market is dull. A car load of cured hides was sold on Monday, at 5c. Green hides are worth $4 50 for No. 1, and $3 50 for No. 2.

HONEY.—10c. to 12½c. for large quantities, and 12c. to 14c. for small quantities, are the prices that rule for clear. In the comb, the best honey brings 18c. to 20c. in large quantities; in small it is worth 22c. Very ordinary honey in the comb is bought at 16c.

HOPS.—For very good hops 15 to 18c. is asked, and for those of a common quality 10 to 12c. is sought. There are some grades that can t be bought short of 20 to 22c. The market is dull and buyers are not inclined to pay these figures.

OATS—Are worth 29 to 30c. in car lots, and 32 to 33c. in small quantities. Arrivals are numerous. Sales outside are made at 25½ to 26½c.

ONIONS—Are worth $1.75, and from that to $2; varying prices are asked. The lumbermen's supplies are mostly filled. One commission sent 60 barrels to a single camp last week. The demand is now of mere local proportions.

MARKETS—Continued

POTATOES—Are worth 50 to 55c. in carlots, on track. Their arrival is now attended with extra expense, as fires have to be kept in the cars. In small quantities, 60 to 65c. is paid. The supply has not so far outrun the demand, nor has the demand been kept waiting.

POULTRY.—Geese are 6½ to 7c. per lb. Turkeys are 9 to 11c. per lb. Ducks are 50 to 75c., and chickens are 35 to 50c. per pair. The market is kept well stocked, but the demand is good and prices.

STRAW.—Nobody wants any; it is worth about $6, but there are no sales at any price. Tight-pressed oat is $7 per ton, bulk oat straw on the street is $8, and sheaf oat is $9 to $11.

SKINS.—The markets for calf-skins is lifeless; the calf season is past, No. 1 calfskin is worth 6c.; No. 2, 5c. Fresh sheepskins sell from 90c. to $1 and are in good demand.

TALLOW—Is slightly more plentiful, but prices are the same. Rough is 1¾ to 2c. per lb,, and rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL—Is firmer. In the fleece it brings 21c. Pulled, the prices are: for lowest 24c., for super., 25c., and for extra-super. 29c. Wool is kept low, not by its abundance, but by competition among the makers of manufactured woollens. These are numerous, and they compete very briskly for the supplying of the wholesale dry-goods houses. The woollen factories thus keeping the prices of manufactured goods low, of course aim to buy their raw material low. They virtually compete to keep the price of wool down.

PROVISIONS.

BACON.—Long, clear, is 8c. to 8¼c. per lb. Breakfast is 12c. and roll is 9½c. to 10c. The season is virtually closed for the old stuff, and present prices are liable to change at any moment.

DRESSED HOGS.—Easier at $5.50 to $6, for heavy to light. The late bad roads have almost put a stop to arrivals. Packers are not disposed to pay over $5.90 for choice light.

HAMS.—Green ones are almost non-existent. The last few sold went at 10c. to 10½c. Smoked hams are 12c. to 12½c. and are rather more plentiful.

LARD.—American, in tubs, is 8¾c., in pails, 9¼c. Canadian in tubs, is 9c., in pails, is 9½c.

MESS PORK.—Sells at $14 for American. The little of Canadian cut that has offered went for $15. The market for mess pork is slack on account of the weather.

MONTREAL, NOVEMBER 21, 1889.

GROCERIES.

While there has been nothing of an exciting nature in the general grocery, there has been a steady, healthy distribution, which has embraced most classes of goods, and no complaints, aside from such that come from chronic grumblers, have been heard of. Prices throughout have remained stationary on staple goods, but tea and canned lobsters have exhibited strength Payments have been well met.

SUGAR.

The market for sugar has retained a steady tone, with about the normal volume of business for the season. The first reports of the Brazilian revolution created some anxiety, which, however, has been allayed. The factory price for granulated is now 7⅛c., guild price for city 7¾c., and ditto for the west 7½c. Powdered is at 7½c., and cut cubes at 7¾c. (guild price). Yellows have a range of from 5¼c., 6⅝c., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

The market has shown no new feature. Trade has been limited to jobbing requirements, which are filled on the basis of 44c. and 44½c. for Barbadoes, with Antigua and Trinidad at 43c.

TEA.

The tea market has continued to manifest a strong tone, and holders are indifferent rulers. Full prices are mentioned when negotiations are opened, which attitude they can readily maintain in view of moderate stocks here and the strong markets elsewhere. Trade has been fairly active. The market has been literally cleaned up of low grades, which for all practical purposes are not obtainable. Anything below 16c., 17c. would be snapped up quick, but we hear of nothing offering. New York brokers have been filling several of their orders here for shipment to Toronto, Chicago and other points west, from which it would appear that New York is not carrying any great selection of stock.

CANNED GOODS.

Business has been of fair volume. The decided strength in lobsters that has been already noted has been supplemented this week by an additional advance, in fact so bare is the market that necessitous buyers would have to pay even above quotations. It is said that there are not more than 100 cases of good stock on this market. To-day $6.75 is marked as the inside price and some dealers quote more. Salmon about steady at $6.60 to $6,70, while mackerel, owing to the high price, are slow of sale at $5.70 to $5.80 per case. Corn ranges from $1 to $1.12½, some dealers selling at $1 in order to close out stock.

FRUIT.

There has been a fair steady business in most lines of fruit. Prime of Valencia raisins are variously quoted. Plume brands have sold at 6½c., with off grades down as low as 5¾c. Currants have had a fair sale at 5⅛c., 5¼. Figs steady at 11c. Old dates 5c., with the first new expected this week. Evaporated apples have advanced materially 10½c. to 11c., while dried have advanced to 7c., 7½c., both being in light supply and hard to get.

In green fruit there has been a fair distribution. Apples have continued very firm and tending up, $3 is paid freely for good stock and offerings are light. Buyers are looking for stock to store and evidently believe in higher prices. Lemons, steady at $3 to $3.50 per box. Jamaica oranges $6.50 to $7.50 per brl. Florida oranges $4.25c to $4.75 per box. Almeria grapes in fair request at $5 to $5.25 per keg. Spanish onions 75c. to 85c. per crate. Native onion $2.50 per brl. Cape Cod cranberries $7.50 to $8.50 per brl.

RICE.

An average trade has been done at steady prices. Ordinary in car lots $3.70. Patna 4½c. Japan 4c. A low grade of Japan has sold at 3¾c.

FISH.

Although not showing special activity the market has ruled steady, with a fair business. Green cod have a very firm tone owing to scarcity and no apparent prospect of a present increase of supply. No. 1 large $5.50, No. 1 $5, No. 2 $4. Labrador herring are quiet, with only a small demand at $4.25 to $4.50 per brl. with halves at $2.75. Newfoundland shore herring $4 to $4.25 and Cape Breton do. $5.25 to $5.50. There are no Labrador salmon in market, while B. C. are at $12. No. 1 red sea trout are at $9 and dry cod $4.50.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

BLUE SOAP.

The object is to produce a blue soap, the use of which renders the subsequent employment of blue in laundry work unnecessary. Incorporate with ordinary soap a solution of aniline green in strong acetic acid. By the action of the alkali of the soap, the green is converted into blue, uniformly coloring the mass.

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

A DEAD BEAT LIST.

There are people who contract debts to their tradesmen with the deliberate intention of never paying them ; there are others, more improvident than callous, who buy beyond their means to pay, when they get a chance to buy on credit. Both classes, pecuniarily worthless, fall into the category of dead-beats : the dealer who permits a bill to be run by either kind of customer need seldom expect to collect it. He can only retaliate upon these people by taking measures that will put a stop to their operations at other shops. The most effective way to do this, is to put their names on an approved dead-beat list.

A dead-beat list, however, is not a thing to be given unqualified praise. There are good and bad lists of this description. A good one should reach all the dealers in the town or city in which it professes to circulate. It should be official, that is, growing out of the organization of the traders. If it is not official, but run as a private enterprise, it is liable to have rivals, and therefore in the place of one authentic list, there will be as many imperfect lists as there are projectors of them. In such state of things no dealer can have a full list unless he is a subscriberto all the lists got up by private canvassing. This, of course, is expensive.

We hear of a list which contains the names of all the customers of the different subscribers to it, although of course, the names are not classified in relation to any tradesman's business. After each name is the rating, as good, poor, worthless. The fault in this list appears to be, that by it one dealer furnishes his competitors in trade with the names of customers whom he has well tried and found to be good. This at once puts rivals on the track of those desirable customers. The list should benefit the dealer, but the tendency of this one, in one respect, is to harm him. Further, we consider there is less of obloquy in having one's name rated as worthless on such a list, as the name appears in good company. A dead-beat list should appear in all its naked odiousness, isolated and conspicuous.

The most workable and economical scheme we have heard of is suggested by Mr. Thackray, the secretary of the Retail Grocer's Association of this city His idea is that an official list should be got up by the members of the association. The secretary should be required to visit every member a few days before each monthly meeting, and get from every grocer the names of people he has become convinced are dead-beats. From the contributions of the different members of the association the secretary can make up a list to be presented at the monthly meeting, and can there be instructed to mail one to each member. At the end of the year the annual list can be made up from the twelve monthly parts, and issued with the names alphabetically arranged in a single pamphlet. There will be no remarks to show what dealer found any person on the list to be a dead-beat. That is known only to the secretary.

The value of this list is that it will be a reliable authority among that body of traders whom it concerns, namely, the members of the association. It will have a close circulation, and will benefit nobody outside of the members of that body. It would, therefore, be a feature of the association that would greatly increase its membership. In fact, we know of nothing at present in the constitution of the association that has equal drawing value. The tendency of the list would be to throw the dead-beat custom upon those grocers who still remained unorganized, and who, not having access to the list, would not be posted as to who were dead-beats. This disadvantage would soon bring them into the association, and when all were in it, a complete list would be attainable.

The thing would cost little. Instead of the one-cent post-card now used to notify members of the monthly meeting, two cents would be needed to mail the monthly list, and notice of the meeting would be given when the secretary called for each man's name. The extra work thrown on the secretary would cost perhaps a couple of hundred dollars more every year, but we think the growth of the association would make up for this. There is no need to raise the present fee. From the unconsumed balance of the special fund the thing can be easily paid, and, morever, that fund will be yearly increased by the increasing membership. It is vastly cheaper to adopt this plan than to pay $5 a year to have access to a dead-beat list run by private enterprise.

If the secretary should be wanted by members to write collecting letters to persons whose names are submitted to him, preparatory to listing their names, let the grocer who desires the letters written pay for them out of his own pocket.

THE RECENT MERCHANTS' CONVENTION.

Under the above heading our cotemporary, the Canadian Journal of Commerce, in its issue of the 25th ultimo, has quite an important leading article. Important because of its hostile criticism of one of the greatest trade movements that has ever been made by the retail merchants of this country. They state "That they have waited in vain to see any practical results from the resolutions passed." Regarding the practical results we might state that we had the pleasure of attending the Convention, and were much edified by hearing the interchange of opinions on the various subjects brought forward for discussion. And from the numerous expressions made by merchants, we could observe that we were not alone in this respect. The real lasting permanent good results in connection with a movement of this kind are not going to make themselves materially felt in such a short space of time. Trade movements are equally as tardy at making themselves felt as political movements. And the history of the world, both past and present, furnishes ample proof that leading statesmen, divines, and philanthropists, in the furtherance of any great public question, require that an adequate amount of time should be allowed for the better maturing of their various schemes, and that the people affected might better understand what the real objects sought to be attained might be, together with their probable effects when once attained. In order to illustrate our contention we might cite a few cases within our own personal knowledge that have taken place, and that are taking place in our own times. The late Hon. George Brown devoted a large portion of his life to the agitation of that great constitutional question, "Representation, based upon Population;" Mr. DeLesseps, to his Panama canal scheme; Garibaldi, to the consolidation of a united Italy; Capreol, to his Georgian Bay canal scheme; Parnell, to his scheme of Home Rule for Ireland; Kossuth, to the unification and independence of Hungary, and Wiman, to his scheme of trade relations between Canada and the United States. We might, to an unlimited extent, go on citing case after case by way of proof of a kindred nature, but enough has already been advanced to show to our own satisfaction, and we trust to the satisfaction of the readers of THE GROCER, to thoroughly entrench us in our contention, that, in order to bring about any great commercial change, a fair amount of time should be allowed, otherwise the movement might be brought to an abrupt termination, without anything being accomplished towards a realization of the cherished object, and leaving nothing as a recompense for the waste of time and energies, without taking into account the cares, troubles and anxieties, bestowed upon it. Regarding the reference made about the Hamilton wholesale ready-made clothing dealer, this is a matter of which we know nothing, but we are rather inclined to think that the writer of the article in question is of the opinion that the Hamilton man in this instance got the inside track of the Montreal clothing men. If he did, so much the better for himself. But we can assure our cotemporary that it did not in the slightest interfere with the deliberations of the Convention. As a matter of fact, however, the honrable gentleman was in Russia at the time of the Convention, and could not therefore tell the retailers present how much benefit his "cheap Oak Halls do the retail trade," we are not in a position to know, and do not intend to make any further enquiries in the matter in order that we might know. But this we are aware of: That the merchants who attended the Convention sent forth no uncertain sound regarding what they thought of merchants who carried on a wholesale business in one town, and retail business in another town.

They considered this a fit and proper subject to be discussed, and their opinions put upon record at a future meeting of the association. This is a question like all other questions to which there are two sides. A capitalist has a pe fect right to carry on business as a wholesale and retail merchant in as many places as he sees fit to do so. Yet, if an adverse opinion was placed upon record by a retail merchants' association, we question if it would be pursuing a wise policy to do so, especially if he was aware that in doing so he would have to combat a great united trade reform movement. The article states further, "After all the talk and purchasing all the Hamilton merchants could sell them the Convention adjourned sine die." From this statement we would infer that the writer of the above could not have devoted as much care and attention by way of reading up what had transpired at the Convention as he should have done, or he would not have penned the statement he therein makes, "That the convention adjourned sine die," when the contrary are the facts of the case. Before the Convention adjourned a motion was carried appointing a special committee to draft up a constitution and code of by-laws, after which a motion was carried which reads as follows, "That this convention do now adjourn to meet again at the call of the President." On the face of this, where is there any particle of evidence to warrant the writer in coming to any such rash conclusion, "That the convention adjourned sine die?" No, gentlemen it is not going to die but will assert its position in a more determined manner than it has heretofore done. There is a great work in store for it which has yet to be accomplished. Its aims are high and elevating, its objects are noble and commendable, it can afford to be sneered at, because it will simply have the same effect as if nothing had been either said or written, but it cannot afford to be so ignominiously snuffed out in any such a manner. Read the resolution adopted at the Convention, setting forth what the objects of the association are; peruse its records before arriving at any such rash conclusions. Whether or not the Hamilton merchants plied their wares to the best of advantage, is a matter of indifference to us. We presume the Hamilton merchants are like the merchants in all other towns, in their always having an "eye to business." But this we do know, that the Hamilton merchants exalted themselves beyond our expectations in their unbounded hospitality extended to the retail merchants attending the Convention. Now since the clothing man and the wholesale grocers have been sat upon, we find the next one coming under the law is the senior partner of the only wholesale dry goods house in the city, and who has the honor of being president of the association, the remarks regarding him being, "that one of the latter with his six years' experience in the Canadian dry goods trade enumerates some rather crude ideas." What can be the matter with our worthy scribe in the far east? Is he suffering from an attack of billiousness or some kindred malady, which causes him to make the President of the Business Mens' Association of Ontario the special object of his censure? or does it simply emanate from the same feeling exhibited towards the Hamilton wholesale merchants generally? During our stay at the Convention, which was the greater part of the time the Convention was in session, our observations were that the chairman discharged the various duties devolving upon him to the entire satisfaction of all the delegates who honored the Convention with their presence. It certainly reflects great credit upon him, that, it being the first time he ever acted as chairman of such a large gathering, he should have done so well. For in conjunction with discharging the duties of the chairman, he also gave a number of extempore addresses on trade and commerce generally, which were well received and highly appreciated, and we think very justly, because the subject matter contained in those addresses, instead of being "of a crude order," was the very reverse and calculated to increase the highest commercial integrity amongst the merchants whom he was addressing, and through them the merchants throughout the province. What better could he have done to merit the confidence and esteem of the mercantile community throughout the province? At last we have come to a part where our cotemporary and ourselves cordially agree, where he states, "How is a reformation in the retail trade to be brought about? Not by the retailers themselves." It is kind of gratifying to us that we can even find one clause with which we do not take issue; but when we get this length we are sorry to say that all at once our views become as adverse as the east is distant from the west. Because, while we admit that the retailers, of themselves, cannot reform all they would like to grapple with, it shows more forcibily the necessity of having such an association as this to work in harmony with the wholesale merchants, who already have an association of their own, and who have evinced a desire to meet the retailers in a straightforward, honorable manner, and work in unison with them in carrying out all good and reasonable reforms for the general benefit of the combined trade interests, and the province at large. We fail to see any reason why this cannot be accomplished, and can state without fear of contradiction that this feeling pervaded the Convention. To our utter surprise and astonishment, we have come to another clause with which we also in a qualified manner can agree. "We want a uniform law for the liquidation of the estates of insolvents, really a new insolvent act with the discharge clause omitted." But instead of advocating organization with a view of carrying out his fondly cherished desire, he advises the merchants, when they go home, to support such a scheme. No doubt the merchants have done so, but the support will be of a very feeble kind compared with the united support of a provincial association of retail merchants. Union is truly a source of strength, although Napier did not think so when the water was mixed with the mountain dew. We are aware that various boards of trade throughout the country, have time and again petitioned the government for a new insolvent law of the kind above referred to, but those petitions have only emanated from a few centralized points. They were not of a sufficiently united character as to force themselves upon the attention of the government, consequently nothing has been done. A few boards of trade taking action is no evidence to show that the country as a whole wants it. Let the actions of the boards of trade be backed up with a wholesale and a retail merchants' association,and the country will then have given tangible evidence that such a change is desired, and the government will no doubt come to the rational conclusion that the trade interests of the country demand it, and it must be granted.

FIVE CENT SUGAR.

The following is a true story: Passing along one of our principal thoroughfares the other day, a man observed a sample of very nice bright sugar, with a large 5 as the price. Attracted by the bait, the man walked in and asked to be served with a dollar's worth of the sugar. Imagine his surprise when politely informed that they only gave 18 lbs. for the dollar. However, as the sugar was still offered at below its value, he concluded to take three dollars' worth at 18 pounds for the dollar—and then came the climax: "We cannot sell you the sugar unless you take other goods with it." Verily, that man walked out sadder but wiser.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

Conversing with one of the best known grocers in this city upon the question of giving Christmas presents, he remarked: "I have given my trade presents for Christmas ever since I have been in business. I am convinced that it is a custom that does more harm than good. If I give something to Mrs. Smith of a little more value than that which I gave Mrs. Jones, I make bad feeling. I lost a very good customer last winter, because what I sent as a present did not come up in value to what had been expected. On the whole, I believe that the trade would be benefited if no presents were given. I do not get anything from the wholesale firms I trade with as a Christmas present, neither do I expect it. If a customer gets fair value for the money paid it is all that should be expected."

We clip the quotation above from the New York Retail Grocers' Advocate. It contains the essence of all the argument necessary to prove that giving Christmas presents is bad, even in policy. The honesty and economy of the practice we dealt with last week, and touched on the short-sightedness of its policy. In this issue we wish to add some practical recommendations that may simplify the difficulty of breaking with the past or of withstanding the importunity of customers or the example of rivals. For, where a grocer has made presents in the past, or where his customers are hard-faced enough to cite his former practice, or the present example of another grocer, we recognize that there is something slightly embarrassing in the situation.

Let grocers co-operate. Let those of the same place meet and mutually agree that none of them shall make presents, neither by direct offering nor by roundabout conveyance. If organization on the simple basis o a man's promise be not considered strong enough, let each man deposit a small sum of money, to be forfeited as the penalty of breaking faith. When this is done, a reading notice should be sent to all the local papers, stating plainly that every undersigned or above-mentioned grocer shall give no Christmas presents nor the merest quintessence of a holiday gift to any man, woman, or child among his customers. The notice may be brief or lengthy, setting forth reasons or omitting them. What is important is that it should be put in in time and well spread throughout the district. Then let each grocer post conspicuously in his store, a week or ten days before Christmas, a similarly worded large printed card. His customers, thus forewarned, will not be forearmed but disarmed. There may be a good deal of grumbling in the bosoms of their families about the grocer's stint of Christmas cheer, but the discontent will be harmless if all local grocers stand pledged to the same course. The disappointed patrons will find no better treatment by bringing their trade to some other dealer. The grocer should depend on the spontaneous effusiveness of his Christmas greetings to close up the cold void which this year's present is not to fill.

ALLEGED INFRINGEMENT OF A SOAP WRAPPER.

Messrs. Savage & Son, of the Albert Toilet Soap Company, this city, have been requested by the legal advisers of Lever Bros., of "Sunlight" soap, to at once withdraw and destroy certain wrappers used around a new brand of soap call "Daybreak," said wrappers being an alleged infringement of those used by Lever Bros., and registered for "Sunlight" soap. The effect of this has been that the Messrs. Savage have agreed to an unconditional compliance with the demands made upon them.

LEGITIMATE ADVERTISING.

We use the term "legitimate" with reference to the medium of the advertisement. We consider that legitimate advertising which appears in a periodical press, of news, trade, belles-lettres, etc. In these mediums the advertising is undertaken on business principles. That is to say, the publisher aims to do business for the same people for years; he wishes to make it pay, and he therefore does all he can to make his advertising draw; he recognizes it to be his loss if no business flows through the advertisements to those who resort to his columns. The publisher is therefore a responsible person, his future business is pledged, and the advertising he does is legitimate. The fakir has no future business to pledge, because he never works the same place twice.

But while legitimate advertising is the only kind to be countenanced, yet its best effects are to be obtained only by the man who studies how to employ it in the service of his business. Mere publicity is not all of advertising. A man must cultivate his advertisement as carefully as he would train a fine hedge; he must often change the style of it, otherwise it will be as barren in its results as the soil that has been cropped for years without rotation. With how little interest does the eye fall upon an advertisement that is everlastingly the same! We suspect that there is no change in the stock when there is no notice of any in the advertisement. In the columns on all sides of it we are notified of something new in other stocks, and we go to them for our goods. An advertisement should be as much in a dealer's thoughts as the opening and closing of his store, or the buying and keeping of his stock. Advertising is a department of his business to study and keep constantly under his attention. Every change in stock, every change of season, the approach of holiday occasion, should be heralded in the advertisement, and the advertisement itself should be a study of effects. So clearly is the importance of well-worded and often-refreshed advertisements recognized, that in the offices of the best advertising papers a skilled man is kept whose sole work is to write advertisements. These papers believe that unless advertising is so conducted as to benefit their patrons, it is therefore not profitable for themselves.

Not much is to be expected from ill-considered advertising. To advertise without consideration is as foolish as to buy goods regardlessly. Any other kind of business done in the same reckless way as some men's advertising is always done would be overtaken with swift failure.

Nor is a short period of advertising of much use to a dealer. Neither are fitful spells. The man who wishes to succeed must persistently advertise. He will find that if he begins he will be followed by all his rivals, or if he follows them they will continue. He has therefore to stick to it, and it is by this means that he will learn the art. He has to compete in advertising in the same way as he competes in trade, and one kind of competition requires as much "stay" as does the other.

When a trader has collected a large volume of custom through his perseverance and shrewdness as an advertiser, he sometimes feels that his business is now secure, that it will proceed and increase further by its own momentum. The fallacy in this conclusion is in his neglect to note that, since superior advertising made his business a success in the face of less enterprise in his competitor, so can the latter build up a trade by the same means when the stiffness of the successful man's methods have relaxed. To establish a large business and then to neglect it is to divert all the patronage it acquired to the man who keeps on bidding for it. It had as well be recognized at the outset, that advertising is about as fixed and indispensable a necessity in buiness economy as is money. Men have ruinously failed who had no lack of money, and men have suceeded almost incredibly with little money and much advertising.

The men who know how to advertise are the most daring venturers: they will undertake to make money out of anything, and they succeed. They advertise in the right place; they consult the season, the wants of their customers, the nature of their stock; they advertise continually, variously and attractively; they conduct their business in such a way as keep it up to the level of every fresh representation in their advertisement. Each private business is improved by advertising, and the tone of the business of the country is elevated by the general habit.

THEY WILL LIVE IN MONTRAL.

NEW YORK, November 21—At Delmonico's last evening Miss Carrie Gershel, the daughter of Samuel Gershel, was married to Mr. Maurice E. Davis, of Montreal, Rabbi Gottheil officiating. The ceremony took place at seven o'clock in the red room, and was followed by a dinner served at long tables in the ball-room. There were 200 guests present. The bride wore white satin and point lace, with a tulle veil and diamond jewels. There were no bridesmaids. The ushers were Messrs. M. and B. Gershel, E. August, C. Hirschorn and M. and E. Davis. Dancing and a reception followed the dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Davis will live in Montreal.

Frank Maguire, was arrested last Thursday walking off with a small tub of butter which he had taken from the produce store of Hislop, Meldrum & Co., Montreal. He had already disposed of one tub taken in a similar way earlier in the evening.

Flour dropped to $2.15 in Peterboro', on the 19th inst.

A retail grocers' association has been formed in Sarnia. Its object is to prevent the slaughtering of goods and to protect the trade from dead beats.

W. H. Green, grocer, corner Hunter and Aylmer streets, Peterboro', who has been under the doctor's care for some time, has decided to give up business unless his health improves.

Mr. E. E. Adams, merchant, of Leamington, formerly of Glencoe, was married last week to Miss Millie Otton, of Glencoe, youngest daughter of Mr. Denis Otton, of Glencoe.

Seventy horses a day are now slaughtered in Berlin for human food. It is one result of Germany's continued prohibition of the importation of beef and pork from other countries.

The Sunlight Soap Company is going to build an elegant structure adjoining the Waddell building on Notre Dame street, Montreal. There are fifteen competing architects. The cost is to be $100,000.

Mr. P. E. Wetheral, at present with W. J. Gardiner, hardware merchant, Milbrook, is about to start a general store there. Mr. Wetheral is well liked among the people of Millbrook and vicinity, and we wish him every success.

Mr. R. H. Green, of Peterborough, advertises his grocery and provision business for sale. His horse, waggon, and all the other adjuncts of his stand go along with the stock. Continued ill-health is Mr. Green's reason for retiring from a business in which he has prospered for twelve years in the same spot.

John A. Mackie, general merchant, Berlin, retired from business last week. He commenced business in Bridgeport in company with Alexander Davidson, in October, 1849. In 1852 he removed to Berlin where he has been continuously since that date. He is said to be the only person in the county of Waterloo that was selling goods behind a retail counter forty years ago.

The Detroit Grocer and Trade Reporter criticizes Clarke Wallace's Act for the regulation of combinations. It considers there are debatable constructions in the wording of the measure, and condemns as frivolous the lightness of the maximum penalty of $4,000 for infringing it. It is either to the credit or the reproach of our Senate that the Act is open to criticism in these reports.

William McIntosh, the absconding merchant of Aylmer, who was arrested in Buffalo, on a charge of fraud, was released from jail there last week, upon handing over to Mr. G. C. Gibbons, of London, for the benefit of his creditors several thousand dollars in cash and securities, and agreeing to make a full statement and restitution.. Mr. McIntosh has returned to Aylmer and will assist the assignee of his estate as far as possible.

A large number of the friends of Mr. Henry Straitch, of the townline store, Embro, gathered at his residence on the eve of his departure for Kintore, where he is again to open out in the old stand. Mr. and Mrs. Straitch were each presented with a handsome plush chair and their little child with a rattan chair, as a small mark of the respect in which they were held by the people of that neighborhood.

From the Chesley Enterprise we learn that Mr. Wenger who controls the creamery there at the close of the season asked all his patrons if they were satisfied with the system and the Chesley concern in particular. Out of 94 answers sent only five had any complaints, and these all were satisfied except with the "tests." Most of the patrons also promise cows for next season, numbering from 5 to 13. The Enterprise also urges on farmers the advisability of feeding cows in dry seasons so as to keep up the flow of milk. The farmers of that section evidently know when they have an opportunity of bettering their way of dealing with butter.

One night last week Mr. M. Byham, of Belfountain, accidentally knocked one of the lamps from the chandelier, and in a few minutes his store was on fire. However, willing hands and a quantity of water prevented the building falling a prey to the flames. The stock is largely injured by fire and water. Mr. Byham forgot a pocket book, which contained one hundred and twenty-five dollars, and which was laid in a place where the fire did not reach, but some villain secured the contents, as the empty pocket book was found near the store next morning and a five dollar bill which had been overlooked by the sneak thief still remained. Mr. Byham's store was insured, which will partly cover his loss.

The first number of the Canadian Traveller was abstracted from our file of exchanges the morning it reached us. It seems to have been returnad since, but not till after the file had passed through the hands of the editor. This mischance puts us somewhat in arrears with our compliments. We are yet in time, however, before the second number is issued, to welcome the new recruit to the ranks of journalism, and to wish it good fortune in the field. The Canadian Traveller is published in the interests of the commercial travellers of Canada, and will appear the first Wednesday of every month, from the press of the Rose Publishing Co. At the Brockville fall sitting of the Court of Chancery on Friday, the case of J. G. McKenzie & Co., Montreal, against Andrew Blackburn was tried. The defendant was a retailer, who made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, and compromised with all his creditors except McKenzie & Co. at 60 cents on the dollar. The plaintiffs claim that although they signed the dividend sheet as a receipt for the 60 cents that did not discharge the debtor, and they did not sign the deed of release, as they held him and his brother, Thomas Blackburn, as endorser, on the notes for the balance. The defence is that it was accepted in full as payment, and the plaintiffs having signed the dividend sheet it would be in fraud of the other creditors to allow them to recover the balance of 10 cents. Judgment was reserved.

Says St. Marys Journal :—The other evening a tiller of the soil from Downie came to town and rather than return empty handed, he "borrowed" a hive of bees from one of our citizens. Jogging homewards everything went as merry as a wedding-bell until the busy bee discovered a change of location and then everything in that particular hive commenced to hum. The horse was attacked. The animal became restless, then unmanageable, and finally bolted, demolishing both the hive and the wagon. The "honest yeoman" was "marked" by his booty and next day appeared at the police court where an investigation was held, the verdict recorded. The Journal is unable to learn but it is reported that the farmer will bring suit against the owner of the bees to recover damages for "grievous bodily harm" to self and horse.

The Inland Revenue Department has ecently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO, Nov. 29, 1889.

DRY GOODS.

Spring orders come in slowly. The past week has been uneventful, the bad weather putting a damper on trade. The present week's business begins with more buoyancy. The influence of the weather is not confined to its effect upon traffic and consumption, but it depresses or elevates a man's buying spirits. Thus last week's weather tended to impair the need of buyers even for spring business. Everything continues firm. Canadian cotton and woollen staples show no sign of relaxing. Some of the leading woollen mills are putting on an advance of 5 per cent. The stocks of manufactured cotton are much lower than they were believed to be, even lower than last year at the same season. The safeguard against over production lies in the greatly diversified output of the mills. Many varieties of pattern and fabric continue to be added to their products. This prevents a congestion, and helps to supply a stock previously entirely filled by importation.

HARDWARE.

The great advance in the prices of raw material continues to impress itself on one article after another of manufactured goods. The latest increase is on horse nails, which are now up to 50 and 10 off. An advance made some time ago by Jos. Rogers & Sons on their cutlery causes that class of goods to reach us from 6 to 10 per cent. dearer than they were. In wrought goods again the advance in iron is reflected. Trade continues, however, to be favored by the weather and is very good.

GROCERIES.

Business has been fairly good all week, but payments continue dull. There is considerable excitement in the market. Valencias have advanced over ½c. per lb., and sugar having firmed up it gives more animation to trade and a healthy tone to the whole market. The advance in sugars seems only reasonable, but the erratic course of the market for this staple in the past makes buyers very charry of buying even if the market warranted the advance. The movement in general goods is good if not a little better than the same date last year. Orders are plentiful in number, but small in bulk.

SUGAR.

Demand is better, and there is an improved tone to the markets. Yellows are firm, with nothing offering under 5½c. Whites are unchanged.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Demand is good; prices steady, and supply ample.

TEAS.

The market is less active, but prices are steady, and a healthy tone prevails.

COFFEES.

Rio cables report the market up to about 1c., with prices unsettled. On spot, prices are firm all round.

CANNED GOODS.

In canned goods there is very little doing. A few odd cases of tomatoes are going out at $1.15 to $1.25; corn at $1.10 to $1.15; peaches at $3.25 for 3's. Lobsters are very firm; Star cannot be bought under $1.85 and flats $2.25.

GREEN FRUIT.

Most of the dealers have now received their consignments of Florida oranges, only one or two of them having had them in stock until this week. Florida russets are worth $3.50 to $4.50 per box, and Florida fancy brights are $4 to $4.50. The Jamaica oranges are going out of stock, the season's crop being usually pretty well sold by the time the Floridas arrive. Jamaicas are worth from 6 to $8 per barrel. Fancy wax Messina lemons are out of stock, but there is a grade of Messinas selling at $5 per box. Malaga lemons are also nearly off the market, $2.50 to $3.50 being the prices per box of those yet to be had. Palermos have displaced nearly all other stocks, being the only fresh crop. They are worth $3.50 to $4.00 for 360 boxes, and $5.50 to $6.00 for 300 boxes. Carolina sweet potatoes are $3.50 to $4.00 per box, and Illinois sweets are $4.50 to $5.00 per box. Malaga grapes are $5.50, up to $7 for extra heavy weights.

DRIED FRUITS.

Generally firm with an upward tendency. Currants are very firm and likely to advance; on the spot new are selling on a basis of 5¼ to 5⅜c. for barrels. Figs are fairly active and about steady. Prunes are in active demand but very few new are in yet; dealers are looking anxiously for their arrival; hogsheads are selling to arrive at 4½c. Valencia raisins are firm at 6½c. for off-stalk, though some sales have been made as low as 6¼c.; all markets are higher, and Dema cables the stock exhausted. Sultanas are firm at 9¼ to 9½c. Malagas are unchanged with a good demand. London layers are selling at $3.25 to $3.35.

CRANBERRIES.

Cape Cod cranberries are $8 to $9.50 per barrel, and $3 to $3.25 per box.

NUTS.

Steady and fairly active. Soft shell almonds have advanced 1c. per lb. They are quoted at 15c.

FISH.

Dulness continues. There is no change in the torpid condition of fresh water fish reported last week. Salmon trout 5c.; blueback herring $2 per hundred count; pike and pickerel 4c. per lb. The slackness of the current market is favorable to the laying in of winter stocks at the fish houses. Labrador herring is 5 to $5.50 per barrel, and

MARKETS—Continued

$2.25 to $3.75 per half barrel; shore herring is $4 per barrel and $2.25 per half barrel; boneless cod is 6c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes, and 8c. per lb. in smaller quantities; boneless fish is 4½ to 5c. per lb.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

For choice creamery pack there is always a demand of a special class, and the supply on the market is not more than equal to this demand, consequently there will be consumers for good creamery pack that will absorb it all, no matter what the fluctuations are in the different grades of butter of the dairy make. The speculators who have hold of the best product of the creamery are therefore asking prices that are increasing, 25 to 27c. being now paid by those who want the article. Dairy butter is plentiful and the best of it is worth from 16 to 18c., the latter being paid for only the more choice. Store-packed butter is still but slow to find buyers. Prices show that there are many shades of difference in the quality of the article offered, 10 and 15c. representing the extreme points of low and high prices. Some large rolls have sold as low as 13c., but the most common figures paid are 15 and 16c., although some bring 17c. Pound rolls are worth 20 to 23c. All butter is in fair supply.

Cheese has undergone no change either in the price or the situation of the market; 10 to 11c. is still the price offered by the buyers, and the makers are still firm for more. There is nothing likely to be made on cheese by the dealers, any more than there was last year. Prices run high when stocks are to be replenished.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—The only fall apples now selling are the most select. It is only those which have remained marketable, and have been kept over for high prices. They now sell at the same figure as winter apples, on account of their lateness and their quality. Winter apples, in car lots, are $2.50 to $3 per barrel. In small quantities they bring $2.75 to $3.50. The supply from the Michigan orchards tends to keep prices only reasonably light.

BEANS—Do not seem to be much heeded. They are worth from $1.60 to $2, according to quality. The demand for home consumption is sluggish, and buyers are indifferent to stocks for shipping, as most of the camps have their orders filled.

DRIED APPLES—There are plenty to be had; but they are slow to offer at prevailing prices, 5½ and 6c. On the other hand, buyers are not eager for supplies at these figures, or apparently at any other.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The packers still hold for 9 and 10c., believing that the short crop favors them, and that the costliness of their raw material justifies them. But there are no buyers. Consumers have not signified any interest in evaporated apples yet, and buyers and sellers are not likely to be brought together for some time.

EGGS—Limed eggs are plentiful at 16 to 18c. Fresh eggs grow scarcer at 18 to 21c., the latter price being given only for strictly fresh. New laid eggs are worth 22 to 24c. The market increases in firmness with approach of Christmas.

GAME—Partridges are 50 to 60c. per brace, and scarce. Black and mallard ducks 75 to 80c. per brace; wood ducks 30 to 40c. per brace; pintails 50 to 55c. per brace; butter balls and teal 25 to 30c per brace. Pigeons are 20c. per brace. Rabbits 25 to 30c. per pair. Venison is 4½ to 5c. per lb. in the carcases, and 9 to 10c. in haunches and saddles. Prairie chickens are now in, and sell at $1.75 per brace. Quail are $2 to $2.50 per dozen.

HAY—No. 1 pressed hay is $10 to $10.50 on track. No. 2 hay, not in any demand, $7 to $8. No. 1 hay, loose on street, is $12 to $14, and No. 2, loose, is $7 to $10. The supply is about in the proportion which makes trade good.

HIDES—An old dealer says that in an experience of 26 years he never found prices so low. Cured hides are now sold in car lots at 5c. which a year ago brought 7c. Hides seem to be plentiful all over the world. The large scale on which ranching is carried on may have something to do with the low prices. At present, of course, colder weather increases butchering. Greenhides are $4.50 for No. 1, and $3.50 for No. 2.

HONEY—10 to 12½c. for large quantities, and 12 to 14c. for small quantities are paid for clear honey. In the comb large quantities sell for 18 and 20c., and in small quantities at 21 and 22c. The great amount consumed this fall tends to raise prices. Dearness in other lines of food-extras has worked along with the abundance and cheapness of honey to draw it into more general consumption.

HOPS—Very good ones are still at 15 to 18c. and very common ones at 10 to 12c. There is little business done outside of brewery purchases.

OATS—Are worth 29 to 30c. in car lots, and are worth 32 to 33c. in small offerings. There is no scarcity.

ONIONS—Are marketed at $1.50 and $1.75. Trade in onions is dull, as the demand has run out for large supplies.

POTATOES—Are not notably scarce, and the present supply keeps prices regular, at 50 to 55c. in car lots. Small quantities are worth 60 to 65c. per bag.

POULTRY—Geese are 6 to 7c. per lb.; turkeys, 10 to 11c.; ducks are scarce at 50 to 80c. per pair, and chickens are 35 to 55c. per pair.

STRAW—Wheat straw is not called for, and $6 is only a nominal quotation. Tight pressed oat is $6.50, bulk oat is $6 to $7, and sheaf oat is $10 to $11.

SKINS—No. 1 calf is 6c., No. 2 calf is 5c. Sheepskins are 90c. to $1, and are wanted.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¾ to 2c. Rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL—Most of the wool in the country has now been picked up, and prices, although not high, are very firm as a consequence of the scarcity. Fleece wool is 21c. Pulled wool, lowest, 24c.; super 25c.; extra super, 29c.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is worth 8 to 8¼c. and is not very plentiful. Breakfast bacon is 11 to 12c. and roll bacon is 9 to 10c.

DRESSED HOGS—Mixed lots in car-loads are offering at $5.70 here, and choice lots at $5.75. The weights range from 115 lbs. to 215. The price of corn has risen in the West and pork raisers are offering a little lighter in weight.

HAMS—Green hams are 10 to 11c. Cured 12 to 12½c. There are few to be had. The demand is becoming active.

LARD—American tubs 8¾ to 9c.; pails 9 to 9½c. Canadian tubs 9½ to 10c.; pails 10 to 10½c.

MESS PORK—$14 to $14.50. Very choice brings $15. There is little stock on hand, as packers have not yet begun to cut up.

As a result of a conference on Tuesday afternoon between the Wholesale Grocers' Guild and the Retail Grocers' Aesociation in this city, it was agreed that the two bodies should act in concert to secure the nulification of the present vexatious tobacco regulations. The retailers, as the more familiar with the portion of the regulations that are vexatious, are to prepare a list of the amendments they would suggest, and the following committee of the wholesale guild are to cooperate with a committee of retailers to have the grievances made less oppressive—Messrs. Ince, Davidson, and Blain.

SKILFUL BUYING.

If the old trade axiom, "Goods well bought are half sold," be true, and many successful merchants so hold, it follows that the purchasing of goods is one of the most important duties attached to the mercantile vocation and that the more carefully and skilfully this duty be performed the greater are the merchant's chances of success. The whole character of a business man is generally revealed in the act of buying. His prudence and judgment are thoroughly tested and his ability to resist the skilful manipulations of the salesman. If he lacks the moral courage or the firmness to say "No," when that monosyllable is required, when the seller is straining every nerve and using all the art that he is master of to induce the merchant to order a grade or quality of goods which his judgment tells him are not suitable to his trade, then that merchant should either get out of the mercantile branch of business or turn over the purchasing department to a better fitted subordinate. These points, however, are so obvious that there is no need of dilating upon them, but there are other features of the problem of successful buying that are quite often neglected by storekeepers, because of the fact that a greater or less degree of success has been attained in spite of their neglect. No one familiar with the general store, though only as a customer, can be oblivious of the fact that it is a common occurrence for these establishments to run suddenly out of goods to the annoyance of customers and the loss of the proprietors. A patron as a rule does not feel annoyed when, upon asking for a certain article he is told that the dealer does not handle it. He knows that it is unreasonable to expect a retail establishment to keep all the multifarious goods and grades of goods in the market, but he has reason to feel angry when goods that he has been buying right along cannot be had when needed from his dealer. This running out of articles in steady demand can be prevented by the exercise of forethought, or what is still better, a proper system of registering the absence of goods and keeping run of the stock. As to the variety of the stock, it is a difficult matter to lay down rules to govern it; the demand is perhaps the best criterion of this point, but in the successful solution of this question the storekeeper's ability is better tested than perhaps in any other way. Another bad practice which still prevails to some extent among retailers, though not so commonly as in former years, is that of buying in too large quantities and thus incurring the risk of goods getting shop-worn and damaged or out of date, as well as the liability of loss from a decline of the markets. Getting out of goods and over-buying may be termed the retail dealer's Scylla and Charybdis; to steer clear of both dangers

BE EXPLICIT IN MAKING BARGAINS.

It is evident that many law suits and unpleasant business differences, and considerable loss of money, could be avoided by explicitness in asking and giving prices, in ordering and in making statements, either oral or written, regarding the details of transactions. Kicks and complaints are very common in the lumber business, says the Lumberman, and it applies equally to business transactions of every kind. Trouble arises from misunderstandings that might easily have been averted by carefulness at the outset of a deal, while in other instances definiteness of statement on the part of buyer or seller, in event of controversy, would have made plain the merits of a case that looks decidedly mixed because too much has been taken for granted. Inquiries often reach the Lumberman office regarding the right or wrong of a disputed point involving a rule or custom, but as a general thing a decision cannot be made without going into details that the inquirer omits to furnish. An ambiguous order should never be given, nor should goods be forwarded on the strength of it. If there is any opening for a mistake as to the dimensions or quality of stuff that is ordered, all the points should be definitely stated. Orders by telegraph especially are often too brief, are open to misconstruction, or lacking in detail. If goods are so urgently wanted that they are telegraphed for, it is certainly highly important that there should be nothing wrong on their arrival. The great aim of most persons in writing out a message is to save a few cents by boiling it down—an economy that often loses dollars for the sender. An order by telegram should be made to state exactly what is wanted, no matter how many words are required, and then in case of a dispute the buyer will have more ground to stand on.

BEET SUGAR IN CANADA.

The subject of cultivating the sugar-beet in Canada is dealt with in a letter to last Friday's Empire. The writer of that letter, Mr. F. J. Gibson holds that in soil and climate, Ontario is as well fitted for growing the beet as are the European countries in which it is now so largely produced. It s his opinion that Canada can raise all the sugar she needs for her own use, and he believes that she can appear as a seller in the market of the world. He shows that in Germany, Belgium, France, Austria, Hungary, there are now eleven hundred and two factories, which last year put out nearly two million tons of raw sugar, employing in the growth and manufacture over a million people. The growth of the sugar beet was pronounced a failure in Europe after Germany's first experiment. This, Mr. Gibson says, should encourage us to make another trial, and not to be disheartened by the failure which attended our former effort. He advises thal the Canadian Government offer an export bounty, to induce operators to undertake the cultivation of sugar beet. It is not unlikely that the growth and manufacture of sugar will soon follow the refining of it which we now have estalished.

Messrs. Eckardt, Kyle & Co., showed THE GROCER a sample of Diamond Crystal Salt which they control on this market. The salt is of very fine quality and excellent strength, and unlike most table salts does not cake. It is manufactured at St. Clair, Michigan. It has sold well wherever introduced. It is put up in 3, 5, 8, 10 and 14 lb. bags.

Our warehouse is at present presenting a scene of unusual activity. Our buyer has started for the Potteries of England and Germany this week, and we are cleaning out lines in order to make room for new goods. The trade will find it to their advantage to give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. COME AND SEE US.

D. M. Donald, head of the Donald Produce Company, Norwich, has disappeared. Mr. Donald, it is alleged, left Norwich last week for the Western States, but it was not known until Friday that the firm would go under. The firm has enjoyed the confidence of the whole neighborhood, and this, coupled with the fact that a large number of their employes had nearly all their pay kept back for the past three or four months, makes the crash come all the harder. Their liabilities are estimated at from $30,000 to $40,000, while their assets are placed at from $3,000 to $4,000. The firm was incorporated in 1882 for a period, it is said, of five years, under the style of the Donald Produce Company (Ltd.) There were five members then, three living in Montreal, one in Toronto and Mr. Donald, the manager. They did an extensive business in cider, jellies, dried fruits, etc., and last spring employed 120 hands, men, women and boys. Their employes now have claims against them amounting to from $5 up to $45, and Norwich citizens sums from $50 to $1,000. It is claimed they owe their employes about $1,500. Some time ago the town of Norwich passed a by-law granting the concern a certain sum of money as a bonus. Some of the money was paid, but afterwards legal proceedings were taken and the by-law quashed through some legal defects. Over 100 hands are thrown out of employment with no prospects of anything the coming winter. Mass meetings of creditors have been held in the town hall and steps will be taken to hold the silent members of the firm n Montr eal and Toronto responsible.

Mr. A W. Humphries, Parkhill, does an extensive business in beekeepers' supplies. He is now offering three tons of beautiful honey from fruit-bloom, clover, and basswood. It can be shipped in any way the buyer chooses.

SELLING OATMEAL.

A few weeks ago we had an article on the manufacture of oatmeal, and we now lay before the trade a few thoughts on selling this valuable article of food.

The consumption of oatmeal has largely increased in Canada since the introduction of the roller system, and the quantity consumed could easily be doubled if millers and dealers would furnish a better article and cleaner quality of goods. Like the buying of grain by millers from farmers, or from warehouses, the same price is paid if the grain is called wheat or oats without the slightest regard to quality, and on the very same basis many dealers will buy oatmeal without regard to quality, but every time will take that offered at the lowest price.

Since the breaking up of the oatmeal "Combine" a few mills have been paying more attention to the quality of their product, by selecting the best oats and the addition of suitable cleaning machinery, and these mills are furnishing their customers with a first-class article, with the result that those dealers that will only order from a mill making a choice article are selling double the quantity.

The dealer that will buy a poor article of oatmeal because it is offered 10c. to 20c. per barrel less money is making a mistake, as having the good article he will sell double the quantity at about the same profit. Many families that now only use oatmeal once a week could be easily persuaded to use it daily.

The price at which the best roller is now sold by millers is so low that the smallest dealer can get it at from $2.40 to $2.50 per 100 lbs. delivered at any village in western Ontario, in small quantities from city wholesale dealers. While in larger quantities the price is very much less.

Another short sighted practice adopted by some retailers of oatmeal is to charge 4c. and even 5c. per lb., while buying at 2c. to 2½c. If these dealers would try selling for awhile at a profit of say ½c. per lb., or 50c. per sack they would soon require to buy in half ton lots instead of single barrels. We are informed that some grocers, doing a fair trade in other lines,only retail one barrel per month of oatmeal, and we think if they would keep only a good article and be content with a moderate profit their sales would increase.

While the Combination was in operation most of the oatmeal millers sent out agents to canvass for orders, but since the break up those mills making a good article have discontinued the practice, and the increased sales by their customers keep their mills going steadily.

The agents of some mills are offering in one to five barrel lots, delivered at same price as car lots, which is very unbusinesslike, and dealers should watch the quality of oatmeal offered in this way, as no miller can afford to sell carloads and small lots at the same price.

HOLIDAY STOCK.

Christmas comes but once a year, and the favor in which it stands as a festive occasion is not inconsiderably due to this fact. If it came twice a year, the sum of the two moieties of social enjoyment would fall very short of the superabundance of merry-making which now overflows from the 25th of December and protracts Christmas into a seven-day jollification. These seven days are days of good living. Those whose habit it is to live sumptuously every day celebrate the holidays by a succession of banquets; those whose lot obliges them to fare sparingly on all other days, pinch themselves the more towards the end of the year to afford a good dinner on Christmas; and the man whose niggardly nature keeps his household near famine's door, not uncommonly enlarges his heart to provide Christmas cheer.

Another circumstance which contributes to the popularity of the holiday season is the time of year at which it falls. The time of year is favored, normally, by weather, leisure, and money circulation. Nothing heightens the spirits more than bracing weather, and it is due at the meeting of the years. In the agricultural districts there is usually little to do in the winter months, time can be afforded for enjoyment. Money is then changing hands, as a rule, more than at any other time, because the grain and produce markets have become settled. The holiday season is hapy in its date.

The holiday season is the grocer's harvest. It will soon be ready to his hand. If all people feast at Christmas they must buy the wherewithal, and why should they not be nice in their taste, as well as liberal of their outlay on an occasion so special? They will be so. They want choice goods and they may as well get them from their old everyday grocer as from any other source, provided their grocer keeps them. If they find nothing at his store but the homely, familiar wares which they were accustomed to see there in the dog-days and the fogs of November, they will not buy from him. Fine, new, toothsome Christmas extras are what they are after, and what they will search for until they get them. The local grocer must furnish his store with such goods, and should beforehand inform himself what the rarities of the season are.

Raisins and currants are the chief staples in Christmas groceries, and high grades of these specially for the holiday trade are now in the wholesale stocks. Fine dessert raisins, fancy Malaga goods, are the connoisseur clusters, dessert clusters, Dehesa clusters, Imperial Russian clusters. The superior Dehesa layers, and the finest Vega layers, are the choicest for cooking purposes. The Vostizza, Philander and Patras represent the best growth of the currant crop, and are laid in for this season's sale. Prunes are another fruit which comes in for its share of holiday consumption, and are most tastefully put up this year. They are to be had in boxes of various weights, and in glass jars of one, two, and four pounds weight. Figs are winning a larger place in the culinary affections. Packages of Eleme, mats of Malaga, boxes and bags of natural figs have already found their way into the warehouses. Crystallized Smyrna figs, and crystallized California apricots are also in. All nut-stocks are replenished now, and they include : Sicily filberts ; Bordeaux, Marbot, Grenoble and Naples walnuts ; Brazil nuts ; Ivica and Terragona (soft-shell) almonds ; shelled Canary, Valencia, and Jordan almonds ; Texas polished pecans ; Virginia peanuts ; English and Italian peels—lemon, orange and citron—have been received, and are as carefully selected and put up as it is usual for them to be at this time of year. Spices, flavors, etc., should be bought with a special view to Christmas service, and near enough to the time of their use to secure their full gusto. Glass goods have put on an attractive holiday dress.

Fine goods are wanted at this season, and no grocer should be at a disadvantage to know what fine goods are to be had. Otherwise, the Christmas trade will fall into the hands of those dealers who have acquainted themselves with the stocks on the market, and these by one Christmas success will make for themselves a name as high-class holiday purveyors.

The character of the demand being self-evident, it is for the local dealer to inform himself as to its dimensions. He must buy fine goods, but must guard against overloading himself. The fancy stock must be run off in the holiday season. No remains of it are desirable. The grocer must calculate carefully how many families he will be apt to supply, and estimate accordingly what stock it is prudent to lay in. For, in addition to the close of the demand for fancy stock, there is great liability to loss in the keeping of such stock. The Brazil nut is very hard to keep. When it is preserved from spoiling it is apt to shrink until it is the mere mummy of its healthy self. Raisins after due time exude the saccharine matter which preserves them, and which after it is shed is found candied on their coat. Confectionery articles are of little use when their freshness is gone. As a last word, let not the grocer forget to lay in a little holly and mistletoe if he can get them.

"Shun liquor drinking, speculation and endorsation."—Andrew Carnegie.

PREVENTIBLE LOSSES.

In three former numbers we have had something to say about the part played in the manufacture of food products by adulteration and counterfeiting. This week we beg to draw the serious attention of our readers to another influence that has much to do with the debasing of goods, and that is defective preservation. This is a source of deterioration which the manufacturer is not responsible for; it is the more preventible, because the means are in the grocer's own hands. Pure goods are often damaged by heedless exposure or long holding in retail stocks. Sunshine, moisture, heat, and oxidation are too little reckoned with as destroyers of the value of goods. Because some commodities appear to keep well in certain circumstances through the winter, it does not follow that the same circumstances will be harmless in summer. Vegetables, butter, eggs, cured pork, and many other of the coarser articles kept in a country stock are known to suffer from neglect of the most obvious precautions to store, ventilate, or isolate their property. Injury, however, to articles of this kind usually opens a dealer's eyes to the wisdom of studying the conditions of safe stock keeping, so far as they are regarded, so that, to-day, there is less loss on such articles than there ever was before.

But there are other articles in a grocer's store, which, unlike country produce, lose their finest qualities without reaching a condition which cries out for amelioration. When eggs, meat, etc., begin to suffer from the ill effects of their surroundings, the grocer soon has his attention called to them. But there are delicate articles whose vitality escapes long before they reach the consumer, and the dealer remains in ignorance. The customer, perhaps, complains that a certain supply of cinnamon, or cassia, or allspice is not so good as some other, bought a few weeks ago. Both may have come from the same package, and the dealer therefore thinks the criticism childish, neglecting to note that what was sold latterly may be a good deal the worse of its careless keeping.

All spices, after they are ground, decline in strength if they are not kept in almost air-tight packages. The fine, full aroma which at the outset is almost aggressive in its assertiveness, becomes daily less noticeable, as from the loose boxes and drawers in which the spice is held the flavor continues to leak. Some cassia seems more tenacious of its strength, but the reason is that cassia-bugs have been ground along with a late-crop product to give it vigor. In the same way, ground cloves, when not of the first picking, are similarly reinforced. Because cloves have greater richness in vegetable oil than most other spices, they are, when ground, perhaps less volatile than are other spices. They need care, however, as do all spices. Vanilla beans, although held by some to be better old than new, are not as good unless they have been kept in close packages.

All extracts and essential oils must be kept in securely stopped bottles, in dark and cool storage. Light, heat, and evaporation soon take all the characteristics out of this class of stock, and make the pure article little better than the adulterated. In buying such goods the grocer should see that what he gets is freshly prepared and safely put up. Extracts and essences are not like whiskey—they do not improve by age.

Baking powders are another class of stock that should never be allowed to grow old on the hands of the retailer. All baking powder put up in a wheat-flower dilutant will draw moisture and will, therefore, cake. It is then little use. But while this particular form of damage is not incident to baking powders put up in cornstarch, yet these are liable to part with their leavening principle, whether cream of tartar or alum, by exposure to evaporation or absorption. All baking powders should be put up in tin cans ; it is impossible for paper packages long to protect their contents from external influences.

The grocer must buy perishable articles in small quantities. He should replenish his stock of baking powders, essential oils and extracts, and the spices whose flavors are the most evanescent, once a month. Thus will he keep up his name as a reliable purveyor to the gastronomic tastes, and will place his trade on firm foundations.

SHOW YOUR STOCK.

It is important to lay in a fine Christmas stock. Let the stock announce itself. It is not to be put away under the counter or stored in the cellar. It is to sell on its charms, and all that can be done to enhance those, to bring them out into relief, and into conspicuous notice should be cheerfully done. One reason is, that the holidays are a season when pleasing and beautiful effects are sought to be attained by all classes of traders ; the confectioner, the butcher, the bookseller, the grocer, the hardware merchant, etc., vie with each other in the beautifying of their wares ; their shelves, their walls, their counters, their windows, consequently present a picture that makes the passers by linger, and makes the season of the holly and the mistletoe dearer to him. Amid the general ornamentation, heightened at night by bright lights shining through clear windows, the retail store that does not take on holiday attire will virtually envelope itself in sackcloth and desolation. It may have the goods, but if it despises the arts or shirks the labor of exhibiting them takingly, it will pay the penalty in a forfeiture of trade. It will be a woefully lonely place, if there are any smart rivals within ten miles.

There is another reason besides the desirableness of conforming with the Christmas usage, and that is, because a display of goods is a stimulus to buying. Everybody knows that it is only a moderate proportion of our own pnrchases that we buy by premeditation. Of course, we go to a store, usually because there is something that we feel beforehand we want to buy. But when we look at something we did not expect to see; when we get our eye on a surprising specimen of what we didn't think we wanted, we generally yield to the temptation. To the shelf and window dresser is due the triumph, and to him accrues the profit.

Every retailer should be an adept in the art of display. Those who are, sometimes outstrip, with poor stock, the men who carry the best goods, but allow them to blush unseen. The artifices by which a man keeps his stock winsome are akin to those of the accomplished advertiser. The same principle underlies both kinds of business adroitness; in the one a man understands and puts in practice the display of his goods; in the other, he knows how to display notices.

In the old country, more is made of attractive exhibition than here. Windows are kept clear and bright, the stock is re-arranged at short intervals, is often cleaned, shelves and counters are kept tidy, and that indefinable instinct which recognizes the characteristic addition that suits each object is busy at every finger-end. This is not true only of holiday seasons, but in a less degree, of all the year round.

There is such a thing as making too early a display of the Christmas stock, and thus vulgarising one's exhibit betore the demand is on. That fault, a careful dealer will find no difficulty in guarding against. He has to be more careful not to be too late.

TOBACCO REGULATIONS AGAIN.

Messrs. George Robertson & Son, wholesale grocers, Kingston, write us that "notwithstanding your efforts to bring the Law and Regulations regarding the sale of tobacco and cigars before the notice of your readers, we regret to learn that several of our customers have not complied with them, thus resulting in serious loss to themselves." In consequence Messrs. Robertson have issued a circular to their customers, putting in a very concise form the Rules and Rugulations. For the benefit of those who have not received a copy we republish it in full. The circular says:—

The following is an extract from the Regulations:—

Any person who, after the coming into effect of the provisions of this Act, shall open any package containing tobacco or cigars in any other manner than as herein prescribed, viz., so as to break the stamp thereon in so doing, or in whose possession there shall, at any time, be found any package of tobacco or cigars opened otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of this Act, shall for a first offence incur and pay a penalty of twenty-five dollars, and for a second or any subsequent offence shall incur and pay a penalty of one hundred dollars, and—

All packages of tobacco or cigars which shall at any time be found that have been opened otherwise than as herein directed, shall be forfeited and shall be seized by any officer of Excise or Customs and dealt with accordingly.

Dealers in manufactured tobacco must sell whole packages, each package bearing the properly cancelled stamps, except that retail dealers are permitted to sell plug tobacco at retail, from half caddies, caddies, half boxes or boxes, fine cut chewing tobacco from five and ten pound packages, and snuff from five, ten and twenty pound packages, legally stamped, marked and labelled, and put up as prescribed by law. With the exception of snuff, which at times may require to be dampened, the dealers must not withdraw the goods from the stamped package, until actually offered for sale.

Dealers in manufactured tobacco will not be allowed to cut a package in two and sell the divided portions of the package, nor to retail tobacco therefrom.

Retail dealers are allowed to retail cigars from boxes packed, stamped and branded in the manner prescribed by law; but this provision does not authorize or warrant the practice of retailing cigars from show cases. Sales can legally be made only from the stamped package in which originally put up and excised.

Retail dealers in manufactured tobacco may obtain a permit to use a cutting machine during the pleasure of the Minister of Inland Revenue, upon signing a declaration that such machine will be used solely for cutting duty paid "plug" or "cavendish" tobacco for immediate sale thereof to their customers.

Whenever any stamped box, bag, vessel, wrapper, or envelope of any kind, containing tobacco or cigars, is emptied, the stamp or stamps thereon shall be destroyed by the person in whose hands the same may be.

No licensed tobacco or cigar manufacturer, dealer or other person, shall retain in his possession any stamped package used for putting up or packing tobacco or cigars, upon which there remains any Inland Revenue or Customs stamp, or any part of such stamp, after the contents thereof have been removed.

Every person who neglects or refuses to destroy the stamp or stamps on any box, bag, vessel, wrapper or envelope of any kind which has contained tobacco or cigars, and every person who sells or gives away, or who buys or accepts from another any such empty stamped box, vessel, bag, wrapper or envelope of any kind, or the stamp or stamps taken from any such empty box, bag, vessel, wrapper or envelope of any kind, shall, for each such offence, incur and pay a penalty not exceeding one hundred dollars.

The cutting of the stamp in opening the package is not a destruction thereof; the whole stamp must, as soon as the package is emptied, be disfigured or destroyed in such a manner as to render it incapable of being used again.

Mr. Geo. Dunbar is a successful merchant of Blytheswood, and although competition is keen in that village, he more than holds his own. He says he would not be without THE GROCER.

THE BUTTER QUESTION.

HANOVER, Nov. 25th, 1889.

SIR,—The GROCER has been very interesting to me of late. I have been reading up the different communications appearing therein on the butter question, and now at the winding up of those communications I have read with considerable interest your last two editorials of the 15th and 22nd ult. respectively. I am a country storekeeper and not in the habit of writing letters for publication. Therefore I hope you will overlook my defects in setting forth what I wish to get at. You have ventilated the butter question so well that I cannot refrain from expressing my grateful feelings towards you for having put yourself to so much trouble. I feel that as a country storekeeper you have exactly defined my own position. In fact you have described it so well that I am rather inclined to think that in your younger days you may have served some time behind the counter of a general country store, or had extra facilities for knowing the general workings of a country mercantile business. If you have served even a limited amount of time there, so much the better for you in the position you now occupy, and for us who are the readers of the GROCER. It is quite customary for merchants to retail to each other the grievances attached to buying butter. But in your case you have gone right into the minutiæ of the question to such an extent as to shew very clearly where the remedy lies. It therefore remains with the country merchants to decide whether or not they are prepared to assume the responsibility of following it up on the basis you have laid down. If they do carry it out I am satisfied it will precisely have the effect you state, viz., revolutionize the butter business. As you have shewn to your readers who are deeply interested in this question, that your opinions and suggestions are valuable, I would like to know on behalf of my brother merchants and myself before getting away from the butter question for the present, if there are any further ideas or suggestions you could favor us with, that might be of some practical service to us.

Trusting I have not trespassed too much on your space.

I am, yours, etc.,
COUNTRY STOREKEEPER.

[We feel pleased to think that our remarks on this subject have been satisfactory to Country Storekeeper, who seems to be impressed with the idea that we have had experience behind a country merchant's counter. He is right, we have been behind the counter of a general store, and have had to contend with the numerous evils constantly referred to in our columns. Referring to Country Storekeeper's enquiries regarding any further ideas, or suggestions to those already given, an original idea has just occurred to us. Recently the Mowat Government deemed it advisabie in the interest of the country that a Minister of Agriculture should be appointed. In accordance with the conclusion arrived at the Hon. Chas. Drury, a practical agriculturist, was appointed and accepted the position, whose special duties at all times shall be to protect the interests of the agriculturists, and foster and encourage the maturing of any scheme having such in view. It is clearly evident that the producers of butter are the heaviest losers, and that the producers are the agriculturists. If some scheme of inspection and classification were devised and laid before the Commissioner of Agriculture, it would no doubt receive that amount of consideration and attention that the circumstances of the case required. A scheme of this kind is one that at its inception could be put in a more tangible shape by the Business Men's Association than any other way. We would therefore take the liberty of advising Country Storekeeper, if he has not done so already, to at once enroll himself as a member of that association.—ED. GROCER.]

LISTOWEL, Nov. 29th, 1889.

EDITOR GROCER :

SIR,—By an exchange of opinions knowledge is obtained on any subject. I feel that it is so on the butter question. One of your correspondents, under the signature Alex. Taylor, states that good butter should be salted with one ounce to the pound. I am not quite satisfied that this is correct. I was one of the judges of dairy products at one of our neighboring county shows, at which show an exhibit of butter was made by one of the creameries of that county. On the ticket attached to the exhibit was marked, salted with 1 oz. to the pound. On account of it having been so marked, my brother judges and myself examined it very minutely, and concluded that it was oversalted to such an extent as to give the butter the flavor of salt instead of the fine sweet aroma of butter. Probably some of the readers of THE GROCER could give an expression of opinion on the subject.

MERCHANT.

Messrs. R. Reeves & Co., general merchants, Eganville, dissolved partnership and have closed up the store opposite the City hotel. Mr. Reeves continues the business.

The Inland Revenue Department has ecently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

That by the Way

Few stores in St. Thomas show the thrift, push and enterprise of the Waddell Bros. Those young men are hustlers.

Milton Parrot, of Wilton, has obtained a situation in T. Johnson's general store, Centreville.

There have been several recent changes in Orono. Mr. E. H. Betts, baker and grocer, has removed to Barrie, where he and his father have bought out a bakery business.

Smith & Co. have removed to the corner store in Trull's new block erected on the site of the block burned last spring.

C. J. Armstrong, general merchant, has removed across the street into the store vacated by Smith & Co.

T. Benson, former clerk for Smith & Co., has opend up with a new general stock in the premises formerly occupied by J. Procter.

An old friend S. E. Mabey, Grimsby, is still carving tender beef steak for a large number of Grimsby population, and also has a stock of fine groceries for cash customers.

Mr.. McCoy, inland revenue officer of Belleville, managed to seize two sleigh loads of tobacco at Kingston on Thursday and Friday owing to the boxes being illegal.

Mr. A. F. Ede, of Richard Tew & Co., wholesale crockery and glassware dealers, has gone to Europe, to buy and prepare special patterns and designs for next season's goods.

Mr. J. H. Hodges, Welland, will read THE GROCER for the next year. He tells goods at close prices, but makes a profit or keeps his goods. Such men pay 100 cents on the dollar.

Messrs. Edwin Woods, and J. Nicholls, have each started store keeping in Burnt River. Mr. Woods is in the grocery line, while Mr. Nicholl's stock is dry goods, boots and shoes.

Mr. Ned Gillespie, tea merchant and importer, Calgary, has been appointed sole wholesale and retail agent for Calgary and district for Steel, Hayter & Co., Toronto, for their teas.

The cheese factory operated by C. W. Laing & Co., at Sheffield, was consumed by fire last week. About six tons of cheese was burned, involving a loss of $1,200; covered by insurance.

Mr. Williams' store, Port Perry, was again entered by burglars, on Tuesday night, of last week, and about $200 worth of dry goods, clothing, under clothing, jewellery, knives, etc., carried off. The burglars effected an entrance by prying open the front door.

Mr. Frank Sherman, who for the past few years has been chief clerk in the employ of Mr. H. A. Gibson, Morrisburgh, intends shortly opening a grocery and general store in the place lately occupied by Mr. F. B. Carman in the same town.

At a meeting of the Western Ontario Commercial Travellers' Association in London on Saturday night, a committee was appointed to consider the advisability of having a banquet about Christmas. The question will be settled at the quarterly meeting next Saturday.

Mr. A. C. Cole, Grimsby, has the office and wires of the C. P. telegraph in connection with his grocery business. His expenses are light, and with his perservance and push, he must succeed in getting his share of trade from the villagers, as well as the farmers who come in to trade.

Messrs. Egan Bros., St. Thomas, have just closed their first year in the grocery trade, and report it very satisfactory. Lewis says he would not go back to the wholesale trade as a traveller under any circumstances, although the close confinement to the store makes him show the change from the bracing country air at this time of year. They practice the Xmas present system like others in St. Thomas, but deprecate the practice.

Harry Watts, general storekeeper of Iona, is reported to have eloped with his wife's sister, Miss Amanda Rolph, leaving behind his wife and four children, one of whom is an invalid. His creditors have seized the store, and the family will be left almost destitute. Watts was always looked upon as a straightforward fellow, was a prominent churchman, being leader of the church choirs in the village.

Mr. G. Prowton, St. Catharines, has in the past two years done his share for "charity sake" and can now say "no" quite fluently, and finds he is losing no good desirable trade by the use of the words, "not to-day, perhaps some other day." We commend Mr. Prowton's course to other grocerymen. We are not uncharitable ourselves, but we see no valid reason why grocers are bound to support others, and perhaps bring distress into their own families by so doing.

The Delhi Canning Company have made the largest pack this year ever made by them, and it may astonish some to learn that this company shipped a car load of canned goods to Buffalo, N. Y., last week, and made money on them; the duty paid to Uncle Sam was 30 per cent. This sale speaks volumes for the quality of goods packed by this company. If they can compete with New York state goods and pay the duty, it is certainly "quality" that does it.

TRADE SALES.

The groceries, belonging to the Pickard estate, Exeter, were bought for $4,000, by W. S. Reid, London, at 63½c.

The estate of W. Ruddy, general merchant, Uxbridge, shows assets of $5,500, and liabilities of $15,000. The assignee, T. B. Frankish, of Sunderland, and the inspectors will wind up the estate.

The general stock of C. W. Hendershott, of Welland, invoiced at $4,109.88, was sold at auction, on Friday, by W. Y. Brunson, for 45 cents on the dollar.

Mr. W. S. Bean, a Gorrie general merchant, has purchased the store occupied in that village by Mr. W. J. McLaughlin for $1.450. Mr. McLaughlin goes out of business at the end of the year.

The bankrupt stock, valued at $2,001, of Geo. H. Tummonds, general merchant, Barrie, was sold on Tuesday, at Cassidy & Suckling's auction rooms, in this city. A. M. Anderson, Churchill avenue, Toronto, got it at 52½t on the dollar.

CAN A GROCER DELIVER LIQUOR?

A few weeks ago, Mr. W. M. Milligan, the well-known Toronto grocer, received by mail an order from a West Toronto Junction customer for groceries, to be delivered next morning. Along with the order was a request that he would get an order for a supply of rye and ale filled at one of the liquor stores. Mr. Milligan did as his customer asked him. The next morning the contents of his wagon were noted, and Mr. Milligan was summoned before the police court at the Junction, charged with selling liquor outside of the municipality that the liquor could be legally sold in. Mr. Milligan appeared along with his counsel, and pleaded not guilty. He was fined. Having withheld his main evidence, he was in a position to bring up an appeal, which he did before Judge Macdougall in Chambers, and the magistrate's conviction was quashed.

Mr. R. H. Caswell, who has during the past few years won a prominent reputation for his inventions in dairy appliances, left Ingersoll with his family very suddenly on Thursday. It transpires that he purchased last week from James McIlwraith, of South Norwich, 600 boxes of cheese at 11½ cents per lb., which he subsequently disposed of in Hamilton and Toronto at 10½ cents per lb. and left for the United States with $4,000 without going through the formality of paying Mr McIlwraith. Mr. Edwin Caswell, father of the defaulter, is the oldest and one of the most trusted cheese exporters in Canada, and Mr. McIlwraith supposed the son was acting as agent for the father. A number of local creditors have attached the furniture of the absconder.

Miss Hattie Seeton, daughter of R. B. Seeton, wholesale grocer, Halifax, has been married in England to Mr. Stuart, of the royal navy.

OF LONDON, CAPITAL, £50,000.

Under the auspices of the Indian Tea Districts Association.

The object of the company is to push the sale of their product, feeling certain that when systematically brought to consumers' notice its merits will be so manifest as to give it the front rank in public favor, as is the case in Great Britain.

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools: they know a cup of good tea.

Supplies will be held in Canada and the States and the undersigned, or his assistants, will make regular calls on the Trade. Samples will also be promptly forwarded on application.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO, DEC. 5, 1889.

DRY GOODS.

Trade is looking up. Though the prospect was clouded by last week's bad weather, the bright sharp spell begun this week has considerably enlivened business. Orders for grey cotton are coming in freely, a condition of things scarcely to be expected on account of the recent advance in prices and the prevalence of the notion that there would be a break among the makers. That notion was ill-founded, and has been outlined by the firmness of the makers' prices and the wants of dealers. Throughout the country an improved feeling is perceptible.

HARDWARE.

Galvanized, annealed, oiled, and bright iron wire have made a move upward. Our last quotation reported them at the net list rates. They are now 10 per cent. advance on list. Edge tools, such as chisels, planes, etc., have also gone up 10 per cent. Window-glass is another article that is also dearer than it was. Other articles are expected to follow these in the upward course. Goods, of which the bulk of the cost is in the manufacture, may be expected to remain at the same prices as they have been selling for. On the other hand, these wares, of which the cost is mainly in the material, may be expected to rise. The state of trade here is very good, as it always is at the beginning of December. It would be better if the condition of the roads was not so bad.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for canned goods is only fair but quite up to the average of this season of the year. Staples are all very firm with an upward tendency in prices. Packers have made a further advance of 2½c. per doz. in corn, peas and tomatoes, but they are selling very few as the wholesale trade are running very close on stocks. A sale of 2000 cases of corn on pt. is reported to have been completed this week. For retail lots of tomatoes dealers are getting $1.10 to $1.20 and about the same for corn. Canned fish is generally steady, with lobsters decidedly scarce and firm.

COFFEES.

The demand has been good all week, but no change has occurred in value on the market. Foreign advices are firm. On the spot green Rios have been selling at 21c. to 22c. for good, and Javas about 25c. to 27c.

DRIED FRUIT.

The market for dried fruit has been the most active on the list. Currants are steadily held, and are in good demand. A decline of equal to ⅛c. has taken place in foreign markets ; here ordinary Provincials and Filiatras have been selling at 5½c. to 5¾c. in barrels and halves ; there are still a few lots of last seasons held here which are offering at 4⅜ to 4½c. In case goods there has been an active movement in Vostizzas at 7c. to 9c. as to quality. New Hallowee dates are due here, and are selling to arrive at 6c. to 6½c. ; they will likely be in stock this week. Figs are unchanged ; new Smyrna, in bags, have been in good request at 4¾c. to 5c. per lb. Prunes are held firmer in sympathy with a sharp advance, a welcome one to many local importers. The bulk of the bad stock has not yet arrived, being on the Hispania which sailed from Trieste, November 2. New, in cases, have come and are selling freely at 6 to 8c. as to quality ; a few old kegs are offered at 5¼c. and hdds. at 4½c. New French kegs are held at 5½c. The market for Valencia raisins has been active and excited and values are ¼ to ½c. higher than a week ago. Quite a number of round lots have changed hands during the week, but wholesale holders are not inclined to sell round lots. New York advices are very strong and some reports from there say they will not have enough to carry them over the Christmas demand ; on the spot good off-stalk are selling at 6¾ to 7c., while a second quality can be bought as low as 6½c., selected are going at 8 to 8½c., and layers 8½ to 9c. Sultanas are very firm at 9 to 9½c. as to quality, the cheap goods being very poor in quality. Malaga fruits are in active demand, but the market is easy and, in some cases, lower both here and abroad. London layers are lower, selling at $3 to $3.25. Black baskets have sold well at $4 to $4.25.

GREEN FRUIT.

The height of the season is now reached for Florida oranges ; dealers are stocked, and prices are at their lowest. Russets are $3.25 to $3.50 ; fancy bright are $3.50 to $4 per box. The Jamaicas, which had been a good crop this year, maintain their prices well, still selling at $5.50 to $6 per barrel. A Syrian stock of oranges, called the Jaffa, are now in some of the stocks, and sell at $4 per box. The Messina lemons (300's) are $5.50 per box, and (360's) are $3 to $3.50 per box. Malaga lemons are $3.50 per box. Palermos are $5 in 300-boxes, and $4.50 in 360-boxes. Sweet potatoes are up, selling now at $5 per box. Malaga grapes are $5.50 to $8 per box, according to weight.

SUGARS.

Whites are very firm but unchanged. Some grades of yellows have advanced ⅛c. Darks are very scarce. A better feeling prevails in the market generally, but still there is not much confidence in the future of prices. Low grade yellows are quoted at 5½ to 5⅝c. but in some cases these prices are shaded to close buyers. An advance in white sugars was expected last Saturday and some of the trade look for ⅛c. better figures this week as certain.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The demand for syrups and mol good and sales are being made at firmer prices. The supply of all kinds is ample. Syrups are going from 52 to 65c. per gallon for dark to bright. In molasses Trinidads vary very much in price from 38 to 42c. for barrels.

TEAS.

Have been rather more active at steady prices. Low grades scarce and firm.

NUTS.

Good demand, with most varieties very firmly held. No new Grenoble walnuts in yet; old are selling at 15c. Naples have advanced 1c. per lb. in New York. Filberts are firm, with Sicilys held at 10½ to 11c. Almonds are also firm; Tarragonas are going at 14 to 15c., and in some cases 16c.; Ivica at 13 to 14c., and Formigettas at 12½ to 14c. The supply of new Brazil nuts is very light and prices are firm at 13c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

As usual, the volume of butter is plentiful, but the quantity that is strictly good is not large. There is a large stock of tolerable butter always on the market, which acts as ballast to depress prices on the very best. It presents a very good alternative to consumers when the finest dairy butter becomes too dear. Choice creamery butter continues to find sale at 25 and 27c. in certain spheres of consumption. Dairy packed is worth 16 to 18c. Store packed butter continues to be not wanted, and 10 to 14c. is paid for the little that is bought. Large rolls are 14 to 17c. The dearness of creamery butter has given an impulse to the price of pound rolls. They are also scarcer, and bring 22c. to 24c.

Cheese is 11c. Buyers continue firm in their refusal to pay the prices of makers. Thousands of cheeses were offered last Saturday, at London, Ont., but none were sold. Even at 11c., it is held, the price tends to check consumption.

FISH.

Fresh water fish are growing more and more scarce. Blue-back herring have followed the white-fish in their departure from the market. Pike and pickerel are not in any of the stocks. Salmon trout, however, is now to be had at 6¼c. The prices of sea fish are unchanged. Labrador herring is $5 to $5.50 in barrels, and $3.25 to $3,75 per half-barrel. Shore herring is $4 per barrel and $2.25 per half barrel. Boneless cod is 8c. per lb., in small quantities, and 6c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes. Boneless fish is 4½ to 5c. per lb.

CRANBERRIES.

Cranberries are going up as we get farther from the supply season, and nearer towards Christmas. The native crop is worth $6 to $6.50 per barrel; Cape Cod fruit is $3 to $3.25 per box, and $8.50 to $10 per barrel.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—The fall apples have all been marketed. Winter apples are at the same figures as were quoted last week: $2.50 to $3, packed ready for shipping, and $2.75 to $3.50 in small lots. Prices have been but little affe ted by the local demand. The English market ruled them, and the bulk of consumers here lost interest in them after they went past a certain point.

BEANS—Are worth $1.65 to $1.75. There is little business doing. The supply seems to be waiting for enquiries.

DRIED APPLES—There is a small local demand, and the latest sales have been for 6c. The demand for lumbering camps seems to have declined greatly this year.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Some have been sold at 8 and 10c., but there is little animation in the market. Consumption has shrunk as prices have advanced, or has betaken itself to such substitutes as prunes, etc.

EGGS—Limed are a little lower. Fresh, on the other hand, are dearer, on account of their own growing scarcity and the energy of the demand for Christmas cooking. Limed eggs are 16 to 17c. Strictly fresh eggs in cased lots are 21 to 22c. New-laid eggs are 24 to 27c., and are wanted.

GAME—Is growing scarcer. The soft weather of last week caused hesitation in buyers. The lower temperature of the present week has favored the market, and all that comes is bought to hold over for Christmas. Partridges are 50 to 60c. per brace; ducks, black and mallard, are 80c. to $1 per brace; wood, pin-tail, butter-balls, teal, blue-bills, red-heads, are 30 to 40c. per brace. Pigeons are 20 to 25c. per brace. Prairie-chickens are $1.50 per brace. Quails are $2 to $2.50 per dozen. Rabbits are 25 to 30c. per pair. The close season for deer is now on, and of course there are no more arrivals of venison.

HAY—No. 1 pressed is $10 to $10.50 on track. No. 2, not in demand, is $7 to $8 on track. Loose, on street, No. 1 sells for $12 to $15.50; No. 2 for $7 to $10.

HIDES—Cured sell in car-lots at 5c., and this price is very weak. No. 1 green are down another quarter, as are also No. 2 green. The prices are $4.25 for No. 1, and $3.25 for No. 2.

HONEY—There is no change. Clear honey is 10 to 12½c. for large quantities, 12 to 14c. for small quantities. Honey in the comb is 18 to 20c. in large quantities, and 21 to 22c. in small ones.

HOPS—Yearlings are worth 8 to 10c., new ones are 13 to 15c. They do not occupy any situation by virtue of anything in the attitude of buyers or sellers to make the present prices unstable.

OATS—On track are 29 to 30c.; on farmers' waggons, 32½c. The supply keeps prices steady.

ONIONS—Are $1.75 to $2 per bushel. There appears to be no more eagerness in the demand than was noted in last report. Onions go very quietly and steadily into consumption after lumbering orders are filled.

POTATOES—In car lots bring 55c.; in lots of 10 or 12 bags they are worth 65c. The supply continues regular.

POULTRY—Prices are going down in sympathy with the soft weather. Stocks are also sought to be sold that they may be refreshed with poultry specially fed for the Christmas market. Turkeys are as low as 8 to 10c; geese 5 to 6c.; ducks, getting scarcer, are 60 to 80c. per pair; and chickens are 35 to 70c. per pair.

STRAW—Tight-pressed oat is worth $7. No wheat straw is called for. Bulk oat straw is $6 to $7, and sheep straw is $9.50 to $10.50.

SKINS—No. 1 calf is 6c.; No. 2 calf is 5c.; Sheep skins are 90c. to $1.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¾ to 2c.; Rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL—The prices of last week continue to rule. Fleece wool is 24c. For pulled wool, lowest quality brings 24c., super 25c., extra super 29c.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long, clear is 8 to 8¼c. The stock is now all Canadian. Smoked breakfast bacon is 12 to 12½c. Roll bacon is 9 to 9½c.

DRESSED HOGS—Are worth $5.70 in car lots. The arrivals continue to be numerous.

HAMS—Green ones are 11c. They are plentiful. Cured are worth 12c.

LARD—American tubs are 8¾c.; pails 9¼c. Canadian tubs are 9c.; pails are 9½c.

MESS PORK—Is plentiful at $13.50 to $14. Canadian short-cut is worth $15.

MONTREAL, DECEMBER 5, 1889.

GROCERIES.

Business the past week has been fairly good, better than that of this time last year. Payments are only fair. Considerable excitement has prevailed in Valencia raisins, currants, sugar, teas, and coffees.

SUGAR.

Has advanced a quarter cent in New York, with only about half the supply. The demand has been good and buyers expect a still further advance. The factory price is 7⅛c. for granulated, with the usual advance for the guild, which means 7⅜c. Yellows range from 5⅜c. to 6¾c., as to quality.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is no change in prices, and the demand is fair for low grades. Barbadoes, puncheons, 47½c.; in bbls. 51c; by car lots, puncheons, 46c.; bbls. 49½c. Redpath very scarce.

TEAS.

The demand for common and medium grades is good. Lower grades not to be had, except at an advance of about 2c. This is owing to a syndicate in New York having got hold of this class of teas, and are holding them. The supply is short anyway. Grades between 14c. to 16c. are in demand, and very scarce.

COFFEES.

Have advanced from 1s. to 2s. in the London market, the advance being principally in Rios. Although the prices have not advanced here very much as yet, a higher price is looked for.

CANNED GOODS

There has been a decided improvement in canned goods owing to the small quantity packed, though there is considerable of the old stock still on the market. Demand is only fair. There is no change in prices except in tomatoes and corn which are quoted at $1.15 each. Lobsters very scare at $6.80. Salmon firm at $6.90.

DRIED FRUITS.

There has been considerable excitement in dried fruit during the past week, owing to the arrival of new stock and shortage in supply, and a good demand. Valencia raisins have advanced a ½c. with the markets cleared first hands. As the supply is limited a still further advance is expected. Currants have also taken an upward turn, having advanced ¼c., with small supply in importers' hands. Sultanas are firm at 9½ to 12½c. Malagas unchanged with good demand.

NUTS.

There is no change in nuts, the market still remains firm. New stock is arriving. New Grenobles are selling at 16c. Large supply of all kinds are expected next week.

EGGS.

There is a good demand and prices are unchanged at 16c. to 18c. for limed, and 19c. 20c. for held fresh, with strictly fresh higher.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Butter still continues to have quiet steady demand on local account. Choice dairy is scarce and what there is of it is held at 21c. Rolls are coming in in fair condition quoted at 14 to 16c. Creamery 22 to 25c., the outside for jobbing parcels for local use. Cheese remains unchanged. There has been very little business done worthy of notice. Holders are firm and are likely to remain so. Up to 11c. has been paid for finest for shipment.

POULTRY AND GAME.

In dressed poultry the demand continues good for all sorts, while the supplies are not excessive and prices are firm at our last quotations. Partridges were not very plentiful, hardly sufficient, in fact, to meet the demand, which is good at steady prices. Venison was rather more plentiful to-day and has eased off somewhat in consequence;

THE CANADA SUGAR REFINING CO'Y [LIMITED],

MONTREAL,

Offer for sale all grades of REFINED SUGARS and SYRUPS of the well-known brand of

Redpath

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday's yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,

Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, McGILL UNIVERSITY.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,

G. P. GIRDWOOD.

the demand continues fair and offerings are generally taken. We quote chickens at 7c., ducks at 9c., turkeys at 8½c. @ 9½c., and geese at 7c. per lb. Partridges at 55c. for No. 1's, and 30c. for No. 2's. Venison at 11c.@13c. per lb. for saddles, 8c.@9c. per lb. for the carcase.

GRAIN AND FLOUR.

There was a little talk about wheat, but no direct offers were made by either side. It is said that wheat has gone up 2c. in Manitoba and that 69c. and 70c. has been paid for No. 1 hard in Brandon within the past few days. This point is, however, several cents higher than other grain centres in the province. No. 1 Manitoba has advanced to 97c. asked. There is little doing in oats at present and several small lots have changed hands at about 31c. We quote No. 1 hard Manitoba 96 to 97c.; No. 2 hard do. 92 to 94c.; peas, 67 to 69c. per 66 lbs. in store; oats, 30 to 31c.; corn, 50c. duty paid; barley, 48 to 53c.

There is nothing to note in connection with the flour market and we have heard of nothing outside of a quiet jobbing trade being experienced by anyone. Prices nominal.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Market firm. Breakfast bacon is quoted at 12 to 12½c. Roll bacon is 10½c.

DRESSED HOGS—Mixed lots in car loads $6.25. Very small arrivals from the West.

HAMS—Cured 12 to 12½c. with good supply and demand active for time of year.

LARD—Canadian tubs 9c.; pails 9½c.

PORK—Mess has sold at $13.25.

BEEF—Plate beef $10.75 and extra plate $11.

FISH.

Trade in fish has been of fair volume. There has, however, been a considerable decline in herring, which can be bought much lower than previous qoutations and even present quotations might be shaded. No. 1 Labrador are at $4, with halves at $2.60, but it is understood that less has been accepted. Newfoundland shore herring has declined to $3.75 for No. 1. A few odd barrels of Labrador salmon have sold at $16, while British Columbia have declined to $11 per barrel. No. 1 red sea trout $9. Green codfish has continued firm and well maintained under light stocks. No. 1 large $5.50, No. 1 $5, and No. 2 $4. No. 1 green haddock $4, and dry cod $4.75. Malpeque oysters $4 per barrel, hand-picked, and $5.50 unpicked. The season for fresh frozen fish is at hand and receipts may be expected to rapidly increase. Fresh cod and haddock have sold at 3½ and 4c. per lb. Fresh herring $1.25 per 100. Smoked herring 11c. per box. Finnan haddies 7c. per lb. A good trade is expected in Lake Manitoba whitefish, which met with favor last year. They are now quoted at 7c. per lb. here. Loch Fyne herring $2 for 28-lb. kits.

MARKET NOTES.

George Childs & Co have a fine display of French and Bosnia prunes, put up in half and quarter cans, of a very superior quality, which are taking well with the best retailers.

White beans have been in fair request and steady at $1.75.

Potatoes have been somewhat firmer and have stiffened to 85c. per bag.

Fred. J. Gibson, of Bryant, Gibson & Co., Toronto, was in town this week, and favored THE GROCER with a call.

"GRAVINA."

This very suggestive title is applied to a very useful, tasty, and nutritious preparation, lately brought out by the proprietors of Edwards' Soups, etc. To our thinking, "Gravina" marks a distinct step in advance, even in these days of meat "extracts" and "bullions"—whose name is Legion—for it presents, and practically for the first time, a judicious combination of extract of beef and dried vegetables in the shape of a fine granular powder, which, if kept in a closed vessel and free from moisture, would evidently remain in first-class condition for any length of time. An immense variety of soups and savory dishes may be made—wholly or in part—with "Gravina." Thus, a rich gravy may be compounded at a moment's notice, by mixing some of the powder with hot water, rubbing it with a spoon until smooth, much in the way that Cocoa is made, and then boiling four or five minutes, and flavoring to taste. About a couple of table-spoonfuls make a pint of excellent gravy.

Gravy Soup is prepared in the same manner, but using only from one to one-and-a-half spoonfuls of "Gravina," and adding a dessert spoonful of Ketchup or Worcester sauce, with or without half a glassful of good Sherry or Madeira.

We have, also, tried "Cravina" in a rough and ready way, which the proprietors say nothing about in their printed "directions for use."

Nevertheless, a "Gravina Sandwich" made by cutting two thin slices of bread and butter, sprinkling one of them very liberally with "Gravina," and placing the other on the top, is not only very nice, but is most nutritious and "sustaining."

"Gravina" should become very popular with invalids and children, as well as with healthy persons, to whom the mawky "meat extracts" they commonly get, are, perhaps, about their "favorite abhorrence." For army, navy, and tourists' use, it is simply invaluable. It is put up 1lb, ½lb, and ¼lb self-opening cannisters, which retail, very profitably, and should, shortly, be seen on the counter or the "sundry sheet" of most chemists and druggists.

We can say that it is uncommonly nice.—From the London Monthly Magazine of Pharmacy.

"It needs no long experience to convince any one that men engaged in active business need all the information they can get to manage their concerns with success."—Freedley.

KIERAN & CO., SUSPEND.

On Friday afternoon Kieran & Co., wholesale grocers, Front St. E., Toronto, suspended. Mr. Kieran explains that the difficulty was caused by their inability to meet some bills which had fallen due. They were unable to collect their own debts, and consequently could not make settlement at the proper time. He blamed the blockade of cars as responsible to a great extent for the country dealers not being able to pay on time. He thought that his liabilities would be about $50,000, while the assets would at least cover that amount. When asked if the firm might not tide over their troubles he replied that was a matter entirely in the hands of the creditors. Mr. Kieran began his business life as an employe of J. E. Mullen & Co., of Montreal. By steady application and thrifty habits he there amassed about $50,000, with which he purchased several bankrupt stocks on his retirement from the firm in 1872. In June of 1881, he established, together with Wm. O'Brien, a wholesale clothing trade in Montreal, but subsequently gave up that business and began dealing in teas. He remained in this trade until 1887, when he came to Toronto and started his present establishment on Front street east, buying the business of McHardy & Co.

WINDOW ATTRACTIONS.

The trader who keeps his shop window well garnished with handsome goods, puts it to one of the uses for which it was intended. The window is there primarily to give light, but it is specially fitted up to display goods. It is not desirable that it should be within the resources of the stock or the dresser to make a shop-front a scene of spectacular splendor, but it is desirable that both should combine to make it a picture of weekly-varied prettiness. But it is abuse of a window to make it the outpost at which prices are disclosed to him who stands without. The practice is not an uncommon one, and is productive of effects that in two ways operate to the detriment of trade.

One way is to induce price-cutting, and, by implication, the keeping of an inferior class of goods. The longer windows are used to display raisins placarded "3 pounds for 20 cents," or soap conspicuously marked "4 cents a bar," so much the faster will the notion grow, that what decorates a window is figures, and not specimens of choice merchandise. And as tradesmen formerly strove to make the appearance of their shop-fronts effective by putting attractive objects in them, so they will finally aim to surpass themselves by the successive reports of low prices that appear behind the glass to gladden the eye. As this principle of attraction grows further and further into favor among the shopkeepers, so lower and lower in quality will sink the goods that are exhibited beside these price-marks. Dealers should be at least politic enough not to let this custom become a fashion, otherwise, not goods but prices will come to be what are scanned in the window. The dealer who quotes taking prices in his window at once throws his rival on the same expedient, and doubtless one can go as low as the other. There is no advantage that accrues to the originator of the plan; an imitator can make as much out of it as the man who started it. They are on only equal terms with it, and they are no worse without it, and why corrupt trade by adopting this extra high-pressure device of competition?

In another way a business is the worse of this custom. If taste departs from the window, it will also from the interior. Window-dressing is good not only for its own sake, but also because of the responsibility it puts on a man to bestir himself lest the display should belie the appearance of the stock on the shelves. That he has to look after, and most wholesome is any influence that urges him to look after it. All the beauty, tidiness, and novelty will soon leave trade when the craze for price-displays once gets ahead of the sway of taste.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

Mr. John Berwick, President, occupied the chair, at the monthly meeting of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, Monday night. There were also present Messrs. J. F. Thackray, Henry Lindsay, R. Mills, D. Clarke, A. F. Roberts, R. Barron, J. G. Gibson, W. F. Britton, J. Binnie, W. S. Williamson, J. Westren, and H. W. McCulloch.

The Secreatry presented the annual statement of the receipts and expenditure for the year, which showed the funds of the Association to be in a very flourishing condition. The report was considered a very satisfactory one.

The committee on the tobacco question reported through the Secretary. He said that a committee, composed of Messrs. Hargraves, Mills and Thackray, had a conference with the wholesale grocers, and it was agreed to take united action to amend the tobacco regulations that were objectionable to the trade. The wholesale grocers had appointed a committee to work in conjunction with the retailers' committee. The report was adopted, and Messrs. Hargraves, Mills and Thackaray were appointed to represent the Association.

Letters were read from Alex. Turner, thanking the Association for the kind expressions of regret at the death of his late brother, Hon. James Turner; from M. R. Kidd, (referred to in another column), Mr. Westren presented the Auditors report, which was adopted.

The following officers were then elected for the year 1890:—

President—R. Mills.
Vice President—J. G. Gibson.
Secretary—J. F. Thackray.
Treasurer—W. S. Williamson.
Inside Guard—H. W. McCulloch.
Executive Committee — Messrs. Clarke, Berwick, Roberts and Barron.

Messrs. Mills, Gibson, and the other officers, expressed their intention of booming the Association during the coming year.

Mr. Gibson brought up the question of an annual entertainment. He was in favor of an "at home," similar to that of last year. Mr. Clarke was also in favor of an "at home," and suggested January 25 as a good date. Mr. Gibson, suggested a committee, composed of the officers of the Association, with power to add to their number to arrange for the meeting. Mr. Barron moved that the annual entertainment be held on Thursday, January 23, or on the most convenient day of that week. Both propositions were agreed to.

Mr. Clarke, referring to an article in THE GROCER on the proposed "Dead Beat List," suggested the formation of such a one. He saw a man who proposed getting one up for the grocers. He was in favor of having it in connection with the Association, and not under the direction of an outsider. It would be of a very great benefit to the Association.

Mr. Thackray explained fully the details of his plan, which were received with very great favor. One of the best features in his plan was that it would not be necessary to assess the members for funds to keep it going. He was in favor of beginning at the root by publishing the names of bad payers, and not spending time in collecting bad debts that might have been avoided.

Mr. Clarke moved that the Executive take the matter up—he believed it a very good thing. It could also be used as a means of getting track of debtors.

Mr. Williamson also liked Mr. Thackray's scheme very much. So did Mr. Mills. The latter referred to the plan of advertising debts for sale, which he thought would have a very good effect.

It was decided that the Executive should thoroughly consider the matter, and if they saw fit to instruct Mr. Thackray to take steps at once, to put it into operation.

Mr. Williamson brought up the matter of a member who was advertising to give a certain amount of sugar, but was giving short weights, but the Association pointed out that the police should deal with such grocers.

Regarding the market by-law, it was reported that no further action had been taken. The Secretary was instructed to ask the Mayor what caused the delay.

It was decided to set apart $10 for advertising "no Christmas presents" in the city papers.

After a vote of thanks had been tendered to the retiring officers, the meeting adjourned.

THE DONALD FAILURE.

We had occasion in a former issue to refer to the failure of the Donald Produce Co., of Norwich, Ont.

With the lapse of time the affairs of the firm seem fully as bad and even worse than at first reported, and it is possible that there will be nothing whatever for the general creditors to divide amongst themselves. This disaster, following so closely upon the five or six other failures lately occurring in this city and in Hamilton and St. Marys, shews conclusively that the pickling and preserving industry has either been very much overdone in this country, or that it has been largely in the hands of men apparently unacquainted with even the rudiments of successfully conducting business. Let us hope that the weeding-out process which has lately been going on will prove a blessing in disguise in relieving this long-suffering industry of the paralysing effect of incompetence and recklessness.

There seems to have been an impression abroad some two years ago that the pickling industry was a very profitable one, and this no doubt acted, to a certain extent, as an incentive to certain parties to go into the pickling business. They apparently thought there was a gold mine not far off, and that all they had to do was to hang out their "shingles," place big orders for raw materials, rush their goods out on the market—no matter at what figures—and that fortune would favor the brave; but the fickle goddess does not seem to have favored many of them to any extent.

For ourselves we are at a loss to understand how the Donald firm—who knew nothing about the pickling and preserving business—came to get so deeply into the confidence of so large a number of creditors, it being at the same time a matter of notoriety that they were cutting prices in many instances away down below what was evidently cost of production; more especially as every one interested must have had the other late disastrous failures in the same business fresh on their minds. Surely common prudence would have dictated otherwise.

We would also like to enquire, on behalf of those engaged in the trade, who are all along paying one hundred cents on the dollar, by what process of ethics the many customers of the defunct Norwich firm seek to justify the purchasing of goods that are offered to them, in the regular way of business, at, in many instances, about half the regular prices? Such a reckless way of doing business should be discouraged by all reputable merchants. Neither the wholesaler or retailer gains anything in the end by handling such goods, as prices are sure to be as much cut on these as on the brands of more reliable firms. We take it that it is the duty of each member of the mercantile community to seek, so far as in him lies, to elevate the moral tone of business life, else it is liable to degenerate more and more.

The Norwich failure, as well as the others, is pregnant with illustrations wherewith to point a moral to adorn a tale. One lesson to be learned is to keep out of a business you don't understand, especially if it be the pickling and preserving industry. Bad as this failure is it appears to have, however, one redeeming feature, and that is, there is little or nothing left for the unfortunate creditors to fight over.

THE KINGSTON GROCERS.

Mr. J. Gilbert, the energetic Secretary of the Kingston Association, in a letter to the editor of THE GROCER, says:—

"The Kingston Retail Grocers' Association is still in existence, and it is the earnest wish of the grocers of our city possessed with common sense, and who do not carry jealous feeling under their caps, that it should remain.

"It has rendered good services to its supporters, and those also who remained outside and would not join us.

"It has saved us thousands of dollars by helping us out of the 'Xmas present nuisance,' and by exposing the meanest people on earth, 'Dead Beats.' Oh, what a large crop there was growing in our midst until the grocers commenced weeding, and brought over 800 to the surface, and yet the work has only begun.

"We have been quietly resting all summer, but must begin again soon with a renewed effort to fight everything detrimental to our interests.

"Last week a one armed man employed by the Government swooped down in our midst and gathered in several thousand pounds of tobacco from us. It would fill up your paper were I to attempt to describe the scenes that took place. Some bore up with Christian patience and said Victoria is no more; the Prince of Wales they seize; the Navy's 3's and Navy's 4's are carried with the breeze.

"Napoleon, too, was taken; it was a well laid plan; it was did so quick, and we all feel sick; yes, did by a one armed man.

"I must conclude, as poetry always exhausts my thinking powers, especially so in the above case."

P.S.—I forgot to mention that one grocer mistook the tobacco seized for a football, and another replaced a small parcel of tobacco with a bath-brick wrapped in some colored paper, and which was carried off by the one armed man without detection.

READ TRADE PAPERS.

A few reasons why the retailers should read, at least, one trade journal:—

1—It elevates his conception of the work in which he is engaged.

2—It brings him into mental contact with others engaged in the same work where personal contact is impossible.

3—It contains words of sympathy and encouragement for him in grappling with difficulties as they appear from day to-day.

4—It inspires him with renewed pluck and energy, by showing how others are overcoming obstacles.

5—It often more than pays its cost by the information contained in a single paragraph.

6—It is an infallible preventative of mental stagnation and dry rot.

7—It contains, in condensed form, items of interest frequently lost sight of altogether in the daily press.

8—It shows him that there are some retailers not too busy to read a trade journal.

9—It is constantly striving to simplify the work and educate the workman.

10—It reflects in a large measure the mental calibre of the class to which it caters, and for obvious reasons should therefore be supported.

THE BUTTER QUESTION.

STRATFORD, Nov. 30, 1889.

EDITOR GROCER :

DEAR SIR,—I have not had time to write you on the butter question the attention it deserves. I sell all my surplus butter every week while it is fresh and sweet. Of course I retail the bulk of my butter. I use no ice at any time, I have a butter room in my cellar with plastered walls, cement floor, well-ventilated and lighted. For table I use two-inch white marble. On these tables I lay the soft butter as it comes in from the farmers. Next day it is quite hard and ready for packing. The marble tables are much easier kept clean and no waste. I used to do like some of your correspondents, take all kinds of butter at the same price, but now we make a difference often of six cents per pound. We simply tell them we would like to give them a higher price but can't do so unless the quality is better. If spoken to in the right way they will not be offended. Anyway it is better to lose one bad butter-maker than to spoil the city trade. So long as the country stores give the same price for grease with the butter-milk in it, just so long will the farmers make poor butter, having no inducement to make it better. Country storekeepers should agree on this point and they would find no sale for the bad stuff. I have been thinking a good thing to do would be to get the methods from the best butter-makers as to how to make good butter and have them printed and circulated amongst all the poor butter-makers, for I am persuaded that lots of butter-makers really don't know how to make a good article and should be enlightened. A lot of farmers here use the creamery can with good success, but have to be careful to work all the liquids out well or it would not keep as long as ordinary butter.

I have seen in some country stores the butter is thrown in heaps and disfigured and colors mixed and left till it becomes tainted before it is packed.

Yours truly,
H. T. BARKER.

[Mr. Barker writes a very sensible and practical letter on this important question. We quite agree with him as to the advisability of paying for butter according to its quality. There are, however, many difficulties in the way of some country merchants who are not as well situated as Mr. Barker. We think his idea of printed instructions for butter-making should be followed out. It is a matter that should be taken up either by the Merchants' Convention or by the Government.—ED. GROCER.]

AYTON, ONT., Dec. 4th, 1889.

DEAR SIR,—I am much interested in the butter agitation going on in the columns of the CANADIAN GROCER. Among the many letters I am struck by one in issue Nov. 8th, from Mr. Walter Stark, of Toronto.

Though not holding the same hopeful views of the Imperial Federation scheme that he does, I heartily agree with him when he says "It is necessary to induce farmers to make a uniform good article, etc."

But herein lies the difficulty. I have spent a great deal of time in years past talking to my customers on this very matter, have in a kindly spirit issued printed letters after letters to them, showing them the necessity of endeavoring to make good butter, pointed out the many defects to avoid, suggested improvements, etc., etc., but to very little effect. The general appearance of butters are improved, but the flavors, as of old, are still there. In many cases I have done my trade, however, an injury, as some of the farmers' women thought I was becoming too particular and would rather deal where merchants were not so particular. I again state, as in a previous letter, butter should not be bought in stores, but handled by a butter dealer on a cash and equitable basis.

I am satisfied that the yearly loss to farmers of this township and merchants handling their butter is not less than $2,000 a year, averaging about $35.00 to each 100 acre farm. Now the bulk of milk and cream in this township for five and a half months (from May to November), when the greater bulk of milk is furnished, is handled through creameries and cheese factories. Before the advent here of these factors the loss came nearer $10,000 a year. Add to this loss the still greater loss of imperfect stabling, care, feeding and breeding of cows, you can form an idea of the great possibilities and profits to farmers in butter. The more prosperous the farmer, the more prosperous every merchant and mechanic with whom he has to do. This matter of care, feeding, etc., of cattle, however, belongs more particularly to work of Farmers' Institutes and Agricultural journals.

What you, I and other merchants have to care about it, is to improve quality of what is made and to improve in the marketing of it, so as to avoid the constant losses we all are too familiar with.

I believe that such a scheme as Mr. Stark says his company is promoting can do the trade a large amount of good, and am anxious to know more of his scheme.

I regret, though, to see that Mr. Stark has fallen into the error of supposing that creameries can be operated on a basis of 3c. a lb. on the butter, as his letter has no doubt been read by nearly all merchants in Ontario, and some may thereby be induced to go into the creamery business and afterwards be sadly undeceived.

There are a few creameries in Ontario, which, under exceptionally favorable circumstances, are making their butter during the summer for 3c. a lb., but those are the exception. The successful American creameries are doing it at from 4 to 6c. a lb., and as a rule the Americans are ahead of us in the creamery business. From my own experience, I know that where the investment covers a good plant, where the best tubs and best of everything is used, the best butter-makers engaged, that in most cases 3c. a lb. will not cover cost of making and interest on investment.

In the matter of creameries, the best is in the long run the cheapest. The consumer who uses and looks for good butter is always willing to pay for a good article. In fact if he is not willing to do so the market forces him to be so.

I simply refer to this so that others contemplating going into the creamery business will not be disappointed.

The greatest expense is in localities where the patronage is small and widely scattered. All neighborhoods are not alike. I would, however, even in such localities urge the building and operating of creameries. Should the expense of making butter even reach 5c. a lb., it will be a boon to farmers and merchants in such localities.

The farmers will get the cash for their cream, save their wives an endless amount of monotonous drudgery, and save the merchants from this ever recurring loss on dairy butter. Take the past season as an instance: the patrons of creameries through this section averaged about 17c. cash for the cream that made one pound of butter, whilst the average price paid at stores for butter was 14 to 15c. Those merchants that sold soon lost some money; those that are still holding, from all present appearances, will lose much more.

Cannot Mr. Stark give us more of his scheme in the columns of THE GROCER? Keep the agitation up; you are doing good

If you see anything in this letter that you think will do good, you are at liberty to use it.

Yours truly,
ISAAC WENGER.

[We take the liberty of publishing Mr. Wenger's entire letter, as we know it will be read with interest. He is not only a general merchant, but is also an extensive handler of creamery butter. In fact his creamery butter has an excellent reputation on this market.—ED. GROCER.]

MOLASSES SETTLINGS.

BRANTFORD, Dec. 7, 1889.

EDITOR OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—Believing that you are always willing to ventilate any question of importance to the grocery trade, I would kindly ask you to give your best way of disposing of the settlings of syrup or molasses barrels. A loss no doubt is suffered by many ignorant as myself.

I might say that you deserve much credit for the many items of interest and pecuniary profit that appear in your columns week after week, to the benefit of your many subscribers, and as we are all willing to learn, we hope you will ever strive to make your weekly as interesting to all as it has always been to me. Trusting you will kindly make, or, I should say, present through the columns of your paper an answer to a question which will, I think, interest many readers,

Yours truly, A SUBSCRIBER.

[It is difficult to reclaim anything like pure molasses from the last gallon of muddy deposit that remains in the barrel. In grocery stores connected with liquor stocks, this residuum is treated so as to make a very good coloring substance for whiskeys, and thus it is prevented from becoming loss. The best way we know of is to put the settlings in a tin vessel, and then place this vessel in another one containing boiling water. The heat will expand the settlings until they are thin enough to pour. They should then be strained through a flannel filtering-cloth. This separates most of the refuse, and the resultant molasses will sell at a little less than the upper contents of the cask.

We appreciate "Subscriber's" kindly tribute to the earnestness of our desire to serve our readers, and his meed of praise for the degree in which we have succeeded. We are a great deal more gratified, and we hope not less spurred on to continue watchful for the interests of our patrons, than if "Subscriber's" words were fault-finding.—ED.]

THE TRADERS' TEA CO.

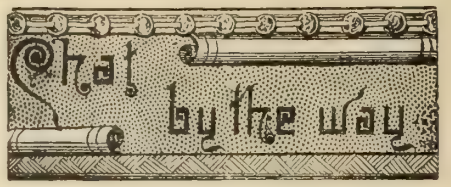
Their occupation is gone. The sentence of the police magistrate was not severe, in fact was merely tentative, and was directed only against one of the accused parties in the firm, so that further proceedings might be according to the issue of an appeal. Former convictions of the police court in similar cases had been set aside, and the magistrate no doubt wishes to know the judgment of the superior court on this case, before he deals with the charge against the salesman entrapped by Sergeant Vaughan. Meanwhile the company strives to cont nue business. Their local trade has been pretty much snuffed out by the newspapers' reports of the trial, and the rumor that Inspector Archabold is on the look-out for customers who bought tea at that store. Orders from the country still come in, it appears, as in the rural parts it is not so well-known that the fakirs are being prosecuted.

This company has had but a short life, though it was long enough to harm the trade of the grocers in this city and throughout Ontario. The names of prize-winners, published in their advertisement, are numerous, but much more numerous are the nameless inglorious gamblers who put up their money and drew no prize. The brazen or pinchbeck gew-gaws that the successful ones did win in many cases can only be called jewellery by courtesy or an abuse of the word.

The customers of this firm did not go there or send there for tea. They wanted barbaric gems, which, without any poetic license, we may call the glittering trophies they were after. But they got tea, and having it they no doubt drank it, to their worse health. The tea would condemn itself out of its own cup, but nevertheless, once bought it would be drunk. And the grocer who is legitimately entitled to the tea-trade loses of it what the gambling instinct leads foolish people to buy. It is a good thing for straight-dealing men that this miserable "fake" has at least been checked. The Lottery Act aims only to protect people from the losses that their own trustful simplicity leads them into.

The Inland Revenue Department has ecently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

The village of Rockwood can boast of having shipped some forty five cars of turnips this fall, at from 10 to 12c. per bushel. About 30,000 bushels were sent out.



Messrs. Fallis & Williams are erecting a new store in Prince Albert, Ont., and intend having it opened for the holidays.

Mr. J. R. Burney has opened a dry goods and grocery store at Oso Station. He will also sell carriages.

Jno. McPhail's general store at Alvinston was burglarized last Thursday night and over $400 worth of goods, consisting mostly of gents furnishings, were stolen.

Mr. E. R. Routledge, Bayfield, has sold out and closed the general store where his father so successfully carried on business for about thirty years.

Croy & Butchart, grocers and wine merchants, Woodstock, have disposed of their business to Messrs, L. A. Gurnett & Bro. of Ancaster. The firm is now in possession.

J. A. Gledhill, New Hamburg, has sold his grocery store to Mr. Jacob Morley, who intends to run it in connection with his bakery.

Secretary Thackray, of the Toronto Re tail Grocers' Association, has received 100 copies of the tobacco regulations for distribution among the trade.

R. C. Brumpton, of Moorefield, is rushing off his stock of goods. He has bought out a general store at Exeter, valued at $20,000, where he will continue to do business in his usual pleasing manner.

On Friday morning a woman from Stirling offered for sale on the Belleville market, butter which was found to be three ounces short on each roll of what she represented it to be. The inspector of weights and measures ordered her to produce her scales.

Mr. James Schofield, for twenty years a grocer in Guelph, intends to give up business about February next. Mr. Schofield is one of Cuelph's oldest merchants, and is going to retire, having satisfied his wants and wishing to give others a chance.

Hiram Beach has been arrested and committed for trial on a charge of burglarizing George Simons' general store at Middlemiss, on May 10, 1888. Shortly after the robbery Beach left for Michigan, but returned to the village the other day and his arrest followed.

One day last week a woman walked into Algie's store at Alton with several chickens. The poultry was purchased from her, but after her departure it was ascertained that the chickens had been drowned in the flood and were consequently unfit for use. She had to disgorge.

The Wholesale Dry Goods Association, recently formed at Montreal, has elected the following officers: President, Mr. J. P. Cleghorn; vice-president, Mr. J. Slessor; treasurer, Mr. J. A. Robertson. Messrs. A. Leclaire, F. May, G. Summer and R. L. Gault were appointed directors.

Have you got your Christmas cards? If not send to the Secretary of the Toronto Grocers' Association for one and hang it up in your store. City grocers do not know what they miss by not being at the monthly meetings of the Association. They are very entertaining and highly profitable.

We are sorry to note that Mr. Mills, the well known Toronto grocer, on the corner of King and Jarvis streets, has a very sore arm. He thinks it the result of a sprain, although a bite on the hand from a pet dog was at first the suspected cause. His physician, however, is quite firmly of the opinion that the dog's bite has nothing to do with the soreness.

Mr. M. R. Kidd, of Peterboro', thinks that the grocers of Peterboro' should have an association and has written to Mr. J. F. Thackray for particulars of organization. Would it not be a good idea for the Merchants' Association to induce Mr. Thackray to act as an organizer of local associations? The Toronto Association decided that Mr. Thackray ought to go to Peterboro'.

Chancellor Boyd last week made an order to commit Milton D. Kean, general merchant, Lindsay, to jail for six months for contempt of court in refusing to satisfactorily answer questions on his examinations as a judgment debtor. Kean was the sole member of the late firm of F. Kean & Son, Orillia, which failed some time since with a shortage of some $34,000. It was for refusal to answer questions touching where this amount had gone that the order was made.

Mr. W. H. Millman, Woodstock, who intends retiring from the grocery business the 1st of January, 1890, will on that date dispose of his whole interest in the business now carred on under name of Millman Bros. After that date the business will be conducted by Mr. F. Millman and Mr. W. P. Nellis, under the style of firm, Millman & Nellis, who intend moving into a new store now being built four doors east of Millman Bros.' present stand.

Mr. McCoy visited Napanee last week and confiscated quantities of tobacco largely, because the stamps were not cancelled in opening the caddies. The stamp is placed upon the side of the box where it would not be broken in opening the box, and not one man out of fifty would think of hunting all over the box for it. Several of the merchants are heavy losers, and among them are some who are emphatic in their utterances against the Government, which prepares regulations to entrap honest dealers.

In sorting up for Christmas, grocers should see that they have a supply of Cairns' Home-Made Marmalade on their shelves. These celebrated goods are put up by Alexander Cairns, of Paisley, Scotland, and although on this market but a short time, the sale has become enormous. He also puts up jams, jellies, etc., which are all guaranteed to be of the finest quality, and need but one trial to convince every one of their superiority. They are well worth a trial. Blaiklock Bros., Montreal, are the Canadian agents. Send to them for price list.

The Commercial Travellers' Association held a general meeting on Saturday night in their rooms in the Public Library building. The chair was occupied by the president, Mr. A. A. Allan. The officers for the ensuing year were nominated and these were elected by acclamation :

Mr. E. Fielding gave notice of motion to provide a fund for superannuated travellers. The annual meeting will take place on the 27th inst. in Toronto.

"As dealers in tobacco, and others interested have not complied with the provisions of the 'Inland Revenue Act' and regulations established thereunder, to the extent expected, and as the department feels it imperative to enforce the law, they are now informed that any non-compliance with the requirements of the Act and regulations will render them liable to the penalties therein provided." The above is the preface to a circular which has this week been distributed among dealers in tobacco and cigars. The circular is an extract from the Act, explaining the requirements of the law and defining the penalties for infringement or neglect. Special emphasis is placed upon the clause relating to the defacement of the excise stamps, which states that these stamps must "be disfigured or destroyed in such a manner as to render them incapable of being used again."

MARKETS

TORONTO, DEC. 12.

DRY GOODS.

The wholesale dry-goods trade report nothing new. Trade for this week has been moderately active, and until the weather becomes more settled and seasonable no improvement can be looked for. There is to be a meeting in Montreal on the 12th of the Grey Section of the Cotton Association, and if it is true what the manufacturers report, that the manufacturers are making no money, an advance may be expected.

HARDWARE.

The prices of last week have not been altered in any of the lines that find a place in a general store. Trade is good, is quite as good as it was at the beginning of last month. The open weather favors building operations, while the approach of winter stimulates the trade in such goods as skates and sleigh-bells. Payments are appreciably improving.

GROCERIES.

Trade has been quite active all week, but complaints are still made of the scarcity of money. Prices all round are firm. Dried fruits are in active request. Sugars are also moving more freely. Teas are unchanged.

CANNED GOODS.

Demand is only fair but prices are firm. Packers are making but few sales as wholesale dealers are allowing stocks to run as close as possible, and are buying from their neighbors. We quote $2.25 as the inside figure for gallon apples. Corn rules from $1.05 to $1.20 for ordinary packs; Honey Dew is held at $1.75 and Honey Drop at $2 to $2.10. Peaches are firm and we quote 2's. a little stiffer at $2.25 to $2.35. Strawberries are selling at $2.50 to $2.60. Fish, dull and steady; lobsters, however, are very firm with nothing quoted below $1.85.

The Canadian Packers' Association met here last week, where reports of pack for the season to date were presented and showed as has been previously stated in these columns, that on the leading staples the pack was much less than last year. In the case of tomatoes, it was reported to be only about 20,000 cases against 80,000 cases last year. It was decided that on all goods shipped in less than car-loads an extra charge be made of 2c. per dozen on 2's., 3c. per dozen on 3's., and 5c. per dozen on gallons. The association is not in favor of making sales of futures or contracts for growing produce until after the annual meeting in February.

Packers are interested in the sudden advance in tin-plate. The basis of it is the sharp advance in pig-iron. Middlesboro', the centre of cheap iron production, has not more than a month's consumption in storage. As tin-plate has not kept pace with pig iron in its upward movement, it is strongly probable that it will be still dearer. Also the price of labor is stimulated by the price of material. Moreover, the price of tin-plate has been remarkably low for two years. Canners could buy cheaper six weeks ago than they can now, and they can buy cheaper now than they can six weeks hence.

COFFEE.

Demand is fairly active. Local prices are unchanged. Green Rios are selling on spot at 20 to 22c., and there is also a good demand for Javas about 25c.

In reviewing the New York markets, the Bulletin says:—"The week closes upon a very slow condition of trade among the importing houses, and in reviewing the business of the past six days there is certainly good reason for the expressions of disappointment regarding the volume accumulated. Some of the larger holders express the belief that, so far as they are concerned, the holiday trade is over, while others are confident that the large requirements of this immediate locality, that usually come to the fore during the two weeks preceding Christmas, will create a shortage in the stocks of local jobbers, and necessitate the purchase of additional quantities to piece out the period to the end of the year. The market with very few exceptions, is resting upon a firm basis, and few doubts are expressed upon the future stability. Prime grades Valencia raisins are maintained in firm position. Those having stock from the hands of well-known packers are indifferent sellers at anything under the full quotations of the market, and they are firm in the determination to carry their goods into the new year rather than offer to negotiate at any concession. Goods of doubtful character, on the other hand, are offered without reserve, and bids are solicited in the hope of cleaning up the stock previous to the 1st proximo. Malaga are without new feature. There is a moderate demand experienced, with buyers giving a preference to fine table fruit. Sultana are steadily held, with a fair distributive trade. California prunes continue to have the call on the trade, and as most dealers are carrying some stock, they are reluctant to listen to the solicitations of importers of Turkish and French. Both lines of imported fruit, however, are offered at very reasonable prices; in fact, it is doubtful if fresh purchases could be made abroad that would permit of profit in this market, hence holders appear firm in their ideas to-day, entertaining the belief that the future promises a better market, for with the stock of California distributed the trade will be forced to turn their attention to imported to meet consumptive requirements.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is an active demand for all kinds, but especially currants and raisins. Currants are firmly held here though there is a weakness noted in outside markets: here old currants are selling at 4½c. and new from 5½c. in barrels up. Dates are now in store and are being shipped out as rapidly as possible, as a rule 6¼ to 6½c. is obtained, but close buyers have had orders filled at 6c. Figs are in active request at unchanged prices. Prunes are now in plentiful supply and are selling well at 4½ to 4⅝c. for hogsheads to 6 to 8c. for cases. Valencia raisins are very firm with a good demand for round lots; Montreal has bought several hundred boxes of ordinary off stalk at 6¾c., and yesterday that price was bid and not accepted; for retailers lots 7 to 7¼c. is asked for choice and 6¾c. for off grades. Sultanas continue very firm with choice quality scarce and firm. Malaga fruit of all kinds is selling freely, especially London layers and black baskets, which are not so firm.

GREEN FRUIT.

A fine class of oranges, specially suitable for the Christmas trade, is now in some of the stocks, viz., the Valencias, a Spanish growth. They are sold in cases holding 420 and are worth $5.50 per case. The Jamaica oranges are $5.50 to $6 per barrel. The Floridas are $3 to $3.50, according to quality, for russets, and $3.50 for fancy brights, per box. Jaffa oranges are down to $3.50 per box. The Messina lemons are worth $3 to $4 in 360-boxes, and $4 in 300-boxes. Palermos are $5 in 300-boxes, and $4.50 in 360-boxes. Malaga lemons are $3 per box, in 300's. Sweet potatoes continue at $5 per box, and are scarce. Malaga grapes are $6 to $7.50 per barrel, according to weight. A Christmas demand has set in pretty briskly, to which the trade in oranges and lemons specially responds, but the arrival of the new stocks keeps prices pretty regular.

NUTS.

There is a good demand for all varieties and prices are firm. Almonds are moving from 13c. for Ivica to 14 to 15c. for Tarragonas; there is a good demand for shelled, and Jordans are selling at 50 to 55c. and Valencias at 30 to 35c. Brazils are about nominal, no stocks of importance being held here. Sicily filberts are selling well at 10 to 11c. New Bordeaux walnuts arrived this week and are selling at 10½ to 11½c. Naples in cases are firm at 16c.

SUGARS.

There has been a good demand for sugars but prices are no higher though they are very firm. The freight from Montreal has been reduced from 18c. to 15c. but this has had no noticeable effect on the market. White sugars remain on a basis of 7½c. to 7⅝c. for granulated, while yellows rule from 5½ to 6¾c. No raws are offered here though there have been several inquiries. Syrups and molasses are steady and in fair demand.

CRANBERRIES.

Cape Cod berries are $10 a barrel, and $3.75 a box. The native fruit is $6 to $6.50 per barrel, but stocks are very light. There is a brisk demand as Christmas draws near.

FISH.

The end of the close season for whitefish on the last day of November, brings these fish once more into the market. The supply is yet small, but before Christmas will be strengthened by several car-loads from the Manitoba lakes. They are worth 7c. Salmon trout are worth 6½c. Stocks are easily kept up, and the arrivals are light. No pike or pickerel are reported as offering this week. Sea-salmon, salted, are now ready for the trade in 200 pound barrels, at $12 a barrel. New sea-fish and fresh steak-cod are worth 6 and 6½c. per lb., and haddock worth 5 and 5½c. per lb. The prices of sea-fish in stock last week are unchanged. Labrador herring is $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel. Shore herring is $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel. Boneless cod in 40 lb. boxes is 6c. per lb. Boneless fish is 4½ to 5c. per lb. The bent of consumption is towards poultry where it will stay for some time. The trade in fish accordingly is and will be dull until Lent sets in.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Those who hold creamery butter continue to get 25 to 27c. per lb. for it, and are likely to get that from consumers who want the article, until the supply runs out or the season of production opens again. Good dairy tubs sell from 14 to 16c. per lb., and for very choice 18c. is given. Store-packed still encumbers the market at 11 to 13c., but the reduction in the price of farm-packed butter increases the indifference of buyers towards the store-packed. Large rolls are 13 to 15c., and are very plentiful. Pound rolls, however, have gone down to 13 and 17c. per lb. There has been a very large number of arrivals since the short spell of winter set in last week. The make of those days was principally in pound-rolls everywhere. This brought the price of the rolls into the range of general consumption, which, therefore abating on the dairy-packed, caused the latter also to come down in value, owing to a fall-off in the demand.

Cheese is 11c., unchanged since last report. The half-cent advance noted in the last two weeks' quotations is due, not to any concession to the makers' demands, but to the increased call of consumers.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Prices are becoming easier on account of numerous arrivals from Michigan. These have brought down car-lots to $2 and $2.50 per barrel. The English market continues good for undoubted Canadian apples in good condition and well packed, but most of these are shipped from other points. In small lots prices are $2.50 to $3.25.

MARKETS—Continued

BEANS—Present no feature for comment. They sell in the country for $1.60 to $1.75.

DRIED APPLES—Buyers pay 5¼ to 5½c. and sell for 6c. There is no more life in the demand than has been noted in former reports. Producers are supposed to be holding for an improved demand.

EVAPORATED APPLES—New are sold or offered at 10 to 11c. and the buyers are few. Old are 7 to 8c. The readiness of evaporators to sell at a certain price, and the readiness of dealers to buy at a lower price, are with an eye to a coming trade, and are irrespective of the attitude of consumers, who at the present season are disinterested.

EGGS—At this season the household wants are not satisfied with limed eggs. Consumption has fallen off from them and for want of buyers they continue to decrease in value. They are now 14 to 16c. On the other hand, cased fresh eggs remain high, 20 to 22c. being the figures they sell readily for. Very choice must be the eggs that are accepted as new-laid, and buyers are eager for them at 25c. though sales have been made at 27c.

GAME—The soft weather keeps prices at the rates reported last week. The supply is rather beyond the demand, not perhaps of consumers but of buyers, who do not want to take much risk in keeping stock. Partridges are 50 to 60c. per brace Ducks, black and mallard, are 75 to 90c. per brace ; wood, pintail, butter-balls, teal, blue-bills, redheads, are 30 to 40c. per brace. Ducks are, like partridges, becoming scarcer. Pigeons are 20 to 25c. per brace. Prairie chickens are $1.50 per brace. Quails are $2 to $2.50 per doz. Rabbits are 25c. per pair.

HAY—No. 1 pressed, is $10 to $11. For No 2 there is no market. No. 1 loose on street is $10 to $13.50 ; No. 2 loose is $7 to $9.

HIDES—The price of cured in car lots is still 5c. but this price is weak. No. 1 green are 4¼c. and No. 2 are 3¼c.

HONEY—Has not yet made any movement from the prices it has been at for several weeks. In large quantities, clear honey is 10 to 12½c. and 12 to 14c. in small lots. Honeycomb is 18 to 20c. in wholesale lots, and 21 to 23c. in small ones.

HOPS.—Yearlings are 8 to 11c., and new ones are 12 to 14c. The crop seems to have been large enough to keep stocks well-supplied.

OATS.—On the track are 29 to 30c. ; on the street, in loads, 30 to 31c.

ONIONS.—$1.50 to $1.75. There is little trade in onions. It takes few to keep the market stocked.

POTATOES—Are becoming firmer. Carlots sell from 55 to 60c. Small quantities sell 70 to 75c. per bag. The supply is becoming lighter, while there is an increased call both from local and outside buyers.

POULTRY.—Geese are 4 to 5c. per lb. Stocks are large, the supply abundant, and the weather is soft. All these circumstances combine to bring prices down. Turkeys are yet 8 to 10c., killing being apparently postponed for special Christmas trade. Ducks are 60 to 80c. per pair. Very few dry-picked chickens are offered, but those that appear are sold at 50 to 60c. per pair. Most of the chickens are scalded, and those are 35 to 40c. a pair.

STRAW.—Tight pressed oat is worth $7 a ton, and wheat $6. Loose oat is $6 to $7 on street, and sheep straw is 8 to $9.50.

SKINS—No. 1 calf is 6c., No. 2 calf is 5c. Sheepskins are $1 to $1.05.

TALLOW—Is worth 1¾ to 2c. for the rough, and 5 to 5¼c. for the rendered.

WOOL.—Fleece wool is very scare. There is scarcely any of it in the country. It is worth 22c. Pulled wool is 24c. for lowest grade ; 25c. for super.; and .29c. for extra-super.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long, clear is 8c. There is plenty of it. Smoked breakfast bacon is 11 to 12c. Roll bacon is 9 to 9½c.

DRESSED HOGS—Are arriving very freely. They are worth $5 to $5.25.

HAMS—Smoked ones are 11½c. Green ones are 10½c. The demand is slack, owing to the abundance and cheapness of other cuts. Poultry also reduces the demand.

LARD—American tubs are 8½ to 9c.; American pails are 9 to 9¼c. Canadian tubs are 9c., and pails are 9½c.

MESS PORK—Is worth $15 for Canadian, and $14 for American.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

MONTREAL, DECEMBER 12, 1889.

GROCERIES.

The market remains unchanged, a fair business being done. Payments in all lines are remarkably good considering everything, and retailers anticipate a good Christmas trade. The advance in dried fruits has been well sustained. The market in Denia for Valencias have been cleared, and the imports from Patras to America are six to seven tons less than last year, so that when the full shipment is made the price will advance considerably. The advance in currants has been in the lower grades only.

SUGAR.

There is no change in the sugar market. Prices remain the same, although one house here who was left a short time ago by it going down instead of up predict a further advance, but the demand is very slow. The bottom prices has already been reached. They are quoted at : Granulated, 7⅜c. ; yellows range from 5¼c. to 6¼c. according to quality. Prices are firm in New York. The New York shipping list says that the Spreckles started melting on the 4th inst.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is no change from last week. Prices firm. Demand very slow.

COFFEES.

There is no change in coffees. The rise on the London has not effected the prices here.

THE CANADA SUGAR REFINING CO'Y [LIMITED],

MONTREAL,

Offer for sale all grades of REFINED SUGARS and SYRUPS of the well-known brand of

Redpath

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday's yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,

Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, MCGILL UNIVERSITY.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar. It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,

G. P. GIRDWOOD.

CANNED GOODS.

Demand fair and prices good. There are still some of last year's pack on the market, which are being sold off at less than association prices. Still there is really no surplus stock, nor likely to be, and when the season opens, about February, there is likely to be a shortage. Tomatoes and corn are still quoted at $1.15, although one house are offering corn as low as $1.05. Lobsters still remain scarce at $6.80. Salmon firm at $6.90.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is really nothing new to report in dried fruit. Prices are still sustained for Valencia raisins and currants, although a great deal higher prices are looked for, as about only half the supply of last year has reached this market as yet. Valencias are quoted at 6¾ to 7c. for ordinary, selected 7¼ to 7½c. Currants, bbls. 5½c., cases 6c. Bosnia prunes and dates are arriving of first-class quality. Prices are, prunes 8 to 9c. according to size. Helliwi dates are quoted at 6 to 6½c. The cheaper dates are not much used on this market. Sultanas still remain firm at 9½ to 12½c. Evaporated apples, 11c.

NUTS.

Market is quiet for all nuts, except new Grenoble walnuts, which are arriving, and are quoted at 16 to 17½c. Filberts 9½ to 10c.; almonds unchanged at 14c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Trade has been quiet and without special feature. New lemons have been selling fairly at $3 to $3.50 per box. Valencia oranges $4.75 to $5 per case. Florida oranges $3 to $3.50 per case. Jamaica oranges $4.50 to $5 per barrel.

EGGS.

Are very steady with good demand. Limed are quoted at 17 to 18c.; held fresh 19 to 22c.; strictly fresh 24 to 26c. per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

Business is quiet but the feeling in wheat is firm and prices were maintained at the recent advance. We quote; Wheat No. 1 hard Manitoba, 98c. to $1.00; N. 2 hard, 96 to 97c.; corn, duty paid, 50 to 51c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; peas, 68c. per 66 lbs. Barley, 40 to 50c. Flourt—there was a fair demand for flour on both local and country account, and a good jobbing trade was transacted. We quote: Patent winter, $4.90 to $5.15; patent spring, $5 to $.10; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.65; extra, $4.15 to $4.25; superfine, $3.10 to $3.75; city strong bakers', $4.70; to $4.75; strong bakers', $4.40 to $4.60; strong bakers' bags, $2.40 to $2.50; superfine bags, $1.50 to $1.90; extra bags $2 to 2.10. Oatmeal standard, $3.90 to $4.10; granulated, $4.10 to $4.30; rolled, $4.50 to $4.75.

PROVISIONS.

The local provision market was steady, with a fair volume of business doing at quotations. We quote: Western short cut pork, $13; mess, $12.25 to $12.75; Canadian short cut, $14. Western (Armours and Fairbanks), $1.62½ to $1.65 per pail. Cases (Armours and Fairbanks), 8⅛ to 8¾c. per lb. Canadian lard, $1.60. Dressed hogs—Demand good; market steady, with sales of car lots at $5.75 to $5.90, and jobbing lots at $6 to $6.25 per 100 lbs.

POULTRY AND GAME.

Poultry—The receipts of poultry were larger, which met with an active demand at firm prices. Turkeys sold at 9 to 10c., geese at 7 to 7½c., ducks at 8 to 9c., and chickens at 7 to 7½c. per lb.

Game—The demand for game was good, of which the offerings were larger and prices lower. Partridges sold at 55 to 60c. per brace. Venison met with a fair enquiry at 12c. for saddles, and 8c. for carcasses per lb.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Butter—In butter business continues quiet and of a jobbing character at steady prices. We quote: Creamery, 22 to 23c.; Townships, choice, 19 to 21c.; Morrisburg, 15 to 18c.; Brockville, 14 to 15c.; Western, 12 to 16c.; rolled, 14 to 16c.

Cheese—The cheese market on spot continues quiet, with few new features to quote. At Utica, N.Y., 1,677 boxes changed hands, ruling price 8c. At Little Falls, N.Y., 3,652 boxes were sold at prices from 8 to 9¼c. We quote: Finest September and October, 10½ to 10¾c.; fine stock, 9½ to 10c.; earlier makes, 9½c.

FISH.

The fish market has been fairly active, but business as a rule has not developed any new feature. There has been no special changes in values, but B. C. salmon has further declined to $10.50 per brl. with even a less figure mentioned. Herring have ruled easy and quiet, with green codfish in light supply and firm. No. 1 Labrador herring are $4, with halves at $2.60. Newfoundland shore herring $3.75 for No. 1. No. 1 red sea trout $9. Green codfish firm and well maintained under light stocks. No. 1 large $5.50, No. 1 $5, and No. 2 $4. No. 1 green haddock $4, and dry cod $4.75. Malpeque oysters $4 per barrel, hand-picked, and $5.50 unpicked. Fresh cod and haddock at 3½ and 4c. per lb. Fresh herring $1.25 per 100. Smoked herring 11c. per box. Finnan haddies 7c. per lb.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Lockerby Bros. are showing a nice stock of fancy prunes and Grenoble walnuts which have just arrived.

Mr. Irwin Harris, of the wholesale firm of McBride, Harris & Co., has returned from his two months' tour through the fruit orchards of California.

L. Chaput, Fils & Co. have received a large consignment of Gorgonzola and Roquefort cheese for the holiday trade, which is having good sale among first-class grocers.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co. have a large stock of canned goods at very low figures. They are offering a special line of corn at $1.05. They have also received a large consignment of Cairns' home-made marmalade, jams and jellies, the well-known Scotch goods, in 1 lb. jars, which are meeting with good sale.

THE GROCER had the pleasure of being shown through the immense establishment, recently erected, of the Canada Meat Packing Co., of Montreal, by their Mr. Moffatt. Amount of space, prevents our giving anything like an idea of its magnitude, but this we will say, that it is well worth a visit to see the purity and quality of the stuff used in the manufacture of their mince meat and corned beef, and the cleanliness of every department, both in the manufacture and packing.

Advances made on Staple Merchandise in Store.

Mr. Maurice E. Davis, of Messrs. Davis & Sons, cigar manufacturers, received a very pleasant surprise on his return from his wedding trip, when the employees of Messrs. S. Davis & Sons and Messrs. D. Ritchie & Co., presented him with a beautiful illuminated address, expressive of the respect and esteem in which he is held by them, and also a life-sized portrait of himself and Mrs. Davis. The presentation was made by Mr. Millard, on behalf of the employees, and Mr. Davis, who was taken quite by surprise, acknowledged the handsome and appropriate gift with suitable terms.

At present there is temporarily suspended in the Board of Trade rooms, in a neat oaken frame, a record which will undoubtedly prove of interest to the members of the Board. It shows in a tabulated form the exports of cheese from Montreal since 1874, and since 1886 it gives the quantity forwarded by each steamship line. It also shows at a glance the quantity of cheese shipped by the various wholesale firms, together with the quantity sent to Liverpool, London, Glasgow and Bristol. The record is decorated with the arms of Canada and colored views of Point aux Trembles, Fair Head, and a pen-and-ink sketch of Montreal, etc. The whole is of a somewhat novel character, and is the work of Mr. J. M. C. Muir, an employee of Mr. D. A. McPherson, produce and provision merchant.

The Butchers' Assocation of this city have addressed the following protest to the City Council: "That this association sees with alarm the decision of the City Council to sell the right to collect fees on cattle brought to the city for sale; that the market fees which were valued at $15,000 a year three years ago by Messrs. Bickerdike and Delorme, according to their tenders to the Market Committee and refused, had since augmented yearly by 25 per cent.; that the members of this association express their dissatisfaction at seeing the readiness with which the City Council abandons one of its rights, the result of which would be a conflict of authority, an annual loss of money, and which would drive away the cattle business of this city that rights accorded by the Legislature to the Corporation and executed with justice and reason, generally become arbitrary when put in force by men personally interested; that cattle bought in the country and consigned to a butcher are permitted to enter free, which would not be tolerated by a private company; that proprietors of cattle passing through the city for exportation would be unjustly harassed by these interested parties, and would drive away this important business, a source of considerable revenue; that this association desires to enregister its protest, and respectfully prays the Council not to confirm the arrangement arrived at between the two railway companies, the Union des Abattoirs and the sub-committee named to that effect."

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

Our Montreal Office is located at 115 St. Francois Xavier St. Our representative, Mr. Hugh C. McLean, will be pleased to have subscribers and advertisers call upon him there. He will also pay special attention to gathering business items and attending generally to the interests of this paper.

THE EDUCATION OF BUTTER-MAKERS.

We believe that influences undulating from this journal as a centre, are at work in many farm-houses for the production of better butter. The signs of this lie in the interest which many well-informed correspondents have shown in our attention to the butter-question, an interest which they themselves have extended by their able contributions. These evidences of an earnest desire among the retailers to elevate the quality of our butter, are too strong and too generally expressd, for us to believe that they will escape the notice of the makers themselves. The latter, we are sure, will be favored with more criticism of their work, with more numerous suggestions for their direction, since the question was opened in these pages than they were before. Our readers will hand on the light. Occupying the impo tant relation they do to the butter interest in this land, the country merchants should be thoroughly versed in all that relates to the production of butter—from the breeding and feeding of the cow, to the preparation of her product for the market. If they were once recognized as experts on the subject, their views and estimates would come to be weighed, and finally assented to, and the merchants would soon be established as an authority by whose rule butter would be made. The loss through ill methods is becoming so great that the merchant will be justified in warning makers that their butter must come up to the standard or not be taken. He must become authoritative in self-defence, and why not so by virtue of his enlightenment?

The Ontario Department of Agriculture has not been idle nor parsiminous in the cause of butter making. One power, however, it has not yet made the most of, and that is the country merchants' important position in the matter. Although the Minister has been in office for but a short time he has employed that time well in behalf of our dairy interests. Our make of cheese is now a strong favorite in Britain, and our make of creamery butter has few superiors. A grant of $1,500 apiece to the Eastern and the Western Dairymen's Association, has lately been increased by $1,000 to each, making $5,000 the yearly grant to the two Associations. The cheese-export has justified this liberality, and has suggested a like encouragement of our butter-making. This has also been acted upon, and although the bounty of the Department in not yet munificent, still it is $1,500 a year, and that is helpful. More is needed before we can afford the instruction and inspection, which are so necessary to make our creameries do their best. What instruction and inspection have done for cheese, they can do for butter, and that is take its manufacture completely out of the domestic sphere, and completely regenerate its character. All our cheese was formerly made in the homes of the farmers, and now only the fifth part of one per cent. is made there. With the transference of our cheese-making from the household to the factory, our name as a cheese-making people began. The success of the great experiment in its application to cheese, should be persuasive with the Department to increase their grant to the Creamery Association.

The present subsidy to the Creamery Association; Professor Robertson's able lectures at the Farmers' Institutes, at the Creamery Conventions, and at the Agricultural College; the establishment of an experimental creamery under Prof. Robertson, at Guelph; the issuing of thousands of dairy and creamery bulletins and reports; and the circulation among the private dairies of Lynch's valuable pamphlet on butter-making, are all signs that the Department aims to foster our butter interests, and are all influences more or less active to that end. As to the money-grant, we repeat, it is too small. The literature is useful, but not effective, on account of the distaste for reading Departmental or statistical compilations or reports that is everywhere evinced. As we said before, the position of the local merchant in the butter transactions of our country should be recognized and cultivated. So long as butter continues to be a home-made article, his position in the handling of it will be as much a fixity almost as that of the maker or the consumer. And the maker and the consumer are at present the only parties who are taken into the calculation of means for the solution the butter-question. The country merchant stands at a point on which the Department might advantageously bring to bear some of its efforts to redeem the quality of our dairy butter. Let the merchant be kept officially and periodically informed upon all that relates to butter-making, as cheese-makers are kept informed by bulletins three or four times per mouth. Thus the good offices of the country merchant will be enlisted in behalf of the work the Government aims to carry out, and he will be a sort of local missionary for spreading abroad the Government's scientific enlightenment to makers. The Hon. Mr. Drury informs us that he intends taking into consideration the retailer's relation to this important question, and hopes to make of it something that will be serviceable to our dairy interests.

The principal business men of St. Catharines have signed an agreement not to give Christmas presents this year. A little leaven leavens the whole mass, and their example will be imitated.

A clean store and tastefully arranged goods will invite trade.

A POSTAL GRIEVANCE.

The postage on paper covered books continues in this country to be four cents a pound, while in the United States it has been only one cent. This difference our government has so far shown no disposition to do away with nor even to diminish, although it is a difference that manifestly discriminates in favor of United States as against Canadian booksellers. Why it is kept up is hard to understand; it presents a constant anomaly in the National Policy, and is certainly not economical. The Post Office Department now gets nothing at all on a vast number of the books it carries, because the cheaper postage leads to their being ordered in the United States, and to that country it is that the postage is paid. If the postage on paper covered books were reduced to one cent a pound in this country, the government would raise a greater revenue from book-postage than it does now at four cents, and would be rendering its postal service to its own people. At present, we have little doubt the United States gets more postage from this country on paper covered books than does Canada herself. Neither revenue nor protective ends are served by this heavy postage, and what ends are served by stubbornly maintaining it nobody knows.

The injustice to our own dealers is very great. To print a book that has already appeared in England, the Canadian publisher must first pay for copyright. The American pirates the same book, and thus issues it much more cheaply than the Canadian publisher can. When he comes to send his book into Canada the duty brings the price up to that of the Canadian edition, so that the only difference lies in the postage. Royalty in the case of the Canadian publisher and customs duty in the case of the United States publisher, are drawbacks that pretty fairly balance each other. The advantage lies in the three cents which our Post Office Department charges on editions published in this country, and this three cents of tax in favor of the United States has done more to transfer trade across the border than any other influence.

THE CHRISTMAS STAR.

The Christmas Star, the Queen of Christmas numbers, is to hand and is a credit to the publishers, to the artists and to the Dominion. There are some forty odd pages of beautiful illustrations and literature enclosed in a strikingly artistic cover, together with three very handsome colored supplements, and an eight page panoramic supplement of Canadian cities. In this supplement, Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg are seen to their best advantage. It will be a grand thing to remind distant friends of what this fair Canada of ours is like. There has been an immense run on the first issue, so much so that the supply to a large number of dealers had to be cut down in order to cover the Dominion. The Star is without exception the best Christmas number yet received.

BUSINESS MEN UNITE.

The parlors of the Murray House, St. Catharines, were well filled on Monday evening, the 9th inst., with representative business men, pursuant to an invitation to take part in the formation of a Business Men's Association for that city. Among those present were: Messrs. John Marshall, J. B. Dolan, Andrew Riddell, A. J. Greenwood, A. Wilson, L. Bissonnette, C. A. Case, Wm. Thomson, J. S. Thomson, M. Kane, James Reilly, E. W. Groome, H. J. Rolls, J. K. Black, Alex. McLaren, S. McLean. B. C. Fairfield, W. W. Greenwood, Geo. Tait, Wm. Magness, M. Y. Keating, R. Stanley, T. H. Fitzsimons, C. K. Moore, J. M. Butler, R. W. Lawrie, G. C. Carlisle, J. S. Carlisle, J. Voisard, N. W. Gowan, Wm. Bunting, George Parke, Dr. Elliott and others.

Mr. John Marshall was chosen Chairman, and Mr. Wm. Thomson Secretary.

The Chairman explained the object of the meeting, and produced a quantity of literature bearing on the question. He read from the preamble of the Seaforth Association, and urged the great need of the formation of such an organization here, and the establishment of headquarters where the business men of the city could meet frequently and discuss their own welfare and that of the city generally.

It was then moved by J. K. Black, seconded by M. Kane, that we, the business men of St. Catharines, do form ourselves into an association to be called "The Business Men's Association of St. Catharines."—Carried.

On motion of Messrs. McLean and J. C. Carlisle, a roll book was opened for recording names of members, and the membership fee was subsequently fixed at one dollar.

The election of provisional officers was then taken up, with the following result:

President—John Marshall.
Vice-President—M. Y. Keating.
Secretary—Wm. Thomson.
Treasurer—C. A. Case.

Committee on By-Laws.—John Marshall, Andrew Riddell, L. Bissonnette, Alex. McLaren, M. Kane, George Tait, W. W. Greenwood, and C. K. Moore.

Mr. Geo. C. Carlisle suggested the advisability of interviewing the railway companies as to increased facilities so as to allow outsiders to visit the city more frequently dur the Christmas holidays.

Moved by G. C. Carlisle, seconded by Alex. McLaren, That a special committee consisting of Messrs. A. McLaren, W. Thomson, G. C. Carlisle, J. K. Black, and W. W. Greenwood be appointed to interview the railway companies on the subject, and also that the same committee interview Mr. E. A. Smyth as to the running of street cars in connection with the trains on the Welland Railway.

Mr. S. McLean very kindly offered the use of the Select Knights' hall pro tem for the use of the Association, and after some informal conversation the meeting adjourned.—St. Catharines Evening Star.

GREY COTTON ASSOCIATION.

At a meeting of the Dominion Grey Cotton Association, held at the Windsor hotel, Montreal, on Thursday, the following mills were represented: The Craven Cotten Company, Brantford; Hochelaga Cotton Company, Hochelaga; the Kingston Cotton Company, by Mr. James Minnes; the Nova Scotia Cotton Company; the Coaticook Cotton Company; the Merritton Cotton Company, by Mr. A. Ewan; the Monckton Cotton Company; the Windsor Cotton Co., and Wm. Parks & Son, St. John, by Mr. John H. Parks.

The President, Mr. A F. Gault, in the chair, stated the reason for calling the meeting, and reviewed the present condition of the grey cotton industry, which he considered very satisfactory. The inspector was then called upon to read his report, which showed that all the mills had kept strictly within the rules of the association. The stock of cotton on hand was less than five thousand bales, which is less than six weeks production. Orders on hand for spring delivery about 4,500 bales. In order to prevent any possibility of an over production, he deemed it prudent to insist on each mill running a small proportion of its looms for export for the next six months. The question of price and terms was fully discussed, and after a good deal of consideration, it was resolved to let it remain over until the next meeting in March. It is considered that the placing of 300 or 400 looms on export will make the market a very healthy one. The meeting passed off very harmoniously. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the chairman, who made a suitable reply, and thanked the representatives of the various mills who had at considerable personal inconvenience shown their interest in being represented by the President of each company. In answer to a question, the President stated that the Montmorenci mill had within the last fortnight taken orders for the China market for six months' production at satisfactory prices. The meeting then adjourned at the call of the Chairman, to the second or third week in March.

An immense train load of turkeys was shipped from Ottawa for Boston on Saturday night, the value of the consignment being about $28,000. They were all purchased in the Ottawa district and are said to have been fine birds.

THE CREAMERY ASSOCIATION.

Editor of CANADIAN GROCER :

SIR—I understand it's the intention of the Creamery Association to hold their annual meeting at the town of Seaforth, or within 20 miles of Lake Huron; last year they held it at Picton, in the east. Now it is generally understood that this Association was formed in the interest of the creamery business and to further the interest of business men interested in good butter. Now, their meetings should be held in a central locality, say like the city of Toronto, and the principal officers or an executive committee at that same centre, so that business of any kind can be transacted at the smallest cost and with dispatch. Hoping you will see your way to try and have a change in the place of meeting.

CUTTING PRICES.

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Dec. 12, 1889.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—Our county is getting noted for cheap sugar. In Picton I see sugar advertised 20 lbs. for $1, which is below what it can be bought for, as the cheapest sugar I can get is 5½c. and freight besides. Now, the wholesale houses should not sell such men as that a dollar's worth of goods of any kind, and not let them compromise; also, there ought to be a heavy fine put on any persons running staples below cost unless the wholesale prices drop or otherwise below their value. Mr. S. S. Young's agent was here to-day, and said he could have sold to those Picton men, but would not encourage such practices, and if all the wholesale men would follow that example there would not be so many stocks sold and compromises asked for.

Yours truly,

W. A. POTTER.

[We are pleased to receive Mr. Potter's letter, because this is a subject which cannot too often be referred to. By constantly drumming on it we hope to see some good results. It is one which will no doubt be dealt with by the Business Men's Association. Wholesale men or manufacturers should not sell to any firm which cuts prices below a living profit. If they followed this safe policy there would not be so many compromises as Mr. Potter points out. — ED. GROCER.]

The Inland Revenue Department has ecently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. this is that the wholesale dealers have raised the price and the retailers get no profit whatever by selling it.

A leading pickle manufacturer, speaking of the situation, said the atmosphere was now clearer and a healthier tone prevailed in the market. He felt sure that an advance of about 20 to 25 per cent. in prices would occur by spring as stocks are low, and prices have been cut.

Mr. A. McCormick, grocer, London, Ont., has been unwell for some days, but manages to get to the store once a day for a few minutes, although it is not actually necessary, as his two sons are active business young men, and the business is safe in their hands.

The inspiration of the holiday season has been very happily caught between the pages of Toronto Saturday Night's Christmas Number. If its leaves were the unadorned spoil of the holly and the maple, they could not be more strictly representative of Christmas and of Canada. It is also a thing of beauty. This handsome issue is the creditable work of Canadian artists and writers, and its subjects are as wholesome as is their native air.

The Port Perry Standard says: Mr. John P. Shaw, who has been engaged in the egg business for years, informs us that during the past season he has purchased considerably over 30,000 dozen eggs, which means something over $4,000 placed directly in the hands of the yeoman of this neighborhood, the prices paid by him having always been higher than the cash market price on the Uxbridge market. This branch of the productions of the farm has assumed an important factor in the maintainance of the farmers of this county and is undoubtedly of great advantage to them.

MARKETS

TORONTO, DEC. 19.

DRY GOODS.

Dulness prevails. There is limited buying, the soft weather being bad for the health of the trade in dry goods ; it checks the demand for winter stock, and it keeps grain from moving. There will be no d op in cotton, if the present firm signs are to be trusted. According to the latest resolution of the Association, some of the looms in every mill will be occupied solely for the export trade to guard against over production for the home market. The rule, that when the point of over production seems to be reached, the mills will shut down in successive months, is made in the interest of firm prices ; also, raw cotton has lately advanced. Canadian woollens are expected to advance by 20 to 25 per cent. The English woollens will be firm at present prices, until February, when they are more likely to advance than to decline. The dearness of alpaca goods continues. This is owing not only to the fashionable run on this class of goods, but the scarcity of the raw material. The alpaca goat was extensively bred in the times when lustre, etc., were worn before, but when the decay of the fashion followed, the goats were much more largely slaughtered. The revived preference for alpaca goods finds few animals to supply the material, and dearness is likely to be a matter of a year or two.

HARDWARE.

Business continues to be fairly active. The Christmas season quickens the trade in cutlery and light hardware. The building trade presents a continued demand for structural articles. At last week's meeting between Hamilton and Toronto dealers, prices were fixed for the winter trade. There were no advances, except o ne or two slight ones on articles of minor importance.

GROCERIES.

The demand for Christmas goods has slackened somewhat. There are still a good many orders coming in but they are for small lots, somewhat of a sorting character. Prices remain about the same. Dried fruit has been in active request and prices have been well maintained, especially on Valencia raisins which are being bought on speculation chiefly by a Montreal house. Payments continue on the slow side.

CANNED GOODS.

Demand is quite as good as usual for this season of the year and prices generally are very firm. It was reported on the street that packers would advance prices of staples 2½c. on the first of the year, but representatives of the packers say they have received no information of such an advance. Tomatoes are selling at $1.10 to $1.20; corn at $1.10 to $1.35. Peas at $1.25 to $1.35. Peaches are in fair request at $2.25 for 2's and $3.25 for 3's. Apples are moving freely at 90 to 95c. for 3's and 2.25 for gallon. Fish are unchanged ; salmon is rather easier in tone.

COFFEES.

Local demand is limited but prices are firmer all round. Fair Rios are selling at 22c., and for Javas 25 to 28c. are asked.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is an active demand for sorting lots of all kinds of dried fruits, especially Valencia raisins and currants. In Malaga fruit large holders show an inclination to shade prices on some lines as the end of the year approaches. Currants are firmly held, with sales to-day of retail lots of old at 4½c., and of new at 5½ to 5¾c., all quotations being for barrels. Dates are going out freely at 6c. for small lots of layers, and at 5¾c. for larger quantities ; a bid of 5½c. was made for 350 boxes, but not taken. Figs are unchanged ; nuts are scarce and wanted at 5c. Prunes firm and unchanged ; Trieste cables are also firm ; on spot sales of small lots French kegs were made at 4¾c., and Bosnia at 5¼ to 5½c. prepaid, rule from 6¼ to 9c. in 55 lb. boxes. Valencia raisins are in good demand ; Montreal has been buying all the off-stalk offered at advancing prices, sales to-day having been made at 6⅞c. ; retail lots have not advanced in proportion, as sales are being made at 6⅞ to 7c. Sultanas firm at 8½ to 11½c. for inferior to choice. Malaga fruit has not heen moving as freely, and the feeling is easy ; London layers are quoted generally at $3.15 to $3.25.

GREEN FRUIT.

The demand during the last week has been good. It is usually very limited at this season, not because consumption has tired, but because of the weather-hindrances to shipping. The open weather that has this year so far preceded Christmas has been unusually favorable to shipping, and stocks have accordingly been reduced soon after they were replenished with the latest season's growth. Valencia oranges are $5 to $5 50 per case, according to quality, which is indicated in this fruit by the color. Florida russets are $3.25 to $3.50, and fancy bright are $3.50 to $3.75 per box. Jamaica oranges are almost gone. The remains of the stock are worth $5.50 to $6 per barrel. Jaffa oranges are $3.50 per box. Palermo lemons are $4 in 300-boxes, and $3 in 360-boxes. The Messinas are $3 to $4 per box, and fancy Messinas are $4.50 to $4.75 in 300-boxes. Malaga grapes are $5.50 to $6.50 per barrel. Sweet potatoes are $5 per box, and almost out of stock.

SALT.

Two cars of barrelled salt sold on track this week at $1.32; one car dairy 200 lb. sacks at $1.18. In smaller lots barrels are held at $1.40., and quarter sacks dairy at 45c. Coarse Canada is held at 63c. on track.

NUTS.

Are in good demand and the market is generally firm. New Grenoble walnuts are in demand but scarce and firm at 16c.; some good quality old are selling at 14 to 15c. Tarragona almonds are easier.

SUGARS.

Now that the December demand has been about filled up the general impression is that there will certainly be no advance in prices of refined sugar, but on the other hand that they are likely to decline before they will go any higher. Raws have weakened and in New York refined have followed them. Here the demand has been dull the past few days and prices of yellows have been shaded. No brands are offered generally at 5⅜c. No raws offered here.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrup firm with a steady demand. Molasses in fair request. A shipment of Porto Rico molasses has been received, and is offering in puncheons at 37c.

TEAS.

Are moving more freely. Several orders have come in from the east of Toronto for Japans at 15 to 18c., and in the west Young Hysons have sold at 23 to 25c., and Blacks at 30 to 35c.

INDIAN AND CEYLON TEAS.

INDIAN TEA—The decline of three weeks ago, especially noticeable in Pekoes, has not been permanent. The tone of the market has decidedly improved, prices for fine teas, showing a slight advance, chiefly in good Pekoes, and Broken Pekoes ; lower kinds selling at firm rates. The upward tendency of the market calls for remark, seeing that two-thirds of the shipping season have passed, and the loose supply from India is not expected to materially exceed last year, whereas the London market reports show that 1,000,000 lbs. per month more than last year are being used.

CEYLON TEAS — These have become steadier in sympathy with the Indian market; supplies are of useful character, and fair averages have been obtained.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Dairy butter has rallied since last quotation. Special grades of butter, as well as of all produce, are reaching the market against Christmas consumption, and prices accordingly rise. The demand is also brisk enough now to draw into the range of the highest prices butter that is outside of choice. The supply has shown no marked variation except in roll butter. Pound rolls have fallen below, and large rolls have over-run, the usual level of supply. Holiday baking is absorbing more of the store-packed, and that class of butter, although unmoved at its lowest point, has been carried two cents beyond the uttermost price reported last week. It is now 11 to 15c. Dairy-packed is 16 to 18c. Large rolls have been coming in week after week in increasing quantities, and in declining quality. They sell for 12½ to 15½c., and for the finest 17c. is paid. Pound rolls are 23 to 24c., and are very hard to get. This operates with the increased call for them, to bring prices all the way from where they had sunk last week. The check in the supply must depend on some very sudden and perhaps temporary cause, as last week they were as notably plentiful as they are now scarce. Creamery-pack is 25 to 26c. It occupies a position in the market which renders it unlikely to be affected by fluctuations in the dairy prices. Cheese

Roundly, the annual consumption in that country is 80,000,000 lbs. during last crop year This is the best answer to the twaddle about the excessive quantity of tannin in Indian tea. Consumers in England are no fools : they know a cup of good tea.

MARKETS—Continued

is 11c. for small lots of prime September and October. There is nothing to note in the market but the normal movement of trade. Buyers and sellers are still asunder.

CRANBERRIES.

This fruit has been firm in its prices since it was cropped. It gets higher as it gets older, but its present figure may not be maintained after Christmas. In barrels, the Cape Cod fruit is $11; in boxes $4.

FISH.

The fish market is about at its quietest. The abundance and seasonableness of new pork, fowl and game during the latter part of the fall and the opening of winter lead to the neglect of fish. During the dull period stocks are being purchased and prepared for the trade, which usually is active after Christmas. The laying in or freezing stock is also nearly at a standstill on account of the unfavorableness of the weather for hauling. Whitefish are still coming in, and selling at 7c. Salmon trout are 7½c. Salted sea-salmon are $12 per 200 pound barrel. Fresh steak-cod are 6 to 6½c. Haddock are 5 to 5½c. per lb. Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel. Shore herring is $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half-barrel. Boneless cod is 8c. per lb., or 6c. per lb., in 40 lb. boxes. Boneless fish is 4½ to 5c. per lb.

JELLYINE.

Ellis & Keighley are obout to introduce into the market, a new table delicacy called Jellyine. It is prepared in three flavors, currant, orange, and lemon, and is put up in similar packages to Fruit Puddine, which has become so favorably known the past six months. Every grocer should have it.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 7½ to 7¾c; smoked breakfast is 11 to 11½c; roll is 9 to 9½c.

HAMS—Smoked are 11 to 11½c; Green are 10 to 10⅝c. Consumption continues to be little engaged with hams.

LARD—American tubs 8¼ to 8¾c; American pails 8¾ to 9c; Canadian tubs 8¾c, and pails 9¼c.

MESS PORK—$13.50 to $14; for choice Canadian cuts, $15.

DRESSED HOGS.

The supply is increasing and prices are declining. Packers are taking good consignments at $5.40. The feeling, however, is weak and packers would not pay over $5.25 to $5.30 for cars. In fact they are all putting on an indifferent air at the moment as they are filled up. One lot of 40 select weights were bought to arrive here at $5.30. Letters from Montreal say there are filled up there also and are looking for lower prices. At most northern points buyers are paying farmers $5. It was reported on the market that Grant, of Ingersoll, was not going to pack any this winter, but was advising farmers to hold their young pigs until spring, when he would buy them alive. Aylmer is not packing any. With these two packers off the market there would be about 20,000 hogs to be taken care of. On the other hand, it is said that if prices continue as low as at present Grant will go into the market.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—There has been little business done this week. A better feeling would no doubt be established by harder weather. Car loads of packed apples are $2 to $2.50 per barrel, with the probabilities strongly in favor of the lower price. Small lots are $2.50 to $3 per barrel. The demand for local consumption is very limited.

BEANS Are $1.80 to $2. Trade is quiet and on a small scale, but is very steady.

DRIED APPLES—The demand still hangs back, and prices are 5½ to 6c. in lots, and 6 to 6½c. in small quantities. Local enquiries are expected to begin after the setting in of winter.

EVAPORATED APPLES—New ones are 9 to 10c., and old ones 8 to 9c. Buyers still consider prices high, and are stocking for only the limited trade there is now doing, expecting better prices when the winter is fairly begun.

EGGS—All kinds have gone up again. The special Christmas demand is the cause of advance. Limed eggs are 16 to 17c. for ordinary, to 19c. for equal brands. Cased fresh eggs are 22 to 24c., and are troublesome goods. In many cases those offered as fresh are not as good as reliable packed eggs. Strictly new-laid eggs are not to be had in anything like the quantities enquired for. They are worth 30c.

GAME—Has not varied since last report. The continued soft weather keeps the market from rising at a time when the natural tendency of prices would be expected to be upward. Partridges, 50 to 60c. per brace. Black and mallard ducks are 75 to 90c. per brace; wood, pintail, butter-balls, teal, bluebills, red-heads, are 30 to 40c. per brace. Pigeons are 20 to 25c. per brace. Prairie chickens are $1.50 per brace. Quails are $2 to $2.50 per dozen. Rabbits are 25c. per pair.

HAY—No. 1 pressed is $11; No. 2 pressed is $7 to $8; No. 1, loose on street, $11 to $13; No. 2, loose on street, $8 to $10.

HIDES—In car-lots cured remain at 5c. No. 1 green are 4¼c., and No. 2 are 3¼c. The market is very dull, and there is talk of a further reduction.

HONEY—There is nothing new in prices. Clear is 10 to 12½c. in large quantities, and 12 to 14c. in small ones. In the comb, wholesale lots are 18 to 20c., and small ones 21 to 23c. Business has long pursued an even course, and there is no immediate sign that it will be interrupted. Stocks are large and the demand is steady.

HOPS—Yearlings, 8 to 11c.; new ones, 12 to 14c. Stocks are entering very quietly into consumption.

OATS—On the street are 30 to 31½c. In car-lots, 29 to 31c. There is an abundance. A good many cars of white have been taken for export.

ONIONS—Are worth $1.60 to $2. Their movement is very slow, but it is steadily carrying them off the market.

POTATOES—As in the case of apples, buyers believe sharp weather would greatly enliven the market. Supplies are considerably reduced from the volume that flowed in three weeks ago. Prices are still 55 to 60c. for car-lots, and 70 to 75c. per bag in small lots. The many other gathering-points in the province have no doubt made heavy drafts upon the year's crop.

POULTRY—Turkeys are at Christmas prices, 8 to 12c. a pound. All that come in find ready sale, and the number coming in is diminished by the soft weather. Geese are 5 to 7c per lb. Ducks are 60 to 80c per pair, and chickens 30 to 60c. per pair. Dry-picked chickens bring the upper figures in this scale, and they are increasing in scarceness.

STRAW—Loose oat is $5 and $6 per ton; bundled oat is $8 to $9 per ton; tight-pressed oat is $7 per ton. No wheat straw now appears on the market. None is wanted.

SKINS—No. 1 calf, 6c.; No. 2 calf, 5c. Sheepskins are $1 to $1.05.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¾ to 2c. per lb., and rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL—Fleece wool is 22c. For pulled, the lowest is 24c.; super is 25c., and extra-super 29c.

MONTREAL MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

There has been a slight falling off in trade the past week, though hardly worth mentioning, owing no doubt to it being the retail dealers harvest. Besides wholesalers and manufacturers are glad of a lull in order to wind up the year's business. Payments have been remarkably fair. Retailers are now doing a good trade which exceeds that of last year's.

SUGAR.

Sugar still continues very dull, and nothing is being done at all, or likely to be for some time. Holders do not care to predict a rise or an increased business. The market in New York is worse than here, with no prospects for a better outlook. Quotations are: Granulated, 7⅜c.; yellows range from 5¼c. to 6¼c. according to quality.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Prices still remain unchanged with a fair demand for low grades. Barbadoes puncheons, 47½c.; in bbls. 51c.; by car lots, puncheons, 46c.; bbls. 49½c.

COFFEES.

There is nothing doing in coffees. Prices remain unchanged. Green coffee has advanced ¼c. in the foreign market, but it has not effected the market here.

TEAS.

Trade continues quiet; a good many Japans have been sold at 18 to 19c. Low grades of Young Hyson were sold at 12c., delivered here en bloc. Ping Suez have been in demand, and fully 1,000 boxes were sold here by a New York house representing a China firm. Very little is being done in black teas. Prospects are good for the new year, as very little stock is held.

CANNED GOODS.

Trade still continues quiet. There will be no demand for these goods till coming on spring, when the housekeepers will run out of the home-made goods. Association prices are still maintained, although goods have been offered at less than the Asssociation price. Lobsters are still quoted at $6.80. Salmon is slightly lower, being quoted at $6.80.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is really nothing new to report in dried fruit. Prices are still sustained for Valencia raisins and currents, although a great deal higher prices are looked for, as about only half the supply of last year has reached this market as yet. Valencias are stiff at 6¾ to 7c. for ordinarily, selected 7¼ to 7½c. Currents, bbls. 5½c., cases 6c. Bosnia prunes and dates are arriving of first-class quality. Prices are, prunes 8 to 9c., according to size. Hallowee dates are quoted at 6 to 6½c. The cheaper dates are not much used on this market. Sultanas still remain firm at 9½ to 12½c. Evaporated apples, old 8c., new 11c.

NUTS.

The market is still quiet at unchanged prices. Grenoble walnuts quoted at 16 to 17½c. Filberts 9½ to 10c. Almonds unchanged, at 12 to 14c.

EGGS.

Are very steady, with fair demand; prices unchanged. Limed are quoted at 17 to 18c.; held fresh, 19 to 22c.; strictly fresh, 24 to 26c.

FISH.

The fish market has been fairly active, but business as a rule has not developed any new feature. About the middle of January will see business good again. There has been no special changes in values, but B.C. salmon has further declined to $10.50 per brl., with even a less figure mentioned. Herring have ruled easy and quiet, with green codfish in light supply and firm. No. 1 Labrador her-

Fresh herring, $1.25 per 100. Smoked herring, 11c. per box. Finnan haddies, 7c. per lb.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

The local grain market continues quiet and steady, with little business, and prices are nominally uuchanged. We quote: Wheat, No. 1 hard Manitoba, 98c. to $1; No. 2 hard, 96 to 97c.; corn, duty paid, 50 to 51c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; peas, 68c. per 66 lbs. Barley, 40 to 50c. The demand for flour was limited and the market was quiet but steady with only a small jobbing trade doing. We quote: Patent winter, $4.90 to $5.15; patent spring, $5 to $5.10; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.65; extra, $4.15 to $4.25; superfine, $3.10 to $3.75, city strong bakers', $4.70 to $4.75; strong bakers', $4.40 to $4.60; strong bakers', bags, $2.40 to $2.50; superfine bags, $1.50 to $1.90; extra bags, $2 to $2.10. Oatmeal standard, $3.90 to $4.10; granulated, $4.10 to $4.30; rolled, $4.50 to $4.75.

PROVISIONS.

A fair amount of business was accomplished in provisions and the market was fairly active and steady. We quote: Western short cut. pork, $13; mess, $12.25 to $12.75; Canadian short cut., $14.00. Western (Armour's and Fairbank's), $1.62½ to $1.65 per pail. Cases (Armour's and Fairbank's), 8⅛ to 8⅜ per lb. Canadian lard, $1.60.

POULTRY AND GAME.

There was an active demand for game and all the offerings were taken at firm prices. Choice partridges sold at 50 to 60c. and culls at 30c. per brace. Venison was more plentiful, and lower at 10 to 12c. for saddles, and 7 to 8c. for carcases per lb. The demand for poultry continues active, of which the receipts are small for this season of the year and buyers in many cases have not been able to fill their wants, as the demand is far in excess of the supply. The tone of the market has been stronger and prices have advanced ½c. per lb. all round, and the prospects are for still higher prices if the receipts keep small. Turkeys sold at 9 to 10½c. geese at 7 to 8c. ducks at 8½ to 9½c. and chickens at 7 to 8c. per lb.

HOPS.

The tone of the hop market is firm, and prices have an upward tendency in both foreign and Canadian. Sales of some fair-sized lots of choice Canadian have been made at 12 to 12½c., and a lot of fancy at 14c. Old Canadian are quoted at 5 to 7c. per lb. Pacifics have changed hands at 20c., duty paid; Bavarians 19 to 21c., and Bohemians 20 to 23c., as to quality.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The butter market continues quiet and steady, with only a small jobbing trade on local account at steady prices. We quote: Creamery, 22 to 23c.; Townships, choice, 19 to 21c.; Morrisburg, 15 to 18c.; Brockville, 15 to 18c.; Western, 12 to 15c.; rolled, 12 to 16c. The cheese market was dull and unchanged. The Liverpool public cable was steady at 54c. We quote: Finest September and October, 10½ to 10¾c.; fine stock, 9¼ to 10¼c. Earlier makes, 9 to 9½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

MONTREAL WHOLESALE GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Montreal Wholesale Grocers' Association, was held in the Board of Trade rooms last Monday. Among those present were:—Messrs. Childs, Hebert, Tees, Chaput, Laporte, Hughes, Turner and Lockerby. The principal business before the meeting was the election of officers for the ensuing year, which resulted as follows:

President—Geo. Childs.
Vice-President—C. P. Hebert.
Treasurer—D. T. Tees.

Directors—Messrs. Chas. Chaput, W. W. Lockerby and A. D. Turner.

Committee of Arbitration—Messrs. W. Kinloch, H. H. F. Hughes, D. C. Brussel, H. Laporte and H. Ransom.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie. have a special line of Jean Nantes brand of French sardines in quarter tins, they are offering at $7.75 per case.

The Dominion Commercial Association, at their last annual meeting held in this city, elected one of the most popular and best known men in the grocery trade as their Vice-President, Mr. Fred. Hughes, of Caverhill, Hughes & Co., wholesale grocers.

Mr. S. H. Ward, of 30 St. Sacrament street, has been appointed agent for Fairbanks' Canning company, the well-known meat packers and preservers of Chicago. Their appointment should prove a most satisfactory one as Mr. Ward is well and favorably known to the trade generally.

Mr. Lyon Silverman, 504 St. Paul street, the well-known importer and manufacturer of essentile oils, essences, colorings, etc., has secured the sole agency for Canada and the United States for the celebrated Barne's English Worcester Sauce. This sauce has a large sale in England, and now that it is in Mr. Silverman's hands it will no doubt take a place at the head of the sauce procession in Canada, and take for its motto, "Excelsior."

The Port Hope grocers have decided not to give any Christmas presents to their customers this year.

THE CANADA SUGAR REFINING CO'Y [LIMITED],

MONTREAL,

Offer for sale all grades of REFINED SUGARS and SYRUPS of the well-known brand of

Redpath

CERTIFICATES OF STRENGTH AND PURITY.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday's yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

JOHN BAKER EDWARDS, P.L.D., D.C.L., F.C.S.,

Public Analyst for the District of Montreal, and Professor of Chemistry.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY, MEDICAL FACULTY, McGILL UNIVERSITY.

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have taken and tested a sample of your "EXTRA GRANULATED" Sugar, and find that it yielded 99·88 per cent. of Pure Sugar. It is practically as pure and good a Sugar as can be manufactured.

Yours truly,

G. P. GIRDWOOD,

THE BEEKEEPERS.

The International Beekeepers' Association held their twentieth anniversary convention in Brantford last week. A great many of the leading honey-raisers from Canada and the United States were present. Several papers were read and subjects discussed, of which the most important related to markets, the reduction of propolis, woman's work in bee-keeping, wintering, shipping queens, the economy of sufficient heating, bee-keeping as a pastime. Much useful information was communicated.

The question of the possibility of the manufacture of honey comb was brought forward, when Mr. Root said that he would give $1,000 to anyone who could manufacture a case of comb. Those present agreed to write to the particular papers in their neighborhoods denying statements as to the possibility of manufacturing honeycomb, should any such appear.

Prof. A. J. Cook, of the agricultural college, Michigan, gave a lecture on the alimentary apparatus of the honey bee. The remarks were illustrated with complete diagrams, and the whole process of gathering and secreting honey was very elaborately explained.

Samples of honey were received from Christiana, Norway, forwarded by Ira S. Young, who was sent from that country some time ago to study the method of honey producing followed in the States and Canada. A resolution of thanks was passed by the members, all of whom expressed themselves as much pleased with the sample.

Dr. Mason, of Aburndale, Ohio, and Mr. McKnight, of Owen Sound, were appointed to prepare a honey exhibit tor the World's Exposition of 1892. The doctor is to look after the United States and Mr. McKnight the Dominion.

MALAGA RAISINS.

W.C. Bevan & Co.,writing us from Malaga, 14th November, say :—Our raisin market during the past month has been steadily declining, and even at present low prices there is no demand. Our crop was a small one—in the aggregate some 600,000 boxes—and yet 50 per cent. still remains in Malaga unsold. This surplus may be difficult for our friends in Canada to understand, when they consider the shortage of the pack; but it is too old a story to need much insight, so long as the present system of folly and fogyism shall prevail. We have spoken, written and worked to have more discretion and judgment used in the prices paid to farmers for their fruit at the opening of season, as well for the interests of growers as packers (for their interests are identical), but all without avail. The unnatural advance that set in immediately after first shipments had been,checked all further demand for our production, with the result, as already stated, that half our crop is to-day in Malaga. Some day the scales will drop from our competitors' eyes, but at best it will take a decade to fully recover the ground their fluidness has cost us.

We still have our unrivalled soil that produces fruit that will have to the end its distinct superiority of aroma and flavor. Even most flagrant folly cannot kill our natural monopoly of the trade in strictly finest table raisins, and we shall continue to strive for better judgment in buying, as well as a return to the standards of packing.

One night last week some person obtained an entrance to the grocery store of Mr. George Weatherall, London, by breaking the glass in the front door of the store, thus enabling them to draw the bolt on the inside. The only one thing missed by Mr. Weatherall was seven or eight ponnds of chewing tobacco and a good sized piece of bacon.

TRADE SALES.

The bankrupt stock of F. McCrae & Sons, Port Perry, was bought by Mrs. J. McCrae, at sixty-nine and-a-half cents on the dollar.

The bankrupt stockof E. E. Smith, Queen street west,Toronto,was bought by A. Greenshields, at thirty-two and-a-half cents on the dollar. The book debts were withdrawn.

Smith & Keighley, have received a large consignment of prepared prunes and plumbs, in botties, of various sizes.

Until the holiday season is over there will be no more sales.

SYSTEM.

It is an acknowledged fact that nine-tenths of the failures in business are due to lack of system in small matters. Small leaks sink large ships, and the very fact of neglecting little items in the every day routine is bound to make a large hole in the yearly profits. The general retailer is notably lax in this respect, and not one in ten keeps any particular check on cash receipts and disbursements. We beg to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Canadian Cash Register Company, who are now placing extensively their Automatic Cashier, a machine which compels employer and employee alike to be accurate. By the aid of this ingenious device a record is kept of every transaction as made. The cash drawer ca not be opened until an entry has been made, consequently at night the cash can be readily balanced. The machine is not expensive, and the system costs but one cent a day to run.

There were 23 failures in Canada reported to "BRADSTREET'S" during the past week, against 35 in the preceding week, and 38, 34 and 31 in the corresponding weeks of 1888, 1887 and 1886, respectively. In the United States there were 370 failures reported to "BRADSTREET'S" during the week, as compared with 281 in the preceding week, and with 309, 253 and 292, respectively, in the corresponding weeks of 1888, 1887 and 1886. The total number of failures in Canada reported to "BRADSTREET'S" from January 1st, 1889, to Dec. 14th, 1889, was 1540, against 1639, 1238 and 1139 for corresponding periods in 1888, 1887 and 1886, respectively. In the United States there were reported for a similar period, 11023 in 1889, 9747 in 1888, 9230 in 1887 and 9901 in 1886.

"The hardest lesson young commercial travellers have to learn, and probably the most important one is that of patience," observed Charles W. Longacre, of the American Tack Company, St. Louis, to Stoves and Hardware. "As a rule, they start out with the idea that it is necessary to cover as much ground and see as many people as is absolutely possible in the course of a day. Consequently they commence to talk up their goods the moment they approach a merchant, instead of devoting a few minutes to pleasant conversation on general subjects. Then, if they see the merchant in conversation with some one else, and the conversation is prolonged, they plainly show a nervous impatience by their actions. They fidget in their chairs, they jump up and sit down again, they walk the floor, and by a dozen other ways display an impatience that soon gets the merchant in a state of nervousness and irritability. The result is the dealer is half-way provoked and not in a humor to buy goods. It is not the salesman who covers the most ground who sells the most goods, by any means. It is the one who moves so carefully and slowly that he does not miss a chance nor allow one advantageous point to escape him. If he sees a chance to sell he possesses his soul in patience, even if he loses his train, until the proper moment arrives, and then clinches the sale. Possibly he only sees two or three men a day, but he makes every one count, whereas the salesman who visits a dozen in a hurry may not catch more than one of them. In no instance does 'haste make waste' more thoroughly than in selling goods on the road."

Mr. H. W. McCulloch, Wilton Avenue, an active member of the Grocers' Association in this city, called last week to renew his subscription. We highly value the opinion of clear headed men, and we here quote Mr. McCulloch's: "I find every number of the GROCER loyally in touch with the needs of practical business. It serves its purpose well, and I give its pages thorough attention. I would not be without it. I made money by reading it."

SPECIAL TO OUR READERS.

As the design of THE CANADIAN GROCER is to benefit mutually all interested in the business, we would request all parties ordering goods or making purchases of any description from houses advertising with us to mention in their letter that such advertisement was noticed in THE CANADIAN GROCER.

OUR MONTREAL OFFICE.

WINDOW PRICE NOTICES.

Our protest against the perverted use of the shop-window as a cabinet of prices, has called forth words of approval from men who are practically acquainted with the injurious bearings of this custom. These bearings should be fully pointed out, and on their account we return to the subject.

The man who initiates this usage in any community does it as a challenge. The nearest competitor very soon makes answer by defiant quotations stuck in his window. The war having been once started on these lines has to be kept up, and a science of ways and means has to be devised by each combatant that he may hold out long enough to bring the other to capitulate. This science involves the seizing of opportunities to buy bankrupt stocks at a bargain, the laying in of showy but cheap goods, the falling short in measure, adulteration, and the slandering of one's opponent. The man who can construct the best economy out of these materials will survive, and be the final candidate for the trade of both.

Thus poor goods are sold, cheating is made a fine art, bad feeling is engendered, the public are swindled, and somebody fails. If the temperment of the rivals is equable enough to keep the fervor of their opposition below the frenzy-point, they may get along without defaming each other, but they can't keep up the window battle long without bringing themselves into some contempt. It is not a dignified position—this everlasting watching your rival and trimming your sails to suit every tack he makes.

When a man puts his prices in his window he really notifies his rival that he desires a tilt at price cutting He further enlists all the low elements of gossip, tale bearing, and lying that a neighborhood is capable of to foment the aforesaid tilt. For as soon as the customer of one sees the prices of the other thus displayed, she, or he, at once tells it to her or his dealer. This dealer hears the same story twenty times to-day, has it confirmed by a reduction of call to-morrow, and the day after to-morrow parades his own price cards.

The man who introduces this thing in any centre of trade, large or small, is evidently a free lance, and, therefore, more or less an immoral trader. He is not content with gathering round him a body of patronage which he should make a study of that he might cater to it better than any other man: he aims to break into the established trade of another man, to disorganize it and take it away.

It is better on all accounts that people should be obliged to come into the store for information about prices. The information given may not induce them to buy, but it is hard to say what other considerations may be the means of bringing about a sale of something. The information, if given at at the window, might not induce them to buy, but if it did not, the observer would pass on. Once in a store, however, there are many other things the enquirer notices besides the matter asked about. Above all, there is the dealer, all alive to draw attention to bargains, to odds and ends behind the counter here and there. Thus often is a potential buyer made an actual one.

TOBACCO CONFISCATIONS.

The Tobacco Regulations are nearly as rich in disputed passages as if they had reached us after filtering through half a dozen languages, or had been edited from a medley of texts. Where the meaning is unmistakable, either it is not proceeded upon, as in the statement of the responsibility of ex-warehousers, and the description of the methods of cancelling, or it is suspended, as in the clause forbidding jobbers to break packages. It further mixes the matter up, so that each officer is considered competent to interpret the Regulations for his district, and to choose between what shall be enforced and what shall not. An instance of this is afforded by late seizures at Napanee. Packages, there, had been opened without the stamp being broken. The Regulations say the stamps shall be broken by the opening of the package, but the particular clause which states this has never been enforced. Seizures have been made in this city, but never because the box was opened at the wrong place, officers having stated that this could not reasonably be insisted on. Nor can it. Take those tin caddies ; the stamp is placed on a side angle, and equally overlaps each side. To break the caddy open along that corner from end to end is difficult, dangerous, and damaging. To operate a cold-chisel along an angle of a tin surface so as not to cut in, bruise and loosen the contents, and thus injure them, is almost an impossibility. The hand of the operator is liable to be severely cut on the ragged edge if the chisel glance once. Dealers prefer to open the caddy at the soldered joint. That is midway between the angles, and is the natural line of opening. But the zealous official at Napanee is determined to insist on the letter of the law, and on that particular letter of it which other collectors overlook, or declare to be not a ground to confiscate upon.

Thus the Department leaves it ultimately to the collector to determine when seizures shall be made. The regulations provide plenty of impediments to a man's trading in tobacco, and where the dealer stumbles upon one of these, the local officer equally may or may not vindicate the violated clause.

Port Elgin merchants pride themselves in keeping tidy their stores and such they have.

MANUFACTURING ENTERPRISES.

Evidences of the prosperity of the majority of our manufaeturers are not wanting. The enlargement of their establishments consequent upon increased trade is a necessity that causes them to stop and carefully consider where this enlargement is to be planted. In a large city, where land is very valuable and is probably taxed to nearly its selling value, to use it for manufacturlng purposes is to add a large amount to the yearly expenses, in the shape of interest on value of the land and the taxes. But the advantages to be derived by being in, or in close proximity to, a large town or city are considered as an offsett to the increased expenditure mentioned. Good shipping and banking facilities are absolutely necessary. To be able to secure, at short notice, the necessary labor required to carry on large manufacturing establishments, is also a great advantage to the manufacturer. These, and other advantages that might be enumerated are to be carefully considered by manufacturers when choosing a location to erect their works.

Realizing all these facts, it is not surprising that a number of Toronto manufacturers, finding that increased accommodation is an absolute necessity, have formed themselves into a company and have secured a large tract of land, a short distance west of this city, with the intention of erecting the several works that each individual firm is interested in. In their new abode they will have all the advantages that can be had in the city. The shipping facilities will be good, taxes light, and a rapid and easy communication with the city will be one of the improvements inaugurated.

The intention is to make the new town what Pullman is to Chicago—a model manufacturing town, with good roads, electric lights, water works, and the streets laid out regularly, reserving small parks or recreation grounds for the comfort and pleasure of the inhabitants. The place will be one of the most desirable for mechanics to locate, who want to secure houses of their own. The land will be sold at a moderate price, so that the opportunities for men desiring to settle and make a home will be many.

The fact that these men stand ready to put a large amount of money into an enterprise of this kind goes to show that they have great faith in the future of the Dominion. We trust that the enterprise will meet with the success it deserves.

THE TEA PURE.

On the 27th November, Robert Pelham, a carpenter, residing at 49 Hayden street, while working on a building on Hazelton avenue, became suddenly sick and was conveyed to his home in the ambulance. The following day his entire family became ill, and medical men were called in to attend them. Dr. Spencer, after examining the patients, gave it as his opinion that they had been poisoned, and upon investigation it was found that they had all been drinking from a tea pot in which a sediment of a suspicious nature was found. The vessel containing a portion of the liquid was handed by Dr. Spencer to Prof. Ellis for analysis. The following is the report :

SCHOOL OF PRACTICAL SCIENCE,
TORONTO, Dec. 20, 1889.

B. SPENCER, M.D.

DEAR SIR,—You left at my laboratory two bottles, one containing a liquid, apparently tea, and the other tea leaves.

From the liquid I obtained a substance which, from its behavior to chemical and physiological tests, I believe to be hyoscyamine, an alkaloid contained in henbane, a drug which will produce in poisonous doses symptoms exactly similar to those described by you as observed in your patients.

The leaves are tea leaves. I found no leaves of any other plant among them, and I was unable to detect the presence of any substance like that found in the liquid. I then made a strong infusion of the leaves and Dr. Chambers and myself drank of it with no ill-effects. I am therefore satisfied that the tea leaves contained nothing injurious or capable of causing such symptoms as you described.

Yours sincerely,
W. H. ELLIS.

The tea in question was purchased at W. M. Milligan's, and some of the retail trade took advantage of the reports first published by circulating the story that Milligan sold poisoned tea. One or two daily papers inferred the same. It is now in order for all to apologize to Mr. Milligan. At any rate reports of poisoned groceries injure the whole trade, and in not one case in a thousand is there any truth in them.

MOLASSES SETTLINGS.

We publish a letter below which describes another method of treating molasses settlings to recover loss. Our correspondent's plan does not redeem the molasses by refining the settlings, but uses the settlings to ferment vinegar. This strikes us as a good solution of the question of what is to be done with settlings, that is, if a saleable, serviceable vinegar can be produced so easily and cheaply. It is really a clever piece of economy to turn the refuse of vinegar and molasses barrels so profitably to account. We are glad to give circulation to this method, and feel that it will interest our correspondent, we know it will interest ourselves,to hear from others who have disposed of their settlings in the same way.

In cities, molasses settlings are more easily got rid of without loss than they are in the country. The city grocer simply concentrates the last few gallons of a puncheon by heating all the moisture out of them. The sugar that remains is readily bought by confectioners, who make it up into coarse candies. In this way the grocer makes nearly as much out of his settlings as out of an equal quantity of pure molasses.

LONDON, Dec. 18.

Editor of THE GROCER.

DEAR SIR,—In last GROCER a subscriber wanted to know what to do with molasses and syrup settlings. Your plan may be a good one, but I think mine the best. Take a vinegar barrel, fill half or three-quarters full of soft water. If you have the settlings or the mother out of an empty vinegar barrel, put them in ; if not, put one or two gallons of vinegar in the barrel. Then put the settlings or rinsings in and stir. If in a warm place, it would take long to make a good cider vinegar. If not strong enough use it to mix with your vinegar. It will cause it to work and will improve it greatly, besides cheapening the article. Dirty sugar, scrapings of sugar barrels, hogsheads, and so on, can be put in the same barrel.

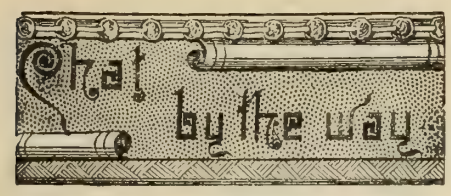
Yours, etc.,

SUBSCRIBER.

A USEFUL CEMENT.

For the cementing of iron railing tops, iron gratings to stoves, etc., the following mixture is recommended ; in fact, with such effect has it been used as to resist the blows of a sledge hammer. This mixture is composed of equal parts of sulphur and white lead, with about one-sixth proportion of borax, the three being thoroughly incorporated together, so as to form one homogeneous mass. When the application is to be made of this composition, it is wet with strong sulphuric acid, and a thin layer of it is placed between the two pieces of iron, these being at once pressed together. In five days it will be perfectly dry, all traces of the cement having vanished, and the work having every appearance of welding.—Scientific American.

The Department of Inland Revenue has issued another laboratory bulletin, this time bearing on analyses of cream of tartar. Some time ago a bulletin on baking powder was issued by the department, and in view of the apparent adulteration of many of the grades now offered for sale to the Canadian public it was suggested that persons might make their own baking powder, and the proper composition of one with cream of tarter for its acid constituent was given. It has long been known that cream of tartar was being adulterated, and accordingly Mr. MacFarlane and his staff have been engaged in analyzing a number of samples collected in various parts of Canada. Of 86 samples analyzed, 52 were found genuine, the percentages of the genuine article in four provinces being as follows : Ontario, 56.2 ; Quebec, 45.7 ; New Brunswick, 73.3 ; Nova Scotia, 80.0 In the degree of adulteration Ontario, of all the provinces, suffers most.



Mr. S. Caverly, of Victoria road, has added an experienced blacksmith and wood worker to his business.

Jas. Fairbairn, of North Fredericksburg, has a cow which has made 270 lbs. of butter this season, since April 1.

Mr. Frank Smyth, son of Mr. J. B. Smyth, London, Ont., has left for Chicago, where he is about to engage in the grocery business on his own account.

A. D. Westman, who has for several years past been in the store of his uncle, A. Westman, London, Ont., contemplates removing to Toronto, at an early date, where he will go into a commission business on his own account.

A resolution was passed by the Hamilton Board of Trade, last Thursday, sympathising with objections raised by the Quebec Board of Trade regarding some proposed legislation encouraging the auction sales of foreign produce in competition with legitimate trade. The secretary was instructed to communicate with the Quebec Board to this effect.

Charlie Phillips, who was arrested for breaking into the residence of L. H. Sylvester, a merchant who lives a short distance out of Simcoe, was tried at the Simcoe general sessions before Judge Livingstone on Saturday and found guilty. W. H. Duncan, the young man who was arrested for being an accomplice, turned Queen's evidence and gave away the whole scheme.

The Blanshard & Nissouri Cheese Company have shipped their September and October cheese, the price realized being 10 9-16 cents. Thomas Ballantyne, Esq., M.P.P., Stratford, was the purchaser. The sum of $8,300 was paid over by him for the two months' cheese. The past season has been the most successful in the company's history.

At the Board of Health meeting, Hamilton, the following resolution was passed :— "That this board requests the city members to urge upon the Dominion Government the advisability of putting into force that section of the Adulteration of Food Act relating to milk, and fix a standard, and also provide for the appointment of a special milk analyst for municipalities desiring the services of such officers; also, that a copy of this resolution be sent to each of the city members by the secretary."

A largely attended meeting of the Egg Dealers' Association, was held at the Walker House on Friday afternoon. Mr. D. D. Wilson, Seaforth, occupied the chair. Proceedings were entirely private, but the members explained that no important business was transacted. The season's business was discussed. It was reported that many of the members are still carrying a good deal of pickled stock. Those who have sold say the results of the year's business has been satisfactory.

On Saturday morning a disastrous fire broke out in Macoomb's beehive grocery at Port Robinson, by which nearly all the business houses there fell a pray to the flames. As there are no appliances for fighting the fire, the flames quickly spreed to Coleman's store and bakery, the next victims being J. and T. Coulter's fine dry goods store in their brick block. Others also suffered. Coulter's loss on building $3,500, insurance $2,000 in Waterloo, loss on stock $2,000, no insurance; Coleman's loss, $800, insurance, $600; Beehive lost, $500, insurance, $300. The loss coming just before Christmas, and when the merchants had received their Christmas stocks, makes it doubly hard for them. The fire is thought to have had an incendiary origin.

Lewis W. Wright, of Dixville, Q., a short time ago bought a large cheese from a wholesale dealer in another town. This cheese was disposed of in the usual manner in quantities ranging from a pound upwards, but when nearly all had been sold, customers began to return it with the complaint that they had found pieces of glass sprinkled all through it. On investigation Mr. Wright found this to be true, and at once discontinued selling this dangerous article. All the cheese, with the exception of a few pounds, has been burned. Mr. Wright complained to the wholesale merchant, who said:— "Sell it to some Frenchman; he won't know the difference." But when Mr. Wright refused to do this he promised to refund the money. The cheese was originally bought in Montreal.

It is asserted by men of high professional ability that when the system needs a stimulant nothing equals a cup of fresh coffee. Those who desire to rescue the drunkard from his cups will find no better substitute for spirits than strong, new-made coffee, without milk or sugar. Two ounces of coffee, or one-eighth of a pound, to one pint of boiling water makes a first-class beverage, but the water must be boiling, not merely hot. Bitterness comes from boiling it too long. It is asserted by those who have tried it that malaria and epidemics are avoided by those who drink a cup of hot coffee before venturing into the morning air. Burned on hot coals it is a disinfectant for a sick room. By some of our best physicians it is considered a specific in typhoid fever.—St. Paul's Trade Reporter.

The Belleville Intelligencer says : The district inspector of weights and measures was in Bowmanville the other day, inquiring into a complaint made by Assistant Inspector Irwin against a trader of that place for interfering with him in the discharge of his duties. It appeared that Mr. Irwin found in this trader's store a number of measures, which had been sent out by a manufacturing firm in Toronto without being inspected, and on the officer attempting to take them away the trader got wrathy ; swore all sorts of things on the officer; locked his store door and defied him to touch the measures. The storekeeper was in a different mood when Mr. Johnston, the Inspector, arrived from Belleville. The obstructionist expressed sorrow for what he had done, and asked that no punishment be inflicted on him; that in future he would obey the law ; and apologized to the officer for his language. In view of this, Mr. Johnston decided to take no further action; rather a fortunate decision for the trader as the lowest penalty for interfering with a weights and measures officer is a fine of $100.

REMOVING PAINT FROM PAINTED SURFACES.

Four pound of Irish moss, three pounds of methylated spirit, and three pounds of fuller's earth are mixed with thirty pounds of water, the whole boiled, and a solution of sixteen pounds of caustic soda and sixteen pounds caustic potash dissolved in twenty-eight pounds of water added, after which the product is stirred until it is cold and has solidified to a brownish gelatinous mass. The proportions of the ingredients may be varied. The compound is used by applying it to the painted surface with a brush, allowing it to remain thus for twenty minutes to one hour, and then washing it off together with the paint that has been disintegrated by its action.

Iron castings that are to be painted, if allowed to rust a little before painting, will be found to retain the paint longer and better than those that have not been rusted.

THE TRADERS' TEA CO.

As was anticipated, the Justices of the Common Pleas Division have refused to interfere with the conviction of Mr. Freeman for carrying on a lottery under guise of selling tea in packages. The judgment of the court was delivered on Saturday by Mr. Justice Rose, who said : "It was made clear upon the argument that the transaction in question was not a sale of teas, but the sale of a chance to obtain a gold watch, a diamond ring or $20 in money. The complainant paid $1 and received a can of tea. The prize in the can not being of sufficient value, he handed back the can of tea and prize and an additional fifty cents, and received and opened a second can. The prize in the second can being also of little value, he handed back both can of tea and prize, paid another fifty cents and received and opened a third can, but the prize being still almost worthless, he refused to pay any more money and went away having the third can of tea and prize in his possession. It is thus manifest that he purchased one can of tea and three chances of obtaining a valuable prize for $2: * * * It seems idle to discuss the question. Can anyone reasonably ask a finding of fact to the effect that the defendant was selling tea, and merely using the prizes as an advertisement or means of inducing the sale of the tea? Must not the finding be that the object really sought for, and for the chance of obtaining which the money was paid, was one of the three prizes named? If so, then the evidence brings the case clearly within the Act which prohibits the sale of 'any lot, card or ticket, or other means or device for * * * selling or otherwise disposing of any property, real or personal, by lots, tickets or any mode of chance whatsoever,' * * * I think the motion must be dismissed with costs." Chief Justice Galt and Mr. Justice MacMahon concurred.

In the Police Court the Crown did not press the case against Matthew Fisher, of the Traders' Tea Company, and as the company does not wish to fight any further but intend to move out of the city, the defendant was dismissed.

The Globe Tobacco Company's interests at Windsor and in Canada have been purchased by A. P. T. Beniteau, owner of the large brandy distillery near the Michigan Central Railroad.

It is reported that the Hamilton Vinegar Works Company is negotiating for the purchase of five acres of land in Barton township, near Rawlins' factory, with a view to moving its works out there.

One night last week an entry was made from a back window into Mr. James Dunlee's grocery in Port Huron. All that was missed was some fifty or seventy-five cents out of the till, and perhaps some candy and tobacco.

MARKETS

TORONTO, DEC. 24.

DRY GOODS.

Trade is woefully dull. The open winter and the wet weather have combined to make this a season of unusual activity. This fall and winter sorting up has been at a minimum. The orders for spring trade have been kept down by the sympathy of the state of current trade. Travellers have now been over their ground with the spring samples, and will start out at the beginning of the year with summer samples, and samples for spring sorting-up. In all lines there is quietness, and extreme flatness in the woollen trade. Hard weather would re-animate the latter, but cannot now bring it up to a good year's trade.

HARDWARE.

Business has been mainly in light goods and those of fancy construction. Retail dealers of course do this business, and, having stocked for it before Christmas, the movement of it is not at present felt by wholesalers, who are not very busy just now. There is no change in the prices of articles on our list.

GROCERIES.

The local market has ruled quiet, in most departments with very few variations in prices, as compared with a week ago. The only business done has been in a few small sorting mail orders. Payments continue unsatisfactory.

CANNED GOODS.

During the present month there has been a larger sale of canned goods than usual at this season of the year. Tomatoes, corn, and peas have been moving at firmer prices. There has also been a good demand for peaches. Apples are easy. Three car loads of canned salmon have been sold on spot by the packers, and buyers of these are offering at lower prices, namely $1.55. Lobsters are scarce and firm, stocks here being unusually light; holders ask $2.25 for Nobles' flats, and $2 for Star brand. Mackerel steady at $1.50.

COFFEES.

The week has shown no change in either local or foreign markets. In New York desirable grades of Rio are steadily held, but low grades are easier, on spot Rios are selling at 21 to 22c. for fair quality.

DRIED FRUIT.

Currants are a little easier. Provincial are selling at 5⅜c. in barrels, and Filiatras at 5½c. The stock of old currants is about cleared out; a small lot sold this week at 4¼c. Good average Vostizzos are moving in half cases at 7 to 7½c. Stocks of dates are light and holders are firm at 6 to 6½c. About 350 boxes of natural figs in mats arrived this week, but they were taken up almost as rapidly as offered; many of them being sold to arrive at 5c.; a liberal supply is on board the Polynesian, and will be here in a few days. Figs are steady. Prunes are steadily held; the "Atlas" brand is turning out remarkably well this year; they are quoted at 7¼ to 7½c. for B, and 6½ to 6¾c for C. Valencia raisins are the strongest feature on the market; stocks here are light and no large sales have been reported during the past few days in a retail way; sellers are firm at 7c. for prime quality. Sultanas rule from 8½ to 9c. for common, to 10 to 11c. for prime to choice. The stock of Malaga raisins was never so completely reduced as it has been this season. Some houses are completely sold out, and no one is carrying any quantity. Prices are nominally unchanged, though a great many sales have been made at less than regular quotations. Califor ia evaporated fruits have sold well this season. The list includes peeled and unpeeled peaches, quinces, pitted plums and apricots.

GREEN FRUIT.

Trade has not been so good this week, as most retail supplies for Christmas had been laid in by the time of last report. This holiday trade has made a considerable inroad on importers' stocks. There are no Jamaica oranges left, the better demand operating along with the close of their season to take them off the market. Valencia oranges are $5 to $5.50 per case. They are now quite scarce, only a few having been got on the market simply for the Christmas trade.

The bulk of the Valencia oranges that should have been here for the holiday trade, have been expected for a week on the Polynesian, but that vessel has not yet got away from Portland. The consequence is that the special goods sought to be laid in for this season will not be here until after it is over. Florida russets are $3 to $3.25 per box, and fancy brights $3.25 to $3.50 per box. Jaffa oranges, only a very limited supply from the first, are $3.50 per box. Palermo lemons are $4 to $5 in 300's and $3 to $3.50 in 360's. Fancy and choice Messinas are the same price as Palermos. Malaga grapes are $6 to $7 per barrel. Sweet potatoes will stand another quotation, although there are very few left. They are $4 per box.

NUTS.

Demand for all kinds has been more active and prices have been firmly maintained. Bordeaux walnuts have been running short owing to the late shipments of the bulk of the stock for this market, which has not arrived yet; prices firm at 10½c. Almonds steady, Sarragoras selling at 15c. Brazils scarce and firm at at 12c. Filberts selling freely at 10½ to 11c.

SUGAR.

White sugars were reduced 1-16c. on Saturday, and a further 1-16c. decline is looked for to-morrow. In fact it was a matter of surprise that the refiners did not reduce their figures a full ⅛c. Demand is generally light and the feeling easy. Prices of white sugars now stand as follows :

Granulated, 1 to 15 bbls	0 7 9-16
" 15 bbls	0 7 7-16
Paris lumps, boxes	0 8 1-16
Extra ground, bbls	0 8 7-16
" " and less than bbl	0 8¾
Powdered H, bbls	0 7 11-16
" less than bbl	0 8

Yellows are also 1-16c. lower, selling from 5¼ to 6½c.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The supply of syrups and molasses is ample and the demand limited. Prices are unchanged. Molasses are selling at 37c. in hdds. to 40c. in bbls., and 42c. in halves.

TEAS.

Japans are firm and stocks light. There is a good enquiry for mediums, which are scarce. Blacks easy and neglected ; Pekoe Congous are showing excellent value, and holders look for an advance. Young Hysons from low to firsts are scarce.

INDIAN TEAS.

The market is still improving and prices are likely to go up. The weakness of prices so long observable have latterly been followed by active enquiries and hardening rates. The London market reports the market for Souchongs and Brokens, and in fact all teas up to 1s. per pound, has again ruled very firmly this week, but the bidding for medium teas over this price has betrayed some weakness, prices being slightly irregular.

CEYLONS—The small supply of Ceylon teas have found ready buyers at steady prices for fine, and at former rates for teas up to 1s 1d per lb., and the flatness for some expensive grades has passed away.

The exports to Australia, America, including Canada and other places for the past season amounted to 4,278,809 lbs., and of this quantity, together with about 500,000 required for Northern India be deducted, there will remain about 98 millions for shipment to Great Britain during the season 1889-90, against 92½ millions shipped in 1888-89.

CRANBERRIES.

The Cape Cod fruit is still $11 a barrel, and $3.50 to $4 a box. Stocks have been run pretty low by the last week's trade.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The supply has been good, better, however, in quantity than in quality. Dairy-packed has not changed, 16 to 18c. being the prices yet paid. The poor and very good of this week's marketing are in about the same proportions that they have averaged throughout the season. It is this proportion which determines the current price more than the relation of the quantities supplied and demanded. Store-packed butter is 10 to 15c., and no more popular with buyers than it was six weeks ago. Little of it changes hands. The prices of large rolls have strengthened and advanced. They now sell for 15 to 16c. There has been a reduction in the supply, that form of butter having for a long time sold all around for higher prices than the dairy-packed, was taken to by poor makers, who ran prices low last week. Pound rolls have shrunk as much this week as they advanced last week. Big prices brought in big supplies, and these restored prices to their normal stand. They are now 18 to 20c. Creamery-packed is 25 to 26c.

Cheese is 10½ to 11c. for early autumn make; 9 to 9½c. for summer-make.

FISH.

The arrival of a car-load of white-fish from the Manitoba lakes announces preparations for the re-opening of the market. The fish from those waters are noted for their fineness. They are to be had at 7c. Salmon trout are still 7½c. Salted sea-salmon are $12 per barrel of 200 lbs. Fresh steak-cod, headless, are 6 to 6½c. Haddock are 5 to 5½c. Labrador herring are $5 to $5.50 per barrel, and $3.25 to $3.75 per half-barrel. Shore-herring is $4 per barrel, and $2.25 per half barrel. Smelts are the last arrivals on the market. They are worth 6c. per lb. Boneless cod is 6 to 8c. per lb. Boneless fish is 4½ to 5c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

APPLES—The apple market is in a very decrepid condition. Buyers are shy and supplies are more available. Shipments that have reached the English market this season have been found to be in a bad condition, much of the fruit being spoiled. Repacking has already begun at Portland, and at railway points which they have not left for the coast. The prices of last week are still kept up by holders, viz., $2 to $2.50 per per barrel by the carload, and $2.50 to $3 in small lots.

BEANS—Are worth $1.50 to $1.60 outside, and $1.70 to $1.85 here. The trade is almost imperceptible but it is animate.

DRIED APPLES—Are 5½ to 6c. in lots and 6 to 6½c. in small quantities. The reserve demand has not yet become active.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Continue the course they have been holding in the market since it opened. Old fruit is 9½, and new 10c.

EGGS.—Limed are now 18 to 19c. Cased fresh eggs are 22 to 24c., and strictly new-laid are 30c. The extreme scarcity of fresh eggs is what gives life to the market for limed eggs. The quantity of the latter in the country is not great enough to break present prices. Those prices, however, will be apt to limit consumption, after this prodigal season is over, to proportions that will bring back prices to a fair figure.

GAME.—Partridges are 55c. to 70c. per brace. Black and mallard ducks are 75c. to 90c. per brace ; wood ducks, pintails, butter-balls, teal blue-bills, redheads, are 35c. to 45c. per brace. Pigeons are 20c. to 25c. per brace. Prairie chickens are $1.50 per brace. Quails are $2 to $2.50 per doz. Rabbits are 25c. per pair. Trade has not the energy usual at this season. The disposition of the demand is good, but the condition of the weather is extremely unfavorable.

HAY—Choice hay is wanted. Prices are slightly improved, $11.50 being paid for good pressed hay on track, although $11 was paid for a great deal. No. 2 pressed has scarcely any market, and continues to be not wanted. It is worth $7 to $8. No 1 loose on the street is $13 to $14. No. 2 is $8 to $10.

HIDES—In car lots, cured, are still 5c., but that price continues unstable. No. 1, green, are 4¼c., and No. 2 are 3¼c. Dulness is still the chief feature of the market.

HONEY—Clear is 10 to 12½c. in small quantities, and 11½ to 13c. in large ones. In the comb it is 18c.

HOPS—Yearlings, 8 to 11c.; new ones are 12 to 14c.

OATS—Are worth 30 to 31c. on track, the latter being the price of white oats. On the street, 31 to 32c. are the prices. The supply, despite bad roads and weather, is steady.

ONIONS Are $1.75 to $2. Trade is quiet.

POTATOES—The prices of last week are unchanged. In car loads, 55 to 60c., and in small quantities, 70 to 75c. per bag. There is a diminishing business done every week.

POULTRY.—Geese are 6 to 7c. per lb., turkeys, 9 to 11c. per lb., ducks 50 to 65c. per pair, and chickens are 45 to 50c. per pair. The chickens are rather a poor lot. There has been a lot of poor poultry offered this week in all classes.

STRAW.—Loose oat is $5.50 to $6 per ton. Sheaf oat is $9 to $10. No. 1 tight-pressed is $7 to $8. There is no demand for No. 2 tight-pressed.

SKINS—No. 1 calf 6c., No. 2 calf 5c. Sheepskins are $1 to $1.15.

TALLOW—Rough is 1¼ to 2c. Rendered is 5 to 5¼c.

WOOL.—Fleece wool is 22 to 23c. Pulled wool is 24c. for lowest, 25c. for super, and 30c. for extra-super.

PROVISIONS.

BACON—Long clear is 7¾ to 8c.; smoked breakfast is 11 to 11½c.; spiced roll is 9 to 9½c.

HAMS—Smoked are 11 to 11½c.; green are 10 to 10⅝c.

LARD—American tubs are 8¼ to 8¾c.; American pails, 8¾ to 9c.; Canadian tubs, 8¾c.; Canadian pails, 9¼c.

MESS PORK—Is worth $13.50 to $14. Choice Canadian cuts are $15.

DRESSED HOGS—Are selling at prices that give way weekly before the unabated supply. They sell at $5.40 delivered; offerings at outside points are at $5.10 to $5.25 f.o.b. Butchers' hogs are wanted, however, and firmness and upwardness characterize their market, prices ranging from $5.75 to $6.25, the lower prices of packers being consequent upon the full state of their stocks.

Mr. E. Tisdale, of Beaverton, has started a branch store in Lorneville. Messrs. Wm. Curran and D. Ross will be the managing salesmen.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The Trade Bulletin has the following :—For several weeks past the heavy losses sustained by Messrs. Tiffin Bros., wholesale grocers of this city, have been the topic of discussion in the trade, although it was hoped that they would have been able to pull through their difficulties. On Wednesday morning, however, they decided to suspend payments in the interests of their creditors, with liabilities estimated at about $200,000. The failure is due,almost exclusive ly to the unprecedented decline in the price of sugar, which has not only wiped out their former large gains, but inflicted further losses. the magnitude of which, they found impossible to struggle against. During last summer Messrs. Tiffin Bros. cleared fully $30,000 through the rise in the price of sugar and molasses ; but like others, the firm went on buying heavily, and loaded themselves with a large quantity of both sugar and molasses, just on the eve of the memorable break in values which set in so suddenly and with such terrific force that not a single house in the trade escaped without losses. As an instance of the severity of the reverses they met with we may mention the fact that on one lot of 2,000 barrels of bright yellow sugar, which turned hard, they lost $7 per barrel, or $14,000. They also lost heavily on a lot of about 2,000 puncheons of Barbadoes molasses, which cost them 49c. per gallon. They still have a good deal of sugar and molasses upon which advances have been made, and it is apprehended that the realizations upon these will considerably depress the market and cause further losses to others in the same line of business. The Bank of British North America is interested to the extent of $160,000, most of which consists of the best paper in the trade. The refineries are also interested, and it is stated that the firm bought largely from the Halifax and Moncton refineries when the excitement in the sugar market was about at its climax. We are informed by some of the creditors of Messrs. Tiffin Bros. that the firm acted very honorably in not receiving goods after the prospects of failure appeared inevitable. We know of instances in which goods that were bought several weeks ago by the firm were not taken delivery of, which is evidence of the best of intentions on the part of the partners of the concern, who have the sympathy of the whole trade in their present misfortune. It is about three or four years ago that this firm failed, when Mr. Joseph Tiffin went out, and after a settlement was effected Messrs. Hendry and Austin were admitted as partners, in conjunction with Mr. Henry Tiffin.

READ TRADE PAPRES.

A few reasons why the retailers should read, at least, one trade journal :—

1—It elevates his conception of the work in which he is engaged.

2—It brings him into mental contact with others engaged in the same work where personal contact is impossible.

3—It contains words of sympathy and encouragement for him in grappling with difficulties as they appear from day to-day.

4—It inspires him with renewed pluck and energy,by showing how others are overcoming obstacles.

5—It often more than pays its cost by the information contained in a single paragraph.

6—It is an infallible preventative of mental stagnation and dry rot.

7—It contains,in condensed form, items of interest frequently lost sight of altogether in the daily press.

8—It shows him that there are some retailers not too busy to read a trade journal.

9—It is constantly striving to simplify the work and educate the workman.

10—It reflects in a large measure the mental calibre of the class to which it caters, and for obvious reasons should therefore be supported.

ADVICE TO AN APPRENTICE.

You must remember you are learning the trade for the support of yourself when you become a man, and not be one of the missionary mechanics, always out of work, because you are only half-master of your trade. It is the duty for the apprentice to ask for information regarding his work, and if not engaged in doing some piece of work, to keep a watchful eye on others in the same room with him in regard to work and its construction. You will find it advisable to discard all hobbies from your mind while in the shop, and apply your mind and will-power to master your trade, and when your time having expired, if you see proper to undertake some other business, and are not successful, you will have a good trade to fall back on, and you will be thankful that you ever learned the trade. Another thing the apprentice must avoid, and this is a very important one: avoid keeping late hours, remembering the old motto or saying, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." There is a part of your time that you hardly earn what your employer gives you, and this is another reason you should be determined to be of some use to yourself and employer. It would be better for you to leave and never started your trade, than have your trade partly learned and leave, and throwing yourself on the community as a first-class mechanic. If you start, and your health will permit, make up your mind to be master of the situation. If you lose your natural rest, while you are growing, by keeping late hours, you cannot do justice the following day for your employer. Besides all this, you are doing yourself an injury that may prove fatal before you reach manhood.

Avoid the use of tobacco in every shape and form, and all intoxiceting drinks, no matter how mild; they will only lead you to something strong, and it will become your master, because you will not have the will power to shake it from you. Also be neat and tidy about your person, and never fret over your work. If you have a hard job to do, you can make it easy by going at it cheerfully and willingly, and in this manner you will always make a hard or disagreeable job easy; and by applying your mind to your trade, you will become a skilled mechanic, and never will have to be looking after working places, or taking a position outside of your trade for low wages. You must learn to know that a good mechanic can always command good wages, and is rarely ever out of a situation.

In conclusion, let me urge on the apprentice to be determined to master his trade, and be useful to his employer; be kind to shopmates, always ready and willing to do whatever they wish him to do, and gaining the good-will and friendship of all. Your time will pass away pleasantly, and you will be glad your time has expired without anything to mar your apprenticeship, and knowing at the same time you are master of your trade.—Carriage Monthly.

Counterfeit bills purporting to be issued by the Exchange Bank, of Toronto, are in circulation in Ottawa.

The Inland Revenue Department has recently issued a bulletin of about thirty pages, which is devoted exclusively to the subject of baking powder, and which shows that the majority of the goods in the market are adulterated and unfit for use. Prof. A. McGill, who has had charge of this important work for the Government, says that "imperial baking powder is an excellent powder." A word to the sensible housekeeper should be sufficient.

OFFICE OF THE PUBLIC ANALYST,

MONTREAL, September 9th, 1887.

To the Canada Sugar Refining Co., Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—I have personally taken samples from a large stock of your Granulated Sugar, "REDPATH" brand, and carefully tested them by the Polariscope, and I find these samples to be as near to absolute purity as can be obtained by any process of Sugar-Refining.

The test by the Polariscope showed in yesterday's yield 99·90 per cent. of Pure Cane Sugar, which may be considered commercially as ABSOLUTELY PURE SUGAR.

THE CREDIT SYSTEM.

A "Storekeeper" doing business in the neighborhood of Pickering says the following words upon the credit system in a communication to the News of that village :

"The credit system, which of late has assumed such alarming proportions, is causing much consternation in business circles, particularly with those whose capital is locked up, as it were, in country places. We refer in particular to general merchants. The fact is patent to all that no business man gives credit so indiscriminately as the average storekeeper. In view of the depression in the money market and the probable scarcity of that commodity during the present year, we think it about time that some step should be taken to crush that rotten practice, which is alike ruinous to the merchant and those to whom he gives credit. The general practice among farm laborers and even farmers themselves is to pay the store bills once a year (which is often done after considerable solicitation on the part of the merchant), generally in the fall, and when they do whack up they then consider themselves justified in commencing another account, which shall run another long year, and which is generally supplemented by a good big order as a starter. The merchant from mere force of habit is forced to wait another year for the starter and other subsequent orders, while his own bills are maturing and must be paid within thirty days or lower his cash discount. Yet those who buy his goods must needs have twelve months credit and expect cash prices, a little longer time if the price of barley is not away up, a little better weight and a barrel of sugar thrown in at Christmas by the way of a Christmas box. Another point in connection with the credit system which is so exasperating, is the fact that your credit customers always patronize you and stick to you closer than a brother when they are just out of change, while when the change is within their fists they consider themselves justified in removing their patronage to the city merchant who is enabled to sell them ten per cent. cheaper owing to cash accompanying their order. We would urge on such customer the necessity of continuing in the use of the nerve tonic with which they brace themselves for occasions of this kind. What can we do to remedy this crying evil? It seems to me the remedy is in our own hands, and that if we take united action much could be done to hasten the downfall of this pernicious system. Perhaps some brother storekeeper older than myself could make some suggestion which would be of value to the trade."

LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT.

In every line of business, no matter whether couducted upon a large or small scale, it is the little things that count. The little expenses, the little wastes, the little economies, are the ones that turn the balance of accounts, either for profit or loss, and it is these little things that need the closest attention. The larger, more important details of every business are carefully looked after ; there is very little chance for neglect, carelessness or oversight. The workman who spoils a costly piece of machinery, or causes a loss of any considerable account, is held responsible, and is generally very careful in this respect, but in little things he is not as prompt in exercising care and economy, and these little things are looked upon as of no consequence, and as having no real value.

We have heard it asserted by a man who, beginning on barely nothing, succeeded in building up a large and profitable business, and retiring with a considerable fortune. When asked how he had managed, what was the secret of his success, he replied, by saving what other people wasted, looking after the little things and seeing that not a thing was thrown away or cast aside as too small or insignificant to be of any value. A few cents here and a few there make up quite a sum in the course of a year, and it is by paying careful attention to the little details, by looking after the cents, that I have made my dollars.

There is a great deal more in this than most people would be willing to admit. They are in too much of a hurry to make dollars to look out for the cents.

A poor or incompetent and disinterested workman is not only a poor man to employ because he is this, but because he is wasteful and careless about small things. Take some of our very large manufactories, where hundreds of employes are engaged, and, unless the most watchful care is exercised, the amount of waste that is lost would go far toward paying running expenses.

In these times of close competition, when it becomes an absolute necessity that every possible item be carefully turned to account, the exercise of economy in small things is being more rigidly cultivated. Profits at best are only small, and these are made considerably less by the wastefulness of careless and unthoughtful men.

Nor is it alone in the factory or workshop where the necessity of looking after these little things makes itself apparent. The workingman of to-day, with his wages scarcely sufficient to provide for the home comforts and necessities of life, has the most urgent need to practice economy in small things, and it is surprising to note what an amount of waste is made by those who have the most need to to practice economy. A few cents here and a few there seem mere trifles, and are not regarded as of any particular consequence, or as having any material relation to the annual expenses, but if a careful account were kept for a single year, the result would be astonishing, and just here is where the difference lies between individuals and corporations. The latter have learned by a comparison of the strict accounts, which are an absolute necessity with them, the lesson of economy in small things. Everything is put down and can be looked over and studied, and the effects upon the total noted, and this is a lesson which should be learned by individuals, and workingmen especially. By them, as a rule, no account of daily expenses, or even any expense, is kept. They receive their money and it is spent. At the end of the year not one among them can tell where his money has gone, or for what purpose, whether he has made a profit from the time and labor expended or not; and for this reason, as well as that he may see where and how he may economize and save something, even if only a small amount. The workman should keep a strict and careful account of daily expenditures and receipts.

Such a course would not only result beneficially to him personally, but would make him a more careful, painstaking and valuable employe. Carelessness at home, or of one's personal interests breeds carelessness of others' interests, and there is nothing which an employer notices more quickly, and is more willing and ready to appreciate and reward than a display of care and interest in the little details by a workman.

It cannot be expected that a man who is careless of his own welfare and interests will exercise any more than he is obliged to do under the watchful eye of the foreman or proprietor, or care for those of his employer.

It is, then, all important that every individual exercise this watchfulness of the small things in business and in private life. The employer must guard himself against loss by the carelessness and wastefulness of his employes. The employe should be equally vigilant in his own personal interests, and all should remember that it is the little things that count.—Manufacturers' Gazette.

IMITATION CLOVES.

Through the London Grocer we learn that Herr Hanausek, Ph. D., in a recent issue of Apotheker Zeitung, calls attention to the occurrence of artificial cloves moulded out of a prepared paste. The imitation article is said to be like the genuine clove in appearance, and seen en masse by a careless eye would easily escape detection. If, however, it be carefully examined with a small magnifying glass, the traces of the mould are seen as little ridges down the sides. The color approaches closely to that of the genuine clove, but again the glass will reveal a yellowish dust adhering to the spurious article, which is never found on the real. The dummies taste like cloves, but soon dissolves into a soft, gritty paste. The grits taste more like cloves than the rest, and when they are examined under a high-power microscope the vegetable tissue can be discerned, showing that the grits at least have once formed part of a growing plant. Evidently these spurious cloves are made by grinding up genuine cloves with wheaten flour and brown coloring matter, the latter probably being oak bark. They mainly consist of wheaten flour, for when powdered and examined under the microscope the characteristic starch-grains are seen in grea quantity.

IT BEATS THE PHONOGRAPH.

A correspondent of the Pall Mall Gazette is responsible for the statement that a machine has been patented in GreatBritain, and will shortly be made known to the public, that is claimed to make ducks and drakes of type-writers, phonographs, graphophones, and all previous inventions. It is interesting to learn that the inventor of this mechanical prodigy has just brought it over from America, and its existence for the present is practically a secret. The new invention, which is named the "phonortograph," is about the size of a large cigar-box, and weighs five and one-half pounds. Two immense advantages are claimed for the "phonortograph." First, it will reproduce sound with perfect accuracy upon a flat surface; and, second, it can be produced and sold for a sovereign! Then the correspondent indulges in a little attack upon the phonograph. In Edison's invention the impression of the words spoken into it is made upon a cylinder, which is inconvenient to send through the post. In the "phonortograph" the impression is made upon a flat sheet of paper, which can be doubled up and sent through the post like an ordinary letter in an ordinary envelope—the paper, of course, having to be specially prepared for the purpose. In the case of all inventions partaking of the marvelous and of secrecy, it is the wisest to await the course of events. It is, of course, possible that some genius has all in a hurry been able to make a great advance upon the phonograph, which it took Edison ten years to work out. But we must confess to some scepticism, and we should prefer investigating the merits of this invention before placing any faith in the extravagant claims advanced for it.—London Invention.
